The new rate is the lowest in more than two years for government-backed mortgages. The rate rose from 6 3-4 to 7 1-2 per cent on Jan. 23, 1969, on its way to the all-time high of 8 1-2 —per cent—imposed Jan. 4, 1970—which prevailed for most of last year.

From the high mark, the ceiling was cut to 8 per cent last Dec. 1 and to 7 1-2 per cent on Jan. 12.

Romney hinted that at the lower ceiling, many lenders might increase the "points" they charge in addition to the set interest rate.

He said the 7 per cent ceiling "may be just ahead of current conditions in the corporate bond markets, but with the mortgage lending institutions becoming increasingly flush with funds, it will not be long before the new ceiling is fully vindicated."

The government does not make direct loans. The FHA and VA assure that borrowers will repay loans made by private lenders. In the event of a default, the government makes up the lender's loss.

FEELING HIS CHEERIOS — A Marin County Sheriff's deputy handles the hollowed-out grapefruit and clock which a San Anselmo man attempted to smuggle into the Civic Center. The "Cheerio" model timepiece was among bomb-like components conviscated by deputies yesterday. (Independent-Journal photos)

Try To Break Bomb Security Uncovered

Civic Center Detector Foils Skeptic's Stunt

A 32-year-old San Anselmo man tested security at the Marin County Civic Center yesterday.

Security passed with flying colors. Michael Lee Humphrey failed. He landed in jail.

Humphrey of 50 Rosemont Avenue was arrested when he attempted to smuggle what appeared to be bomb components into the administration building. His materials included a clock hidden in a grapefruit; a gray putty-like substance resembling plastic explosive in a hollowed-out book, a double strand of wire in his boot and an alligator clip and spring in his pocket.

The self-employed maintenance man, who took the day off work for his experiment, later told sheriff's deputies that he only wanted to test security at the building.

He was booked on suspicion of falsely reporting an emergency.

"I thought security wasn't as secure as it was supposed to be," he told Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court, "So I decided to conduct a little test of my own."

"You got the answer," Smith replied as he denied Humphrey's request to be released on his own recognizance. Humphrey later posted $625 bail to appear in Municipal Court today.

The blond and bearded Humphrey said he had picked yesterday to test deputies' alertness, because the county supervisors had scheduled a discussion of security measures and whether to reopen the Civic Center to public gatherings in the evenings.

He planned, he said, a dramatic appearance before the supervisors, and the assembled public and press, placing before them the makings of his sham bomb and proving to all how easy it would be to smuggle in the real thing.

Sheriff's officials said that Humphrey had called them several weeks ago, indicating his lack of faith in security measures and saying he wanted to test them.

He was advised against making such a test, and upon his arrest said he wished he had listened to the advice.

He was caught when he walked through a metal detector at the main entrance to the building carrying a copy of "Ireland: Past and Present" and what appeared to be a lunch bag.

When the metal detector reacted, deputies who searched him found the putty-like material, which turned out to be nonexplosive, in the book and a "Cheerio" model clock in a carved out grapefruit in the bag.

Security at the Civic Center has been tight since the Aug. 7 shoot-out.

Calley Decision: A Muddled One?

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A psychiatrist testified today that "in view of the pushing that was coming from above" and stresses of a combat situation, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was unable to determine whether orders to kill civilians at My Lai were legal or illegal.

Dr. David G. Crane, 34, of Indianapolis, a veteran hospital staff member and assistant psychiatry professor at Indianapolis University, was called with the Calley court-martial jury absent to express his expert opinion.

The move was part of a defense effort to get before the court the views of three psychiatrists as to Calley's diminished mental capacity when he led his platoon during a search-and-destroy sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet on March 16, 1968.

Calley is accused of slaying, or ordering the slaying, of 102 Vietnamese civilians during the infantry sweep.

Crane testified on the basis of knowledge gained in treating large numbers of Vietnam combat veterans in that country up to six months before the My Lai incident.

"There was an all pervading tension and anxiety among officers and men," Crane said.

He testified that because of Calley's impaired "decision making process" during the four-hour action, he was not able to "contrive or plan" (premeditate) killing, to kill persons without justification, to determine the legality of orders given by Capt. Ernest L. Medina, or to form the specific intent to kill.

Nineteen government witnesses have testified that the night prior to the My Lai operation Medina, as company commander, ordered the village destroyed and the inhabitants killed.

"In view of the pushing that was coming from above, Lt. Calley was not going to be considering much of anything except act and do," Crane told George W. Latimer, the chief defense attorney.

"Also there were the basic underlying stresses existing in that individual at that time."

Under cross examination by Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor, Crane said that Calley's mental ability was "impaired to at least a mild to moderate degree—his ability to

Security Lid Will Be Lifted

The Marin Civic Center Administration Building will be reopened for limited evening use in about one month.

The board of supervisors yesterday hired four extra sheriff's deputies to provide evening security to keep the county library open until 9 p.m. and to permit evening meetings, but only until 10 p.m.

The Administration Building and the adjoining Hall of Justice — which would remain closed at night under the board's plans — have been shut at night since October. The action was taken after the bombing in the Superior Courtroom and the August Hall of Justice shoot-out.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the night meetings would be permitted probably by March 15, depending on when the added deputies could be hired and trained.

The new deputies will mean an additional $13,680 cost to the county until the end of this fiscal year. A male and a female deputy will guard the sole entrance to the Administration Building, and two others will patrol the interior and keep an eye on the outside parking areas.

Supervisor Michael Wornum wanted to cut the new deputies to three, saying it would only be necessary to station one person inside because of screening at the entrance.

Wornum said three men should try it for a month, and if another man is needed, he could be added then. But Wornum was outvoted 4 to 1 by his colleagues.

Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste said the entire subject of security should be re-evaluated soon to see where security could be lifted and where it must be continued.

40 Billion Debt eiling Hike Asked

ASHINGTON (UPI) —Trea- Secretary John B. Connal- asked Congress today to e the national debt ceiling $40 billion to a new record of $435 billion so the govment can keep paying its s.

onnally, in his first appeare as the only Democrat in Nixon Cabinet, told the se Ways and Means Comtee the national debt would to within $1 billion of the sent $395 billion limit late mon h.

atest Treasury figures wed that as of Feb. 11, the lic debt stood at $391.5 bil- , a rise of nearly $20 billion year. The debt is expected rise until the government ins collecting its 1970 ine taxes.

onnally also defended President Nixon's anticipated budget deficit of $18.6 billion this fiscal year and $11.6 billion for fiscal 1972 which begins July 1.

He said that as the economy expands, "it is vitally important that our deficits be reduced in size and eliminated ... in existing economic circumstances, with too much unemployment and unused capacity, the anticipated deficits seem to me fully consistent with sound and prudent financial planning."

He said the nation should expect deficits to help the "sluggishness in the economy."

Connally was joined by George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, in urging a debt ceiling of $435 billion through July 1, 1972.

School Board Candidate Barred From April Ballot

James Lamantia, one of nine candidates for three openings on the San Rafael Board of Education, has been refused inclusion on the April 20 ballot for lack of sufficient residency, but said today he will appeal to Marin Superior Court.

Lamantia, an appraiser who lives at 115 Humboldt Street, moved back to San Rafael about 18 months ago after a period of residence in Yolo County. He formerly resided for six years in San Rafael.

Because the city charter requires three years residence preceding the election date, City Clerk Marion Grady refused to certify Lamantia's name for the ballot.

Lamantia said he plans a court appeal based on a decision of the District Court of Appeal for the Third Appellate District last November which held void a five-year residency requirement for city council candidates in Sacramento.

That resulted from an appeal by Howard Lawrence from refusal by the Sacramento city clerk to place his name on the ballot. The appellate court held the five-year requirement "is excessive and arbitrary and violates the 14th Amendment" and "is not justified by any compelling governmental interest." It ruled that in the absence of a reasonable residency requirement in the charter, the

Wage-Price Rein Decision Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon postponed a decision today on imposing possible wage and price control actions in the construction industry and ordered Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to keep trying for a voluntary agreement.

Nixon's Construction Industry Collective Bargaining Commission headed by Hodgson had been scheduled to report to Nixon today on recommendations for curbing spiraling costs in the construction industry.

Nixon met with Hodgson instead of receiving the report.

Supervisors Back Antiwar Legislation

By LARRY MOWELL

A threatened deadlock by the Marin County Board of Supervisors on antiwar state legislation was broken unexpectedly yesterday by a supervisor who had said he would abstain. (See other supervisor stories, page 27.)

Arnold M. Baptiste drew prolonged applause from the approximately 100 spectators when he said, "I have had an indication here that two supervisors will not support this bill. Therefore, I am going to vote for it."

His vote, although the first cast, made it clear the supervisors would endorse Assembly Bill 233 that would make it illegal for Californians to fight in undeclared wars. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. earlier had said they would vote to back the bill.

However, chairman Louis H. Baar and John F. McInnis made it equally clear they would oppose taking a stand so Baptiste reversed himself.

The supervisor, who represents Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base, had earlier said that although he opposed the war, he would abstain because voters in his district had voted in November against Proposition A.

The measure, calling for U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia by June 30, passed countywide with a 54 per cent approval.

The Marin Alternative Peace Task Force asked yesterday for endorsement of Assembly Bill 233, authored by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-Campbell. The bill is co-sponsored by Wil-

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Nixon On Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon Tuesday told 2,500 American legionnaires that last spring's allied drive into Cambodia gave the South Vietnamese army enough confidence to attempt its current operation in Laos.

Nixon made his first public statement of the Laotian campaign in his brief reference at the legion meeting to South Vietnamese forces.

Speaking without notes for 10 minutes, the President praised the veteran's organization for supporting him at the time of the Cambodian operation in 1970.

"At a time when it would be easy not to stand up, the American Legion did stand up, and I am grateful," Nixon said.

A Show Champ

NEW YORK (UPI)—A frisky English springer spaniel who pulled his handler off his feet in preliminary judging was named best dog Tuesday night at the Westminster Kennel Club show.

The winner was Ch. Chinoe's Adamant James, called simply D. J. by his owner, Dr. Milton J. Prickett, a veterinarian from Lexington, Ky. D.J. won the affection of a crowd of 10,000 at Madison Square Garden an hour before the finals of the two-day event when he was named best dog in the sporting group despite his handler's mishaps.

Clint Harris, who was leading the 2 1-2-year-old liver-and-white dog through his paces in the show ring, first stumbled and fell. A minute later, as Harris began to lead the springer toward the judge, the leash slipped off D.J.'s head and the dog galloped toward the exit. The audience roared with pleasure when Chinoe's Adamant James was qualified for the finals and cheered each move in the final judging.

Troop Security

ANKARA (UPI)—U.S. authorities today imposed strict security measures on 14,000 U.S. servicemen and their families in Turkey in an effort to head off further anti-American violence.

The action followed Monday's incident in which an Air Force enlisted man, was abducted at gunpoint, held for almost 17 hours and then released. Officials said it was the first kidnaping of an American in Turkey.

Air Force Airman 1st class James Ray Finley, 26, of Fort Worth, Tex., was kidnapped yesterday. He had arrived three months earlier to take up duties as a special law enforcement agent at the Balgat compound about 10 miles west of Ankara.

Jane To Tour

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jane Fonda, actress and antiwar activist, announced plans Tuesday for a new entertainment tour of Army bases which she said would present the shows soldiers want to see and cut into comedian Bob Hope's "corner on the market."

Miss Fonda, the daughter of actor Henry Fonda, said the new troupe, called the United States Servicemen's Fund (USSF), would test the Army's liberalization policies.

"It is disturbing that Bob Hope, Martha Raye and company seem to have a corner on the market in speaking to soldiers in the country and Vietnam," she said. "The time has come for entertainers who take a different view on the war to reach the soldiers."

Urges Pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, today called for federal approval of the controversial Alaska oil pipeline by Sept. 1, and said the pipeline company should be held liable for any resulting damage to the environment.

Gravel's call for quick approval contrasted sharply with testimony from conservationists who said the $1 billion project should be dropped or at least restudied in detail to make sure the pipeline would not impair the virgin arctic environment.

Gravel's remarks were in testimony prepared for the second day of Interior Department hearings on the pipeline, which would carry oil from Alaska's rich North Slope south of Valdez for shipment by tanker to the West Coast of the United States.

More hearings are scheduled Feb. 24 to 25 in Anchorage.

PX Probe Launched In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee today launched a public inquiry into alleged corruption in the $3 billion, worldwide department store operation run by the Defense Department.

"The subcommittee will examine allegations of corruption, mismanagement and waste" in post exchanges (PXs), officer and enlisted mens clubs, locker clubs, bowling alleys, theaters and other activities operated with nongovernment money, said Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting chairman.

The inquiry also will include allegations, and in some cases reported evidence, of bribery, kickbacks and payoffs touching some of America's largest liquor and tobacco companies on the one hand, and high military and civilian officials on the other, he said.

Lunar Navigation Tricky, Pair Says

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14's moon explorers have warned the next Apollo crew to be wary of the tricks the barren, hilly landscape can play on their ability to navigate between lunar landmarks.

That was one of the key points Alan B. Shepard, Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa made Tuesday in a day-long briefing for Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin. Apollo 15 is set for launch to the moon July 25.

Today the Apollo 14 astronauts planned to tell project officials about their pathfinding, nine-day mission to the hilly lunar uplands.

The problem of finding specific places of interest when walking the moon became even more apparent Tuesday when two scientists reported that Shepard and Mitchell were so fooled by the terrain they turned back within 160 feet of a crater that was their key objective.

"The irony is that if they had gone on, possibly no more than 25 to 50 meters (80 to 160 feet), they would have been right on the rim," said Dr. Robin P. Brett, vice chairman of the team making a preliminary analysis of Apollo 14's rock samples.

Brett and Dr. Everett Gibson reached that conclusion after discussing the lunar hike with Mitchell and examining photographs he and Shepard took on their hike up a 400-foot ridge capped by a deep hole called Cone Crater.

"As they said, it would be nice to have a tree or something around so you could get an idea of scale," Brett said.

Dragnet Out In Slayings

DALLAS (UPI) — Officers seeking Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, one of two brothers charged with the execution style murder of three sheriff's deputies said today they hoped the fugitive would start running —if he still is in Dallas.

"We hope he starts running because a running rabbit is easier to catch than one still in his hole," chief sheriff's deputy Allan Sweatt said.

Sweatt said crews of deputies and other officers had sought Guzman throughout the night and that new crews took up the search today.

"He may still be holed up in Dallas and he may have left town. But we can't afford to take any chances," Sweatt said.

Moises Zuniga Guzman, 35, Rene's brother, also was charged with the murders. Relatives said Rene, an ex-convict, is a "mean man."

Mosies Guzman was arrested Monday night within hours of the shootings. A statewide search was under way for Rene Guzman.

"He's thinks he's Al Capone," one of Rene's relatives said when the murder charges were filed against the younger brother about midnight Monday before a justice of the peace.

The Guzman brothers were accused of forcing five deputies, three from Dallas County and two from neighboring Ellis County, to drive to a secluded spot in the Trinity River bottoms where they allegedly planned to execute all of them. Three deputies were executed, one was wounded and the fifth escaped without injury.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones said Tuesday his staff "definitely can place" the Guzman brothers in the automobile that took the officers to the spot.

The officers were investigating a burglary charge filed in Ellis County. They were disarmed and bound inside a house in West Dallas and driven to the spot where the three were killed in an automobile belonging to the Ellis County sheriff's department.

"We know that these two men (the Guzman brothers) were in the house and we know that they drove the officers to the place of the shooting," Jones said.

The search for Rene was concentrated in both Dallas and along the Mexican border where every motorist was stopped and questioned early today.

Sheriff A.B. Nail of Reeves County in south Texas said the entire border has been "shut down tight."

Industry Has A 'Slow Start'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Industrial production remained sluggish in January except for a spurt in the output of new cars following the two-month auto strike —indicating a slow start for the "good year" President Nixon has predicted for 1971.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Tuesday its industrial production index rose 0.7 per cent last month as a result of sharp increases in auto and auto-supplying industries. The output of other factories, mines and public utilities was virtually unchanged.

In a related development, the Commerce Department reported the nation's chronic balance of payments deficit was $3.9 billion last year, only about half the record $7 billion recorded in 1969.

The Industrial Production Index, closely watched by economists as one of the most accurate barometers of economic activity, was 2 per cent below the pre-auto strike level and 5.4 per cent below the peak recorded in July, 1969.

The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors, Sept. 14 to Nov. 23, aggravated a year-long slide in industrial output. The index advanced 1.5 per cent in December before January's .7 per cent increase. But in both months, the increase was confined to autos.

Nixon has said his economic policies are designed to make 1971 a good year and 1972 a very good year.

The balance of payments report showed that dollars continue to flow overseas as a result of military spending, tourist expenditures, international stock trades and other transactions. Exports exceeded imports by $2.2 billion last year, offsetting some of the deficit from other dealings.

Condemned School Building List Grows

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The city board of education has added 11 school buildings, which normally house 20,000 students, to the growing list of more than 1,000 dwellings condemned because of damage from the devastating Los Angeles earthquake.

The affected students in the district, second largest in the nation behind New York City, will be on half-day or extended session and bused in some cases to other schools for the rest of the school year.

The board also proposed a $209 million emergency construction program which would include all repairs, rebuilding and strenghtening of pre-1933 buildings to bring them into conformity with existing quake-resistance standards.

The board also reported that 35 schools, including those closed, sustained "major structural damage" and 28 schools suffered "major nonstructural damage."

Alioto Puzzled By Antitrust Probe

SEATTLE (UPI)—San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto told reporters today he doesn't understand why a federal grand jury is investigating his sharing of fees from an anti-trust case with two former Washington state officials.

Alioto called a news conference shortly before going before the jury in secret session to "tell them everything they want to know" about the fee-splitting case involving himself, former Washington State Attorney General John J. O'Connell and George Faler, a former assistant to O'Connell.

"I will not speculate on motives," the mayor said. "I will stick to the facts and to the merits. At another time and another place I may not speculate but produce a case on motives."

He said newsmen could draw their own inference from the fact that the mayor's office in San Francisco is up for election this year.

Asked about reports that the grand jury probe centers on a bribery statute, Alioto replied: "If this was a bribe, it would have to be the most peculiar bribe in the history of the world."

The controversy involves an anti-trust, price-fixing suit 15 Washington public utility districts and cities brought against 29 manufacturers of electrical equipment in 1962. O'Connell, on behalf of the utilities, hired Alioto to take the case. Alioto was paid $2.3 million and has said he paid O'Connell $530,400 and Faler $272,413.

At the news conference, Alioto said he relied upon O'Connell's statements that the clients knew of the fee-splitting arrangement. Originally, the agreement with Alioto was that he would be paid a fee equal to 15 per cent of the amount recovered up to $1 million.

Later, O'Connell removed the limitation.

Alioto said he also relied upon O'Connell's statement that the clients knew of the change in the fee status and that he knew O'Connell to be a man of integrity.

Since then, some of the clients have complained that they weren't told the $1 million limit had been waived or that O'Connell and Faler were sharing in the fees.

Alioto said there was no question about the fight of O'Connell and Faler to carry on private practices while at the same time being on the state payroll. He noted that at the time O'Connell's salary was $13,000 a year and like most attorney generals in the intermountain area he had the right to private practice.

The San Francisco mayor said O'Connell represented the utilities in a private capacity and that the state's present attorney general, Salde Gorton, had said O'Connell had no direct connection with the utilities on the basis of public office.

The state has filed a civil suit seeking recovery of the entire fee paid Alioto on grounds that the clients didn't know about the fee-splitting or the increase in the fee allowed Alioto.

Police Probe Gun Death Of Novatan

Novato police today were investigating the death of Mary Lou Rodgers, 41, 707 Seville Way, Novato, who died of a gunshot wound at her home Monday night.

Her son, Dale Owen Johnson, reported she shot herself and police have listed the death as possible suicide, but are continuing investigation.

Officers said Mrs. Rodgers suffered a fatal wound in her left chest from a .32 caliber revolver.

Police said her son reported at 11:10 p.m. Monday that she had been depressed, wrecked the interior of their trailer home and shot herself.

Officers said furniture had been overturned, glasses and dishes thrown about and broken, linen strewn about and the bedroom messed up.

Mrs. Rodgers was discovered in the bedroom. The gun was atop a freezer between the kitchen and bedroom where Johnson told police he had placed it.

Mrs. Rodgers reportedly had been drinking and was angry, police said.

A native of Oklahoma, she had been a resident of Marin for 13 years. She was the wife of Charles J. Rodgers.

Surviving are her son and husband, both of Novato.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Chapel of Marin.

Vandals Steal $50 In Change

Vandals stole small change from seven newspaper racks in Corte Madera yesterday and Monday, police said today.

Officers said four of the racks belonged to the Independent-Journal and three to the San Francisco Chronicle.

The racks, all with broken change boxes, were discovered during the midnight to 8 a.m. shift both days.

Racks vandalized Monday were located at the Cooperative Food Store, 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard; the bus stops at Redwood and Corte Madera avenues and Tamalpais Drive and Madera Boulevard.

Racks vandalized yesterday were located at Gallenkamp Shoes and Thrifty Drugs, in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, Big G Super at 5651 Paradise Drive and the Bourbon Shop, 5641 Paradise Drive.

VOTE

liam T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and nine other assemblymen.

Grace Hughes of Mill Valley, reading a letter from the Marin Alternative, asserted not only will the deadline of Proposition A not be met, but "in recent months the level of violence has been increasing."

She said Proposition A gave the supervisors "a moral obligation to do all within your power to implement their (Marin voters) opposition to the war."

Supervisor McInnis disagreed. "I believe this matter has no business whatever being on the table of the Marin County Board of Supervisors." He said the supervisors should concern themselves solely with "the area of immediate voting impact."

Wornum, on the other hand, said he did not believe in the purity of functions of government. He said the war "and other aberrations that we get into" affect the amount of funding for other purposes awarded by the federal government to Marin. Therefore, he said, Marin should take a stand.

Wornum was applauded, but Baar was greeted with grumbles when he said, "I have to support the President because he is commander-in-chief."

Attorney Gary T. Giacomini poined out that Vasconcellos's bill did not aim at the President or the Congress but sought to test the constitutionality of fighting undeclared wars.

The Marin Alternative also asked the supervisors to authorize a suit challenging the constitutionality of a 10 per cent telephone surtax allegedly used to finance the Indochina fighting and to order that the county not pay the surtax on its phone bills.

However, the supervisors declined to discuss the requests after attorney Giacomini pointed out the county is exempt from the surtax.

understand, reason, and consider—his decision making process was impaired."

However, he said Calley evidently was aware, perceptive, and not subject to hallucinations.

Asked whether Calley at that time had the ability to form the thought, "I will kill," Crane replied:

"Under those conditions on that particular day, I don't think so. I don't think that he would think beforehand that 'I will kill.' But in fact people were killed and he initiated such acts."

"When he gave the order to kill was he able to know they would kill?" Daniel asked.

"I think he was able to know that those men he was ordering would go ahead and kill," Crane replied.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Count

Thomas Keith Flynn, 38, of Mill Valley, was sentenced to 10 days in Marin County Jail yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of temporarily taking a vehicle without the permission of its owner.

Judge David Menary Jr. gave Flynn credit for time already spent in jail.

Flynn earlier had been charged with felony car theft.

Teachers Picket At Meeting

A meeting before the Reed School District board last night on five proposed personnel policies was halted when about six teachers picketed the board to dramatize their request for a special session.

The informational pickets, members of the Reed District Teachers Association and the Reed Unit of the American Federation of Teachers, were protesting the first agenda item, a 90-minute discussion on the personnel policies.

Interim Supt. Irwin Karp said the teachers wanted to discuss the policies at a special board meeting and objected to the time limit imposed by the board.

The teachers also said they wanted the board to establish clearly defined policies on settling differences between teachers and trustees, Karp said.

Board members listened to the teachers grievances and expressed disappointment, Karp said, that the teachers did not want to hold the scheduled "meet and confer" session on the policies.

The five policies relate to evaluation of tenured and non-tenured personnel, granting of tenure and procedures for resolving board-teacher disputes.

Karp said about six pickets, holding signs urging the board to negotiate fairly and in good faith, paraded through the meeting room during the hour-long exchange between teachers and the board. The pickets were not disruptive, he said, and remained quiet. They left when the board moved on to other agenda items.

In other business, the board formally hired Ralph D. Giovaniello, deputy superintendent of the Novato School District, as superintendent in Reed. Giovaniello's salary will be $26,000 a year on a four-year contract.

Karp said Giovaniello will report to work at Reed when released by the Novato School District, which accepted his resignation last night.

The Reed School District board also:

SECRETARY — Hired Helen Overend as business office secretary at $544 a month.

RULES — Agreed to study rules submitted by teachers for conducting "meet and confer" sessions on policies.

GOALS — Adopted a citizens committee recommendation for amendments to the district's philosophies and goals.

TRAINING — Hired planning consultant Donald Miller for $1,100 to conduct a course for administrators on educational planning in the district.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Agreed to hold summer school this year.

RAILROAD — Agreed to meet with a representative of Tiburon on joint city-school district development of the recently acquired Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Six More File For School Jobs

Six more filings of nomination papers for the April 20 school board elections were reported today by the county schools office.

By district, they were:

Tamalpais High School District — Bette Wallace of 134 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, the incumbent.

Shoreline Unified School District — Gilbert Shore of Inverness, owner of the Inverness Gallery, for trustee area one. John P. Donovan of Star Route, Marshall, an electrical technician, for trustee area four.

Dixie School District — Addyse L. Palagyi of 971 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, a teacher; and Patricia Gryson of 714 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda, a housewife.

Kentfield School District — Dr. Tommy R. Walker of 22 Corte Lodato, Greenbrae.

RATE

return on their money, lenders usually add "points" to FHA and VA loans. A "point" is a one-time payment of 1 per cent of the loan and is usually paid by the seller instead of the buyer.

In addition to the interest rate, the FHA charges a premium of one half of one per cent. This increases the effective rate on FHA loans to 7 1-2 per cent. The VA does not make a similar charge.

The lowered ceiling will trim about $8 off the monthly payment on a $25,000 home with a 25-year mortgage. On an FHA loan, the monthly payment for principal, interest and the FHA premium would be $184.75 on such a loan. The old rate was $193.

WAR

said a reinforced company of Communist troops—150 or more men—had attacked near combat base Scott, manned by units of the U.S. 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) and that reinforcements were sent to the scene today.

Other fighting was reported Tuesday and today near the Rockpile, another U.S. fire base five miles below the DMZ. A delayed report said the 5th Mechanized Ifantry killed 46 North Vietnamese in a battle there last weekend.

Spokesmen at Quang Tri said that by late today U.S. Artillery was "ringing the area," indicating that an American force had been cut off by the Communists. Air strikes were carried out despite ceilings as low as 500 feet in the mountainous area.

Reports of the fighting inside Laos indicated the Communist resistance was stiffening.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said government forces killed at least 78 Communists in fighting in Laos today and the U.S. air strikes had knocked out four more Soviet-built tanks and three antiaircraft guns in Laos. This brought to 13 the number of tanks reported destroyed.

One battle was fought 18 miles west of the former Green Beret border outpost at Lang Vei, indicating the South Vietnamese drive along Route 9 still was stalled. Some skirmishing was reported much closer to Lang Vei.

The U.S. Command disclosed meanwhile that American jets attacked a North Vietnamese missile site in North Vietnam Tuesday in the third such "protective reaction" strike in three days after Communist radar locked on an unarmed U.S. reconnaissance plane.

Military sources disclosed recently the United States had greatly increased its reconnaissance over North Vietnam since start of the South Vietnamese operation in Laos but have not reported any major North Vietnamese buildups.

In Saigon terrorists tossed fire bombs against the fence of the U.S. Embassy tonight, the third successive day of terrorist actions against American property in the South Vietnamese capital.

Reports from Laos said meanwhile Communists were still putting pressure on the government's defense headquarters at Long Cheng, in the mountains 90 miles north of Vientiane in Northern Laos but that the situation in the country was generally quiet.

Laotian officials said the military hospital at Long Cheng had been evacuated following a Communist attack Sunday that destroyed its medical supplies. With a Communist attack expected at any time it was decided to remove the patients and their families farther south.

The Command also said fice GIs were killed Monday night in the crash of a big Chinook helicopter near Hue and reported two Americans killed in a Communist attack 15 miles east of Saigon.

New Approach To Acne Skin

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The discovery that the skin of acne victims handles the male sex hormone differently than normal skin in natural hormone activity may offer a promising new approach to treating the disorder, two UCLA Medical School doctors announced today.

Mrs. Ronald M. Reisner and Gail Sansome said they found that acne-bearing skin converts the male sex hormone, or androgens, into its tissue-active form at a greater rate than normal skin.

Acne develops during the teens when the skins oil glands are enlarging and putting out more oil. The converted form of male sex hormone, or testosterone, greatly increased in acne skin may cause an excessive output of oil in the acne-prone persons, they said.

Petris Eyes Ban On Fast Cars

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation prohibiting the sale in California of cars capable of going faster than 75 miles an hour beginning Jan. 1, 1973, has been introduced by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris.

The Oakland Democrat said the only exceptions to his bill would be emergency vehicles such as ambulances.

"Statistics show that leading causes of accidents are speed and drinking," he said. "If we get those two whipped, we can reduce the fatalities."

Petris said there is "no reason" for a car to have the capability of going 120 m.p.h. He said such an auto is "just a temptation" for the driver to use the speed.

one-year residency which state law provides for non-chartered cities should apply.

The City of Sacramento did not carry the appeal to the California Supreme Court since the question had become moot, city voters having approved reduction to one-year residency in the same election for which Lawrence failed to qualify.

A similar charter amendment to reduce San Rafael's requirement to one year will be on the April 20 ballot.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. said the state Election Code permits Lamantia to request a superior court judge to order that his name be placed on the ballot. Robbins said the court is not bound by the decision at the appellate level, and he would simply abide by whatever the judge decides.

Lederberg Sees Huge Problems In Gene Changes

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Nobel Prize winner Dr. Joshua Lederberg asserts that changing the human race by tinkering with its genes presents a technical problem roughly equal to building a bridge from San Francisco to Honolulu.

"If transoceanic bridges become fashionable ... they will be built, and probably the same can be said for genetic engineering," Lederberg wrote in the current issue of "Pharos," the publication of Alpha Omega Alpha, the honorary medical society.

But Lederberg wrote, any attempt to change the nature of man carried awesome implications—for example, the attempt to eliminate warlike qualities by genetic changes.

Hearing Set On Welfare Issue

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The State of California has been ordered to show cause in Alameda County Superior Court Feb. 25 why regulations permitting moderate income persons to draw welfare should not be rescinded.

Marin and six other counties have filed suit challenging state regulations which they say force issuance of welfare checks to persons on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program who earn as much as $16,000 a year.

The show cause hearing will be before Judge Robert Kroninger.

Camera Equipment Stolen From Auto

Camera and lens equipment worth $667 were taken from the back seat of an auto parked overnight on Monday at 86 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported.

John R. Kinsel, 26, of 95 Medway Road told police he left the camera equipment on the back seat of his locked car between 9 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. yesterday. He said the car had been pried open.

Lecture On Venus Scheduled Friday

A lecture on the visual characteristics of the planet Venus will be presented Friday at the monthly public meeting of the Star Observers of Marin, according to the group's secretary, M. D. Beck.

The club will meet at 8 p.m. in the community room of Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, 305 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

United For Life Group To Meet

The Marin Chapter of United for Life, a group which opposes abortion, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, San Anselmo.

Rev. Henry Kangas, pastor of St. Francis Lutheran Church in San Francisco, will speak at the meeting, open to the public.

Innocent Plea To Robbery

Barbara Rita Hall, 20, of Marin City, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of robbery.

Jury trial was set for the week of April 26.

Mrs. Hall is accused, along with two other unidentified women, of robbing a man who gave one of the women a ride to Marin City from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

OBITUARIES

Reverend Donohoe Dies At 49

Rev. George Donohoe, S.J., a former Marin resident who had been a missionary in China for the past 25 years, was killed in the Far East yesterday when struck by a truck. He was 49.

Relatives learned Father Donohoe was hit by the vehicle while hiking in Taipei, Taiwan.

Father Donohoe, a native of San Francisco who lived in San Anselmo as a boy from 1925 to 1932, taught at National Taiwan University and Provincial Norman University in the Far East. He organized students into a Peace Corps-type group to work with mountain people during summer vacations.

The priest, who was nearly blind, went to China in 1946 but was expelled from the mainland six years later. He had taught in Taiwan since.

Survivors are four brothers, Joseph Donohoe of Sleepy Hollow, William Donohoe of Lucas Valley, Chris Donohoe of San Francisco and Frank Donohoe of Yosemite, and a sister, Eileen Donohoe of Carson City, Nev.

A Memorial Concelebrated Requiem Mass will be offered at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Ignatius Church, Fulton Street and Parker Avenue, San Francisco. Funeral and burial will be in Taipei.

Petaluma Group Elect Officers

Marvin Hale, a fire protection engineer, last night was elected president of the East Petaluma Civic Association.

Others elected were immediate past president Frank Thomas as vice president and Lawrence Bernaurer, treasurer. A secretary has not been selected.

Hale, 1529 Baywood Drive, is a civil engineer employed by Gage-Babcock Associates of Oakland. He and his wife, Delores, have two children, Suzanne, 3, and Valerie, 11 months. They moved to Petaluma in November 1969.

Reinecke Calls For Commission On Sea Traffic

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke Tuesday proposed creation of a sea traffic control commission for San Francisco Bay to prevent oil tanker collisions such as the one occurring in the bay last month.

Speaking to a University of California symposium on agricultural chemicals, Reinecke said such a commission would coordinate efforts to regulate ship traffic in the bay.

He said the proposed agency "should have navigational control powers and permanent facilities . . . perhaps on Alcatraz Island."

The commission, Reinecke said, should be composed of representatives from San Francisco and Oakland port authorities, the Coast Guard and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

He also proposed that similar commissions be established for all other major shipping ports in California, including Los Angeles harbor.

Voucher Plan To Be Eyed

A forum discussion on the educational voucher system and its use in California will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the annex at Edna Maguire School, Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

Panelists at the forum, sponsored by the school's parent-teacher-student association, will include a moderator, pro-and-con speakers and a questioning board.

Under the voucher system, parents would be allowed financial credits for each school-age child. These credits could be spent at any public or private school.

The forum is open to the public.

JOHN HALLIGAN

John E. Halligan of San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 47.

Halligan had been a California Highway Patrol officer with the patrol's Corte Madera branch for the past 16 years. Prior to becoming a traffic officer, he was a fireman for Rescue Squad One of the San Francisco Fire Department.

Halligan was born in Flint, Mich., but moved to San Francisco as a young man. He moved to 2413 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, about 15 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Jacqueline Halligan; three sons, John D., James D. and Robert E. Halligan; two daughters, Jean A. and Mary T. Halligan, all of the family home; his parents, J. Emmet and Margaret Halligan of Terra Linda; a sister, Rita Madeira of Paoli, Pa,; and three brothers, Robert W. Halligan of Marinwood, Thomas R. Halligan of Millbrae and James J. Halligan of Encino, Los Angeles County.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Saint Raphael's Church, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

EFFIE HENLEY

Private funeral for Effie L. Henley, 77, of San Rafael, retired school teacher, will be tomorrow in San Rafael.

Miss Henley died Monday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Warrensburg, Mo., Miss Henley had lived in California about 60 years, the last 50 in Marin County. She most recently lived at the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael.

Miss Henley was a school teacher for about 30 years in San Francisco. She was a member of the California State Teachers Association.

She is survived by a sister, Minnie V. Henley of San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Marin County Heart Association or the American Cancer Society.

MARTHA DURRIE

Martha A. Durrie of Belvedere, a long-time resident of Marin, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 60.

She was the wife of Charles H. Durrie, an interior designer and decorator. The family home is at 83D Beach Road.

Mrs. Durrie, a native of Santa Barbara, was married in 1931 in Berkeley. The family lived on a ranch above the Napa Valley near Angwin before moving to Marin in 1941.

She took part in conservation and wildlife activities.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Jane Hill and Alice Stone, both of Mill Valley, and a son, Jon Durrie of Rome, Italy.

Services will be private. The Bayview Chapel, Berkeley, is in charge of arrangements.

Sausalito Plans Dog Action

The Sausalito City Council decided last night to make a serious attempt to collar the dogs who roam freely through Sausalito's downtown area and mess streets and sidewalks.

The council asked city Mgr. Albert St. Cyr to obtain a copy of a leash ordinance passed last night by the Mill Valley City Council and modify the regulations to fit Sausalito's needs. The Mill Valley ordinance requires the leashing of dogs in commercial areas and at parks and schools.

But the council also recognized the most stringent law is meaningless unless it can be enforced effectively, a task which will fall to the Marin County Humane Society if a leash ordinance is adopted.

At present the society is supposed to provide a patrol in Sausalito about 23 hours each month, according to the city manager, but the council agreed the service has not been effective in the past.

"Where do they do their enforcement — on Wolfback Ridge?" Mayor Alexander R. Imlay asked wryly.

The council asked St. Cyr to meet with society officials and discuss Sausalito's needs in the way of dog control.

City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger said the humane society does patrol in residential hill areas, but won't come downtown. "I know because I've called them," he said. "They'll give a dog a ticket for sitting in someone's driveway, but they won't come into the business area when we have 47 big dogs running loose.

The cost of effective enforcement of a leash law will also have to be considered, according to Imlay. He said the city may find the cost is "astronomical," but added that a few days each month of strict enforcement might do the trick.

The city manager agreed to prepare and report the recommendation for presentation at the council's March 3 meeting.

The Sausalito City Council also:

PARKING LOT LIGHTING — Agreed to spend $800 to finance a lighting system for municipal parking lot No. 1 where ferry passengers change to buses and cars sometimes after dark.

BULKHEADS AND FILL — Approved a request from Herb Madden for permission to repair bulkheads at the south end of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, place 220 cubic yards of fill in the area and construct a dual pier structure extending about 50 feet into the harbor. Before proceeding with the work, Madden must seek approval from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

OFF-STREET PARKING — Upheld a planning commission decision to permit Fred De Cook to provide two off-street parking spaces in the public right-of-way for a home at 261 Santa Rosa Avenue.

MARINA SEWERS — Postponed action on an ordinance to require Sausalito Marina and yacht harbor owners to provide sewer connections for individual boats docked in their facilities. St. Cyr said the staff is presently meeting with the owners to discuss the proposed ordinance.

AMBULANCE FEES — Referred to its attorney a plan by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten to raise ambulance rates for nonresidents from $30 to $50 per call. Residents would still receive free ambulance service under the proposal.

FERRY PERMIT — Granted a 90-day extension of the conditional use permit (which expired Monday) to allow the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a ferry in Sausalito.

CONGRESSMEN — Heard a brief report from Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, who appeared at the meeting. Mailliard said he is confident the port safety bill, which will require stricter regulations of ships in harbors, will pass in this session of Congress.

CLAIM — Referred a $99,300 claim for damages against the city to its insurance carrier. Della Dyson of Anaheim is asking the money for injuries received when she fell from a city sidewalk in October.

ORDINANCE — Passed an ordinance creating a no parking zone on Johnson Street across from the Sausalito Fire Station. The ordinance, which will eliminate one parking space, will make it easier for fire vehicles to turn on the street.

ANOTHER FERRY — By a 4-1 vote, went on record favoring a proposal to revoke a certificate issued to Harbor Carriers in 1968 to allow the firm to operate a ferry in Sausalito. The state Public Utilities Commission was to hold hearings on the matter today in San Francisco and is considering withdrawing the certificate because it has not been used. Councilman Wyman Hicks opposed the revoking of the permission, saying the company should be allowed to operate tourist ferries to Sausalito since they asked to do so before the Golden Gate Bridge District sought permission.

Senator Makes Good Recovery

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI)—Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., 74, is reported in good condition after surgery at Duke University Hospital for a malignant tumor.

Jordan underwent surgery Monday for removal of the tumor, located in his colon. Doctors said that although the tumor was malignant, they found no evidence during surgery that the cancer has spread.

A portion of Jordan's large intestine was removed in the three and one half hour operation.

Discussion On Naming Teens

Whether names of teen-agers under 18 charged with a major felony should be published, will be discussed at 9 a.m. Thursday on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board."

Panelists will include L. Charles Smith, youth co-ordinator of the Marin County Youth Commission; Laurie Packard, commission member; Alfred Howenstein, juvenile officer of the San Anselmo Police Department; Charles E. Newman, juvenile officer of the Corte Madera Police Department; and detective Michael M. Manick, juvenile specialist of the Novato Police Department.

Questions may be called in during the live broadcast Thursday. The program will be rebroadcast on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

A PARK GROWS IN SAUSALITO

Workmen install flagstone walks and steps in Tiffany Park between North Street and Bridgeway in Sausalito. The quarter-acre park, designed for strolling, sitting and looking at nearby San Francisco Bay, is expected to be completed within a month, according to Norman Wohlschlaeger, city director of public works. Working under a $12,599 contract, the Albert Bidegain Landscaping Co. of San Rafael has raised the ground level three to four feet to give a view of the bay across Bridgeway traffic. Trees and other plants have been put in, and benches, a fountain and litter cans installed.

Criminal Justice

Bribe — Removes immunity from prosecution of businessmen accused of offering public officials a bribe. (AB143—Cullen, D-Long Beach.)

Housing To Bay Fill Plan Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation adding housing to the authorized uses of bay fill on San Francisco's waterfront has been introduced by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

His measure apparently was in response to the recent rejection of a fill project by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission. The project would have included offices and a hotel.

Hotels presumably would be included in the language of the new bill, which would allow "any building used as a housing accommodation."

Burton's bill would not interfere with the jurisdiction of the BCDC since it merely would amend a 1968 law limiting use of the waterfront to purposes "which are not prohibited by the laws of the State of California."

The bill raises a touchy legal issue, however, of whether underwater lands subject to the state constitution's public trust for navigation and fishing can be used for housing.

Burton, in related measures, introduced bills to limit to 200 feet the height of buildings on the city's harbor property. His bill was introduced yesterday before San Francisco supervisors voted to limit their height to 175 feet.

Burton's third bill would give San Francisco 25 years instead of 10 years to issue at least $50 million in bonds for harbor purposes.

Behr, Bagley Rap Alioto Escort Role

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto was criticized sharply yesterday by Marin's two state legislators, Sen. Peter H. Behr and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, for escorting three union officials to jail in Marin for contempt of court.

Both legislators are attorneys.

Behr said that "any attorney who publicly criticizes the decision of the judge contributes to the weakening of the judicial process, and should know better. It should be ingrained in attorneys that they are officers of the court, and sworn to uphold the judicial system."

Bagley said that "it is obviously inappropriate and inordinate and without any good taste for the mayor to grandstand his way into Marin and in effect lead a demonstration in front of the county jail."

Bagley added a promise "not to go over and picket the (San Francisco) City Hall."

Both legislators also criticized a resolution introduced by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, asking a legislative study of the 13-month strike against the Independent-Journal by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Behr said that such a study would waste valuable time that legislators should spend on other matters, and that it would not disclose any information "that isn't known already." He said that no "sensible legislation" could result from analysis of a single labor dispute.

The three union officials were booked Feb. 3 to begin 15-day jail sentences. Alioto expressed displeasure at a rally outside the Hall of Justice at what he called the "jailing of responsible, important labor leaders."

The three — Leon Olson, president of the typographical union local; Donald Abrams, a vice president of that union, and Jack Goldberger, president of Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921 — were ordered to jail for contempt of an injunction limiting picketing at the I-J and forbidding violence against the I-J, its employees or customers.

Alioto said that the jailing of labor officials "ought to have gone out with high button shoes." He added, "You don't solve labor disputes with jail sentences."

Streamline Claim Plan Is Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to streamline the state's procedure for paying small claims by private contractor was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Under existing law, a contractor who loses an item even as small as a hammer while on a state job must have his claim approved by the State Board of Control and payment from the general fund approved by the Legislature.

Behr's bill would enable department directors to decide the merits of such claims and to pay them from their operating budgets. The cumbersome procedure of going to the Control Board would be used only if a claim were disputed.

The bill was asked by the Department of General Services.

Shareholders Meet

The annual meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Marin will be held at its office at 1108 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael on March 4 at 8 p.m., at which time directors will be elected for the coming year.

Behr Hits Proposed Fair Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, has declared his opposition to the proposed elimination of three fairs in Marin and Sonoma counties.

The Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, the "Little Hoover Commission," proposed that they be consolidated with the Sonoma County Fair at Santa Rosa as an economy measure. Other fairs throughout the state also would be eliminated by merger with larger fairs.

Behr branded the saving as "infinitesimal," saying it would save a maximum of $3 million a year, or less than one thousandth of 1 per cent of the state budget.

The local fairs that would be eliminated would be the Marin County Fair, Sonoma-Marin Fair and Cloverdale Citrus Fair.

The move, Behr said in a statement to the commission, "will work a grievous hardship on local communities, will lessen local support and lose the essential local flavor and distinction of our smaller fairs, may become more expensive to the state in the long run, and will result in a kind of homogenized mediocrity, where it can be truthfully said that "if you've seen one fair, you've seen them all."

He said the fairs were "a refreshing touch of rural America in a rapidly growing and complex urban society."

San Anselmo Is Seeking Tougher Real Estate Law

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to put teeth into a law requiring a real estate buyer to be informed on the authorized use, occupancy and zoning of his purchase was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

A 1969 state law authorized cities to enact ordinances requiring the information be supplied, but the real estate lobby succeeded in amending out all enforcement provisions.

The new bill was asked by the San Anselmo City Council.

It would give a licensed real estate broker one week after concluding a sale to verify to the state real estate commissioner that the provisions of the ordinance have been observed. If the sale were made without a broker, the title company would have to verify compliance with the ordinance.

Brokers failing to comply with the provision of the bill could lose their licenses.

Hub Council Splits Over Housing Plan

The San Anselmo City Council agreed last night with the goals of a proposed housing policy statement of the Marin County Planning Commission, but could not agree on means to reach the goals.

Therefore, the council decided to forward a synopsis of its discussion to the planners prior to a public hearing Monday on the housing policy drawn up by commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Edward Hageman.

Councilmen agreed that Marin communities should encourage social and economic diversity and expand housing for low and moderate-income families.

However, councilmen split on proposed policies and methods.

Mayor James F. Reed argued that "before we can hit anything meaningful, we have to establish density criteria."

For example, he said he could support a high-rise building to save a greenbelt, but could not support residential development in non-residential areas.

The council was at odds on the county proposal from the preamble on. But Reed convinced other members it was important to forward comments at least to the county because "the feds are going to jam the county housing plan down our throats."

The key to the disagreements was the effect that suggested changes would have on the atmosphere of San Anselmo. Councilman Warren R. Perry argued for the status-quo on density and quality of housing to preserve the nature of the city; Mayor Reed feared the city will become a "middle-class ghetto" unless flexibility is built into an existing requirement of 7,500 square foot lots in residential areas.

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Kenneth L. Anderson agreed with Reed that low-cost housing is impossible within the existing standards of San Anselmo.

Anderson said, "I really believe the answer to low-cost housing is subsidy of the people who need help, not monkeying around with zoning."

He added that a section on including less expensive housing in new developments does not apply to San Anselmo, which has little undeveloped land. However, on preserving older housing, he said, "We are getting close to home now. This is San Anselmo's problem."

Anderson and Perry, while objecting to most other provisions of the county proposal, agreed to a policy of maintaining residential zoning in good older neighborhoods.

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, who supported most of the policies espoused in the county offering, attacked the standards being used by the council. "Our standard is this: We all own our own houses. We are using this for our standards," he said.

Perry countered that lowering the standards of San Anselmo will eliminate the trees and open spaces that provide some of the city's charm. "I for one don't think our standards here in San Anselmo are out of touch," he said.

Lightning Hits Car, Driver Survives Ordeal

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—"It was like being in an airplane that went right up to 10,000 feet, bumped into a cloud and came right down and your ears popped."

Thus did Mrs. Lynn Boyce describe how it felt when a lightning bolt struck her car early Monday.

Rubber tires are supposed to insulate a car but the shaken 21-year-old Seattle housewife said, "the whole car turned green and blue, but it's painted red."

"My hair stood on end, but I don't think any of it (electricity from the lightning) got inside the car.

Mrs. Boyce, who was not hurt, said the auto was lifted for a moment from the pavement and at least some of the electrical systems went out of operation.

San Rafael Gets Bicycle Path Plan

A series of bicycle paths to connect San Rafael schools, parks and residential areas has been proposed to the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

Harold Mickens, president of Marin Cyclists, presented his proposal to commissioners at their meeting last Thursday and suggested that county facilities be used to provide uniform signs to indicate the various routes.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of Parks and Recreation, said the proposed main route would begin at the city limits near Corte Madera and enter San Rafael along Highway 101 on Irwin Street and would continue down Jordan Street, Albert Park Lane, First Street, Second Street and down Greenfield toward San Anselmo.

Another loop from this main route would start on Irwin, continue down Lincoln Avenue to Second Street to San Pedro Road and then to the Civic Center. Secondary routes would fan out to Northgate and Lucas Valley.

Snyder said a system of secondary routes would connect parks including Gerstle Park, Boyd Park, Sun Valley, Victor Jones, Albert Park and the new Manuel T. Freitas Park, with tie-ins to as many schools as possible.

He said children's safety on these lanes will be of primary importance.

Snyder said he and Mickens discussed the possibility of members of the Marin Cyclists assisting with the directional signs along the routes.

Commissioner Fred Jensen suggested the proposed plan be sent to the Traffic Safety Committee for study, recommendations and approval.

Park and Recreation Commissioners also:

ELECTION —Reelected unanimously Charles L. Tacchi as chairman of the commission and Norma Wall as vice-chairman.

MEETING — Announced that Snyder will attend the California Pacific Southwest Parks and Recreation Conference in Fresno on February 20-24.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to a dinner-meeting at 7 p.m. March 11 at the West End Villa.

Plea Fails To Move Council On Annexing

The Petaluma City Council held to its moratorium on annexations last night and refused action on annexation of 20 acres on the north edge of the city.

Developer Robert T. Foster represented William Lawrence in his bid to annex his 43-acre dairy ranch on Old Redwood Highway at Highway 101. Foster argued that half of Lawrence's property has been within a sewer district for 10 years and that the entire parcel should be annexed to permit future development.

Foster said he had approached the council in October of 1969 and was told to go the local agency formation commission to annex the land before the entire parcel could be admitted to the sewer district.

Foster blamed Mayor Helen Putnam for the defeat of the annexation request at the commission meeting and asked the council to reconsider his request and to send a more favorable recommendation to the commission.

Mrs. Putnam and the council balked, saying it must adhere to its newly formed policy of limiting annexations to areas already in the sewer district because of the questionable future capacity of the sewage treatment plant. Foster assured the council that Lawrence would not seek a building permit until an enlargment of the plan has been settled.

The council refused action on his request.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER — Established a council-staff committee to study the propriety of the $1,450 bill sent to rancher Leroy Cheda on Old Adobe Road. City Engineer David A. Young said waste from Cheda's dairy herd polluted the city drinking water and caused the city to import water at a higher cost for 25 days.

OVERCROSSING — Agreed to pay half the construction costs for a pedestrian overcrossing from Kentfield Junior High School across Highway 101 to McKenzie Street, noting federal funds or gas tax money would be used to pay the bill estimated at $88,000.

SUBDIVISIONS — Approved Monarch Pacific Subdivision Units 9 and 10, including one irregular 30,091 square foot lot.

CURBS — Received a request from Heritage Homes of Petaluma Inc. to maintain cobblestone curbs and gutters for historic purposes.

French Sailor Still Serious

A French sailor involved in an auto wrech on the Golden Gate Bridge Monday was reported in serious condition today at San Francisco General Hospital.

The right leg of Jacques Camescasse, 28, has been amputated, hospital officials said. He also suffered compound fractures of the left leg, head wounds and abdominal injuries, the hospital reported.

The sailor off a French ship which is docked in San Francisco was driving a car which collided at 1:45 a.m. with one driven by Kenneth J. Mogan, 27, of Terra Linda.

Missile Launch

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A secret satellite employing a Thor-Burner II combination missile was launched Tuesday night from this aerospace center.

Concept Of New College Is Approved

The Marin Junior College District board last night continued counting unhatched chickens — making plans for a north campus while funds are still up in the air.

John A. Grasham, district superintendent-president, told the trustees that he will know more about the financial situation after a meeting of the Board of Governors of California Community Colleges today and tomorrow in Sacramento.

The district board is counting on matching funds from the state, but it has been predicted that budget cuts will severely curtail the funds.

The trustees, meeting with the architect for the proposed new campus in Novato, went ahead last night, however, with plans for the school, approving the concept of three inner colleges.

The college has been scheduled to open September 1974, but architect Joseph F. Thomas and college planner Dale E. Fleming last night said that it might not be until January 1975 because of delay in state funds.

Thomas told the trustees he envisions buildings of natural materials which would blend into the terrain and that he hoped to keep water flowing in streams on the 330-acre property.

Thomas and the trustees agreed that they would plan for a maximum of 5,000 students but explore possibility of expansion to 10,000.

The board meets again in regular session at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Pair Hurt In 2-Car Accident

Two men have been injured in a two-car crash in San Rafael in which the auto of a San Rafael police lieutenant was rammed.

The crash occurred at 7:40 a.m. Friday at Francisco and Bellam boulevards, police said yesterday. Officers said an auto driven by Lt. Lincoln M. Borba, 55, of San Rafael, was struck by one operated by Otis K. Franklin Jr., 49, of San Francisco.

Franklin told police he accelerated to avoid hitting a third auto at the intersection, lost control and struck Borba's auto, which was halted at a stop sign at the intersection.

Franklin was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for a broken nose. Ecko also was reportedly taken to Kaiser for unspecified injuries but the hospital said it had no record of treating him.

Supervisors Uphold Autoyard's Appeal

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday reversed a lower board's decision and said the Bisso Brothers Auto Wrecking Yard in Penngrove could continue operations.

The board of zoning adjustments had ordered the yard at 6040 Old Redwood Highway abated because it had been unused for a long period of time.

Attorney Morris M. Mawson told the supervisors that complaining neighbors were incorrect and that the yard had always been in use. He said the Bisso Brothers intended to clean up the yard and to make improvements.

The board approved the appeal with Supervisors Ignazio A. Vella dissenting and Henry C. Spomer abstaining.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

REPAIRS — Heard a report that repairs to the social service building due to the 1969 earthquake had totaled $455,406 with only $39,640 covered by insurance. County Administrator David L. Nichols said the federal government had paid nearly half the remaining costs and that the costs total was nearly $208,000.

APPOINTMENT — Named Petaluma Vice Mayor John W. Cavanagh Jr. to the Petaluma Zone Advisory board of the Sonoma County water agency. Cavanagh will replace Philip L. Joerger, who was elected to the board of supervisors.

SUIT — Received a $50,000 claim for injuries from Dianne I. Riley, who said she fell on poorly lighted grounds of Bernard Eldredge School, Petaluma.

Woman Toll Collector

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For the first time since World War II, there's a woman toll collector on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Dorothy Ann Lykens, 35, said Tuesday she took the job because she needed money to study scientology, described by its advocates as the art of knowing yourself of being what you are.

Miss Lykens, who did graduate work at the University of California and acted at the Fallon House Theater at Columbia University, won her position in a competitive examination.

Pelt Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Youths pelted British troops with rock-laden snowballs Tuesday night in a Roman Catholic area of Belfast and an explosion and fire wrecked a filling station on the outskirts of the city.

Ethics Talks At Hospital Called Off

Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael has canceled further meetings of its medical ethics discussion group because of letters to newspapers.

Dr. David A. Strange, chairman of the hospital's professional education committee, last weekend sent a letter to physicians, nurses and others at the hospital and its clinic announcing the cancelation. The letter said the first meeting of the discussion group, which took up the subject of abortion, was "stimulating enough to trigger several letters to the editor."

"While we were happy to provide a forum for a free exchange of ideas," wrote Dr. Strange, "we have some reason to fear that the possibility of publicity in the press may discourage discussion by some participants whose positions require a balanced assessment of the facts.

"In light of this, I feel it best to cancel the remaining meetings of the series."

Steal Copy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Thieves broke into the offices of the Canyon Crier newspaper here and stole copy intended for the next issue —including an article on how to protect against burglars.

Expansion Cost Set For Public Library

The San Rafael Library Board last night was given an estimate of $750,000 for expanding the public library to meet the city's needs until 1985.

However, James R. Diaz, architect associated with the Consulting Organization, said this included $80,000 for underbuilding parking for 20 cars, which could be elimianted. He said some other options which could reduce the cost might be possible.

Diaz and Donald R. Hegstrom, who heads the Consulting Organization, said it would be impractical to try to preserve the original Carnegie Library portion of the present building. The expansion estimate included its removal and replacement. The addition to the library built in 1961 would be retained.

The proposed expansion would add about 12,000 square feet of library floor space, more than doubling the present area. The expansion would extend the building farther toward Fifth Avenue.

The Consulting Organization was to have presented the final report on its pre-design study of the expansion last night, but Hegstrom said it was not yet ready. He agreed to have it for the March 8 board meeting, after which it will be presented to the city council.

Prior to hearing from the consultants, the board appointed member Ella May Minneman to coordinate efforts to start a San Rafael Friends of the Library organization.

Reagan Sees Tax Hike If Medi-Cal Cut Is Restored

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Democratic bill to rescind administration-ordered Medi-Cal cuts is aimed at leaving the state "no choice" but to increase taxes, Gov. Ronald Reagan has charged.

The bill by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, would restore the program of medicine for the poor to its level before the administration last December ordered a cutback to prevent what Reagan said was a threatened $140 million deficit this fiscal year.

Burton concedes his measure, scheduled for Assembly floor debate Monday, could mean a tax increase.

Reagan at his weekly news conference Tuesday refused to say whether he would sign the bill if it reached him.

"I can only tell you that I think Mr. Burton's intent was to bring us to the end of the funds before the end of the year and faced with no choice but tax increase," the governor said.

Municipal Waste Monitoring Hit

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Discharge of municipal wastes into the Pacific carry "a significantly larger amount of pesticides to the ocean than are conveyed by all the rivers combined," according to a special report.

The review charged that major municipal discharges "have been inadequately monitored in the past."

The study, released Tuesday night, was requested by the Pesticide Advisory Committee of the State Agriculture Department. The study was conducted by state scientists as well as representatives of the Hopkins Marine Station at Stanford and the University of California.

"With only a few exceptions," the report said, "pesticide monitoring in California has been a fragmented and uncoordinated series of special studies of limited duration and scope.

"Continuation of the present system of sampling efforts may result in undetected pesticide buildup in the waters of the state and the biota associated with these waters."

Among the recommendations were:

—Development of a coordinated statewide pesticide monitoring program to determine the source, movement and ultimate fate of pesticides.

—Development of an alerting procedure that will go into action immediately when undesirable levels of pesticides are detected so that remedial action may be taken.

—Immediate expansion of the monitoring of certain specific emissions of pesticides to the environment, particularly municipal waste discharges.

—Continued and intensified monitoring of agricultural waste waters.

—Research on the cycling of pesticides between bottom sediments and overlying waters.

—Expanded monitoring of pesticide concentrations in human tissue in view of the current use of pesticides with broader spectra and higher toxicity in humans.

—Closer study of soils around refuge dumps to determine the fate of buried and applied pesticides.

Use Of Pesticides Held A 'Necessity'

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Pesticides are "a necessity" in agriculture and "not a matter of whether farmers want to use" them, a U.S. Agriculture Department official said Tuesday.

The comment was made by Warren C. Shaw of the department's plant industry station in Maryland during a "food, people and the environment" symposium sponsored by the University of California's Division of Agricultural Sciences.

Shaw said the use of chemicals was responsible for 60 per cent of all "food and feed."

In measuring the strength of the enemy — weeds, plant diseases and insects — "the benefits and the risks (of chemicals) must be weighed carefully," he said.

Shaw indicated the benefits far outweighed the potential risks. He said the nation's farm output was beginning to parallel population needs and added "a 10 per cent loss (of all crops) could cause chaos."

Pointing out the need for the use of chemicals, Shaw said 460 billion acres of treated wheatlands produced a two-billion bushel increase "and no one yet has shown any impairment" to the ecology.

Shaw admitted there were drawbacks to using chemicals but said that, when all reports are analyzed, "I'm confident we will find that we managed very well."

No Conflict Of Interest, Says Stans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said today he took adequate precautions to prevent a conflict of interest involving his ownership of about $300,000 worth of stock in a subsidiary of the Penn Central Railroad.

Stans said in a statement that he does not know if he still owns the stock or even if he owned it last June when Penn Central was seeking $200 million in federal loan guarantees to stave off bankruptcy.

Stans said he was informed that the stock had been transferred from a partnership in which he had an interest to his personal account on June 11, 1969. But he said the shares were immediately placed in a "blind" trust, which administers his holdings without his knowledge.

The House Banking Committee said in a report Sunday that Stans owned 38,000 shares in Great Southwest Corp., a Dallas-based land development company in which Penn Central had 90 per cent interest.

Stans said he removed himself from negotiations for government aid to Penn Central to avoid any possible conflict of interest. The railroad filed for reorganization under the bankruptcy law on June 21, 1970. Late last year, Congress appropriated $125 million in federal loan guarantees to keep the railroad running.

Action By Board Blocks Plans For Tower

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The board of supervisors Tuesday passed an ordinance blocking construction of the 550-foot U.S. Steel tower, whose critics said would further contribute to the "Manhattanization" of the city's famed skyline.

The board voted 6-4 Tuesday to limit building heights in the northern waterfront area where the building was to be constructed to 175 feet, thus ending a year of study and heated public debate.

The zoning revision must be approved by the supervisors on a second reading, and by Mayor Joseph Alioto, who has previously declared him self neutral on the issue.

Antiwar March Is Peaceful

PALO ALTO (UPI)—An antiwar parade that started with 500 persons and ended with some 2,000 marched from the Stanford University campus Tuesday to Palo Alto.

Most marchers were students but many were faculty members and town people. Among them was Elizabeth Lyman, wife of Stanford's President Richard Lyman.

"We pray that this nation may come to its senses—that its leaders may be brought to their senses to stop this unconscionable program of death and destruction over field and farm in Southeast Asia," Dean B. David Napier of Stanford Memorial Church said in an invocation.

At a rally ending the 1 1-2-mile march, graduate student Earl Martin declared: "We have come to express our solidarity with the people suffering from our bombs and artillery and crying out to stop."

Boycott Bar Ruling Against Teamsters

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A National Labor Relations Board official yesterday recommended that Teamsters Union Local 85 be placed under a broad order barring secondary boycott activities because of actions in connection with strikes against newspapers.

This was the third such recommendation against Local 85 of San Francisco in recent months.

Maurice Alexandre, the NLRB examiner, recommended that the board require Local 85 to post notices in its offices and hiring halls that it would not "encourage" strikes or work stoppages at the company which prints the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner.

He also urged that the NLRB prohibit the local from any secondary boycott activities.

Alexandre's ruling came on a complaint filed by the printing firm concerning picketing that stopped the printing of the papers last May 14 and 15.

Tim Richardson, the local's secretary, testified that the picketing was unauthorized and conducted mainly by men from Los Angeles who used signs stolen from his office.

The hearing examiner ruled that since Local 85 had made no effort to repudiate or end the picketing, it was, in effect, supporting it.

Alexandre said that his request for a broad injunction against Local 85 was made "on the record." He said Local 85 "has repeatedly been ordered to cease and desist from engaging in similar violations" and recently was held in contempt of court for a secondary boycott against the Independent-Journal.

The United Nations moved to its present headquarters along New York's East River in 1951.

Sierra Club Suit To Halt Airport Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)--The Sierra Club has gone into federal court seeking to stop construction in Los Angeles County of Palmdale Internatnonal Airport.

Seven wildlife sanctuaries, seven regional parks, 13 county parks and a state park are within 20 miles of the airport's proposed site, the club said Tuesday in announcing its suit in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

As a basis of legal action, the conservationist group contends the Federal Aviation Administration made only a perfunctory attempt to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The act requires federal agencies to carry out detailed studies on the environmental effects of proposed major federal projects.

"In the case of Palmdale airport, the FAA threw together several pieces of paper and called the result an environmental study," said Frederick Fisher, the club's legal committee chairman.

So inadequate is the report that the President's Council on Environmental Quality criticized it, he added.

Suit was filed by the club, a group called Palmdale Homeowners Association and seven area residents.

Named as defendants ere John Volpe, secretary of transportation, and John Shaffer, FAA administrator.

The site for the proposed airport is on the western side of the Antelope Valley-High Mojave Desert area.

Income Hike To Fairfax For Schools

Fairfax School District trustees learned last night that the district will have approximately $24,000 more income next year than this year because of increased assessments in the district.

District secretary Gwyneth McGee said that this year's budget is $1,070,393. She said that Supt. H. Reginald Hammond told trustees last night that an income of $1,094,550 is expected for 1971-72.

She said that trustees were given the figures so they can start setting priorities for the 1971-72 budget. The district will probably lose about 2 per cent of its enrollment next year, it is predicted.

Fairfax trustees last night also agreed to work with the county park and recreation department and the Marin Municipal Water District for development of about one acre of land adjacent to Deer Park School.

The parcel will be used for additional play area for youngsters. The land, owned by the water district, is under a long-term lease to the county.

Mrs. McGee said that it has not been determined yet who will pay for the cost of the development.

Gasoline Container Blaze; $30,000 House Damage

Fire caused by an overturned gasoline container swept a Mill Valley residence last night, routing the family of its new owner and causing between $30,000 and $40,000 damage.

Firemen said the blaze broke out at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Norman E. Germain at 8 Vasco Drive. They said Keith Germain, 14, was siphoning gasoline from a car in the garage when the container overturned, spilling fuel which was ignited by a water heater.

Keith, Mrs. Germain and two other children fled the blaze.

Flames spread quickly through the garage, destroying a leased 1970 Ford, firemen said, and then jumped to the shake roof of the house. Two engines and 14 men responded and had the fire under control in 25 minutes.

Most fire damage was confined to the garage and attic of the one-story structure, but the rest of the house sustained heavy water damage, firemen said. Total loss was estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000.

The Germain family had recently purchased the 5-year-old house and hadmovedinless than a week ago, firemen said.

Fairfax Festival Group Will Elect

The Fairfax Festival Committee will elect officers at its meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Koffee Klatch, 57 Broadway.

The committee on Feb. 4 delayed a decision whether to give the proceeds from its September fair to three groups — the Marin Ecology Center, the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum and the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission — pending this week's election.

Bond Sales Agreed For Building

Novato Unified School District trustees last night agreed to sell $650,000 in available bonds to finance building, mainly at San Marin High School.

Although the resolution didn't earmark the bond funds for San Marin High School, it has been the board's intention to construct additional buildings at the site.

Trustee Carolyn Crabtree balked at specifying in the resolution where the bond funds would be spent after the motion included $50,000 for carpeting classrooms at Hamilton and Pleasant Valley Schools.

Trustees agreed to a five-year-repayment program, which Eugene F. DeBrecht, assistant superintendent, business, estimated would add about 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation to the bond retirement tax rate for five years. The district's bond tax rate is now 51.5 cents.

Supt. James G. Bunker said about $600,000 would cover the cost of planned additions at San Marin High School; a fine arts building to house home making, arts and crafts and music activities, and a student center, which would serve as a multi-purpose building.

Architect Kal Porter of San Jose estimated the cost of the buildings at $400,000 to $450,000, site work including landscaping, sidewalks, grading and drainage about $50,000, and the remainder for furniture, equipment and various fees.

Trustee hired Porter as architect for the two additional buildings at San Marin High at a fee of 8 per cent of construction costs.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

SCHOOL CALENDAR — Approved a school calendar for 1971-72 with classes starting Sept. 13 and closing June 16, totaling 178 teaching days.

WALKWAY — Approved purchase of a walkway, about 20 feet wide, from Buchanan Street to the Novato High School grounds, which is up for tax sale, at a cost of $1.50 in legal fees.

GIFT — Accepted from the Lynwood School Parent-Teacher Association $197 for purchase of a typewriter for the teachers' room at the school.

FOOD SERVICE — Agreed that no food service, hot dog days or hamburger sales, would be permitted at elementary schools during school hours until a policy on food sales is adopted. The present program under contract to ARA Services of San Francisco will end Friday, but the district will continue to offer milk at five cents a container.

HIRED — Authorized the hiring of Larry Stottlemyer as a sixth grade teacher at West Novato School at a salary of $4,000 for the remainder of the year.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved application for an additional $11,579 in federal funds for programs for culturally deprived pupils, with no matching funds required.

GIOVANNIELLO — Accepted the resignation of Deputy Supt. Ralph D. Giavaniello, who has served 14 years with North Marin schools and is to become Reed School District superintendent. Bunker said a replacement may not be needed as Giovanniello's personnel tasks could be assumed by a new personnel officer and his other duties divided among district staff.

ADULT COURSES — Approved three new courses for the spring semester, March 29-June 4, at the Novato Adult Evening High School; world affairs, general education development test preparation and acrylic, water color and oil painting, and a spring lecture series on "Drugs: Use and Abuse."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. March 1 at the Novato High lecture hall.

Board president William G. Schneeflock was absent because of illness.

Pesticide Makers Appeal DDT Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI—Pesticide makers have filed appeals which could block —for one year or more —enforcement of a government order canceling permits for interstate sale of DDT products.

Final word on whether manufacturers actually will be allowed to keep some DDT products in interstate sale, however, will not come before late March.

The uncertainty is caused by the complexities of the federal pesticide control law which lays down two methods by which government officials can withdraw the "registrations" which clear pesticide products for interstate shipment:

— If the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) decides the dangers posed by a pesticide outweigh its benefits, the agency can "cancel" registration of the pesticide. If a manufacturer appeals that cancellation, however, his product can remain on the market until the appeal is settled.

—Where EPA concludes a pesticide presents an "imminent hazard" to the public, however, a tougher procedure can be followed. The agency can issue a "suspension" order. The suspension can also be appealed, but a suspended product must go off the interstate market immediately and stay off unless the appeal is upheld.

In the case of DDT, EPA administrator William D. Ruckelshaus last month used the first method —issuing "cancellation" notices on all DDT products which had not been knocked out in earlier actions in 1969 and 1970 when the pesticide came under fire from environmentalists.

No Dismissal For Pope's Attacker

MANILA (UPI)—A Filipino judge today denied a defense motion to dismiss the charge of attempted murder against Bolivian painter Benjamin Mendoza for attacking Pope Paul VI in Manila Nov. 27.

Judge Pedro Bautista of the suburban Pasay City court scheduled the resumption of the trial for Feb. 26 with the defense presenting its witnesses.

Bill To Add To Wilderness Area

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bills to add three California areas to the national wilderness system have been introduced by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

The three areas—all part of the national park system—are in the Lava Beds National Monument, the Mt. Lassen National Park and the Pinnacles National Monument.

Citizens Plan Urged For Flood Control

The Mill Valley City Council last night asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a two-month delay in a public hearing called to discuss a flood control project for Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

The council also set up an ad hoc committee to study creek improvements and suggest a flood control package to the corps.

A public hearing by the corps had been set for March 10 but the council agreed to ask the corps to postpone it to May 19.

In the intervening time, councilmen decided, a seven-member committee would study the creek and report to the council late in April.

The council, after a hearing on the committee report, would then suggest a plan to the corps.

Charles P. Murphy, county flood control engineer, attended last night's meeting and told the council the corps of engineers is "starting all over again" and seeking new proposals for flood control.

One plan suggested both by a corps official and Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala would construct a bypass along Miller Avenue to handle overflow water from Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Murphy said this plan is one of many being studied by the corps. Other plans suggested by the ad hoc committee and city residents at the scheduled public hearing also will be considered by the corps before one is chosen, he said.

The council appointed Councilman Jerome C. Hauke and real estate agent William Hamilton to the committee. Other members will include Bala, another representative of city staff, and representatives of the city planning commission and parks and recreation commission, and a second citizen.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

SLIDE — Heard John A. Zigler, of 31 Glen Drive, complain about a slide blocking the street near his home caused by failure of a city-constructed retaining wall. The council promised to discuss the question March 1.

DEPOT — Granted a 10 month lease to Janice Aronoff at $250 a month for the city-owned bus depot in Lytton Square.

DOGS — Passed on second reading an ordinance requiring dogs to be leashed in commercial areas and at schools and parks.

SEWAGE — Asked the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to postpone for 60 days a Feb. 25 hearing on proposed new standards for effluent from the city's sewage treatment plant. The new standards are stricter than the old effluent requirements.

LANE — Instructed City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare an ordinance abandoning a lane between Oakdale and Buena Vista avenues.

YOUTH — Heard on first reading an ordinance establishing one-year terms for members of the city youth commission.

POLICE — Asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to create a county-wide police services district.

UNDERGROUNDING — Ordered a public hearing March 15 on an underground utility district along Camino Alto from East Blithedale Avenue to Sycamore Avenue.

CARS — Heard on first reading an ordinance allowing removal of cars parked on city streets for more than 72 hours. The old ordinance allowed cars to be parked for 120 hours.

APPOINTMENTS — Confirmed the following appointments: Pat Ostler to the art commission, James Stephenson and Robert Jenkins to the parks and recreation commission and John Everts to the youth commission.

OLD LIBRARY — Overruled 4 to 1 the city planning commission which had granted architect William E. Cullen a variance making it unnecessary for him to provide five off-street parking spaces if he converts the old library on Lovell Avenue into three apartments. Michael and Flora Praszker of 110 Summit Avenue and 10 other neighbors had appealed that decision to the city council and successfully argued that traffic problems would be generated and a bad development precedent established on Lovell. Councilman Haucke was the lone supporter of the variance.

ILLEGAL REMODELING — Asked the city attorney and city manager to investigate a complaint by Joseph Boss of 88 Elm Avenue and Dolph F. Jaeger of 1 Manor Place that a legal but nonconforming duplex appeared to be undergoing illegal conversion to four apartments.

Nod To Raise For Cab Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to increase taxicab fares.

If the measure passes a second reading and is signed by Mayor Joseph Alioto, the fare for the first one-eighth mile will be 60 cents. The fare for the first one-fifth mile is now 55 cents.

Each additional mile would cost 60 cents, instead of 50 cents.

Petition: Too Little Police Protection

A petition signed by 111 east Corte Madera residents and businessmen charging "insufficient police protection" was presented the town council last night.

On the recommendation of Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels, the matter was referred to him for further investigation.

The petition maintains that Paradise Drive and Golden Hind Passage "have become a drag strip."

It also alleges a "rash of burglaries and traffic incidents have occurred recently and that there are "gangs of youngsters. . . roaming the streets at night aimlessly."

Forwarded by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association, the petition was circulated by Joan G. Welch of 223 Golden Hind Passage.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

REZONING — Approved 3-1, Councilman Byron D. White against and Harold B. Wagstaff absent, an ordinance rezoning 7.5 acres of land at 200 Tamal Vista Boulevard from light industrial to high density residential.

SHOPPING CENTER — Continued to March 1, adoption of an ordinance rezoning about 18 acres of land at Paradise and Tamalpais drives from a light industrial to a regional shopping center zone. It was continued at the request of property owners who are attempting to consolidate the area into one large parcel.

HOME OCCUPATIONS — Approved home occupation permits for Ina Truitt of 16 Staghound Passage for part-time upholstering and for Pearl E. Marks of 246 Uplands Circle for tie making.

STREET SWEEPING — Referred to the public works committee a petition signed by 20 residents asking for reasonable hours and a reduction of noise in street sweeping activities at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

PROPOSED PARK — Received a report but delayed action on a proposed park at Granada School in east Corte Madera until budget sessions in April. The report, forwarded by the parks and recreation commission, recommends development of tennis courts and roadways on the surplus Reed School District site.

INVESTMENT CONSULTANT — Authorized the town manager to discuss with Sausalito officials the possibility of using Corte Madera's finance director, Frank Bigley, as an investment consultant for city funds.

RECREATION — Approved an agreement with the city of Larkspur whereby the town will bill Larkspur the $2 non-resident recreation fee charged its residents participating in the Corte Madera recreation program.

San Rafael Council Tries Again On Attorney, Advertising Issues

Four charter amendment proposals — including a thrice-defeated move to make the city attorney appointive — will be before San Rafael voters in the April 20 election.

The proposals, approved by the San Rafael City Council last night, also include one to delete a $1,000 limit on the amount the city can spend annually on advertising or promotion. A variation of this proposal was defeated by the voters last June.

The other two amendment issues deal with residency requirements for elective office.

The move to make the city attorney appointive was defeated by the voters in 1963 when it was put on the ballot along with a proposal to make the chief of police appointive.

It was defeated again in 1967 when it was included in a single proposal to make police chief, attorney, city clerk and city treasurer appointive, and a third time in 1969 when moves to make the four positions appointive were listed as separate ballot items.

Last June, voters finally approved making police chief appointive when that proposal alone was on the ballot.

Also in June, voters defeated a proposal to raise the advertising limit to $10,000.

The proposed charter amendment approved by the council last night would delete the section of the charter setting the $1,000 limit, but would not set a new limit.

City Atty. Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said that without a limit in the charter, sections of the state government code would set a ceiling.

Robbins said he wasn't sure which code section would apply, but the limit would be either $37,110 or $40,101 depending on whether it was based on a percentage of the general fund or assessed valuation.

A third amendment approved by the council would change the residency requirement for elective office in San Rafael from three years to one year.

The final proposed amendment would take into account residency in an annexed area of the city prior to annexation in computing residency qualifications for elective office.

The San Rafael City Council also:

PEPPERLAND — Put over until March 1 a public hearing on appeal of use and variance permits granted to the rock music hall Pepperland by the planning commission.

ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of San Pedro School property and Charles Grandi property on the north side of San Rafael Hill.

PRESERVE — Removed Smith Brothers Ranch from agricultural preserve classification.

TAXICABS — Denied permission for Ted's Marin Airport Service to provide limousine service to San Francisco and Oakland airports from San Rafael. Robert C. Jennings, president of San Rafael Taxi Cabs Inc., opposed the application, saying the limousine was a "camouflaged taxi."

BONDS — Named Wainwright and Ramsey of San Francisco bond consultant for the sale of $1,105,000 worth of sewer improvement bonds. The firm will be paid $4,750.

CONGRESSMAN — Was extended "admiration and sympathy" from Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, who attended about an hour of the meeting. The mixed feelings, Mailliard said, were because the council works so close to the problems of the people.

Warrants Out In Drug Case

Bench warrants were issued yesterday for Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address and Charles Buddy Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., when they failed to appear in Marin Municipal Court for preliminary hearings.

Judge David Menary Jr. set bail on the warrants at $1,500.

The two are charged with possessing heroin and marijuana when they were arrested Dec. 8 in their pickup truck in Sausalito.

Rome Defied, Police Shot At By City's Insurgents

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (UPI)—Seven months of sporadic rioting reached a climax Tuesday night in battles between police and rioters protesting the selection of the rival town of Catanzaro as capital of Calabria.

Protesters shot at police, who responded with tear gas.

Police said five persons were arrested and several injured in the outbreak of street fighting that followed a regional council's decision Tuesday to make Catanzaro the capital.

Rubbish fires burned through the night and barricades thrown up by the rioters still blazed today.

In Rome, the cabinet quickly approved the regional council's compromise decision making Catanzaro capital, giving Reggio the regional assembly but saying it also could meet at Catanzaro and Cosenza, and awarding a new university to Cosenza. The cabinet also approved plans to build new industry which would bring another 15,000 jobs to Calabria, two-thirds of them in the Reggio region.

Reggio, Calabria's administrative capital until a 1908 earthquake hit it and many offices were moved to Catanzaro, has one of the lowest per capital incomes in the country and a feeling of being Italy's forgotten city.

"This city is as old as Rome. What business does Rome have suddenly telling us that we are no longer good enough to be the capital?" a restaurant waiter said angrily.

Residents of the city's Sbarre region, which declared itself independent of Italy, overturned cars and piled lumber, furniture and garbage in the streets, cutting the main road to the airport. Police made five unsuccessful attacks on the district.

A round of pistol shots forced one police advance to retreat. Bullets ripped holes in an officer's riot shield and tore a hole in another's uniform.

Rioters hurled firebombs, bottles and rocks at police trying to dismantle barricades. Police responded with teargas and squirts of red-dyed water. Jets of water rose in the air from three broken water mains and some telephone service was disrupted when manhole covers were ripped up and cables set ablaze.

Shoreline Board To Discuss Courses

The Shoreline Unified School District board will discuss course offerings and class scheduling for the 1971-72 school year at 8 p.m. Thursday at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

Supt. Charles A. McCully said the board also will receive the results of the 1969-70 statewide reading tests.

Justice Puts Long Hair 'Right' In Perspective

Justice Hugo L. Black of the United States Supereme Court has finally injected a little common sense into the hubbub over "student rights" in hair length.

Not so many years ago, it was taken for granted that a school could make whatever rules it wished — within reason — as to the wearing apparel and grooming of its students. But in recent years, some lawyers and others have read all sorts of things into the Bill of Rights in the U. S. Constitution, among them being the "right" of boy students to wear their hair whatever length they please.

School districts in Marin County have had their share of the haircut hassle. The right of a Redwood High School coach to require his athletes to have their locks trimmed was challenged in the U. S. District Court — unsuccessfully.

Across the country, lawyers whose interpretation of the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights extends to freedom to "do your thing" without regard to the rules of the school have brought suits challenging school regulations on hair length, wearing apparel, and campus behavior. In most cases, they have lost. But here and there, a judge has gone along with their broad interpretation of adolescents' constitutional rights. This has happened often enough to keep the controversy going, to prevent many schools from taking measures that are necessary to preserve campus discipline and decorum — and to tie up courts which have plenty to do in handling more important matters.

The attorney for a boy named Chesley Karr in El Paso, Tex., finally went too far and drew a rebuke last week from Justice Black which may help to end the nonsense.

Jeffrey's attorney asked that Justice Black issue an injunction against enforcement of Coronado High School's haircut regulation while a challenge could be fought through the court system.

Justice Black not only turned down the application, but made it plain the federal courts are not designed for such trivial purposes.

He scoffed at the idea that "anyone should think the federal Constitution imposes on the United States courts the burden of supervising the length of hair that public school students should wear."

Continued the Justice: "Surely the federal judiciary can perform no greater service to the nation than to leave the states unhampered in the performance of their purely local affairs. Surely few policies can be thought of in which states are more capable of deciding than the length of hair of schoolboys."

The schools, of course, are an arm of the state. And while Justice Black, seasoned lawyer that he is, was careful not to appear to be telling state courts what they should do, the same sound logic would apply to them: They have better things to do than waste time hearing specious arguments about boys' "right" to long tresses. It is up to the school to set its own regulations, if those in charge feel any are needed.

Nixon Rises Above Politics In Conduct Of Indochina War

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The South Vietnamese ground and U.S. air thrust into Laos proves that President Nixon is not playing politics with the Vietnamese war.

He is ignoring domestic political consideration in order to continue a policy which he believes will enable him to wind down the war in a way which will leave South Vietnam strong enough to survive.

He is doing this at great political risk to himself because he believes this course will serve the United States far better than a quickie withdrawal, that it will enhance the prospects of peace throughout Indochina, and that it will prove that America is a reliable ally.

There are at least a dozen powerful reasons which caused Mr. Nixon to approve the operation against the North Vietnamese sanctuaries inside Laos and only one powerful reason which might have caused him to set back. The one argument against it was that it would be bad politics, that the Fulbrights, the McGoverns, the Hatfields and the other extreme Senate doves would jump all over him and accuse him of widening the war and of deserting his commitment to withdrawal. And he could reasonably expect new outbreaks of public protest as after Cambodia.

MR. NIXON COULD be an instant political hero by choosing the politically easy course. He isn't doing so. He is rejecting the politically easy course because he is convinced that to take the time and the domestic political risks to leave South Vietnam able to defend itself will serve the United States far better than any get-out-quicker alternative his critics are urging.

Undoubtedly many believe that it is the President who is mistaken. Be that as it may, he is spurning political timidity. He is knowlingly imperiling his re-election to do what he believes is right and necessary this is something which takes courage and class.

This is what a President of the United States is elected to do. The Constitution — assigning to him and to him alone the duty of Commander in Chief — requires him to do what he thinks best for the nation.

He is putting conviction ahead of political expediency and even those who disdain Mr. Nixon ought to be big enough to see it.

WHY IS THE President allowing U.S. air power to help the South Vietnamese ground troops clean out the enemy sanctuaries and arms buildup along the Ho Chi Minh Trail?

He is doing it for the same reason he approved the intervention into Cambodia nine months ago. This operation radically cut the flow of Communist troops and supplies to where they could be brought to bear against South Vietnam. It set back enemy offensives from that direction many months.

The present move to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail is doubly profitable because it is the only important remaining route which Hanoi can use. If this operation is as successful as the Cambodia operation, it could well be nearly a year before the Communists could mount a major offensive.

The extreme Senate doves see this all as a great mistake. They suggest that Nixon is trying to seize victory from the jaws of withdrawal.

No. He is seeking to leave a secure South Vietnam through the process of withdrawal. The evidence that he will be able to do so is increasingly promising.

U.S. TROOPS are being steadily brought home. Successful interdiction of the Ho Chi Minh Trail by South Vietnamese forces and U.S. air power will enable more American troops to withdraw sooner.

President Nixon is convinced that he is ending the American role in Vietnam in the right way at the right time at the right pace. I believe the verdict of most Americans in the end will be "well done."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Ross Town Council On Right Course

May I extend congratulations to the Ross Town Council in voting unanimously against any plan to merge the Ross Police Department with any other department in connection with a proposed county-wide police agency. If our country is to recover from its present crisis, economy and services must stem from the grass roots of our system. This is reasonable and prudent procedure for all concerned.

Marin County Lacks Disaster Plan

I read with utter disbelief the article appearing in your newspaper on Feb. 11, concerning the status of Marin County disaster planning.

James Burdick, the disaster coordinator in Marin County, despite his earnest efforts has not only failed to receive support from the county administrator and the board of supervisors in the preparation of a disaster plan, but over the past years has been prevented from preparing such a plan.

Over the last 10 years I personally have attempted to secure a copy of the "so-called" Marin Disaster Plan, from the Marin County Disaster Office, from Region II, State Office of Emergency Service, and from Headquarters Sixth Army, Disaster Planning Office. The consistent and repeated answer from the Marin Disaster Office has been, "It is under revision;" the answer from Region II (the State Bay Area County Disaster Office) and Headquarters Sixth Army has been, "It is non-existent."

To my personal knowledge the county of Marin prepared a draft disaster plan some 10 to 12 years ago. Up to a very, very short time ago, that plan has never been amended, revised or improved upon, and has remained in its draft form, never to this date being published or circulated amongst the county agencies.

The truth of the fact is that Marin County does not now have, and has not had a disaster plan for the past 10 to 12 years, despite every best effort of the State Disaster Office to have the county prepare such a plan . . .

As a result of this total apathy on the part of our county officials, the county was some time ago cut off from the State Disaster Program. Because of the total lack of leadership of the county in disaster planning, there is now not one city in Marin County which has an acceptable disaster plan. The State Office of Emergency Service (disaster office) ranks Marin County as the most "unplanned" county in the entire state of California, and as a result, the cities of Marin as well as the county have been denied United States Government surplus disaster equipment (ambulances, fire-fighting equipment, radios, medical supplies, etc.). . .

Recall Movement Not Divisive

Mr. and Mrs. John McChesney, in a recent "Letter to the Editor," would have your readers believe that the supporters of Gordon Wright's recall are "delaying the attainment of a sound and stable educational program in the district."

I feel it is noteworthy that, by and large, the supporters of the recall movement have been some of the most active members of the community in supporting the schools over many years. Recall workers include many members of board-appointed committees, many Parent-Teacher Club officers and scores of dedicated workers in the Reed schools. They are persons who attend board meetings regularly and spend sleepless Tuesday nights due to real concerns over problems in the district.

They are people who are committed to the very same things that Mr. and Mrs. McChesney state in their letter — the establishment of goals, the determination of objectives, the provision of educational programs to meet those objectives, etc. . .

I view the recall movement, not as driving a deeper wedge into the community, but as a first and essential step in restoring a measure of harmony to the Reed Union School District. The education of our children is our prime concern — let's heal the split in this community and get back to business!

Mrs. MILTON LEVITAN
Tiburon.

(The petition to recall Gordon C. Wright from the Reed School District board has qualified for the ballot, and the issue will be settled at the polls April 20. It has been quite thoroughly debated in "What Our Readers Say." Therefore, we will run no further letters pro or con pending the election. — Editor.)

Trading Stamp Choice Impossible

Re: Henry MacArthur's column re trading stamps.

MacArthur's article is somewhat biased. The simple choice he suggests is not as simple as all that in many areas simply because there are no stores of certain kinds which do not give stamps. . .

Beilenson's other points are also valid. Consumer's money are in the custody of the stamp company until redemption. Stamps lost by fire, water damage, etc. are never redeemed, and this risk is foisted upon the consumer; finally where stamps are given with purchases that qualify for deduction on the tax-return as a business expense the extra cost uttributable to the stamps is also deducted while the stamps on their merchandise value is not declared as income, thus defrauding the government and the rest of the taxpayers who pay the resulting higher taxes.

A law requiring the consumer to have a choice of cash or stamps can only be an improvement in getting a free choice. Only a complete fool could classify such a law as a "blow at free choice". But maybe MacArthur hasn't noticed his inconsistency.

Need Thousand Like Alioto

I have been following your editorials in your last couple of days concerning the mayor of San Francisco, Mr. Joseph Alito, and his involvement or I should say concern with the union members that had been sent to the Marin County Jail last week, and feel that if we had a thousand mayors like Joseph Alioto it wouldn't be enough. The people who wrote those unjustifiable remarks about him are blind, and ignorant to the fact that the mayor played an important role with labor disputes and acted as the arbitrator in settling these disputes.

I also stand firm on the belief that these obnoxious statements, to most important, demoralize Mayor Alioto as the chief representative of San Francisco and as a man of the utmost integrity, are false and malicious. (sic)

It's just to bad that more people don't due a little more listening to facts, rather than writing about little or nothing that they know about. . .

Mexico Has Couple Of Ways To Help Ease Doctor Shortage

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — This column has nothing but kind words for state Sen. Al Song's efforts to clear the way for 1,000 American medical students at the University of Guadalajara to become licensed to practice in California.

We need the doctors, as residents of small towns and villages as well as poor neighborhoods can testify, and these students have learned a second language in order to study medicine in Mexico, a decided advantage in many sections of California.

They can make the grade now, but only at the cost of taking two internships. Song's SB 127 would let them take the medical board exams during internship as medical students from Canada and the United States now may.

The senator took his business and professions committee to Guadalajara last fall to look into the situation and found a source of qualified manpower made up of Americans who had found American medical schools too crowded or too expensive.

IT SEEMS a shame that California finds it necessary to draw on foreign schools to supply doctors for its growing population, but song says that such is the case.

The University of Guadalajara is a privately endowed school which gets along largely on the tuition it charges, which runs about $1,000 a year for the Americans and $400 to $500 a year for Mexican students.

To get licensed in Mexico, students must take a year's internship and a year or so of what the Mexicans call social service. Unless things change, they would have to take another year of internship in the states before qualifying for the exams in California.

THE GOVERNMENT-supported National University does things a little differently as far as Mexican national students are concerned, and if we could wave our magic wand, we would have California adopt a similar system.

The Mexican government system is based on social service, and the medical education is essentially free. Our nephew, who recieved his medical education there, floored us when he told us the cost of tuition. Something under $50 a year, as we recall it.

In return for this essentially free education, however, the new doctor owes his country a year or so of obligated duty. This may be as resident physician to some Indian tribe, town doctor in some isolated mountain village which under any other system could not support a doctor, or clinic doctor in some poor barrio.

ANYONE WHO thinks that this sort of thing smacks of socialism or worse, ought to back up a bit.

It is a time-honored tradition at West Point and Annapolis to furnish a good education in lines where this country needed qualified people in return for two years of obligated duty to the country that picked up the tab.

A growing and building country needed civil engineers and the way for a qualified boy of limited means to get that kind of education was to win an appointment to West Point and pay for it with two years' service.

Presidential Ambitions Blind Demo Aspirants

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — It is increasingly obvious, if not surprising, that the Democrats who are making the most political sense during the party's hiatus from executive power are the wise old heads who are not running for office themselves. That means, specifically, Carl Albert and Larry O'Brien.

They know, and proceed stubbornly on their knowledge, that the main issue in the presidential campaign of 1972 is not going to be the Indochina war but the U.S. economy.

This is in contrast to George McGovern, who is desperately taking what one of his prominent southern colleagues calls the "long-pass" gamble for nomination by speaking out as harshly as possible on whichever emotional issue is in the day's headlines — but especially on the war.

It also is in contrast with Edmund Muskie, who has a comfortable lead and instinctively wants to hold to his calm and rational position but who occasionally lets McGovern frighten him into a contest to see who can choose the most alarming adverb to describe what Richard Nixon is doing in Southeast Asia.

MCGOVERN DECLARED that the administration was violating "spirit and letter" of the Cooper-Church Amendment limiting military activity in Cambodia. Later he noted accurately of Muskie: "He tends to approach most controversial issues with somewhat more caution than I do. He tends to wait for a consensus to develop before declaring his own position."

So Muskie followed up when the Laos operation was announced by labeling it an "outrage because the Senate had not been properly consulted in advance. You could almost hear him whispering aside to his staff, "Did that sound tough enough?"

On the same day, the new speaker, Carl Albert, was saying that the South Vietnamese move across the Laotian border was in fact "prudent" if American involvement was limited to the air and if the strike did indeed facilitate U.S. withdrawal.

Then he turned his attention back to the economy, insisting on standby price and wage controls and demanding that Mr. Nixon invoke them now to halt inflation. Of course, Mr. Nixon is not going to, certainly not as if in response to the Democrats' demands, but he is going to be embarrassed by it because they seem to want to control the economy more than he does.

You might assume that McGovern and Muskie would understand that this is the issue that hits every American every day and thus begin gouging the administration about it themselves. But they have not followed Albert's example.

O'BRIEN TOOK the initiative as national chairman and invited the active contenders for the nomination to an evening meeting where he and Albert and Mike Mansfield, the Senate leader, talked with them about the need to keep the party in one piece as another election year approaches.

That does not, however, bind them to shift their concentration from the war to domestic issues. That is a matter for each of them to judge.

There has to be a reason other than monomania for McGovern's narrow conception of how to become President. He is an intelligent man.

He knows as well as the rest of us that the President is determined to have U.S. involvement in Indochina down to a politically negligible minimum before the next election. The only people to whom it will not be negligible are the tunnel-vision antiwar types who will not be satisfied by any retrenchment short of unilateral American disarmament.

McGovern, trailing far back in the public opinion polls, has to excite enthusiasm for his nomination. Whatever he agreed to at Larry O'Brien's harmony session, it remains true that he is running now against Muskie. Mr. Nixon can come later, maybe.

And those loud antiwar legions swing more weight in a Democratic primary or convention than they do in an open election, of course.

That is McGovern's "long pass", a steady three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust makes more sense, but it's hard to restrain your offense when you're desperate.

Flag May Be Symbol Of Unity, But Is Unity Real Or Symbolic?

The display of politeness and good manners was something to behold, when San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen showed up to present a new San Rafael city flag to the San Rafael Board of Education the other evening.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer simply couldn't resist getting in a remark about how wonderful it was to see a city father attending an education board meeting.

Miskimen exacerbated the sore spot a bit, too, by agreeing, "Yes, there are some things we should talk about — such as the school board's cutoff of funds for the city recreation program."

Glossing that one over, a board member wondered whether the new city flag should fly above or beneath the state flag. "I understand you're not supposed to fly three flags on one pole," Miskimen replied. The audience winced, remembering a recent hassel over the green ecology flag...

SPEAKING OF FLAGS and symbols, there's a new bumper sticker that won't cement brotherly love between certain factions in Marin County. It shows the popular trisected-circle peace symbol — and next to it the wording "Track of the American Chicken."

Physicist Eugene V. Benton of Mill Valley and University of San Fraccisco has to be one of the most frustrated participants in the recent successful Apollo 14 lunar landing.

Benton went to the Cape Kennedy spaceport to put a package aboard Apollo 14 and watch the blastoff. His package was a gadget to detect the amount of cosmic radiation bombarding our astronauts on their space journey.

After the flight ended safely, Benton eagerly awaited word that he could retrieve the package and get to work reading its records.

"But I discovered it's in quarantine in Houston," he reported Friday. "It won't be oput until April 4."

And all physicist Sir Isaac Newton had to worry about was getting hit on the head by apples...

EMOTIONS GOT a bit strained at the Northern California district meeting of Lions Club officers in San Rafael during the week end, when it came to discussing the Lions' program of youth exchange visits. Chairman Art Hoover, explaining the annual visits by American youth to Japanese families and vice versa, warned that "the American type family doesn't include hippies or girls wearing mini skirts more than seven inches above the knee.

The stony silence finally was broken by another Lion official who arose and declared, "Hippie's a word I hope we Lions wipe out of our vocabulary."

DAR Medals Go To Four Novato Pupils

Four Novato school children will receive bronze medals next Tuesday as winners of a Daughters of the American Revolution contest for essays on the United States Constitution and its signers.

The four essays were selected as best submitted in the contest conducted by El Marinero chapter of the DAR, which covers Marin County. About 50 entries were received, with all but one being from Novato schools and that one from Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo, said Mrs. Helen Noel of Petaluma, contest chairman. All school districts in Marin County were notified of the competition, she said.

Winners are Cynthia A. Cain of 206 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, a fifth grader at Hamilton School; Bert Seeley Morehead of 570 Eldridge Avenue, a sixth grader at Lynwood School; Mary Bayer, a seventh grader at Sinaloa Junior High School, and Gina Borgman of 3 Maestro Road, an eighth grader at Sinaloa.

They will receive the medals at a luncheon at 1 p.m. next Tuesday at Marin Valley Mobile Country Club, 100 Marin Valley Drive, Novato. Their essays will also be submitted for a statewide DAR competition, winners of which in turn will be sent to a national contest.

Mrs. Noel said the chapter plans to give small American flags to all children who entered.

13,765 Riders On Weekend Ferries

The Sausalito-San Francisco ferry, operated by the Golden Gate Bridge District, carried 13,765 passengers during the long holiday weekend which ended Monday night, Dale W. Luehring, bridge district general manager, disclosed.

Luehring said waiting passengers were left at the dock in both Sausalito and San Francisco on several runs Saturday and yesterday because the vessel was full. The traffic brought to more than 33,000 the number of passengers carried by the ferry the first 15 days of this month.

Indian Dig Proposal Due Hearing

The Marin Junior College District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Olney Hall, will consider authorizing an archaeological dig on the College of Marin campus.

The excavation has been recommended for the site of the proposed library. College officials say there is evidence the site is an Indian burial ground.

The board also will consider whether to reactivate the citizens' committee that worked on last November's $16,920,000 college bond measure.

The measure, which did not receive a two-thirds favorable vote, will be resubmitted to the voters April 20.

Plead Innocent

billy Ray Franklin, 19, and Charles Franklin, 21, both of Oakland, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of burglarizing a Sausalito men's clothing store Dec. 14. A jury trial was set for the week of April 26.

Kentfield Men Get 5-Year Probations

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Judge Albert C. Wollenberg of U. S. District Court has given probation to two Kentfield men who pleaded guilty to conspiracy in connection with a $250,000 cocaine sale.

Placed on probation yesterday for five years were Robert Bernard Ford and Mark Robert Shanahan, both 21, who had earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to violate federal narcotics laws.

They were among seven Marinites arrested last May at the San Francisco Airport and in Sausalito as a result of a long investigation.

The only other defendant to be sentenced this far, Sharon Ann Needelman, 26, of San Anselmo has been sought by authorities since she failed to show up Jan. 18 to serve a year in federal prison.

Also missing is Marcia Freet, 27, of Sausalito who failed to appear for trial Feb. 1.

Another woman, Maureen Booth, 24, of San Anselmo, is due to be sentenced April 23 for conspiracy, and two brothers, Mitchell J. Howard, 22, of Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Sausalito are to be sentenced Feb. 25 for sale of cocaine.

All but the Howards were arrested at the airport after federal agents purchased cocaine worth $250,000 from the suspects.

Board To Eye Recreation Pact

The Larkspur School District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the district office, will consider a recreation agreement with the City of Larkspur for use of district tennis courts.

The Larkspur City Council has agreed to repave the courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School provided the district authorizes public use during the summer, after school and on weekends.

The board also will establish dates and times for the 1971 summer school program.

Tam District Proposal Shows What AFT Wants

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Teachers are entitled to a great deal more than they now receive, in the belief of the American Federation of Teachers, education's AFL-CIO union.

How much is shown by a contract proposed recently to Tamalpais High School District and an "action program" announced by the AFT local in San Francisco.

The Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, AFT local 1985, proposed to the Tam district board a three-year contract which would designate the TFT as sole bargaining agent.

REASON FOR the presentation is a bit obscure. The TFT has relatively few members in the district, rating one out of nine representatives on the certificated employees' council; so its demand carries scant weight. But there is nothing obscure about what it asked. Here are some of the things the proposed contract would provide:

Salary scale of $8,500 per year minimum to $19,700 maximum. (The district's present scale is $7,860 to $15,950). The scale would go up every year by whatever percentage the cost of living as computed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics increased. (There was no mention of downward revision in case the cost of living should start dropping.)

In addition: $1,000 per year longevity increment every five years after reaching the top of the scale. Full salary credit, year for year, for all experience in other districts, and up to five years credit, year for year, for "work experience directly related to that teacher's teaching field." One week per year vacation pay, up to four weeks, on top of the salary scale. District-paid (i.e., taxpayer-paid) complete health, hospitalization, dental and life insurance coverage. District (i.e., taxpayers) to pay all costs of teacher retirement program.

And besides these: Ten days paid sick leave per year which could be accumulated indefinitely, with the teacher receiving cash for unused accumulated sick leave on resigning. Five days per year paid bereavement leave for any death in the family, including grandparent, uncle, KNT OR COUSIN. Six days per year personal or business leave for which no reason need be given. Two days per year professional leave. Full year's paid leave at full pay every eighth year.

TO RECEIVE these benefits, the teacher would be required to teach no more than four classes per day, and no more than 25 students in any class. He would receive one free preparation period for each subject preparation. He could not be required to give any state or district test.

There is more, concerning teachers' aides, substitutes, and equipment and privileges accorded every teacher.

Frank A. Cassou, director of business, estimated the proposal would increase the cost of running the school district by about one-third.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Federation of Teachers has a bigger share of its district's certificated employees, although not a majority. Its "action program" therefore carries more weight, which may be the reason it is just a trifle more realistic.

For instance, it calls for a salary schedule of $8,500 to $17,000 (to be reopened whenever the cost of living index goes up two points (and for only two longevity increments atop the schedule. And it would permit a maximum of 30 students in most high school classes.

Otherwise, however, it is quite similar. And it includes a few extra benefits, such as retirement on full pay at age 55, and inclusion of psychiatric services in district-paid (i.e., taxpayer-paid) health insurance.

Such demands by the AFT are almost certain to produce similar ones from the more-powerful California Teachers Association, since it does not want to lose membership to the rival union.

Fisher Mansion Up For Sale For $350,000

DETROIT (UPI) —The 55-room mansion built by the late automaker Lawrence P. Fisher for $2 million is up for sale for $350,000.

Gilbert Groehn Jr., 32, who bought the house from the Fisher estate, said he hoped to sell it to a boating club.

"It's too impractical and too ludicrous to use for a private home," he said.

He said the heating bill is $3,000 a year and landscaping the four-acre estate boasts another $8,500. The Spanish-style riverfront mansion, built in 1928, has been vacant since Groehn bought it, except for the four caretakers.

Groehn estimated it would cost $6 million to build the same structure today.

THE BEAUTY, FORM AND GRACE OF FIGURE SKATING

Juli Marie McKinstry, Terra Linda High School freshman displays her beautiful figure skating form during a practice session at Squaw Valley. Only 14, Julie already is competing with the best women skaters in the country in the senior women's division. Although she wasn't among the winners in the U.S. Nationals last month in Buffalo, N.Y., Julie has already added the 1971 Central Pacific Senior Ladies title to her growing collection. Last year she won the U.S. National Junior Ladies title and is the youngest of the girls competing this year in the senior division. Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. McKinstry of 619 Cedarberry Lane, San Rafael.

Giants Quicker Than The A's

JIM SHORTS:

Hey, the baseball season hasn't even started yet but the San Francisco Giants have already beaten the Oakland Athletics! And they aren't even in the same league.

Not, not on the field, sillies. I'm referring to the public relations department. Giant ace tub thumper Garry Schumacher already has out to sports departments his usually fine Press, Radio and Television Guide called "The Year of the Fox Fox" in honor of Manager Charley Fox. Nothing yet from the A's.

It's a 42-page slick that promises Giant fans "Fun In Seventy-One," as quoted by Manager Fox. Pretty cute slogan.

Only disappointment to me is that the guide makes no mention of my late uncle, Bill Cunningham, who starred for the Giants in the 1921 World Series.

However, the last time I talked to Horace Stoneham, owner of the club, he told me: "Billy was a very good friend of mine and I will always remember him."

Horace has a lot of class, in spite of what sour grapes Ron Hunt had to say after Stoneham traded him away.

HERE'S A NOTE from Dick Degnon of the University of Santa Clara, a follow up to my column about frosh basketball star Jerry Piro, formerly of Redwood High: "On behalf of our coaching staff and myself, I would like to say thanks for a fine column of yours (aw gee) on Jan. 22 on our Jerry Piro. Although Jerry's scoring has fallen off a wee bit, he is playing even better defense now, and looks like he will definietely help us next year."

Degnon noted that thus far Piro has connected on 46 per cent of his field goal attempts and has averaged 15 points a game.

AND FROM the University of Pacific sports information bureau comes a note that John Dohn and Pete Carroll, starting backs for College of Marin's feetsball squad last year, have signed letters-of-intent to enroll at the Stockton brain builder.

I've already mentioned Carroll's intentions, but haven't heard about Dohn's until just now. John Dohn — good name because it rhymes. He was named "Athlete of the Year" at Terra Linda High; was an All-Marin County Athletic League selection twice and won All-State honorable mention at Marin last season.

FRIEND CAME into the office and asked if Standard Oil Co. would be blamed for the Los Angeles earthquake. He said Standard was being blamed for everything else. Told him Standard definitely was not to be blamed because it definitely was San Andreas' fault.

That bum pun ought to win me a Chevron for my Jimmy Jammies.

All-Star Cagers To Vie At San Rafael Academy

Hal Fischer's All-Army, AAU basketball team will play its third game in Marin County in less than a month tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the San Rafael Military Academy gymnasium.

The game, pitting players who attended western colleges against those from the east, will feature former All American Darnell Hillman of San Jose State, most valuable player in the 1970 World Games.

Fisher, for many years one of the top coaches of amateur teams in the country, has stated that this year's army team is possibly the best of more than a dozen he has handled.

The game tomorrow night will be played under international rules, and will help Fisher decide the final selections for this year'? AAU team, which begins its season next month.

It's Now Or Never For Tars

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The situation College of Marin finds itself in now, late in the 1971 basketball season, is enough to boggle the mind of a professional bookie, not to mention a lowly sportswriter.

For, although they are in third place, two games behind league leading De Anza of Cuupertino with just four games to go, the Tars have a chance — coach John Panagakis thinks a good chance — to tie for the Camino Norte Conference championship.

Fate and the schedule maker have placed the Kentfield team's future largely in their own hands. Their final games include home contests against De Anza, 9-1 in league play, West Valley, which shares third place with Marin at 7-3, and Contra Costa, holders of second place at 8-2. The latter, Marin's fiercest rival of late, comes to Kentfield tonight.

One need not be a mathematician to figure that, even if the Tars win all their remaining games, they still will be out of luck unless De Anza cooperates by losing another one somewhere. And Panagakis thinks that's what is going to happen.

"I think they're going to lose to Skyline," he says, citing the fact that the game will be played at Skyline. That team is 5-5 in league action, including two losses to Marin, but a victory over Contra Costa, which is something the Tars can't claim.

In fact, Marin hasn't tasted success against the East Bay team in three years. When they met last month in San Pablo, the Comets rolled to a 91-62 victory. That game marked the Tars' first league loss after four wins, and broke a 13-game winning streak that started in the preseason.

The memory of that black night would be motive enough for Marin to play the best it possibly can tonight. The absolute necessity to win in order to stay alive in the CNC race adds another incentive, and since Contra Costa likewise views the game as a must win affair, the action will be at a premium.

Principal villains in the earlier encounter, and the men the Tars will have to stop, are 6-foot-9 center Floyd Allen and super guard Ollie Ellison. They scored 27 and 20 points respectively, and dominated the rebounding in their first meeting.

Neither of Marin's big stars, guard Joe Smith and center Roosevelt Green, played well that night (they scored only 25 points between them), and both will be out for revenge. Smith has played especially well in the last month, has 50 points in his last two games, and could be the deciding factor.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Seals Lose Another Road Game

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) —A quickie quiz: When was the last time the California Golden Seals won a game on the road?

Answer: Dec. 20 over Detroit by a 7-3 score. Since then, the Seals have lost 14 straight away from home, broken only by a 1-1 tie with Toronto in mid-January.

St. Louis administered the latest loss on the Seals, 5-1, Tuesday night. The Blues scored on their first three shots of the game to finish goalie Gary Smith and run up a 3-0 lead less than five minutes after the opening whistle.

The Seals are hoping for better things tonight when they end their current four-game road trip against the North Stars at Minneapolis.

Then they return home to face the sizzling Boston Bruins at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena Friday night.. That game is a sellout.

Thus far this season, the Seals have compiled an embarrassing 3-27-2 record on the road.

Gary Jarrett netted California's only goal about 2 1-2 minutes into the final period against the Blues to cut the St. Louis lead to 4-1 and ruin Glenn Hall's bid for a shutout.

Smith was removed from goal and Chris Worthy took over after those three quick opening goals by the Blues. Worthy allowed goals by Bill Sutherland in the middle period and Frank Huck in the final period while coming up with 35 saves for his longest stint of the season.

During the four seasons St. Louis and California have been in the National Hockey League, the Seals have won only one game at the St. Louis Arena.

Redwood Gets A Scare

The Redwood High School Giants got a minor scare last night from the last place San Rafael High School Bulldogs, but ultimately prevailed, 54 - 49 in a Marin County Athletic League basketball game at San Rafael.

(Stories of other high school basketball games on page 18.)

Scott Trobbe of Redwood and Jim Thorne of San Rafael tied for scoring honors with 14 points each, but altogether the Giants shot 42 per cent from the floor while the Bulldogs hit only 32 per cent and that was the difference.

Victory No. 38 in the Larkspur team's fantastic MCAL winning streak did not come anywhere near as easily as expected by those who saw the Giants slaughter the Bulldogs in their first encounter this year. In that one, Redwood led in the first quarter, 20 - 4.

This time at the end of the first period, San Rafael had a one point edge, and except for a poor second quarter, might have come away with an incredible upset. The Bulldogs still had a chance in the last period, when they trailed by only three points with four minutes to go.

But championship style was there when Redwood needed it, and in the end the Giants carried home their 11th victory in as many league games this season, while San Rafael contented itself with a sterling try. The Bulldogs' record now reads 3 - 8.

Steve McGee finished behind Trobbe for Redwood with 12 points. Scoring a like amount for San Rafael were Wayne Lechner and Jim Molinari.

Redwood	13	19	11	11	- 54

THE HAYWOOD CASE

Next Move Is Up To Sonics' Owner

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Next move in the legal battle surrounding pro basketball player Spencer Haywood is up to his boss, Sam Schulman of the Seattle Supersonics.

A panel of three federal judges here dissolved an injunction which Schulman had obtained to prevent other teams in the National Basketball Association from interfering with the 6-foot-9 Haywood while he played for Seattle.

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, today warned the Seattle SuperSonics that the playing contract of Spencer Haywood is "disapproved" and thay any further use of him "will be considered a willful violation by Seattle of the provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the NBA."

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the ninth Circuit opened the way for the NBA to take action against the Sonics if they continued to use Haywood who jumped from Denver of the rival American Basketball Association to Seattle last month.

Seattle's next game is Wednesday night at home against Portland.

All of the other NBA owners protested that Seattle was violating an NBA rule by signing Haywood to a pro contract before his University of Detroit class graduates in June. Some owners said they favored removing the Seattle franchise unless Schulman conforms to league rules.

The three-judge panel said it was powerless to do anything about the games in which Haywood has already performed for Seattle because the injunction had been in effect.

Nearly every team which has lost to Haywood and the Sonics has lodged a protest.

Attorneys for the NBA have argued that the league has a fine working relationship with the nation's colleges regarding the recruiting of campus athletes and this could be destroyed if Haywood is allowed to continue playing for the Sonics.

The U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, which originally issued the injunction sought by Schuman against the NBA, has scheduled a March 2 hearing in the Haywood case. Aired at that time will be ak request of NBA owners for a restraining order to prohibit Haywood from playing in the league until his class graduates this spring.

A $1.9 million contract Haywood signed with the Denver Rockets of the ABA also may be examined at the court hearing.

Haywood said he left Denver and signed with Seattle because he didn't want to wait until the age of 70 before he received $1.5 million in deferred payments from the ABA club.

Muhammad's Secret Prediction

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Muhammad Ali will have a prediction about the outcome of his March 8 title fight with Joe Frazier, but he's only going to make it in front of the fight's closed-circuit television audience.

Ali, in training here for the fight at Madison Square Garden, said Tuesday he will open a sealed envelope containing his prediction in his dressing room five minutes before the bout.

"The people in the theaters and in the big arenas around the world who will be watching me take back my crown from that amateur Frazier are my people," Ali said. "They can't afford the fancy prices at Madison Square Garden so I'm going to speak to them and them only from my dressing room exactly five minutes before the fight.

The fight will be televised to this country and overseas by satellite to a closed-circuit theater audience.

Stillwagon Spurns Packer Offer; To Play For Toronto Argonauts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—All-American middleguard Jim Stillwagon says he will play in the Canadian Football League because the Toronto Argonauts made him a "fairer" offer than the Green Bay Packers.

"They made me a deal I couldn't afford to turn down," the UPI Lineman of the Year said after disclosing he had signed a two-year contract with the Argonauts.

"Being drafted so low upset me and upset my financial status," he said. "The Argos came up with a fairer offer and that's why I signed. Now I just want to play football."

Despite his many honors, including the Outland Trophy, highest award given a college lineman, Stillwagon was not picked until the fifth round of the January NFL college draft. Many teams believed the 6-foot, 225-pound Mt. Vernon, Ohio, native too small for pro football.

Stillwagon also said the Packers wanted him to play linebacker, "but I did not have much experience at that position."

Argonaut coach Leo Cahill said he plans to play him at defensive tackle.

"Stillwagon is the most heralded lineman to come to Canada," Cahill said. "He reminds me a lot of John Lagron (Edmonton) and Granville Liggins (Calgary) who are not giants but have great speed and pursuit and rush the passer well."

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Wells Fined For Hit And Run

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland Raiders wide receiver Warren Wells is slowly untangling his problems with the law.

Tuesday he was fined $125 on a misdemeanor charge of hit-run driving he received after leaving the scene when his auto hit a parked car last December.

Today he is to appear in Alameda County Superior Court on a charge of violating the probation given him earlier in a sexual assault case.

Also hanging over Wells are two drunk driving charges, Jan. 31 in San Francisco and the following day in Oakland.

San Marin Cagers Triumph

Riding the masterly shooting of four players who hit double figures, the San Marin High School Mustangs shot down the Marin Catholic Wildcats last night, 81-65 in a Marin County Athletic League basketball game at Novato.

A sparse crowd of little more than 100 got more than their money's worth as both teams displayed magnificent shooting accuracy and near professional ball control. The win was worth a share of third place for San Marin, now 5-6 in MCAL competition, while the loss for the Wildcats was their eighth in 11 games, and drops them into last place with San Rafael.

Senior Forward Brad O'Riley was the hero of heros for San Marin as he led all scorers with 20 points, and also turned in a beautiful defensive effort. He was particularly effective as a rebounder in the fourth quarter when San Marin's center, 6-foot-9 Dana LaFerriere, fouled out.

LaFerriere accounted for 19 points before leaving, and was followed in the scoring by Hoza Wright and Jim Thompson with 16 and 13 points respectively. Wright, a sophomore, got most of his points on lofty outside shots, while Thompson drove inside for his.

With all those guys playing some of their best ball of the season, San Marin scored 25 points in the second quarter, and opened up an insurmountable 16 point lead at halftime. Marin made a valiant comeback effort at the beginning of the fourth quarter, cutting the lead to 10, but lost two big men to fouls and dropped the challenge.

The Wildcats, no slouches themselves on offense, got 22 points from senior Bill Donellan, and 12 from Jim Sullivan. Donellan would have had more, but he fouled out early in the fourth quarter, soon after another Marin star, Tim Stone, went that route in the third period.

Marin Catholic	8	18	23	16	— 65
San Marin	17	25	18	21	— 81

Marin Catholic — Sullivan, 6-0-12; Donellan, 8-6-22; Mahoney, 4-1-9; T. Stone, 3-2-8; D. Stone, 1-0-2; Stahl, 4-0-8; Hurley, 2-0-4; Totals — 28-9-65.

San Marin — Wright, 8-0-16; Kassenbrock, 2-2-6; Thompson, 6-1-13; O'Riley, 7-6-20; LaFerriere, 6-7-19; Adams, 2-0-4; Larsen, 0-1-1; Caramagno, 1-0-2; Totals — 32-17-81.

DeMaestri's Shots Win For Novato

Joe DeMaestri connected on a jump shot and two free throws in the final seconds last night to insure the Novato High School Hornets a 58 - 55 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over Drake High in San Anselmo.

The victory, the Hornets' fourth against seven losses, broke their four-game losing streak and gave them a share of fourth place in the MCAL with the Pirates, who are also 4 - 7. It was the first time they have won without star forward Marty Moroski, who is currently sidelined with a broken hand.

DeMaestri popped home 23 points to lead all scorers, and was, as usual, unstoppable from outside, but, according to Novato coach Jim Caranica, the key to the win was Tom Larman, who collected 15 points, most of them in crucial situations. It was his best performance of the season.

Drake looked good early in the game, taking a 19 - 10 first quarter lead, and holding a four-point edge at halftime. But Novato outscored the San Anselmo team in both the third and fourth quarters. Three players hit double figures for Drake — Jim Forni, 18, Bob Gregg 17, and Jit Singh, 13.

Novato	11	14	17	16	- 58
Drake	19	10	13	13	- 55

Novato - Gardiner, 1-0-2; DeMaestri, 8-7-23; Colony, 0-1-1; Larman, 6-3-15; Tetu, 2-3-7; Traub, 4-2-10; Totals - 21 - 16 - 58.

Drake - Forni, 7-4-18; Daubenfeld, 2-0-4; Gregg, 8-1-17; Singh, 5-3-13; Wilkinson, 1-1-3; Totals - 23 - 9 - 55.

Tamalpais Holds Off Terra Linda

Never in trouble and yet never absolutely comfortable, the Tamalpais High School Indians held the lead most of the way yesterday to defeat the Terra Linda High School Trojans, 64-57 at Terra Linda, before perhaps 200 fans.

League leading scorer Will Garner once again assumed the hero's role as he netted 20 points and came up with one of his best defensive efforts of the season to propel the Indians of Mill Valley to their ninth Marin County Athletic League victory in 11 games. For the Trojans, the loss dropped them below .500 at 5-6, and forces them to share third place with San Marin.

At no time did it seem Terra Linda was bound to upset Tam, as happened the first time the teams met this season. They came back after trailing by as many as 13 to close within five in the fourth quarter, but the Indians rattled off 10 straight points to settle the issue.

Garner was the obvious difference, especially in the third period when he scored nine points. Eight of them came in rapid succession, and gave the Indians the lead at 42-29. John Earl Huff followed Garner with 10 points and Pat Locey had nine, six in the final quarter.

Terra Linda's attack was financed by their razzle-dazzle forward, Joe Casteel, who scored 17 points. Andy Mora added 13, six in the last quarter.

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI)—Jockey Laffitt Pincay Jr. rode Kfar Tov to three-quarter length triumph in the $20,000 added Golden Bear Stakes Tuesday as Golden Gate Fields opened its 85-day thoroughbred season with a record turnout of 11,694.

It was the biggest weekday opening in the track's 30-year history.

Kfar Tov paid $4.40 as the favorite while covering the six furlongs in a rapid 1.08 2-5. Moonsplash finished second and Fast Fellow was third in the field of seven three-year-olds.

Willie Shoemaker, won the previous race astride Inverness Drive. It was his 6,104th victory. The shoe won his first race at the same track 22 years ago.

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI)—As the $50,000 United States Men's Indoor Open Tennis championships entered the third round today, defending champion Ilie Nastase of Rumania found the top of his foreign ranks badly depleted and the U.S. contingent unscathed.

Nastase, the top foreign seed, and Thomas Koch of Brazil, the fourth foreign seed, are the only top foreigners left.

Koch did not play last night. Nastase got by Jim Connors of the U.S., 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

He was a dentist at Healdsburg, Calif., before his retirement. He died at a Santa Rosa rest home of natural causes.

Drake Frosh Quint Alone In 1st Place

Tamalpais High School's freshmen basketballers knocked San Rafael's frosh out of first place in the Marin County Athletic League standings yesterday with a 45-37 victory.

San Rafael's record fell to 9-3, a game off the pace of Drake, (10-2), which is alone in first place after knocking off Redwood 33-28 yesterday.

San Rafael's Steve D'Ambra scored 20 points and Tam's Mike Dinehardt hit 19 in that game. In the other game of the day, Marin Catholic, led by Len Kristensen's 16 points, whipped Terra Linda 43-27.

Petaluma Title Hopes Vanish

The Petaluma High School Trojans saw their last North Bay I League pennant hopes go down the drain yesterday when they dropped a 59-44 decision to the Santa Rosa High School Panthers.

Joe Rodola steadied Petaluma somewhat with 18 points but the rest of the club didn't pull its own weight, and the result dropped the Trojans into third place, behind Napa and Santa Rosa.

Tom and Chris Allen finished with 11 and 10 points apiece to pace the Panthers, who surged ahead in the final quarter, at one time to an 18-point lead.

Rancho Cotate High School's basketball team ended its North Bay II League season last night on a losing note and in third place. Second place Cardinal Newman defeated the Cougars, 82-63 in Santa Rosa.

There was one consolation in defeat for the Cougars; center Ron Seiler came in with 20 points, to up his career total to 1,013. But his effort went for naught as the Cardinals led all the way, behind Jim Wilkey's 18 points, and Bill Price's 13.

Steve Wlodarczyk backed Seiler with 13. The Cougars finish the season Friday in a non-league battle with Petaluma.

Will Sanders Ever Learn?

HOUSTON (UPI) — Pro golfer Doug Sanders, once hit in the head by one of Vice President Agnew's errant golf balls, today was at home in a wheel chair with injuries suffered in a tennis match with Agnew.

Sanders said he fell during the match at Palm Springs, Calif., and tore some ligaments in his leg. Sanders and Agnew were in Palm Springs last weekend for the Bob Hope Golf Classic, the tournament where Agnew hit Sanders last year.

This year Agnew, playing with Sanders, hit three persons with his first two shots. Agnew also hit Joseph H. Blanchard, the Peace Corps director, in a tennis match in Washington last year when he and Blanchard were doubles partners.

Killebrew Reaches $100,000 Plateau

By United Press International

The Minnesota Twins finally have signed their first $100,000 player and now they'd like to wait a while before they sign their second,

Harmon Killebrew, who hit 41 homers and drove in 113 runs for the Twins, agreed to the $100,000 pact over the phone, club president Calvin Griffith announced Tuesday.

The Twins slugger said he will report to the Orlando, Fla., camp of the Twins a week from Tuesday and said that he doesn't feel he's going to need any rest this season. Killebrew, who'll be 35 in July, said he still can play everyday.

But while Killebrew signed the six-figure contract, the Twins are trying not to give Tony Oliva one. Oliva figures he's worth it after hitting .325 last season and driving in 107 runs.

Griffith, though, argues that Oliva is only 29 and isn't ready to reach the six figure bracket. Oliva, though, figures that performance and not age should determine the salary and there's going to some hard negotiating before he comes to terms.

The Twins also announced the signing of two other players, shortstop Leo Cardenas and minor leaguer Cotton Nash, the former Kentucky basketball star who hit 33 homers for Evansville last season.

Gary Nolan, who started the first game of the World Series for Cincinnati last season, signed his contract with the Reds. He posted an 18-7 record last season with an ERA of 3.26.

Jim Fregosi, the shortstop for the California Angels, signed a contract for a "substantial raise" in salary. The guesses are that the "substantial" means a contract of about $75,000. General Manager Dick Walsh said it was the best contract an Angel has signed since he's been negotiating contracts.

Frank Reberger, who's expected to be a starter for San Francisco, became the 21st Giant to sign his contract this season. He was 7-8 for the year but looked impressive at the end of the campaign when he switched from a reliever to a starter.

Three righthanded pitchers, Chuck Taylor, Reggie Cleveland and Bob Chlupsa, agreed to terms with the St. Louis Cardinals. General Manager Bing Devine said they officially sign their contracts when they arrive in camp at St. Petersburg.

The Baltimore Orioles signed Paul Blair, the leading hitter in the World Series with a .474 mark, to his contract. The champion Orioles now have signed 22 players.

The New York Yankees signed eight players, including Roy White, who received a raise to $50,000 after hitting .296 last season. The other players signing were Curt Blefary, Stan Bahnsen, Gene Michaels, Frank Tepedino, Ron Klimkowski, Gary Waslewski and Tony Solaita.

The Atlanta Braves announced that Sonny Jackson, the shortstop who's been hampered by injuries the past two seasons, will come to camp five days early to work out in centerfield. The Braves now have Marty Perez, acquired from California, to play short.

Oakland increased the number of players on its signed rolls to 33 when Rick Monday came to terms.

The start of spring training never is complete without the Mets wondering about third base. The club hasn't had a regular in its nine years of existence and it looks like there'll be a scramble again this season since Wayne Garrett was inducted into the Army for a four to six month term, which will mean he'll miss much of the season.

Bob Aspromonte, obtained during the off-season because the Mets were worried about Garrett's medical status, and rookies Tim Foli and Teo Martinez will be battling for the job.

Players Share Week's Honors

OAKLAND (UPI) — Center Ansley Truitt of the California Bears is working harder on defense and it's starting to show.

For holding opposing centers from Washington and Washington State to 10 points and 19 rebounds last weekend, Truitt was honored as co-player of the week in the university division by the Northern California basketball writers.

At their luncheon Tuesday, the writers also selected Stanford guard Claude Terry to share the honor with Truitt. Terry scored 52 points against the same two teams. Truitt totalled 39 points and 36 rebounds.

As a result of Truitt's heroics, the Bears won both games and climbed into third place in the Pacific-8 Conference with a 5-3 mark.

Meanwhile, St. Mary's coach Bruce Hale and Santa Clara coach Carroll Williams were still talking about the Broncos 114-111 double-overtime win over the Gaels Monday night.

"We beat them by 52 rebounds, yet we were eight points down with 1:42 to go in regulation play," recalled Williams. "When they were down to three men, they still scored four points off us."

Hale said during his long tenure in basketball his teams never played with three men. Hale coached at Miami of Florida and the defunct Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association before being hired by St. Mary's.

"It was an unusual game for me," said Hale. "I was down to four players once at Miami and used a diamond defense to get by.

"But when we got down to three Monday it definitely created some problems."

In the game's final moments, Hale admitted he was torn between trying to win and yet admiring the work of his son, Alan, who is a guard for Santa Clara. Alan made some key free throws down the stretch to help the Broncos.

"I found myself rooting for my son," said Hale.

Gary Bradford, a guard from San Francisco State, was named player of the week in the college division for the fifth time.

BOATING

Outboards Can Cause Problem

Not too many years ago, when all outboard motor boats were made of wood, there was no trouble in keeping the motor firmly fastened to the transom. The outboard motor clamps made deep bites into the relatively soft wood and held firmly. Even today, a lot of aluminum and smaller fiber glass boats have wooden motor mounting boards on the transoms.

But on many of the larger fiber glass boats, securing the motor is more complicated. Because fiber glass is a hard smooth material it is not wise to depend only on the friction of the motor clamps. It is almost standard practice now to incorporate bolt holes in the mounting brackets of medium and larger outboards so that they may be bolted permaently to the transom.

A motor that must be put on and taken off frequently should have the best possible transom plate used along with it. These plates come in various styles. Some are solid rubber and wrap over the transom like a saddle blanket, others are metal with rims or flanges. The plates are screwed to the boat and give the motor clamps something to grip.

But the best is none too good, and a close watch should be kept on the motor if it isn't bolted on.

There's a lot of gadgetry being used these days, not only for the outboarder but in what most people consider the traditional field of sailing. Much of it invites questions.

Q. My motor was stolen, it is easily slipped off my fiber glass boat. Would a chain and padlock be worth the trouble?

A. Unquestionably. Naturally, it won't stop the determined thief, but most thieves are looking for easy pickings. The chain and lock add just enough trouble to make them give up the idea. A chain and lock on a trailer is a good idea, too.

Q. I want to put an outboard on my sailboat as an auxiliary. I need a mounting bracket that slides up and allows the motor to tilt as well. Is there one?

A. Don't accept anything but exactly what you want. There are almost a dozen manufacturers of such brackets in every conceivable design. Tell a marine dealer what you need and he'll get one. I've seen one exactly as you describe made by a Michigan firm.

Q. My dealer is trying to sell me the new mechanical steering system. Is it that much better than the old cable and pulleys?

A. Infinitely better. A mechanical steerer is a fully enclosed, permanently lubricated steel cable, operating inside a weather-proof conduit. It transmits both a pulling and pushing force without kinking. Above all mechanical steerers give much more precise and positive feel and control. They are vastly more durable, too.

Q. What do they call the things which control the attitude of a boat?

A. You must mean trim tabs. They are flat plates fastened to the stern at the water line. Some are hydraulically controlled from the driver's seat. Tilted up or down they react on the water passing under the boat to control it's attitude.

Q. I'm told there is an automatic bailer which works when the boat is going. It is not driven by the motor. Is such a thing available?

A. There is a small rubber bailing device which is fastened to the stern. It's really a valve which lets water out at a high speed but won't let any in. It's called the Ph-f-f-t. Ask your dealer.

Q. What would you have done if you had lost your keys overboard. . .?

A. I've got a hidden switch — Hah. But I know a man who keeps a fishing bobber on his ignition key ring. It's big enough to float the keys if they go overboard. He's had to swim for them a couple of times, but that's better than the messy job of shorting the ignition wires, and paying for the repairs after.

Q. Boats make so many waves passing my mooring spot, it strains my deck cleats. . . . .is there an answer.

A. There are rubber devices called snubbers made for such situations. They are very effective if the strains are not too great. A snubber is attached to a mooring line so that it leaves a loop of rope, but keeps the rest of the line taut. The snubber takes up the shocks.

Q. Is there a gadget which keeps the boat away from the dockside?

A. There are devices quite popular in Florida called "mooring whips." They are made of fiber glass and are fastened to the dock in such a way as to keep the boat about two feet out from the wall. Waves don't cause any chafing between boat and wall.

West Snaps Slump, Lakers Top Knicks

By United Press International

Jerry West came out of his slump and simply prolonged one for New York.

West, who had been hitting on only 26 per cent of his shots during the last three games, scored 9 of his game-high 31 points in the third quarter Tuesday night to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 130-115 victory over the Knicks. The loss was New York's seventh in the last eight games.

"I haven't had a slump like this in eight years," said West, one of the National Basketball Association all-time star backcourtmen. He had been held to only six points in one game and 21 in another, both well under his season's average.

West, forced to the bench with four fouls late in the first half, stormed back in the third period to pull the Lakers from a 57-54 halftime deficit. The Lakers outscored the Knicks 21-4 in one stretch of the third period to build a lead and Gail Goodrich drilled in nine points ina 2 1-2 minute span in the last quarter to put the game out of reach.

Goodrich finished with 27 points while Willis Reed had 23 and Bill Bradley 20 for the Knicks.

In other NBA action, Cincinnati beat Portland 109-102, Chicago downed Atlanta 118-102, Detroit defeated Baltimore 110-95, Phoenix edged Boston 119-116 and Milwaukee trounced Buffalo 135-103.

Warriors Host Celts Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — Neither the Boston Celtics or San Francisco Warriors will be in a happy frame of mind when they tangle today at the Coliseum-Arena.

Just before they caught a transcontinental flight out of Boston Tuesday, the Celtics dropped a 119-116 decision to the Phoenix Suns. That was one loss the third-place Celtics could ill afford in their stretch battle for a playoff berth with second-place Philadelphia in the NBA's Atlantic division.

And the Warriors have had three days to reflect on the nightmarish 146-101 loss to the Seattle Sonics Sunday night. That was one of worst defeats ever suffered by a pro basketball squad in San Francisco, approaching the team's alltime biggest loss margin of 49 points to Boston and Los Angeles.

In addition, the Warriors go up against the second highest scoring club this season in the NBA. Only Milwaukee has averaged more points than the 118 per game shooting of the Celts.

What A Stall! Final Score—7-4

ATLANTA (UPI) — Last month, Oglethorpe College played Tennessee A&I in Nashville and got squashed, 82-43. Tuesday night Oglethorpe hosted the fourth-ranked small college Tigers and planned a surprise, but it didn't work.

Tennessee A&I won anyway—7-4.

Oglethorpe went into a stall from the opening jump but much to the dismay of the crowd and the Petrels, A&I didn't react. The Tigers were perfectly willing to stall, too.

At the end of the first half, A&I held a 4-0 lead on field goals by Ron Dorsey and Boyd Neal. As the game dawdled to a close, Oglethorpe became relatively frantic and committed four fouls — the only fouls of the game. The Tigers cashed in on three of them.

Oglethorpe was paced by Terry Schell and Larry Walker with a field goal apiece.

Twin Cities Little League Signups

Signups for the Twin Cities (Corte Madera and Larkspur) Little League will be held at the Corte Madera firehouse tonight from 7 o'clock to 8:30, and Sunday afternoon from 1 o'clock to 3 o'clock.

Boys from 9 to 12 years of age are eligible for the program. Each boy must bring a parent or guardian, plus proof of age to the signups. A fee of $10 will be charged per family.

Walter Alston Among The Best

Baseball has more than its share of loud mouths. The game's quiet man is Walter Alston. His is dean of the Dodger dugout. In fact, Alston is the dean of all major league managers. This year Alston will be entering his 18th campaign as manager of the Dodgers.

Only three men in the history of baseball have piloted the same team longer — Connie Mack, 50 years with the Philadelphia Athletics, 1901-50; John McGraw, 31 years with the New York Giants, 1902-32, and Cap Anson, 19 seasons with the Cubs 1879-97.

IN THE HISTORY of the World Series only three managers have won more often than Alston — Casey Stengel and Joe McCarthy each won seven and Connie Mack five. Alston's Dodgers won the World Series in 1955, 1959, 1963 and 1965.

Under Alston the Dodgers also won the National League pennant in 1956 and 1966. His six pennants puts him in a sixth place tie with Miller Huggins. Stengel and McGraw won 10. Mack and McCarthy each won nine.

This season Alston ties the previous longevity mark of a Dodger manager — Wilbert Robinson who also managed the team for 18 seasons, 1914 through 1931.

IN 1954 ALSTON moved up from Montreal to manage the Dodgers. Montreal then was the top team in the Dodger farm system where Alston began his managing career in 1940 at Portsmouth. There were stops at Springfield, Trenton, Nashua, Puebloand St. Paul before he got the top AAA promotion to Montreal and ultimately the big job with the Dodgers.

So this will be Alston's 31st year of managing Dodger ball clubs. Obviously, Dodger brass thinks he is something special.

"Alston," said Peter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, "not only is the greatest Dodger manager ever but the greatest living manager."

WHEN ALSTON became manager of the Dodgers in 1954 his contemporaries in National League dugouts included Charlie Grimm (Braves), Stan Hack (Cubs), Birdie Tebbetss (Reds), Terry Moore (Phillies), Fred Haney (Pirates), Eddie Stanky (Cardinals and Leo Durocher (Giants). Only Durocher remains in the ranks of major league managers from that 1954 alignment and Durocher was not a member of the managerial brigade from 1956 through 1965.

In the American League when Alston put on a Brooklyn Dodger uniform were Jimmie Dykes, Lou Boudreau, Paul Richards, Al Lopez, Freddie Hutchinson, Casey Stengel, Eddie Joost and Bucky Harris, none of whom is still active as a major league pilot.

"ALSTON, WHO He?" a New York tabloid headlined in 1954 when Alston was appointed manager of the Dodgers. That was the first and last facetious inquiry into Alston's credentials.

Big Lew Dominates Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor continues to dominate the National Basketball Association scorers with a 31.7 average in the latest statistics released by the league.

Alcindor, who has led the scorers since the first week of the season, had 39 points against Phoenix last week and 38 points against Detroit to stay in frontmf San Diego's Elvin Hayes and Boston's John Havlicek, currently tied for second at 28.9.

Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, while down in the scoring statistics this season, is setting the pace in rebounds with 1,139 and an 18.7 average.

Aerospace Firms' Outlook Improves

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your analysis of the aerospace industry and these stocks in terms of recovery for the short and long-term. — R. V.

A. The climate for this industry has begun to show improvement for the first time in several years. This is not to say that an immediate and spectacular recovery will be witnessed. Rather, with fundamentals becoming more auspicious, gradual recovery appears probable.

Nixon's budget proposals for defense and space spending are an important factor in this improving outlook. Of the twenty major Department of Defense funded programs, fifteen would be increased a total of $1.8 billion in fiscal 1971-72.

In addition NASA is expected to choose a contractor this summer for its space shuttle rocket, which is allocated $50-$60 million under the proposed budget. Another $100 million has been allotted to build the airframe for the shuttle. This program alone is expected to pump $7 to $9 billion into the industry by 1979.

A second NASA project, the Viking/Mars, is slated to increase by $145 million, if the President's budget is approved by Congress. However, two other NASA programs, Nerva and Apollo, have been cut back and stretched out.

Commercial orders have dropped off, reflecting the economic slowdown. Airlines in particular have cut back their spending for new aircraft. However, on a long-term basis the outlook for commercial business is encouraging.

Diversification is one method which several aerospace companies have chosen in order to offset the cyclical swings of this industry. Northrop, Raytheon, and Rohr Corp. have successfully reduced their dependence on military business so that this area contributes no more than 50 per cent to sales. Both Rohr Corp. and United Aircraft have heavy commitments in mass transportation systems. Several aerospace concerns, most notably Grumman and Rohr, have made tentative investments in low-cost housing. Grumman, Rohr and United Aircraft appear to have above-average recovery potential over the longer term.

Stocks Slip In Rash Of Selling

NEW YORK (UPI) —Profit taking turned the stock market lower Wednesday, but analysts expressed neither surprise nor alarm at the setback. Trading was heavy.

"Some people have concluded the market is tired and needs a correction," one analyst declared. He noted that part of the profit taking reflects the market's failure to respond appreciably Tuesday to the lowering of interest rates and the settlement of the oil-price dispute between Persian Gulf oil states and international oil firms.

Shortly before noon, declines led advances 880 to 357 on 1,577 issues crossing the tape. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was of 0.52 at 98.14.

Prices were weak in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Of the 1,056 issues on the tape, declines topped advances, 555 to 231.

Among the most active Amex issues were South Royalty Co. up more than a point on around 350,000 shares, Beverly Enterprises fractionally lower on 65,000 shares, and Hartfield Zodys also slightly lower on 55,000 shares.

On the Big Board, heavily traded stocks included Howard Johnson down 1-8, Occidental Petroleum off 3-8, and McDonnell Douglas off 1 1-2.

With International Flavor —

WRAPPED chicken is a Chinese favorite, and will be one of nearly 100 foreign dishes to be offered at the annual International Dinner of the Petaluma Chapter, American Field Service. Here, left, Cristina Bubba, a visiting exchange student to Petaluma from Sucre, Bolivia, watches Mrs. Elwood Chan of Petaluma prepare the chicken. Each piece is carefully wrapped in paper or foil and fried briefly in deep oil. (I-J photos by Jim Kean)

A wide collection of hot entrees representing a number of foreign countries will be the feature of the American Field Service International Dinner tomorrow at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

To benefit its foreign student program community organizations are contributing special hot dishes and salads. They include the Danish Sisterhood, Herman Sisters, Companions of the Forest, B'nai Israel Sisterhood, Sons of Norway, Linnea Swedish Lodge, Royal Neighbors, Corona Club, Italian Catholic Federation, Sons of Italy, Latin-American Group, Japanese-American Citizens League, and Local Chinese families. In addition many church and Parent-Teacher Association members are donating food items. Some of the foreign recipes are shared here:

PAPER WRAPPED CHICKEN
(Mrs. Elwood Chan)

1 pkg. chicken breasts or boneless chicken, (approx. 1½ lbs.)
2 tsp. Hoisin sauce 2 tsp. soy sauce
2 tsp. Worchestershire sauce
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
1 small piece of fresh ginger, crushed
1 T. sherry
3 stems of green onions, diced.
Waxed paper or aluminum foil cut in 6" squares
1½ T. cornstarch mixed with water (just to make paste — this gives the chicken its smoothness)

Cut up chicken into chunks of ¾" squares, flatten meat a bit so that the marinated sauce gets into the meat.

Marinate for an hour the mixture of Hoisin, soy, worchestershire, salt, sugar, ginger, sherry and onions. After an hour, add cornstarch mixed with water and stir with chopsticks or wooden spoon. Then wrap each piece of chicken into foil, folding it like an envelope and tucking the remaining corner into the fold. Fry in deep oil for five minutes. Serves 4 as part of Chinese dinner.

KOTTBULLAR
Swedish Meatballs
(Mrs. Roy E. Johnson)

¼ C. finely chopped onion
1 T. shortening
¼ C. fine, dry bread crumbs
½ C. water
⅓ C. cream
¾ lb. ground round steak
¼ lb. ground, lean pork
2 t. salt
¼ t. pepper
dash of cloves
⅓ C. butter or margarine
¼ C. boiling bouillon

Saute onion in shortening until golden brown. Soak crumbs in water and cream mixture. Combine onion, crumb mixture, meats and seasonings. Mix thoroughly until smooth. Shape into small balls (wet hands before handling so it won't stick) using a teaspoon dipped in cold water. Fry in butter until evenly browned, shaking pan continuously to make balls round; add boiling bouillon, cover and simmer 5-10 minutes or until tender. Makes 70 small meatballs.

HOT GERMAN POTATO SALAD
(Mrs. John McGovern)

6 medium potatoes
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
4 slices bacon or ham, diced
¼ C. minced onion
1 egg, beaten
4 T. Vinegar
1¾ t. salt

Cook potatoes with skins on, drain, peel and slice while hot and add chopped eggs. Fry ham or bacon and onion until a delicate brown. Strain, reserving ham or bacon fat. Add onion and ham or bacon to the potato mixture. Add fat slowly to beaten egg, beating well. Add vinegar and salt and pour over potatoes. Mix well and heat in double boiler. Serve hot, garnished with lettuce or watercress. Sliced celery root is a good addition. Serves 6.

DANSK RODKAL
(Danish Red Cabbage)
(Mrs. Jack Cameron)

3 solid, medium size red cabbages
¾ C. white or wine vinegar
1 C sugar
½ C. butter or shortening
salt and pepper to taste
1 C. currant jelly

Slice cabbage very thin. Put in deep saucepan and add above ingredients (with exception of jelly). Boil slowly for several hours (longer it cooks, more flavor it has.) Lastly, about half hour before serving, add currant jelly.

LUNCHEON FOR 200

What's In A Gourmet Picnic Box?

Two hundred wrapped gourmet box lunches will await guests at a champagne luncheon and fashion show benefit in Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's School in Tiburon on Friday.

But because of the school's small kitchen, food chairman Mrs. Howard Richcreek of Belvedere arranged to have her gourmet recipes prepared in advance at eight Tiburon homes. These are among them:

BENGAL CHICKEN SALAD

Simmer chicken in water, one bouillon cube to each cup of water, until tender. Save broth for soup. Cool chicken and debone.

½ can sliced hearts of palm
4 cups chopped chicken
1 cup cooled rice
2 cups pineapple chunks
3 cups chopped celery
1 medium sized chopped cucumber
½ cup finely chopped nuts (peanuts, cashews, pine or pecan)
1 teaspoon each: sweet basil and tarragon (fresh, if possible)
⅓ cup shredded coconut

(If dry coconut is used, soak in milk for 2 hours, then drain.) Toss all ingredients gently. Garnish with another half can of hearts of palm. Chill. Serves 8.

DRESSING FOR SALAD

½ cup sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
juice of one lime
2 tablespoons of California sherry
1 teaspoon honey
¼ teaspoon dill weed
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons curry powder (imported)

Mix together and allow to sit for one hour. Then mix with above salad. Serves 8.

TANGY CREAM CHEESE SANDWICHES

8 oz. cream cheese
½ cup walnuts
3 tablespoons chutney
2 tablespoons good California sherry
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
2 tablespoons crushed pineapple

Mix and spread on fresh white bread. This may be made in advance and frozen. Makes about eight finger sandwiches or 18 canapes.

PREPARING SALAD and small sandwiches for gourmet box lunches are Mrs. Howard Richcreek, left, food chairman for a champagne luncheon and fashion show benefit on Friday at St. Hilary's School in Tiburon, and Mrs. Kimball Palm, president of St. Hilary's School Parent-Teacher Group. "We'll tie bows on the boxes," says Mrs. Mary Richcreek. "Inside will be a doily, finger sandwiches, salad, a bottle of sherry and pastry dessert." (I-J photo)

Saucy Beef Patties

Plentiful applesauce and ground beef can be combined for a flavorsome entree. Simply season, shape and form ground beef patties as usual. Then after browning on both sides over moderate heat, pour off drippings and pour applesauce, spiced to taste with cinnamon or oregano, over the patties. Stir in a bit of instant onion, catsup, Worcestershire sauce and/or lemon juice for more zip if desired.

Tape Poison

If you keep a bottle with poisonous ingredients in your bath cabinet, fasten the top down with a piece of adhesive tape. This will keep you from mistaking it for something else.

Shrove Tuesday Tradition — German Fastnachtskuchen

Lent begins at the stroke of midnight on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 23, so this day is one of merrymaking, feasting, parades and carnivals before Ash Wednesday ushers in the penitential season.

Shrove Tuesday food traditions go back to bygone days when meats and dairy products were prohibited during Lent by civil as well as church law. Thrifty housewives who didn't want to waste good food cooked up a storm of luscious dishes rich with all the foods that would be unavailable during the coming weeks.

Many countries have traditional Shrove Tuesday foods. English and Scottish cooks make pancakes; in the Scandinavian lands they make Shrovetide Buns of sweet yeast dough filled with almonds and whipped cream. In Germany the favorites are Fast Night Cakes or Fastnachtskuchen, which are hole-less doughnuts sprinkled with sugar.

Fastnachts are traditionally cut in diamond shapes and slit across the top with a knife.

FASTNACHTSKUCHEN

3¾ to 4¼ cups unsifted flour
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup (½ stick) softened margarine
1 cup very hot tap water
1 egg (at room temperature)
Peanut oil
Confectioners' sugar

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1¼ cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast. Add softened margarine.

Gradually add very hot tap water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg and 1/2 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Turn dough out onto a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Roll out into a 8 x 16-inch rectangle. Cut into 2-inch squares. Cut a slit about ¼-inch deep in the top of each square. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Fry in deep hot (375°F.) oil until golden brown on both sides. Drain on paper towels. Sprinkle doughnuts with confectioners' sugar. Makes 32 doughnuts.

THE HOMESTEAD SCENE

Today's woman making the homestead scene in suburban Marin or on the rural commune can do it in no-iron care free fabrics. Left is a 1971 version of the granny dress in triacetate. It comes in brown and white or gray and pink print and is manufactured by Craig Craely. Center is a knit of polyester and cotton by Willie Smith for Digits. It is red, gray and yellow. The modestly covered model, right, wears a mauve pink jumpsuit with bias-cut culotte wide enough for waltzing. It is a triacetate jersey by Leo Narducci.

Marin Women

Symphony Units Lead Tours

Friday will be the kick-off for a project that is one of the largest to be undertaken by members of the Marin Symphony Guild and Symphony Auxiliary.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Schnurer of Larkspur, the auxiliary, working with the San Francisco Convention Bureau and the Marin Chamber of Commerce Visitors Bureau, will undertake a guided tour program in Marin for the groups of women who visit the bay area during the course of each year.

Mrs. Schnurer explained, "a trial run of a tour, using the bus service to be employed, will be conducted Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for the auxiliary's tour committee and executive committee, Symphony Guild president Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley and representatives of the Marin Visitors Bureau."

A TYPICAL tour will begin with pickup of visitors at their hotels in San Francisco and continue to well-known points of interest in the county. A special feature of each tour, not available on commercial tours, will be a visit to one or more private homes in a different area for each tour.

"After a sherry hour and luncheon at the Marin Art and Garden Center guests will see the famed Marin Civic Center before returning to San Francisco.

"Throughout the tours trained docents will be in charge. A flat fee including the luncheon will be charged each person on the tour, with proceeds going to support the Marin Symphony Guild's programs.

"Guides at first will be members of the guild and auxiliary," Mrs. Schnurer said, "But we shall welcome anyone, including men, who may be interested.

"We are calling the guides docents," she emphasized, "because they will go through a complete training program. On Feb. 24 the first session will be held at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Lucia Towne, with writer Louise Teather of Tiburon speaking on the Belvedere-Tiburon area. Anyone interested in becoming a docent is invited, Mrs. Schnurer said.

"On March 3 the second session will be held at the Fairhills home in San Rafael of Mrs. Kenneth Davis, with Mrs. Thomas Kent of Kent Woodlands speaking on the Ross Valley area. This will be a luncheon for which reservations must be made with me or Mrs. Charles De Fren of Belvedere."

MRS. SCHNURER said that tentative plans are being made for the first public tour on March 10, and another one for 500 women is a posibility in August.

The new fund-raising project grew out of a suggestion by former auxiliary president Mrs. Ralph Dewey of Belvedere, who had seen it successfully done in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Cleveland Symphony and in Washington, D.C., where she now lives. It has also been endorsed by current auxiliary president Mrs. Edward Zeller of Kent Woodlands, who has observed a similar successful program in Phoenix, Ariz.

Members of the tour project committee working with Mrs. Schnurer are Mmes. Davis, De Fren and Towne, Mozart Kaufman of Kentfield, Maurice Salomon of Sausalito, Leonard Rubin of Larkspur, Newton Longfellow of San Anselmo and Miss Betty Klink of Kentfield.

MRS. SANDY GREENBLAT

Mannequin League's New Leader

New president of the Mannequin League of Marin is Mrs. Sandy Greenblat of San Rafael. She has also served as vice president and secretary during 10 years of membership in the league.

Members are former models living in Marin who want to keep active in the fashion world. They model and coordinate fashion shows for all charities and service organizations. A charge is made when they participate in non-charitable fashion shows, and that money plus funds raised at the annual Mannequin League Ball, held in October, and other events benefit the league's charity, the Marin Community Workshop.

Marilyn Greenblat and her husband, owner of Marin Motorsports in San Rafael, are the parents of Martin Scott, 5. She is a native of San Francisco, was graduated from George Washington High School and attended the University of California extension. A 12-year-resident of Marin, Mrs. Greenblat is also a member of the Marin County Motorcycle Assn., Loch Lomond Yacht Club and the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association. She is editor of the yacht club paper.

The new president's sports interests include the U.S. Power Squadron, boating and fishing, and she is a 49er football faithful. Her other hobbies are reading, mosaic work and all aspects of makeup and fashion.

Other Mannequin League officers are Mmes. Barney Norwitt, first vice president; Kenneth Fuller, second vice president; Ralph Cicurel, secretary; Vern Gill, treasurer; Roger Bohne, model chairman; and Fred Paolini, ball chairman.

She Started Magazine With $17 And 'Guts'

By CAROLYN A. BOWERS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take a magazine about music, an almost exclusively male readership and a lady publisher and you've got "Jazz & Pop." The lady at the helm, Pauline Rivelli, started the magazine nine years ago with a $17 investment, 3,000 subscribers to a folded magazine and "a lot of guts."

It meant abandoning her job as administrative assistant with a research institute, a job she had worked her way up to from secretary after graduating from high school.

"I was tired of that 9-to-5 thing and buildings that swallow you up," she said in an interview. So in July of 1962 she made her career leap.

Although she had no journalism experience (her definition of a galley was the bottom of a ship), Miss Rivelli singlehandedly put out the magazine, working from a Post Office box number and a desk a friend let her use in his office.

When her first edition appeared in October, she had done everything except the writing.

"I DID everything through trial and error," she said. "I had an art director, but I wasn't satisfied with the results. I tried it myself and loved it."

Many of her friends in jazz circles, such as Ralph Gleason and Nat Hentoff, were glad to contribute material without charge because they "dug" what she was doing.

"I was no authority on jazz," the attractive brunette said. "I just liked what I heard. I was lucky to have the authorities around."

At Jazz & Pop's inception, there was only one successful magazine, Downbeat, covering jazz. "I told my friends in the jazz world about my plans, Miss Rivelli said, "and when they saw it was a serious project, they jumped in and got involved. It was a vehicle for them to express themselves."

Although the magazine covered jazz exclusively at the beginning, it was expanded in 1967 to include pop. "After it became Jazz & Pop I knew it was a success," Miss Rivelli said at her office cluttered with books, papers, magazines and small artifacts of the publishing and musical worlds.

"The audience for just jazz wasn't out there," she said. "The masses are turned off to jazz. They think it's a dirty four-letter word.

"I called it 'pop' because I saw what was happening in music and knew the term 'rock' would become passe. 'Pop' encompasses all of today's new music."

THE MAGAZINE, 50,000 international circulation, now covers music festivals, record reviews, columns, and interviews with old and new music greats, equally divided between the jazz and pop spheres.

Miss Rivelli, who prefers her age to be "as you see me" but looks 30-ish, does not see her success as a feather in the cap of women's liberation.

"I'm very anti-women's liberation," she said. "It's just an excuse. I don't feel discriminated against. Man, woman or animal, if you have the ability and qualifications, you can do anything.

"I think being a woman in this business has been to my advantage. Of course, there are those guys who feel they should be at the helm instead of a chick, but it's very rare."

Synoptics Is Mirror Trick

Now it is possible to stand in front of a mirror in a darkened room and see yourself in the latest fashions without trying them on. The trick with mirrors is known as synoptics. In the process, the customer goes into a private viewing room, is seated before a mirror with a black velveteen bib about her shoulders, and watches as costumes are projected on the mirror over her reflection. This is done through colored photographic slides of each costume on a model shown by means of a slide projector.

Jean Thompson Wed To Preston Joel Lea III

Marin Lutheran Church in Corte Madera was the setting for the wedding of Jean Ann Thompson to Preston Joel Lea III of Kentfield on Sunday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelso Carthell Thompson of Corte Madera. Her sister, Janet Kay Thompson, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Judith Henderson of San Rafael and the bridegroom's sisters Lori and Lila Lea of Kentfield.

Jeffrey Ashley of Greenbrae served as best man and the ushers were Austin Lea III and Mitchell Lea, brothers of the bridegroom, and Everett Estrada of Orange.

After the reception at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Kauai, Hawaii. They will live in Fairfax when they return.

The bride is a graduate of Redwood High School and is employed in the Village Bake Shop in Larkspur. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. David K. Jones of San Rafael.

Dr. and Mrs. Austin Lea of Kentfield are Preston's parents and Mrs. James Rice is his sister. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gromm of San Francisco. He also is a Redwood graduate and attended North Texas State College. He is employed with Gateway Shipwrights in San Francisco.

Mini Wins Votes

A solid vote of confidence for the mini and a swing to pants highlight the new uniforms for female rental agents at many companies. On the hemline issue, one company, Avis put it to a vote among all the company's female rental agents, pledging to respect the girl's wishes in the designing of the uniform. The results: 2,192 for the mini and 68 for the midi. The new uniform, designed by Stan Herman of Mr. Mort, includes a skirt and jacket, two blouses, a tunic and pants.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Be The 'Perfect Older Woman' To Compete With Younger Ones

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please ask your male readers if they all prefer younger women? My father ran off with a girl of 23 when I was in my early teens. My mother never got over it.

Now my husband is nearing 40 and I worry. I feel so old. I'm almost 36. How could any man be true with so many young things around?

Don't tell me to see a counselor. I did and now I'm all the more frantic. I hear he's having an affair with his young secretary. — W.X.

DEAR W.:

Stop brooding over the past or you may bring on a replay.

The 30s can be the best years of your life if you keep your sense of worth, your sense of humor — and your figure. Concentrate on being the "perfect older woman" and you'll have no trouble with the young things — at least no trouble you aren't able to handle. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This young couple comes to church dressed in "his and her" pants suits. They aren't quite hippie-ish, but really, Helen, is church the place for women in pants? — LONGTIME MEMBER

DEAR MEMBER:

Church is the place for anyone who wants to worship. Not to be disrespectful, but did Jesus ever win an award for "best dressed man?" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In our Civil Service, we are rated by our examination grades, and advance accordingly. Veterans — almost always men — are given five points preference, which often puts them higher on the list than women who may be as well or better qualified for the job.

Here's one for Women's Lib, Helen. How about giving wives and mothers five points preference, too? We've been through just as much of a battle. — DISCRIMINATEE

DEAR D.:

Vietnam veterans may disagree, but — Women's Lib: Have at it anyway. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for suggesting that your readers write to General Mills asking that the company resume its offer to redeem Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving hospital equipment.

We understand the decision may be changed, if enough requests pour in — enough to counteract the scattered charges that General Mills was "profiteering from misfortune and playing on public sympathy."

It seems a terrible shame that many hospitals and clinics will not get needed equipment (kidney machines, heart monitoring devices, etc. which could save human life) because a few people complained. The May 31st cut-off date doesn't give time enough for collections. It takes 600,000 coupons for one kidney machine.

How typical, not only of big organizations, but everyone: One slam can cancel out a hundred compliments. Do hope everyone writes. — COUPON COLLECTOR

DEAR C.C.:

So do I. To make it easier, here is the address:

General Mills, Inc., Club Plan, Box 1300,
Minneapolis, Minnesota, 55460.
— H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

A Plush Party At Low Cost

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Attention, all party throwers and product promotion managers. Have you considered the advantages of holding your next get-together at the plush Rayburn Building in Washington, D.C.?

If travel expense is no problem and you have a willing Congressman, you could have a bash to end all bashes, including the following benefits:

— Free use of a suitable reception room in the $100 million marble edifice named for the late House Speaker, Sam Rayburn.

— Free parking after 6 p.m. in the spacious underground garage.

— Free consultation and assistance of the catering management permanently assigned to the building.

— Prestigious atmosphere conveniently located on the beautiful grounds of the United States Capitol and only a short taxi ride from envious downtown hotels and restaurants.

— Distinguished and influential guests, including members of Congress, their staffs and visiting firemen from the general area.

THESE ARE some of the benefits enjoyed recently by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company when it chose the Rayburn Building for the official debut of its new beer, "Encore."

All that company officials did was to make a request to their local Congressman, Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wis.) and agree to pay a reasonable fee for incidental food served by building caterers. His office made arrangements with the building management.

An extra dividend for the Schlitz people was a big story and picture in a local newspaper here. It brought an unwanted dividend for Congressman Zablocki —the embarrassment of being singled out for doing what many other legislators have done for important constituents and friends.

The Schlitz bash was only one of seven that evening, a fairly typical day for the busy staff of the House Office Building. Not all such affairs are to promote new products. In fact, very few are. Zablocki recently had arranged a party for the Boy Scouts.

Almost any type of function is possible. Receptions have been held for legislators, visiting dignitaries, you name it. Some brides have found it ideal for wedding receptions.

THE DECISION to use or not use the facilities is up to the Congressman. He can either pass it along or refuse to do so. If he does, he will get the bill and must collect from the host.

The bill includes the cost of bartenders, waiters, porters and a supervisor if their services are required after 4 p.m. The bill also includes the cost of food and drinks if furnished by the catering service.

Virtually the same services are available on the Senate side of Capitol Hill. The facilities of the Senate Office Buildings are available at the request of a Senator.

But there is a limit on capacity. The Senate Caucus Room can seat a maximum of 500 comfortably at a banquet. The capacity of the Rayburn reception room is 350. But it can be partitioned for smaller parties. For smaller, stand-up affairs, other rooms can be made available.

If you plan to hold your next party in these lovely surroundings, may I suggest that you drink a toast to residents of the District of Columbia. They have to pay the full cost of parties, for they have no friendly Congressmen or Senators, and their taxes will help pay for yours.

Oven Foil

When using aluminum foil to keep the oven clean, be careful. The American Gas Association warns against use of foil in any areas in the oven where it may block the opening provided for air circulation.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Tamalpais High's Top Homemaker

Patricia Beggerly, a senior at Tamalpais High School, has been selected as the school's 1971 Betty Crocker homemaker of tomorrow.

Patricia was chosen for her performance on a written examination given nationally to senior high school girls in December. She will be entered in the state contest, which offers a prize of a $1,500 scholarship, later this spring.

Johnny got a $79 bicycle for his birthday and a $60 Sullivan Reading Program.

Which one will take him farther?

Every boy wants a bike for his birthday, but a reading program?

Well, if your child is having difficulty in school, maybe it's because his reading skills just aren't what they should be. It's no fun to fall behind.

If he's like many youngsters in the Sullivan Reading Program, he'll probably prefer an hour at one of our Reading Centers to five hours on his bicycle. Because, when he completes our program, he'll not only be able to read well, he'll have confidence in his ability to succeed.

Success is all part of the Sullivan Reading Center Concept. Our reading programs have been improving children's reading skills for years. In fact, more than five million school children are using the nationally acclaimed Sullivan Reading materials in learning how to read.

All Sullivan Reading Centers combine our proven instructional materials and the talents of highly trained reading specialists to provide supplemental reading instruction for school children at all levels.

Classes at the Center are small and each student receives individualized instruction. Each child's program is planned by the Director of the Center and is based on daily evaluation and testing. He'll work at his own pace and compete only with himself. He can come to the Center any day of the week and on Saturday morning. If he needs additional instruction during the four-week course to make sufficient progress, he's given the extra time at no additional cost. Initial testing and all materials used by the students are also included in the $60 fee for the course.

Ice Skating Leather Designer

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Pitts is six feet three and wears a rabbit costume at work, which naturally makes him the tallest rabbit in the world. When he is not working he puts on an easy fitting jump suit and designs and crafts leather clothing.

Pitts, 32, says he got into the leather business because of a fight with a computer after someone "sandwiched my car" on a thruway when he was in Los Angeles. During the five-week wait for the computer to decide which car parts he needed he walked around Hollywood window shopping.

The things that caught his eye were leather garments in the windows and when he went in to price them he was horrified to discover they cost a lot more than he throught they would. So he talked a dealer into selling him some splits wholesale and went to work himself, a split being a trade term for half a hide.

PITTS' FIRST customer was his daughter Marizza, 3, who had remained behind in Hollywood when his wife Anita went east to await the birth of another daughter, now 3 months and named Melanie. He made Marizza a miniskirt, a vest and a handbag, all fringed and decorated with Indian beads.

He was hooked at that point and fashioned himself a patriotic-looking cowboy costume which he calls a Captain America Easy Riders outfit, in red, white and blue. There is a blue vest with long white leather fringe, red and white beads and a couple of stars on the chest, sheriff style.

Pitts is a skater in the Ice Capades with a chimpanzee whose real name is Marvin but which goes by the stage name of Spanky. Pitts dons the White Rabbit costume for an Alice in Wonderland number and leads Spanky through such escapades as dizzying spins, leaping through a flaming hoop and skating nonchalantly along on one foot with the other leg raised in classical Olympic form.

HIS APPEARANCES on the ice are fairly brief and that leaves him a lot of spare time for designing leather wear. At 32 he considers himself getting a bit old for the rigors of ice skating and hopes when he retires to open a leatherwear shop in New York's Greenwich Village, the home of his wife who is a dancer in the show.

A lot of his production is frankly Unisex but then that is life in Greenwich Village. So far it includes fringed and beaded vests and such decorations as necklaces and bracelets, big leather belts decorated with such items as cinch rings from a saddle shop.

"We'd be in a funny farm if we didn't have something to do sitting around the hotel between performances," he said, "so we do a lot of doodling with the beads and things. The kids in the show freak out over such things as these chokers."

He held up a choker which was a combination of Indian beads intertwined with a leather thong and then showed up a six-inch wide belt made with concentric circles of metal rings which must have weighed 10 pounds.

Pitts takes his factory with him—a special razor knife which costs about 30 cents, some heavy duty thread and his imagination. There also is a heavy rubber matting for cutting and stacks of splits, some as soft as chamois.

This Snippy Woman Clips Men's Locks

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Get too close to Mary Phelan "doing her thing" at the University of Tulsa and she may use scissors on you. Or the razor.

Miss Phelan is the first woman barber on the TU campus, though she is not the only woman who has invaded the sanctuary of the once all-male barber shops in Tulsa.

She looks as if she belongs with the university's coeds rather than prompting quips from customers who find the men in the school's barber shop busy, only to be motioned to a seat by Miss Phelan.

"YOU'RE A barber, too?" an enthusiastic young man asked. "Hey, how about that."

Miss Phelan admits her chosen career amuses many but says she seldom has problems with a customer who doesn't want to put his locks at her mercy.

"I had one boy who hadn't had a haircut in two years," she said, "and all he wanted wasa trim."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Two More Valuable Rules To Add To Already Long List

Most bridge players spend hours learning "rules" that do them very little good. Rules are helpful to beginners, and if you enjoy memorizing stuff like "second hand low, third hand high" or cover an honor with an honor," I will not deprive you of your innocent tricks" and "never ask your partner to do what you can do for yourself.'' Both apply in toay's hand.

A LOW HEART

West led the king of hearts, and East signaled encouragement by playing the nine. West obediently continued with the queen of hearts, winning the second trick also.

West thought for quite awhile after winning the second trick, but all the thought in the world wouldn't have helped him. He finally switched to a club hoping that his partner had two tricks in that suit.

South took the ace of clubs and forced out the ace of trumps. East could do nothing to defeat the contract since South was sure to draw trumps and then take a successful finesse in diamonds.

DOUBLE FAILURE

East could have defeated the contract, but he failed to apply the two rules mentioned earlier. He needed four tricks to defeat four spades, and could expect to get two hearts and the ace of trumps. Where was the fourth trick?

A diamond ruff was the obvious answer, and East should have gone right after this trick rather than expect his partner to do all the work. East should overtake the king of hearts with the ace in order to return the singleton diamond.

ACE NECESSARY

When declarer leads a trump, East must step up at once with the ace of spades in order to lead a low heart. West is sure to win this trick since the opening lead indicates that he started with the king-queen of hearts. West then leads a dia-

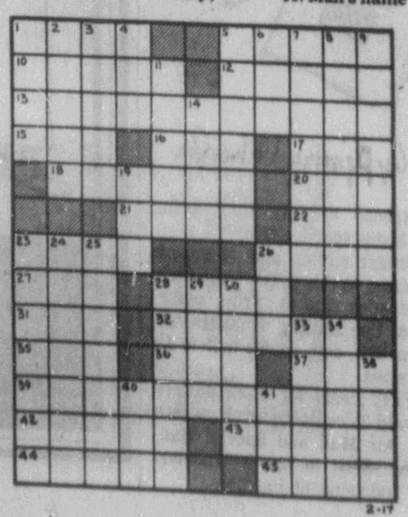
Yesterday's Answer



Expert To Study Police Services

A criminal justice coordinator will be hired for one year to make a study of consolidating police services in Marin County, the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

The move stemmed from renewed interest by several Marin cities in devising means to balance taxation for police protection in Marin.

They said it would apply for federal funds to help pay the coordinator.

John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator, estimated the total cost would be $25,000 for one year, with federal grants picking up $15,000 of the tab. Of the remaining $10,000, $5,000 will be in-kind contribution by the county in the form of services and supplies, leaving a net cost to the county of $5,000.

Supervisor John F. McInnis wanted to know why Marin officials couldn't do the study. Besides, said McInnis, unless the 11 cities and Marin County agree, police consolidation would be impossible.

"I'd far rather draw the cities together preliminarily and establish rapport," McInnis said. "Unless we have this rapport, it's better off not to spend one dollar."

Hiring of the coordinator was approved subject to allocation of federal funding and approval by the Council of Mayors and City Councilmen.

Barrows assured the supervisors that if the coordinator is hired, his job would end in one year, and no secretary would be hired. Both Louis H. Baar and McInnis said they feared hiring of the coordinator might start another bureaucratic empire.

The Marin Supervisors Also:

DRYDOCKS — Said drydocks moored off Sausalito eventually may have to be burned, but decided to wait another three months to see if the Army Corps of Engineers will remove them as navigational hazard.

BUSES — Meeting as the Marin Transit District board, gave approval to the state Division of Highways to study granting commuter buses exclusive highway right-of-way.

CULVERT — Authorized the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone to proceed with construction of a box culvert to relieve flooding near Edna McGuire School in the Alto Bowl. Mrs. Benjamin Wheeler of 84 Lomita Drive objected, charging the culvert would damage her property and cause more flooding.

COURTROOM — Authorized another $1,826 in engineering fees needed to prepare plans and specifications for repair of the Hall of Justice courtroom demolished in the Oct. 8 bombing. This is in addition to $14,200 which the architect will charge. Estimated cost of repair is $142,000.

COMMUNICATIONS — Approved rental of new space at 95 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael, for a maintenance facility for the County Communications Department. New rental is $336 per month, compared to $300 now paid for lease of space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard.

TERRA LINDA — Appointed Harold Reese and reappointed Robert Bennett to the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District board.

DATA PROCESSING — Authorized replacement of 11 International Business Machine keypunch machines with eight machines from Sperry Rand Corp. Total annual rental of the new machines will be $11,617, compared to $11,792 for the present equipment.

CLAIM — Rejected a $10 million claim filed by Dorothy Thiele of 1304 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, against the counties of Marin, San Mateo, San Diego, State of California, City of Corte Madera and others. She alleges that Marin and other public agencies illegally deprived her of custody of her son at various times.

POLICE RAID — Rejected a $35,000 claim by Toni Jossen, who said officers of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau broke into her home at 86 Wreden Avenue on Feb. 4, causing physical damage and extreme mental stress, all without a search warrant.

REEDRIDGE — Decided to extend for two years the validity of a tentative subdivision map for the 39-unit Reedridge Unit 1 subdivision above Bel Aire unless the Bel Aire Flood Control Zone can come up with assessment figures for Reedridge by March 30. The flood control zone wanted Reedridge to agree to an undetermined future assessment in exchange for extension of the tentative map.

RELIEF — Decided that for the remainder of the fiscal year, persons returning from Mendocino State Hospital who qualify will be eligible automatically for general relief for 30 days. Further extension would have to be approved by the supervisors.

PARKING — Decided tentatively to raise the fine on unauthorized parking in reserved spaces at the Civic Center from $1 to $2.

INSURANCE — Referred to McInnis a notice from U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co., that it will cancel insurance on McNears Beach buildings as of March 17. McInnis, an insurance agent, was directed to try to place the structures on the county's main fire insurance policy.

SAVING TREES BY GATHERING NEWSPRINT

David Stebins and Dennis Baldwin, two Survival members, unload newsprint. "Survival" volunteers collected an approximated seven tons of newsprint at the seven Marin public high school Saturday and Sunday for delivery to an Albany paper stock plant. During its first weekend of collecting recycleable materials the ecology group estimated its efforts saved 100 trees from paper mills.

Preserve Area Legality Questioned

A new low-density zoning district in Marin which would allow only one residence per 20 acres is probably illegal, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the board of supervisors yesterday. (Other supervisor stories, page 1.)

The legal shocker brought to a sudden halt the supervisors' intent to cut the county's agricultural preserve area to the 78,200 acres that are already under agricultural preserve contract. Under such a contract, rural landowners receive a tax break in return for keeping the land open for 10 years.

An additional 91,800 acres are within the agricultural preserve area but not under contract. The Marin County Planning Commission had recommended that this acreage be placed in a new zone designed designated as A-20, restricting the use to one residence per 20 acres.

"Our office has serious doubts about the legality of the A-20 zone on property outside of the agricultural preserve," said Maloney. He said he had not mentioned this to the planning commission earlier because the commissioners were proceeding on the assumption that the 91,800 acres would remain in the agricultural preserve, with the A-20 zone applied to that area.

But the moment the 91,800 acres is deleted from the agricultural preserve category, the A-20 zone application would be illegal, said Maloney. "If you impose A-20 on Bolinas or West Marin, it would be totally incompatible with existing master plans," the county counsel explained.

"I'm not prepared to shrink the preserve area today without a concomitant rezoning on the area that is to be deleted from the preserve," said Supervisor Michael Wornum. "I won't vote for shrinkage without some legal control over the area to be deleted."

On his suggestion, the supervisors continued the hearing on agricultural preserves until 3 p.m. April 27 and asked the planning commission to draw up some alternative to the A-20 zoning so that some density control could be retained over the area that will lose agricultural preserve status.

The postponement means that owners of the 91,800 acres that are not under preserve contract are still eligible to apply for a contract.

Ignacio Industrial Park Plan Approved

A master plan for the 250-acre Ignacio Industrial Park was approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday after a compromise was reached over public access to a 50-acre lagoon planned at the site.

It appeared at first that approval would be delayed when the supervisors, bowing to objections by Arnold M. Baptiste, supervisor from the district, voted 4-1 to send the plan back to the county planning commission for reconsideration.

Baptiste had criticized lack of public access to the lagoon, planned as a flood control ponding area. Baptiste noted that the lagoon would be under the jurisdiction of the Novato Flood Control Zone, a public agency, and therefore public access should be guaranteed.

Supervisor John F. McInnis, lone dissenter in the vote, feared that the county would be liable for damages if someone drowned in the lagoon.

After the vote, Carlos E. Gonzales, engineer for Marvin Soiland and Associates, developers of the industrial park, blurted that the action would doom the project.

But during a 15-minute recess, the developers agreed to a compromise, and Baptiste called for reconsideration of the earlier vote.

This agreement, which Soiland accepted, was approved by the board.

Public access would be granted to the ponding area with liability responsibility to be picked up by the county or some other public agency. Also, a creek and a grove of trees on a 10-acre parcel near the Marin Humane Society Building will be kept in its natural state until the first 100 acres of the industrial park is developed. During that time, the Humane Society or anyone else may purchase the 10-acre park for recreation or open space at the owner's cost ($25,000 plus taxes.)

The developers also agreed to meet Novato City Council requests that office use be limited to 18 acres closest to Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, instead of the 37 acres which the county planning commission had approved.

The industrial park is located north of Hamilton Air Force Base runway, to the south and east of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

Gonzalez said the industrial park would have minimum lots of 20,000 square feet and be patterned after Northgate Industrial Park.

Approval Granted To Triplex Plan

The Petaluma Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved the site design for a triplex at 47 Sixth Street.

Wilmer Klebe said he intended to convert the present Anderson Medical Building into apartments.

Hub Trustees Again Defer On Seeking Tax Rate Vote

The San Anselmo School District board last night again deferred action on whether to ask district taxpayers to vote an 80-cent increase in the district's operating tax rate.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the board did indicate, however, it would make a decision at its March 16 meeting.

In January, Lowry told the board the district is running at a $100,000 per year deficit spending rate and that unless new revenues are raised, the district will deplete its reserve next year.

"We can not continue to operate at the rate we are spending for very much longer," he said today. He added that the district has a choice of increasing revenues or cutting back on education programs.

The district's maximum operating tax rate now is $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. This year it levied a $2.06 operating tax, included in a total district tax rate of $3.25.

A decision on the proposed tax increase election was postponed last month so the board could get a better accounting of where the district's money has gone.

Lowry said last night's delay was because the board is continuing to investigate the possibility of increased state funds for fiscal 1971-72.

He ruled out the possibility of the election being consolidated with the April 20 election since about 90 days will be needed to prepare for the election should the board approve it.

Recreation Pact Finally Approved

A long-sought recreation agreement between the City of San Anselmo and the San Anselmo School District was approved last night by the district board.

The agreement, approved earlier this month by the city council, is for consolidation of recreation activities and joint use of the district's community service tax revenues.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said today the district board will maintain control of the funds through veto power of joint recreation programs.

The district has over several years accumulated about $14,500 in uncommitted community service tax revenues, Lowry said.

It receives about $20,000 per year from this tax, he said, adding that it needs about half that to operate existing district programs, leaving the balance available for the new joint program.

He said the two bodies, in signing the agreement, have also agreed to share facilities.

He said proposals for joint use of the funds include construction of tennis courts at Red Hill school. The courts could be used during school hours as a playground, and after school, weekends and during the summer for community recreation.

The city and district have been discussing the agreement since last summer in an effort to avoid duplication of recreation programs offered San Anselmo residents.

The board also authorized about $1,500 for improvement of the Brookside School playground, including installation of lunch tables and a sand area for kindergarten children.

Split Vote Nod On Mobile Homes

The Rohnert Park City Council last night gave split vote approval to development of a 250-unit mobile home park and then placed a six-month moratorium on further construction of this type.

Codding Enterprises had requested rezoning of land west of Highway 101 for the mobile home park. Developer Richard Codding told the council a swimming pool, recreation center and landscaping would be provided.

He told the council that 30 per cent of the units would be open to families with children, but said he didn't feel that many would move in.

The council questioned effect of the development on local schools, but Maurice Fredericks, a member of the Cotati School District Board, said district facilities easily could absorb additional students.

Mayor Vernon P. Smith and Councilman Warren K. Hopkins dissented in the vote.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the moratorium subsequently approved by the council would enable a study of mobile home park tax revenue.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

REZONING — Approved the request of Vernon Avila and Patrick Taylor to rezone land behind the Rohnert Park Shopping Center for apartments.

PARKING — Rejected a proposed ordinance that would require covered parking facilities at apartments.

EXPANSION — Approved the request of George Anderson to expand the manager's office and laundry building at apartments at 333 College View Avenue.

UNDERGROUND — Set a public hearing for March 15 at 7 p.m. on a proposed underground utility district at Adrian Drive and Southwest Boulevard.

SEWER — Took no action on the request of John Prior to extend sewer lines to serve property at Keiser Lane and Petaluma Hill Road on which he plans to build housing for Sonoma State College students. The council said it would study the possibility of lines to serve a larger area.

MEETINGS — Set a special meeting with Hillcrest Hospital directors for noon Monday at the hospital to discuss health care for Rohnert Park and scheduled an adjourned council meeting for Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Medical Clinic For Teens Is Suggested

A medical clinic for teenagers in Tamalpais Valley was suggested last night at a meeting of the Marin County Youth Commission.

Richard Pace, who directs the Resh Drop-In House at Shoreline Shopping Center, said he is willing to offer the drop-in facilities for use as a medical clinic to treat venereal disease and other health problems.

L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, said the youth commission will discuss the clinic idea again at the next regular meeting, at 8 p.m. March 2 at Marin General Hospital. Speakers at that meeting will be Philippa Denning-Kepm, County public health official, who will discuss "VD in Marin", and Thomas Knight, director of planned parenthood in Marin County.

Smith said the youths want a teen clinic for treatment, not only of venereal disease, but also other medical problems such as pregnancy, which some teen-agers find embarrassing to take to their parents or family physicians.

Head Sets Stolen From High School

Five educator head sets with voice microphones, valued at $200, were stolen from the language laboratory of San Rafael High School during the long holiday weekend, San Rafael police reported.

Police said the wire-enforced window of the laboratory in the Liberal Arts Wing had been cut.

Man Eats Butt, Charged Anyway

Michael Andrew Nail, 29, of 504 Pixie Trail, Mill Valley, was booked into Marin County Jail for $56 in San Francisco traffic warrants and for investigation of possessing marijuana and destroying evidence.

About noon yesterday Nail came to the California Highway Patrol's Corte Madera office to clear up a vehicle inspection violation and a check of his car revealed the outstanding warrants.

As he was being booked on the warrants, a routine search revealed a matchbox containing suspected loose marijuana and a partially-smoked cigarette.

Officers said Nail grabbed the cigarette and ate it, but the box contained enough residue for a charge to be made against him. He was freed on $750 bail to appear Friday in Marin Municipal Court.

Youths Booked; Burglary Probe

Three Marin youths were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall last night on suspicion of burglary after they were found behind the Sun Valley Market on Fifth Street, San Rafael, with allegedly stolen empty soda bottles.

San Rafael police said the shed behind the market where the bottles had been stored was pried open. Police found the youths at 11:30 p.m. with 58 bottles valued at $7.50 in their car.

Arrested were Frank J. Posey, 17, of 20 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael; Kenneth C. German, 16, of 51 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael; and Mildred N. Piver, 14, of 99A Wesson Lane, Fairfax.

Keith Kelly To Housing Deputy Post

Keith Kelly, executive director of the City of Vallejo's recreation district, has been named deputy director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, chosen from a field of 285 applicants.

The 44-year-old Kelly was selected for the $16,750-a-year post last night by the redevelopment agency board, according to Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd. The housing authority board voted to hire him last week, Shepherd said.

In the eight years he has been Vallejo's recreation director, Kelly has been involved in many redevelopment projects, according to Shepherd. He was active in executing Vallejo's Marina Development Project and recently completed a 97-acre park and large neighborhood center in the Solano County city.

"He is quite familiar with federal and state funding and has the kind of expertise which will enhance our redevelopment efforts greatly," Shepherd said. "In addition, Mr. Kelly has had experience working in multi-ethnic communities like Vallejo; he can deal with all kinds of people."

Before going to Vallejo, Kelly served seven years as director of parks and recreation in El Segundo, Los Angeles County and prior to that held a similar post in Visalia, Tulare County.

He holds a Bahcelor's degree in general and secondary education and an administrative credential, both from Fresno State College and a public administration credential from the University of Southern California.

In his new job Kelly will work closely with Shepherd in all aspects of housing and redevelopment.

He and his wife and four children live in Pinole, Contra Costa County, but plan to move to Marin in the near future.

Additions To Center Due Study

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a request to permit additional buildings at the Novato Fair Shopping Center, including a Walgreen Drug Store, at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

Architect Robert B. Liles, representing the center owners, Fifty Associates, is to present preliminary plans for two buildings, one to house the drug store and the other to provide space for four shops, both on the east side of the center along Highway 101.

The commission also is to hear an appeal from Samuel A. Harkleroad to permit relocation of his revolving round house, a Novato landmark visible from Highway 101, without being required to process a subdivision map.

Harkleroad contends that meeting subdivision requirements including a 40-foot road, curbs, gutters and sidewalks would be too costly and not suitable in the area.

A group of his neighbors is expected to protest the planning staff request that Harkleroad be required to furnish a subdivision map since he would be moving the round house to an area of his property already containing six other homes.

Hearing Today On Pot Charge

An 18-year-old Burlingame girl was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana after she was arrested by Sausalito police in Princess Park.

Officers said they saw a man and woman passing a hand-rolled cigarette between them about 5 p.m. and reported the woman, Vicki Louise Odell, threw the cigarette into the bay when she saw the officers.

She was freed on $625 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Burglary Case Goes To Juvenile Court

Burglary charges against Clifford E. Watkins and Albert Terribilini, 18, both of Petaluma, were transferred yesterday from Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to juvenile court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon noted that both youths still attended high school and that the juvenile court had agreed to take the cases. The youths were arrested on suspicion of the Jan. 8 burglary of Forsyth Tire Co., Petaluma.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Survey On High Blood Pressure Shows Drug Treatment Works

A random community study in Minnesota revealed that half the people with high blood pressure readings were unaware of it. In addition, half of those who knew they had hypertension had stopped taking their medicine. This is unfortunate but understandable.

It is unfortunate because we have drugs that lower the blood pressure. Furthermore, those receiving treatment have fewer complications and live longer than untreated sufferers. In a group of 73 drug treated hypertensives, only two developed complications. Seventy identical hypertensives were given an inert placebo and 27 had complications during the test period. In fact, the good results of treatment were so evident that the study was stopped to protect those in the untreated group.

IF TREATMENT is lifesaving, why do so many people with known hypertension refuse to cooperate with their physician? When the blood pressure goes up and remains high, it does not affect the feeling of well-being. The victim may not think it necessary to take his medication daily and to tolerate any side effects these pills may cause.

After weeks of treatment, he may not feel better or worse and in time loses interest in caring for his disease. It is difficult for him to appreciate the need for treating something that might happen to him in the future.

WHAT ARE THE complications of a sustained high blood pressure? There are several. First, the heart enlarges because it is forced to work harder. Secondly, the arteries thicken and become arteriosclerotic at an earlier age because of the wear and tear of years of hypertension. When the arteries are narrowed and hardened, circulation to the brain, heart, kidneys and other organs is curtailed. This leads to strokes, heart attacks, kidney and eye trouble. All of these can be prevented or delayed by cooperating with the physician.

LAST RESORT SURGERY

B. N. writes: Are brain operations still done on mental patients to relieve anxiety and depression?

REPLY

Yes, but only as a last resort. Drugs, shock treatment and institutional care are tried first. If these measures fail, surgery may be recommended. The operation does not cure but makes the individual easier to manage.

SCALP PSORIASIS

R. writes: Are applications of special ointments beneficial in psoriasis or the scalp?

REPLY

Yes, especially if the product contains a corticosteroid or coal tar. Most victims of psoriasis object to odoriferous or messy preparations for the scalp. A prescription tailor-made by your physician is best.

AFTER THE FACT

A. P. writes: Does a flu shot do any good after a person has the bug?

REPLY

No. It is like locking the barn door after the horse has escaped. Usually these injections are not advisable when a cold exists because reactions are more likely to occur at this time.

NO STARCH, NO ACIDS

R. A. writes: Would a diet free of acids and starches cure arthritis?

REPLY

No. Starch stiffens a shirt but eating the product does not have the same effect upon arthritic joints. Eat a normal diet, unless your arthritis is of the gouty type.

Approval To Sewer Bid In Inverness

Directors of the North Marin County Water District last night approved proceeding toward formation of an improvement district to provide sewage facilities to 20 parcels of land in northwest Inverness.

Dist. Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill said the properties are owned by Inverness Properties Inc. and Larry Marks, who have requested formation of a district. No election will be needed, Churchill said.

The next step, Churchill said, will be for the board to pass a resolution of intention to form the district, and public hearings will be held.

Directors also approved a $2,000 study to determine the cost of providing the service, with director George A. Amaroli dissenting. Amaroli wanted property owners to pay the cost of the study at the outset, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

AGREEMENT — Agreed to construct a water distribution system for Rancho Village Unit 10, a 34-lot subdivision, at Adams and Hayes streets, with the developer, Crown Development Co. to pay the $19,850 cost.

SOUTH AMERICA — Authorized Churchill to visit Guiana in South America as a consultant for the World Health Organization for two weeks starting March 29.

NEXT MEETING — Scheduled their next meeting for 8 p.m. March 3 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, instead of the regularly scheduled date of March 2.

GREENING VII

New Revolution On The Horizon

By CHARLES REICH
(Seventh and last in a series)

There is a revolution coming. It will not be like revolutions of the past. It will originate with the individual and with culture, and it will change the political structure only as its final act. It will not require violence to succeed, and it cannot be successfully resisted by violence. It is now spreading with amazing rapidity, and already our laws, institutions and social structure are changing in consequence. It promises a higher reason, a more human community, and a new and liberated individual. Its ultimate creation will be a new and enduring wholeness and beauty — a renewed relationship of man to himself, to other men, to society, to nature, and to the land.

This is the revolution of the new generation. Their protest and rebellion, their culture, clothes, music, drugs, ways of thought, and liberated life-style are not a passing fad or a form of dissent and refusal, nor are they in any sense irrational. The whole emerging pattern, from ideals to campus demonstrations to beads and bell bottoms to the Woodstock Festival, makes sense and is part of a consistent philosophy. It is both necessary and inevitable, and in time it will include not only youth, but all people in America.

Any discussion of the means of change must start with a recognition that our present course, including nearly a century of liberal and radical struggles by orthodox means, has brought us to the brink of an authoritarian or police state.

One of the most clearly marked trends for over 20 years has been the decline in civil liberties. The condition of the Bill of Rights cannot accurately be measured by Supreme Court decisions; the real situation depends upon surveillance and arrest procedures, attitudes of public and private employers, the scope of free discussion on television and in the press, and other factors embedded deeply in the day-to-day working of society.

It is only by change in individual lives that we can seize power from the state.

We have shown that the corporate state runs by means of a willing producer, who desires status, and a willing consumer, who desires what the state makes him want. Now all we have to do is close our eyes and imagine that everyone has become a Consciousness III: the corporate state vanishes. It can no longer sell people things to satisfy any but real needs, which means that the consumer has regained power over what is produced.

The revolution must be cultural. For culture controls the economic and political machine, not vice versa. Consider production. Now the machinery turns out what it pleases and forces people to buy. But if the culture changes, the machine has no choice but to comply.

Culture is the substantive part of society. Thus social change, instead of beginning at the palace, comes up from below. The law and the government are not the first things to be changed, they are the last. Should Consciousness III sweep the country, the federal government could simply be ignored until it became completely isolated from the people of the nation, and had no choice but to change. At that point, the President would have to don bell bottoms and a dirty T-shirt and go looking for his constituents.

We think that both the liberal and the SDS theories of how to bring about change in America are wrong. The liberals (the true liberals, that is, not the Establishment liberals) see change coming only after a massive effort at organizing: an effort directed at politics and law. We think that such an effort, even if it elected a President and a Congress, and appointed a majority of the Supreme Court, would end as the New Deal ended, with reforms that proved illusory. SDS and other believers in class struggle would engage in a hopeless head-on fight against a machine that could work for them instead, and against people who could be their allies instead of their seeming enemies.

Where the students were able to influence a way of life directly, they had great success, even though they failed to have any effect at all on structure. This is true in the case of marijuana. Efforts to get criminal penalties repealed have made little headway and, in contrast, the actual use of marijuana has spread irresistibly. It is almost everywhere in some colleges, it has spread to many high schools, it is popular with many city dwellers, rich and poor, it is reportedly nearly universal among G.I.'s in the army, and it is frequently used by the sons and daughters of men prominently and publicly opposed to its use. All of this without a single line of advertising, and over the opposition not only of the law but also of the mass media.

In areas of culture not regulated by law, such as music, haircuts, clothes, and, to some extent, life-styles, the students have swept all before them. Long hair, for example, has crossed all barriers.

What we have been observing is the development of a new freedom — not freedom of speech, but freedom of consciousness.

Control of the corporate state lies at the level of consciousness.

If we think of all that is now challenged — the nature of education, the very validity of institutionalism and the legal system, the nature and purposes of work, the course of man's dealing with environment, the relationship of self to technology and society — we can see that the present transformation goes beyond anything in modern history. Beside it, a mere revolution, such as the French or the Russian, seems inconsequential — a shift in the base of power.

Consciousness III must create a culture that knows how and when to use technology, a culture that is not plastic or artificial but guides and uses technology in pursuit of values that are derived from human sources.

Of all the many ways of life known to history, Consciousness III seems the closest to valuing life for its own sake. Almost always, men have lived subject to rigid custom, to religion, to an economic theory of political ideology. Consciousness III seeks freedom from all of these. It declares that life is prior to all of them. It does not try to reduce or simplify man's complexity, or the complexity of nature. It values the present, not the past, the future, or some abstract doctrine of mythical heaven. It says that what is meaningful, what endures, is no more nor less than the total experience of life.

We have all known the loneliness, the emptiness, the plastic isolation of contemporary America. Our forebears came thousands of miles for the promise of a better life. Now there is a new promise. Shall we not seize it? Shall we not be pioneers once more, since luck and fortune have given us a vision of hope?

Financial Outlook Is Held Gloomy

Novato Unified School District trustees last night faced a gloomy financial outlook for the 1971-72 school year and the possibility of cutting the high school teaching staff.

Eugene F. DeBrecht, assistant superintendent for business, presented the first tentative draft of a 1971-72 budget totaling $9,943,702.

Supt. James G. Bunker said the draft including normal salary increments for the present staff was "obviously inoperative" because it would reduce the undistributed reserve to $8,075.

With salaries comprising 84 per cent of the budget, the only way "significant cuts can be made is in personnel," Bunker said.

If the elementary teaching staff is cut resulting in larger class sizes the district suffers financial penalties, and that leaves only the high school staff for cutting, he explained.

Ironically, the elementary enrollment is expected to drop, while the high school enrollment is expected to increase.

If teachers are to be dropped, they have to be notified by March 15, Bunker said.

Overall, Bunker expected that elementary teachers would be needed in the next school year, but four more high school teachers.

The district's current tax rate is $5.355 per $100 assessed valuation, and Bunker said he couldn't predict what it might be in 1971-72.

Override Tax Is Asked For Projects

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission has proposed that the city establish an override tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance a five-year capital improvement program.

Director Edward W. Adams said commissioners voted Monday night to request the override tax and ask the staff to report on proposed projects, costs and timetable.

Commissioners also recommended, as part of the program that the city buy the San Marin Club, which is now out of operation, for use as a community center.

The club was offered to the city for $295,000 in early 1969, but turned down by the city council.

Adams estimated the proposed override tax would bring about $1 million in revenue over a five year period.

Projects under consideration for the five-year program are minimum development of Pioneer Memorial Park, estimated at $100,000; Novato Creek Park, $112,000; Oliva property, $20,000; San Marin Park, $87,500; Seventh Street tank site, $35,000, and Marin Highlands, $2,500.

Development of playgrounds at Olive School, $56,000; Lynwood School, $50,000; Pleasant Valley School, $47,000, and Marion School, $50,000.

Commissioners also approved operating school playgrounds on Saturdays for the remainder of the school year at a cost of $2,500, Adams said.

Priests Can Talk On War; Not In Pulpit

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)— Priests have a right to speak against the war in Indochina, but not from their pulpits, according to a Roman Catholic bishop.

"This is a serious moral issue. The silence of church leaders on Vietnam is really scandalous," said Most Rev. Bernard M. Kelly, auxiliary bishop of the Providence diocese.

Kelly's statements came after about 65 parishioners walked out in protest at Our Lady of Mercy Church in East Greenwich when a guest priest called on the congregation in a sermon to resist the draft. The appeal was made by Rev. Raymond L. Tetreault, diocesan director of the Latin American Apostolate.

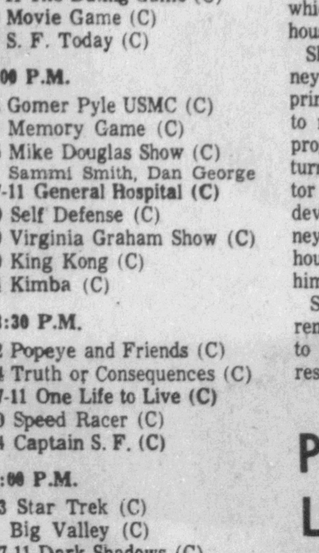
Trial Is Set In Pot Case

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for June 24 for Antoinette Bruno, 22, of Sebastapol, charged with possession of marijuana and petty theft.

The marijuana charge was reduced to a misdemeanor yesterday by Judge David Menary Jr. at the request of the district attorney's office.

She was arrested Jan. 28 after an alleged shoplifting attempt at the Emporium at Northgate.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES



"She's home. I hear canned laughter."

Kennedy Portraits In Official Spots

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The portraits of President John F. Kennedy and his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, have been officially placed in the White House.

The full-length canvas of the former first lady was hung on the left side of the diplomatic reception room on the ground floor where a portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt used to hang. The portrait of the late President was placed on a wall in the green room, replacing a Claude Monet work, "Morning on the Seine," which was a gift of the Kennedy family.

Lon Nol Makes Steady Progress

HONOLULU (UPI) —Cambodian Prime Minister Lon Nol has made steady progress in his recuperation from a stroke, according to his doctors at a U.S. military hospital.

The 58-year-old ruler has been receiving two daily sessions of therapy at Tripler General Hospital, where he was admitted last weekend.

Grant For Low Cost Housing

A $1,039,955 grant to provide 56 units of low cost housing for the elderly in Tiburon has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Sen. Alan Cranston's office announced today.

Construction of the units will begin immediately, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

The studio and one-bedroom apartments will be built on Tiburon Boulevard near the Tiburon Wye, he said. Mill Valley contractor Charles Miltner will construct the development which is part of the "turnkey" housing program.

Shepherd said the federal money, which will provide both principal and interest, will go to reimburse Miltner once the project is completed. Under the turnkey program, the contractor buys the land and builds the development with his own money, then turns it over to the housing authority which pays him at that time.

Shepherd said the units will rent for varying rates, but not to exceed 25 per cent of the residents's income.

Panel Ends Lucky Road Sewer Fuss

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night, in six resolutions, formally created a special assessment district for installation of a sewer system along Lucky Road.

The action ends years of fighting among residents and the sanitary district over installation of the system.

Formation of the assessment district came with board acceptance of a $38,447 bid from Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for installation of the system.

Six bids were received for the project with a high of $77,777 submitted by McGuire and Hester of Oakland. The district engineer had estimated the project at about $47,000.

Property owners will pay about $2,400 per lot for the system.

Consideration of the project began in August when the board approved annexation of the area following years of disagreement with property owners.

A Suspended Professor Holds A Class

STANFORD (UPI) — H. Bruce Franklin, a suspended professor, held a class anyway Tuesday at Stanford University.

Franklin, 33, is an avowed revolutionary Maoist who was suspended with pay last Friday because of his campus activities.

University actions initiated against him allege he led students who booed U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge from a university stage and also made an inflammatory speech to an anti-war demonstration on the campus.

While teaching his "American Literature of the 1930s" course after the suspension, Franklin extolled Edgar Snow's "Red Star Over China" as "one of the greatest works of the period."

He also described the Chinese revolution as "the greatest event in human history."

Round One On Police Merger Set

A joint Tiburon-Belvedere committee to study the implications of merging police operations in the two cities will hold its first meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Belvedere City Hall.

John D. Morgan, police chief in Campbell, Santa Clara County, will report to the committee on efforts to merge police departments in Campbell and Los Gatos.

The committee will seek to determine if consolidation is desirable and, if so, under what conditions.

Cochairmen of the committee are Belvedere Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel and Belvedere resident Donald W. Davis. Other Belvedere members are Councilman Thomas S. Price and residents Willard Anderson, Sanford O. Anixter and Thomas Fleming Jr.

Tiburon members are Mayor Denis T. Rice, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood and residents Jack P. Kampmeyer, Ned North, Michael Cavanagh and Blenda Shelby.

Happy Mother's Day!

If you're a mom and you'd like to make your day a little richer this year, tell the kids about some of the mother's things they can get with Blue Chip Stamps.

Pretty sheets and towels. And hair dryers. And electric kitchen things that make the work a little easier, all come a lot easier with Blue Chips instead of money.

And if you're not quite a mom, but you're working on it, make sure you do your grocery shopping where you get stamps. Because if you start saving early, you'll have a crib waiting when it comes time to fill it.

It pays to shop where you get them.

Interest Rates On Homes Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interest rates on home loans insured by the federal government were reduced today by one-half of one per cent to 7 per cent—the third such cut in as many months.

Affected are mortgages insured by both the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration. Covered are not only home purchases but also FHA mortgages on apartment developments and other housing.

Announcement of the reduction was made by Housing Secretary George W. Romney and Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veteran affairs.

The effective date of the change is Thursday, Feb. 18—that is, the cut applies on applications received after today.

Romney's office said that outstanding commitments for insurance would continue to be honored at their original interest rate.

However, the announcement said various federal offices involved in mortgage loans "have been instructed to negotiate with lenders to seek reductions in the interest rate on subsidized mortgages to the new lower rate regardless of the rate of the original commitment."

The new rate is the lowest in more than two years for government-backed mortgages. The rate rose from 6 3-4 to 7 1-2 per cent on Jan. 23, 1969, on its way to the all-time high of 8 1-2 —per cent—imposed Jan. 4, 1970—which prevailed for most of last year.

From the high mark, the ceiling was cut to 8 per cent last Dec. 1 and to 7 1-2 per cent on Jan. 12.

Romney hinted that at the lower ceiling, many lenders might increase the "points" they charge in addition to the set interest rate.

He said the 7 per cent ceiling "may be just ahead of current conditions in the corporate bond markets, but with the mortgage lending institutions becoming increasingly flush with funds, it will not be long before the new ceiling is fully vindicated."

The government does not make direct loans. The FHA and VA assure that borrowers will repay loans made by private lenders. In the event of a default, the government makes up the lender's loss.

FEELING HIS CHEERIOS — A Marin County Sheriff's deputy handles the hollowed-out grapefruit and clock which a San Anselmo man attempted to smuggle into the Civic Center. The "Cheerio" model timepiece was among bomb-like components conviscated by deputies yesterday. (Independent-Journal photos)

Try To Break Bomb Security Uncovered

Civic Center Detector Foils Skeptic's Stunt

A 32-year-old San Anselmo man tested security at the Marin County Civic Center yesterday.

Security passed with flying colors. Michael Lee Humphrey failed. He landed in jail.

Humphrey of 50 Rosemont Avenue was arrested when he attempted to smuggle what appeared to be bomb components into the administration building. His materials included a clock hidden in a grapefruit; a gray putty-like substance resembling plastic explosive in a hollowed-out book, a double strand of wire in his boot and an alligator clip and spring in his pocket.

The self-employed maintenance man, who took the day off work for his experiment, later told sheriff's deputies that he only wanted to test security at the building.

He was booked on suspicion of falsely reporting an emergency.

"I thought security wasn't as secure as it was supposed to be," he told Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court, "So I decided to conduct a little test of my own."

"You got the answer," Smith replied as he denied Humphrey's request to be released on his own recognizance. Humphrey later posted $625 bail to appear in Municipal Court today.

The blond and bearded Humphrey said he had picked yesterday to test deputies' alertness, because the county supervisors had scheduled a discussion of security measures and whether to reopen the Civic Center to public gatherings in the evenings.

He planned, he said, a dramatic appearance before the supervisors, and the assembled public and press, placing before them the makings of his sham bomb and proving to all how easy it would be to smuggle in the real thing.

Sheriff's officials said that Humphrey had called them several weeks ago, indicating his lack of faith in security measures and saying he wanted to test them.

He was advised against making such a test, and upon his arrest said he wished he had listened to the advice.

He was caught when he walked through a metal detector at the main entrance to the building carrying a copy of "Ireland: Past and Present" and what appeared to be a lunch bag.

When the metal detector reacted, deputies who searched him found the putty-like material, which turned out to be nonexplosive, in the book and a "Cheerio" model clock in a carved out grapefruit in the bag.

Security at the Civic Center has been tight since the Aug. 7 shoot-out.

U.S. Field Posts Near Khe Sahn Hit

SAIGON (UPI)—Heavy fighting flared today in the mountain jungles northeast of the U.S. airstrip at Khe Sanh and U.S. fighter-bombers flew through lowering clouds to bomb North Vietnamese artillery shelling U.S. positions. American reinforcements were rushed to the scene.

The situation was fluid and confused and it was not clear whether the American units just below the Demilitarized Zone were surrounded by North Vietnamese units infiltrating through the DMZ. But the Communists kept up heavy pressure and shot down another U.S. helicopter today.

—The American units involved were part of the 9,000-man force in the northwest corner of South Vietnam to back the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos. The South Vietnamese themselves ran into heavy fighting and reported two battles west of the border post of Lang Vei.

Front dispatches said five Americans were wounded in today's action, bringing the American toll since start of the operation to 38 killed, 86 wounded and three missing. Front dispatches said 12 Americans were killed Tueday and today.

North Vietnam broadcast a series of victory claims and said they had inflicted "more and more blows" on the Americans. They reported shooting down 29 aircraft in this area, destroying 95 vehicles in ambushes on Route 9 which parallels the DMZ into Laos and killing, wounding or capturing "a great number of soldiers of the American-Saigon troops."

Dispatches from Quang Tri said Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps jets along with Australian B57 bombers carried out at least 18 air strikes today at the Communist artillery. The reports said an army UH1 Huey helicopter was shot down there this afternoon but the crew was rescued.

Security Lid Will Be Lifted

The Marin Civic Center Administration Building will be reopened for limited evening use in about one month.

The board of supervisors yesterday hired four extra sheriff's deputies to provide evening security to keep the county library open until 9 p.m. and to permit evening meetings, but only until 10 p.m.

The Administration Building and the adjoining Hall of Justice — which would remain closed at night under the board's plans — have been shut at night since October. The action was taken after the bombing in the Superior Courtroom and the August Hall of Justice shoot-out.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the night meetings would be permitted probably by March 15, depending on when the added deputies could be hired and trained.

The new deputies will mean an additional $13,680 cost to the county until the end of this fiscal year. A male and a female deputy will guard the sole entrance to the Administration Building, and two others will patrol the interior and keep an eye on the outside parking areas.

Supervisor Michael Wornum wanted to cut the new deputies to three, saying it would only be necessary to station one person inside because of screening at the entrance.

Wornum said three men should try it for a month, and if another man is needed, he could be added then. But Wornum was outvoted 4 to 1 by his colleagues.

Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste said the entire subject of security should be re-evaluated soon to see where security could be lifted and where it must be continued.

HOLLOWED BOOK — A copy of "Ireland: Past and Present" draws unfavorable reviews from Marin sheriff's deputies. The book, which contained a putty-like substance, was termed something less than explosive by deputies acting as critics yesterday.

Calley Decision: A Muddled One?

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A psychiatrist testified today that "in view of the pushing that was coming from above" and stresses of a combat situation, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was unable to determine whether orders to kill civilians at My Lai were legal or illegal.

Dr. David G. Crane, 34, of Indianapolis, a veteran hospital staff member and assistant psychiatry professor at Indianapolis University, was called with the Calley court-martial jury absent to express his expert opinion.

The move was part of a defense effort to get before the court the views of three psychiatrists as to Calley's diminished mental capacity when he led his platoon during a search-and-destroy sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet on March 16, 1968.

Calley is accused of slaying, or ordering the slaying, of 102 Vietnamese civilians during the infantry sweep.

Crane testified on the basis of knowledge gained in treating large numbers of Vietnam combat veterans in that country up to six months before the My Lai incident.

"There was an all pervading tension and anxiety among officers and men," Crane said.

He testified that because of Calley's impaired "decision making process" during the four-hour action, he was not able to "contrive or plan" (premeditate) killing, to kill persons without justification, to determine the legality of orders given by Capt. Ernest L. Medina, or to form the specific intent to kill.

Nineteen government witnesses have testified that the night prior to the My Lai operation Medina, as company commander, ordered the village destroyed and the inhabitants killed.

"In view of the pushing that was coming from above, Lt. Calley was not going to be considering much of anything except act and do," Crane told George W. Latimer, the chief defense attorney.

"Also there were the basic underlying stresses existing in that individual at that time."

Under cross examination by Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor, Crane said that Calley's mental ability was "impaired to at least a mild to moderate degree—his ability to

$40 Billion Debt Ceiling Hike Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked Congress today to raise the national debt ceiling by $40 billion to a new record high of $435 billion so the government can keep paying its bills.

Connally, in his first appearance as the only Democrat in the Nixon Cabinet, told the House Ways and Means Committee the national debt would rise to within $1 billion of the present $395 billion limit late this month.

Latest Treasury figures showed that as of Feb. 11, the public debt stood at $391.5 billion, a rise of nearly $20 billion in a year. The debt is expected to rise until the government begins collecting its 1970 income taxes.

Connally also defended President Nixon's anticipated budget deficit of $18.6 billion this fiscal year and $11.6 billion for fiscal 1972 which begins July 1.

He said that as the economy expands, "it is vitally important that our deficits be reduced in size and eliminated ... in existing economic circumstances, with too much unemployment and unused capacity, the anticipated deficits seem to me fully consistent with sound and prudent financial planning."

He said the nation should expect deficits to help the "sluggishness in the economy."

Connally was joined by George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, in urging a debt ceiling of $435 billion through July 1, 1972.

School Board Candidate Barred From April Ballot

James Lamantia, one of nine candidates for three openings on the San Rafael Board of Education, has been refused inclusion on the April 20 ballot for lack of sufficient residency, but said today he will appeal to Marin Superior Court.

Lamantia, an appraiser who lives at 115 Humboldt Street, moved back to San Rafael about 18 months ago after a period of residence in Yolo County. He formerly resided for six years in San Rafael.

Because the city charter requires three years residence preceding the election date, City Clerk Marion Grady refused to certify Lamantia's name for the ballot.

Lamantia said he plans a court appeal based on a decision of the District Court of Appeal for the Third Appellate District last November which held void a five-year residency requirement for city council candidates in Sacramento.

That resulted from an appeal by Howard Lawrence from refusal by the Sacramento city clerk to place his name on the ballot. The appellate court held the five-year requirement "is excessive and arbitrary and violates the 14th Amendment" and "is not justified by any compelling governmental interest." It ruled that in the absence of a reasonable residency requirement in the charter, the

Telephone Company Office Bombed

SEATTLE (UPI)—A bomb exploded at the Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co. building here early today, causing an estimated $5,000 to $10,000 damage.

Police said a security guard who was inside the building at the time of the explosion at 4 a.m. ran outside in time to see someone fleeing the scene.

Wage-Price Rein Decision Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon postponed a decision today on imposing possible wage and price control actions in the construction industry and ordered Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to keep trying for a voluntary agreement.

Nixon's Construction Industry Collective Bargaining Commission headed by Hodgson had been scheduled to report to Nixon today on recommendations for curbing spiraling costs in the construction industry.

Nixon met with Hodgson instead of receiving the report

Czech Colonel, Sons Jailed In Hijacking

VIENNA (UPI)—A former Czechoslovak army colonel and his two sons were sentenced to prison today for hijacking an airliner to Austria Aug. 8 with 27 passengers aboard.

Vladimir Rehak, 43, received a 15-month term and his sons, Jaromir, 21, and Vladimir, 19, one year each after they pleaded political persecution as a motive.

Supervisors Back Antiwar Legislation

By LARRY MOWELL

A threatened deadlock by the Marin County Board of Supervisors on antiwar state legislation was broken unexpectedly yesterday by a supervisor who had said he would abstain. (See other supervisor stories, page 27.)

Arnold M. Baptiste drew prolonged applause from the approximately 100 spectators when he said, "I have had an indication here that two supervisors will not support this bill. Therefore, I am going to vote for it."

His vote, although the first cast, made it clear the supervisors would endorse Assembly Bill 233 that would make it illegal for Californians to fight in undeclared wars. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. earlier had said they would vote to back the bill.

However, chairman Louis H. Baar and John F. McInnis made it equally clear they would oppose taking a stand so Baptiste reversed himself.

The supervisor, who represents Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base, had earlier said that although he opposed the war, he would abstain because voters in his district had voted in November against Proposition A.

The measure, calling for U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia by June 30, passed countywide with a 54 per cent approval.

The Marin Alternative Peace Task Force asked yesterday for endorsement of Assembly Bill 233, authored by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-Campbell. The bill is co-sponsored by Wil-

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Nixon On Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon Tuesday told 2,500 American legionnaires that last spring's allied drive into Cambodia gave the South Vietnamese army enough confidence to attempt its current operation in Laos.

Nixon made his first public statement of the Laotian campaign in his brief reference at the legion meeting to South Vietnamese forces.

Speaking without notes for 10 minutes, the President praised the veteran's organization for supporting him at the time of the Cambodian operation in 1970.

"At a time when it would be easy not to stand up, the American Legion did stand up, and I am grateful," Nixon said.

A Show Champ

NEW YORK (UPI)—A frisky English springer spaniel who pulled his handler off his feet in preliminary judging was named best dog Tuesday night at the Westminster Kennel Club show.

The winner was Ch. Chinoe's Adamant James, called simply D. J. by his owner, Dr. Milton J. Prickett, a veterinarian from Lexington, Ky. D.J. won the affection of a crowd of 10,000 at Madison Square Garden an hour before the finals of the two-day event when he was named best dog in the sporting group despite his handler's mishaps.

Clint Harris, who was leading the 2 1-2-year-old liver-and-white dog through his paces in the show ring, first stumbled and fell. A minute later, as Harris began to lead the springer toward the judge, the leash slipped off D.J.'s head and the dog galloped toward the exit. The audience roared with pleasure when Chinoe's Adamant James was qualified for the finals and cheered each move in the final judging.

Troop Security

ANKARA (UPI)—U.S. authorities today imposed strict security measures on 14,000 U.S. servicemen and their families in Turkey in an effort to head off further anti-American violence.

The action followed Monday's incident in which an Air Force enlisted man, was abducted at gunpoint, held for almost 17 hours and then released. Officials said it was the first kidnaping of an American in Turkey.

Air Force Airman 1st class James Ray Finley, 26, of Fort Worth, Tex., was kidnapped yesterday. He had arrived three months earlier to take up duties as a special law enforcement agent at the Balgat compound about 10 miles west of Ankara.

Jane To Tour

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jane Fonda, actress and antiwar activist, announced plans Tuesday for a new entertainment tour of Army bases which she said would present the shows soldiers want to see and cut into comedian Bob Hope's "corner on the market."

Miss Fonda, the daughter of actor Henry Fonda, said the new troupe, called the United States Servicemen's Fund (USSF), would test the Army's liberalization policies.

"It is disturbing that Bob Hope, Martha Raye and company seem to have a corner on the market in speaking to soldiers in the country and Vietnam," she said. "The time has come for entertainers who take a different view on the war to reach the soldiers."

Urges Pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, today called for federal approval of the controversial Alaska oil pipeline by Sept. 1, and said the pipeline company should be held liable for any resulting damage to the environment.

Gravel's call for quick approval contrasted sharply with testimony from conservationists who said the $1 billion project should be dropped or at least restudied in detail to make sure the pipeline would not impair the virgin arctic environment.

Gravel's remarks were in testimony prepared for the second day of Interior Department hearings on the pipeline, which would carry oil from Alaska's rich North Slope south of Valdez for shipment by tanker to the West Coast of the United States.

More hearings are scheduled Feb. 24 to 25 in Anchorage.

PX Probe Launched In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee today launched a public inquiry into alleged corruption in the $3 billion, worldwide department store operation run by the Defense Department.

"The subcommittee will examine allegations of corruption, mismanagement and waste" in post exchanges (PXs), officer and enlisted mens clubs, locker clubs, bowling alleys, theaters and other activities operated with nongovernment money, said Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting chairman.

The inquiry also will include allegations, and in some cases reported evidence, of bribery, kickbacks and payoffs touching some of America's largest liquor and tobacco companies on the one hand, and high military and civilian officials on the other, he said.

Lunar Navigation Tricky, Pair Says

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14's moon explorers have warned the next Apollo crew to be wary of the tricks the barren, hilly landscape can play on their ability to navigate between lunar landmarks.

That was one of the key points Alan B. Shepard, Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa made Tuesday in a day-long briefing for Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin. Apollo 15 is set for launch to the moon July 25.

Today the Apollo 14 astronauts planned to tell project officials about their pathfinding, nine-day mission to the hilly lunar uplands.

The problem of finding specific places of interest when walking the moon became even more apparent Tuesday when two scientists reported that Shepard and Mitchell were so fooled by the terrain they turned back within 160 feet of a crater that was their key objective.

"The irony is that if they had gone on, possibly no more than 25 to 50 meters (80 to 160 feet), they would have been right on the rim," said Dr. Robin P. Brett, vice chairman of the team making a preliminary analysis of Apollo 14's rock samples.

Brett and Dr. Everett Gibson reached that conclusion after discussing the lunar hike with Mitchell and examining photographs he and Shepard took on their hike up a 400-foot ridge capped by a deep hole called Cone Crater.

"As they said, it would be nice to have a tree or something around so you could get an idea of scale," Brett said.

Dragnet Out In Slayings

DALLAS (UPI) — Officers seeking Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, one of two brothers charged with the execution style murder of three sheriff's deputies said today they hoped the fugitive would start running —if he still is in Dallas.

"We hope he starts running because a running rabbit is easier to catch than one still in his hole," chief sheriff's deputy Allan Sweatt said.

Sweatt said crews of deputies and other officers had sought Guzman throughout the night and that new crews took up the search today.

"He may still be holed up in Dallas and he may have left town. But we can't afford to take any chances," Sweatt said.

Moises Zuniga Guzman, 35, Rene's brother, also was charged with the murders. Relatives said Rene, an ex-convict, is a "mean man."

Mosies Guzman was arrested Monday night within hours of the shootings. A statewide search was under way for Rene Guzman.

"He's thinks he's Al Capone," one of Rene's relatives said when the murder charges were filed against the younger brother about midnight Monday before a justice of the peace.

The Guzman brothers were accused of forcing five deputies, three from Dallas County and two from neighboring Ellis County, to drive to a secluded spot in the Trinity River bottoms where they allegedly planned to execute all of them. Three deputies were executed, one was wounded and the fifth escaped without injury.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones said Tuesday his staff "definitely can place" the Guzman brothers in the automobile that took the officers to the spot.

The officers were investigating a burglary charge filed in Ellis County. They were disarmed and bound inside a house in West Dallas and driven to the spot where the three were killed in an automobile belonging to the Ellis County sheriff's department.

"We know that these two men (the Guzman brothers) were in the house and we know that they drove the officers to the place of the shooting," Jones said.

The search for Rene was concentrated in both Dallas and along the Mexican border where every motorist was stopped and questioned early today.

Sheriff A.B. Nail of Reeves County in south Texas said the entire border has been "shut down tight."

Industry Has A 'Slow Start'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Industrial production remained sluggish in January except for a spurt in the output of new cars following the two-month auto strike —indicating a slow start for the "good year" President Nixon has predicted for 1971.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Tuesday its industrial production index rose 0.7 per cent last month as a result of sharp increases in auto and auto-supplying industries. The output of other factories, mines and public utilities was virtually unchanged.

In a related development, the Commerce Department reported the nation's chronic balance of payments deficit was $3.9 billion last year, only about half the record $7 billion recorded in 1969.

The Industrial Production Index, closely watched by economists as one of the most accurate barometers of economic activity, was 2 per cent below the pre-auto strike level and 5.4 per cent below the peak recorded in July, 1969.

The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors, Sept. 14 to Nov. 23, aggravated a year-long slide in industrial output. The index advanced 1.5 per cent in December before January's .7 per cent increase. But in both months, the increase was confined to autos.

Nixon has said his economic policies are designed to make 1971 a good year and 1972 a very good year.

The balance of payments report showed that dollars continue to flow overseas as a result of military spending, tourist expenditures, international stock trades and other transactions. Exports exceeded imports by $2.2 billion last year, offsetting some of the deficit from other dealings.

Condemned School Building List Grows

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The city board of education has added 11 school buildings, which normally house 20,000 students, to the growing list of more than 1,000 dwellings condemned because of damage from the devastating Los Angeles earthquake.

The affected students in the district, second largest in the nation behind New York City, will be on half-day or extended session and bused in some cases to other schools for the rest of the school year.

The board also proposed a $209 million emergency construction program which would include all repairs, rebuilding and strenghtening of pre-1933 buildings to bring them into conformity with existing quake-resistance standards.

The board also reported that 35 schools, including those closed, sustained "major structural damage" and 28 schools suffered "major nonstructural damage."

Alioto Puzzled By Antitrust Probe

SEATTLE (UPI)—San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto told reporters today he doesn't understand why a federal grand jury is investigating his sharing of fees from an anti-trust case with two former Washington state officials.

Alioto called a news conference shortly before going before the jury in secret session to "tell them everything they want to know" about the fee-splitting case involving himself, former Washington State Attorney General John J. O'Connell and George Faler, a former assistant to O'Connell.

"I will not speculate on motives," the mayor said. "I will stick to the facts and to the merits. At another time and another place I may not speculate but produce a case on motives."

He said newsmen could draw their own inference from the fact that the mayor's office in San Francisco is up for election this year.

Asked about reports that the grand jury probe centers on a bribery statute, Alioto replied: "If this was a bribe, it would have to be the most peculiar bribe in the history of the world."

The controversy involves an anti-trust, price-fixing suit 15 Washington public utility districts and cities brought against 29 manufacturers of electrical equipment in 1962. O'Connell, on behalf of the utilities, hired Alioto to take the case. Alioto was paid $2.3 million and has said he paid O'Connell $530,400 and Faler $272,413.

At the news conference, Alioto said he relied upon O'Connell's statements that the clients knew of the fee-splitting arrangement. Originally, the agreement with Alioto was that he would be paid a fee equal to 15 per cent of the amount recovered up to $1 million.

Later, O'Connell removed the limitation.

Alioto said he also relied upon O'Connell's statement that the clients knew of the change in the fee status and that he knew O'Connell to be a man of integrity.

Since then, some of the clients have complained that they weren't told the $1 million limit had been waived or that O'Connell and Faler were sharing in the fees.

Alioto said there was no question about the fight of O'Connell and Faler to carry on private practices while at the same time being on the state payroll. He noted that at the time O'Connell's salary was $13,000 a year and like most attorney generals in the intermountain area he had the right to private practice.

The San Francisco mayor said O'Connell represented the utilities in a private capacity and that the state's present attorney general, Salde Gorton, had said O'Connell had no direct connection with the utilities on the basis of public office.

The state has filed a civil suit seeking recovery of the entire fee paid Alioto on grounds that the clients didn't know about the fee-splitting or the increase in the fee allowed Alioto.

Police Probe Gun Death Of Novatan

Novato police today were investigating the death of Mary Lou Rodgers, 41, 707 Seville Way, Novato, who died of a gunshot wound at her home Monday night.

Her son, Dale Owen Johnson, reported she shot herself and police have listed the death as possible suicide, but are continuing investigation.

Officers said Mrs. Rodgers suffered a fatal wound in her left chest from a .32 caliber revolver.

Police said her son reported at 11:10 p.m. Monday that she had been depressed, wrecked the interior of their trailer home and shot herself.

Officers said furniture had been overturned, glasses and dishes thrown about and broken, linen strewn about and the bedroom messed up.

Mrs. Rodgers was discovered in the bedroom. The gun was atop a freezer between the kitchen and bedroom where Johnson told police he had placed it.

Mrs. Rodgers reportedly had been drinking and was angry, police said.

A native of Oklahoma, she had been a resident of Marin for 13 years. She was the wife of Charles J. Rodgers.

Surviving are her son and husband, both of Novato.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Chapel of Marin.

Vandals Steal $50 In Change

Vandals stole small change from seven newspaper racks in Corte Madera yesterday and Monday, police said today.

Officers said four of the racks belonged to the Independent-Journal and three to the San Francisco Chronicle.

The racks, all with broken change boxes, were discovered during the midnight to 8 a.m. shift both days.

Racks vandalized Monday were located at the Cooperative Food Store, 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard; the bus stops at Redwood and Corte Madera avenues and Tamalpais Drive and Madera Boulevard.

Racks vandalized yesterday were located at Gallenkamp Shoes and Thrifty Drugs, in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, Big G Super at 5651 Paradise Drive and the Bourbon Shop, 5641 Paradise Drive.

liam T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and nine other assemblymen.

Grace Hughes of Mill Valley, reading a letter from the Marin Alternative, asserted not only will the deadline of Proposition A not be met, but "in recent months the level of violence has been increasing."

She said Proposition A gave the supervisors "a moral obligation to do all within your power to implement their (Marin voters) opposition to the war."

Supervisor McInnis disagreed. "I believe this matter has no business whatever being on the table of the Marin County Board of Supervisors." He said the supervisors should concern themselves solely with "the area of immediate voting impact."

Wornum, on the other hand, said he did not believe in the purity of functions of government. He said the war "and other aberrations that we get into" affect the amount of funding for other purposes awarded by the federal government to Marin. Therefore, he said, Marin should take a stand.

Wornum was applauded, but Baar was greeted with grumbles when he said, "I have to support the President because he is commander-in-chief."

Attorney Gary T. Giacomini poined out that Vasconcellos's bill did not aim at the President or the Congress but sought to test the constitutionality of fighting undeclared wars.

The Marin Alternative also asked the supervisors to authorize a suit challenging the constitutionality of a 10 per cent telephone surtax allegedly used to finance the Indochina fighting and to order that the county not pay the surtax on its phone bills.

However, the supervisors declined to discuss the requests after attorney Giacomini pointed out the county is exempt from the surtax.

understand, reason, and consider—his decision making process was impaired."

However, he said Calley evidently was aware, perceptive, and not subject to hallucinations.

Asked whether Calley at that time had the ability to form the thought, "I will kill," Crane replied:

"Under those conditions on that particular day, I don't think so. I don't think that he would think beforehand that 'I will kill.' But in fact people were killed and he initiated such acts."

"When he gave the order to kill was he able to know they would kill?" Daniel asked.

"I think he was able to know that those men he was ordering would go ahead and kill," Crane replied.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Count

Thomas Keith Flynn, 38, of Mill Valley, was sentenced to 10 days in Marin County Jail yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of temporarily taking a vehicle without the permission of its owner.

Judge David Menary Jr. gave Flynn credit for time already spent in jail.

Flynn earlier had been charged with felony car theft.

Teachers Picket At Meeting

A meeting before the Reed School District board last night on five proposed personnel policies was halted when about six teachers picketed the board to dramatize their request for a special session.

The informational pickets, members of the Reed District Teachers Association and the Reed Unit of the American Federation of Teachers, were protesting the first agenda item, a 90-minute discussion on the personnel policies.

Interim Supt. Irwin Karp said the teachers wanted to discuss the policies at a special board meeting and objected to the time limit imposed by the board.

The teachers also said they wanted the board to establish clearly defined policies on settling differences between teachers and trustees, Karp said.

Board members listened to the teachers grievances and expressed disappointment, Karp said, that the teachers did not want to hold the scheduled "meet and confer" session on the policies.

The five policies relate to evaluation of tenured and non-tenured personnel, granting of tenure and procedures for resolving board-teacher disputes.

Karp said about six pickets, holding signs urging the board to negotiate fairly and in good faith, paraded through the meeting room during the hour-long exchange between teachers and the board. The pickets were not disruptive, he said, and remained quiet. They left when the board moved on to other agenda items.

In other business, the board formally hired Ralph D. Giovaniello, deputy superintendent of the Novato School District, as superintendent in Reed. Giovaniello's salary will be $26,000 a year on a four-year contract.

Karp said Giovaniello will report to work at Reed when released by the Novato School District, which accepted his resignation last night.

The Reed School District board also:

SECRETARY — Hired Helen Overend as business office secretary at $544 a month.

RULES — Agreed to study rules submitted by teachers for conducting "meet and confer" sessions on policies.

GOALS — Adopted a citizens committee recommendation for amendments to the district's philosophies and goals.

TRAINING — Hired planning consultant Donald Miller for $1,100 to conduct a course for administrators on educational planning in the district.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Agreed to hold summer school this year.

RAILROAD — Agreed to meet with a representative of Tiburon on joint city-school district development of the recently acquired Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Six More File For School Jobs

Six more filings of nomination papers for the April 20 school board elections were reported today by the county schools office.

By district, they were:

Tamalpais High School District — Bette Wallace of 134 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, the incumbent.

Shoreline Unified School District — Gilbert Shore of Inverness, owner of the Inverness Gallery, for trustee area one. John P. Donovan of Star Route, Marshall, an electrical technician, for trustee area four.

Dixie School District — Addyse L. Palagyi of 971 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, a teacher; and Patricia Gryson of 714 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda, a housewife.

Kentfield School District — Dr. Tommy R. Walker of 22 Corte Lodato, Greenbrae.

RATE

return on their money, lenders usually add "points" to FHA and VA loans. A "point" is a one-time payment of 1 per cent of the loan and is usually paid by the seller instead of the buyer.

In addition to the interest rate, the FHA charges a premium of one half of one per cent. This increases the effective rate on FHA loans to 7 1-2 per cent. The VA does not make a similar charge.

The lowered ceiling will trim about $8 off the monthly payment on a $25,000 home with a 25-year mortgage. On an FHA loan, the monthly payment for principal, interest and the FHA premium would be $184.75 on such a loan. The old rate was $193.

WAR

said a reinforced company of Communist troops—150 or more men—had attacked near combat base Scott, manned by units of the U.S. 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) and that reinforcements were sent to the scene today.

Other fighting was reported Tuesday and today near the Rockpile, another U.S. fire base five miles below the DMZ. A delayed report said the 5th Mechanized Infantry killed 46 North Vietnamese in a battle there last weekend.

Spokesmen at Quang Tri said that by late today U.S. Artillery was "ringing the area," indicating that an American force had been cut off by the Communists. Air strikes were carried out despite ceilings as low as 500 feet in the mountainous area.

Reports of the fighting inside Laos indicated the Communist resistance was stiffening.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said government forces killed at least 78 Communists in fighting in Laos today and the U.S. air strikes had knocked out four more Soviet-built tanks and three antiaircraft guns in Laos. This brought to 13 the number of tanks reported destroyed.

One battle was fought 18 miles west of the former Green Beret border outpost at Lang Vei, indicating the South Vietnamese drive along Route 9 still was stalled. Some skirmishing was reported much closer to Lang Vei.

The U.S. Command disclosed meanwhile that American jets attacked a North Vietnamese missile site in North Vietnam Tuesday in the third such "protective reaction" strike in three days after Communist radar locked on an unarmed U.S. reconnaissance plane.

Military sources disclosed recently the United States had greatly increased its reconnaissance over North Vietnam since start of the South Vietnamese operation in Laos but have not reported any major North Vietnamese buildups.

In Saigon terrorists tossed fire bombs against the fence of the U.S. Embassy tonight, the third successive day of terrorist actions against American property in the South Vietnamese capital.

Reports from Laos said meanwhile Communists were still putting pressure on the government's defense headquarters at Long Cheng, in the mountains 90 miles north of Vientiane in Northern Laos but that the situation in the country was generally quiet.

Laotian officials said the military hospital at Long Cheng had been evacuated following a Communist attack Sunday that destroyed its medical supplies. With a Communist attack expected at any time it was decided to remove the patients and their families farther south.

The Command also said fice GIs were killed Monday night in the crash of a big Chinook helicopter near Hue and reported two Americans killed in a Communist attack 15 miles east of Saigon.

New Approach To Acne Skin

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The discovery that the skin of acne victims handles the male sex hormone differently than normal skin in natural hormone activity may offer a promising new approach to treating the disorder, two UCLA Medical School doctors announced today.

Mrs. Ronald M. Reisner and Gail Sansome said they found that acne-bearing skin converts the male sex hormone, or androgens, into its tissue-active form at a greater rate than normal skin.

Acne develops during the teens when the skins oil glands are enlarging and putting out more oil. The converted form of male sex hormone, or testosterone, greatly increased in acne skin may cause an excessive output of oil in the acne-prone persons, they said.

one-year residency which state law provides for non-chartered cities should apply.

The City of Sacramento did not carry the appeal to the California Supreme Court since the question had become moot, city voters having approved reduction to one-year residency in the same election for which Lawrence failed to qualify.

A similar charter amendment to reduce San Rafael's requirement to one year will be on the April 20 ballot.

City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. said the state Election Code permits Lamantia to request a superior court judge to order that his name be placed on the ballot. Robbins said the court is not bound by the decision at the appellate level, and he would simply abide by whatever the judge decides.

Lederberg Sees Huge Problems In Gene Changes

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Nobel Prize winner Dr. Joshua Lederberg asserts that changing the human race by tinkering with its genes presents a technical problem roughly equal to building a bridge from San Francisco to Honolulu.

"If transoceanic bridges become fashionable ... they will be built, and probably the same can be said for genetic engineering," Lederberg wrote in the current issue of "Pharos," the publication of Alpha Omega Alpha, the honorary medical society.

But Lederberg wrote, any attempt to change the nature of man carried awesome implications—for example, the attempt to eliminate warlike qualities by genetic changes.

Hearing Set On Welfare Issue

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The State of California has been ordered to show cause in Alameda County Superior Court Feb. 25 why regulations permitting moderate income persons to draw welfare should not be rescinded.

Marin and six other counties have filed suit challenging state regulations which they say force issuance of welfare checks to persons on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program who earn as much as $16,000 a year.

The show cause hearing will be before Judge Robert Kroninger.

Camera Equipment Stolen From Auto

Camera and lens equipment worth $667 were taken from the back seat of an auto parked overnight on Monday at 86 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported.

John R. Kinsel, 26, of 95 Medway Road told police he left the camera equipment on the back seat of his locked car between 9 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. yesterday. He said the car had been pried open.

Lecture On Venus Scheduled Friday

A lecture on the visual characteristics of the planet Venus will be presented Friday at the monthly public meeting of the Star Observers of Marin, according to the group's secretary, M. D. Beck.

The club will meet at 8 p.m. in the community room of Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, 305 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

United For Life Group To Meet

The Marin Chapter of United for Life, a group which opposes abortion, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, San Anselmo.

Rev. Henry Kangas, pastor of St. Francis Lutheran Church in San Francisco, will speak at the meeting, open to the public.

Petris Eyes Ban On Fast Cars

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation prohibiting the sale in California of cars capable of going faster than 75 miles an hour beginning Jan. 1, 1973, has been introduced by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris.

The Oakland Democrat said the only exceptions to his bill would be emergency vehicles such as ambulances.

"Statistics show that leading causes of accidents are speed and drinking," he said. "If we get those two whipped, we can reduce the fatalities."

Petris said there is "no reason" for a car to have the capability of going 120 m.p.h. He said such an auto is "just a temptation" for the driver to use the speed.

Innocent Plea To Robbery

Barbara Rita Hall, 20, of Marin City, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of robbery.

Jury trial was set for the week of April 26.

Mrs. Hall is accused, along with two other unidentified women, of robbing a man who gave one of the women a ride to Marin City from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

OBITUARIES

Reverend Donohoe Dies At 49

Rev. George Donohoe, S.J., a former Marin resident who had been a missionary in China for the past 25 years, was killed in the Far East yesterday when struck by a truck. He was 49.

Relatives learned Father Donohoe was hit by the vehicle while hiking in Taipei, Taiwan.

Father Donohoe, a native of San Francisco who lived in San Anselmo as a boy from 1925 to 1932, taught at National Taiwan University and Provincial Norman University in the Far East. He organized students into a Peace Corps-type group to work with mountain people during summer vacations.

The priest, who was nearly blind, went to China in 1946 but was expelled from the mainland six years later. He had taught in Taiwan since.

Survivors are four brothers, Joseph Donohoe of Sleepy Hollow, William Donohoe of Lucas Valley, Chris Donohoe of San Francisco and Frank Donohoe of Yosemite, and a sister, Eileen Donohoe of Carson City, Nev.

A Memorial Concelebrated Requiem Mass will be offered at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Ignatius Church, Fulton Street and Parker Avenue, San Francisco. Funeral and burial will be in Taipei.

Petaluma Group Elect Officers

Marvin Hale, a fire protection engineer, last night was elected president of the East Petaluma Civic Association.

Others elected were immediate past president Frank Thomas as vice president and Lawrence Bernaurer, treasurer. A secretary has not been selected.

Hale, 1529 Baywood Drive, is a civil engineer employed by Gage-Babcock Associates of Oakland. He and his wife, Delores, have two children, Suzanne, 3, and Valerie, 11 months. They moved to Petaluma in November 1969.

Reinecke Calls For Commission On Sea Traffic

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke Tuesday proposed creation of a sea traffic control commission for San Francisco Bay to prevent oil tanker collisions such as the one occurring in the bay last month.

Speaking to a University of California symposium on agricultural chemicals, Reinecke said such a commission would coordinate efforts to regulate ship traffic in the bay.

He said the proposed agency "should have navigational control powers and permanent facilities . . . perhaps on Alcatraz Island."

The commission, Reinecke said, should be composed of representatives from San Francisco and Oakland port authorities, the Coast Guard and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

He also proposed that similar commissions be established for all other major shipping ports in California, including Los Angeles harbor.

Voucher Plan To Be Eyed

A forum discussion on the educational voucher system and its use in California will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the annex at Edna Maguire School, Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

Panelists at the forum, sponsored by the school's parent-teacher-student association, will include a moderator, pro-and-con speakers and a questioning board.

Under the voucher system, parents would be allowed financial credits for each school-age child. These credits could be spent at any public or private school.

The forum is open to the public.

JOHN HALLIGAN

John E. Halligan of San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 47.

Halligan had been a California Highway Patrol officer with the patrol's Corte Madera branch for the past 16 years. Prior to becoming a traffic officer, he was a fireman for Rescue Squad One of the San Francisco Fire Department.

Halligan was born in Flint, Mich., but moved to San Francisco as a young man. He moved to 2413 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, about 15 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Jacqueline Halligan; three sons, John D., James D. and Robert E. Halligan; two daughters, Jean A. and Mary T. Halligan, all of the family home; his parents, J. Emmet and Margaret Halligan of Terra Linda; a sister, Rita Madeira of Paoli, Pa.; and three brothers, Robert W. Halligan of Marinwood, Thomas R. Halligan of Millbrae and James J. Halligan of Encino, Los Angeles County.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Saint Raphael's Church, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

EFFIE HENLEY

Private funeral for Effie L. Henley, 77, of San Rafael, retired school teacher, will be tomorrow in San Rafael.

Miss Henley died Monday at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Warrensburg, Mo., Miss Henley had lived in California about 60 years, the last 50 in Marin County. She most recently lived at the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael.

Miss Henley was a school teacher for about 30 years in San Francisco. She was a member of the California State Teachers Association.

She is survived by a sister, Minnie V. Henley of San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Marin County Heart Association or the American Cancer Society.

MARTHA DURRIE

Martha A. Durrie of Belvedere, a long-time resident of Marin, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 60.

She was the wife of Charles H. Durrie, an interior designer and decorator. The family home is at 83D Beach Road.

Mrs. Durrie, a native of Santa Barbara, was married in 1931 in Berkeley. The family lived on a ranch above the Napa Valley near Angwin before moving to Marin in 1941.

She took part in conservation and wildlife activities.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Jane Hill and Alice Stone, both of Mill Valley, and a son, Jon Durrie of Rome, Italy.

Services will be private. The Bayview Chapel, Berkeley, is in charge of arrangements.

Sausalito Plans Dog Action

The Sausalito City Council decided last night to make a serious attempt to collar the dogs who roam freely through Sausalito's downtown area and mess streets and sidewalks.

The council asked city Mgr. Albert St. Cyr to obtain a copy of a leash ordinance passed last night by the Mill Valley City Council and modify the regulations to fit Sausalito's needs. The Mill Valley ordinance requires the leashing of dogs in commercial areas and at parks and schools.

But the council also recognized the most stringent law is meaningless unless it can be enforced effectively, a task which will fall to the Marin County Humane Society if a leash ordinance is adopted.

At present the society is supposed to provide a patrol in Sausalito about 23 hours each month, according to the city manager, but the council agreed the service has not been effective in the past.

"Where do they do their enforcement — on Wolfback Ridge?" Mayor Alexander R. Imlay asked wryly.

The council asked St. Cyr to meet with society officials and discuss Sausalito's needs in the way of dog control.

City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger said the humane society does patrol in residential hill areas, but won't come downtown. "I know because I've called them," he said. "They'll give a dog a ticket for sitting in someone's driveway, but they won't come into the business area when we have 47 big dogs running loose.

The cost of effective enforcement of a leash law will also have to be considered, according to Imlay. He said the city may find the cost is "astronomical," but added that a few days each month of strict enforcement might do the trick.

The city manager agreed to prepare and report the recommendation for presentation at the council's March 3 meeting.

The Sausalito City Council also:

PARKING LOT LIGHTING — Agreed to spend $800 to finance a lighting system for municipal parking lot No. 1 where ferry passengers change to buses and cars sometimes after dark.

BULKHEADS AND FILL — Approved a request from Herb Madden for permission to repair bulkheads at the south end of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, place 220 cubic yards of fill in the area and construct a dual pier structure extending about 50 feet into the harbor. Before proceeding with the work, Madden must seek approval from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

OFF-STREET PARKING — Upheld a planning commission decision to permit Fred De Cook to provide two off-street parking spaces in the public right-of-way for a home at 261 Santa Rosa Avenue.

MARINA SEWERS — Postponed action on an ordinance to require Sausalito Marina and yacht harbor owners to provide sewer connections for individual boats docked in their facilities. St. Cyr said the staff is presently meeting with the owners to discuss the proposed ordinance.

AMBULANCE FEES — Referred to its attorney a plan by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten to raise ambulance rates for nonresidents from $30 to $50 per call. Residents would still receive free ambulance service under the proposal.

FERRY PERMIT — Granted a 90-day extension of the conditional use permit (which expired Monday) to allow the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a ferry in Sausalito.

CONGRESSMEN — Heard a brief report from Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, who appeared at the meeting. Mailliard said he is confident the port safety bill, which will require stricter regulations of ships in harbors, will pass in this session of Congress.

CLAIM — Referred a $99,300 claim for damages against the city to its insurance carrier. Della Dyson of Anaheim is asking the money for injuries received when she fell from a city sidewalk in October.

ORDINANCE — Passed an ordinance creating a no parking zone on Johnson Street across from the Sausalito Fire Station. The ordinance, which will eliminate one parking space, will make it easier for fire vehicles to turn on the street.

ANOTHER FERRY — By a 4-1 vote, went on record favoring a proposal to revoke a certificate issued to Harbor Carriers in 1968 to allow the firm to operate a ferry in Sausalito. The state Public Utilities Commission was to hold hearings on the matter today in San Francisco and is considering withdrawing the certificate because it has not been used. Councilman Wyman Hicks opposed the revoking of the permission, saying the company should be allowed to operate tourist ferries to Sausalito since they asked to do so before the Golden Gate Bridge District sought permission.

Senator Makes Good Recovery

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI)—Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., 74, is reported in good condition after surgery at Duke University Hospital for a malignant tumor.

Jordan underwent surgery Monday for removal of the tumor, located in his colon. Doctors said that although the tumor was malignant, they found no evidence during surgery that the cancer has spread.

A portion of Jordan's large intestine was removed in the three and one half hour operation.

Discussion On Naming Teens

Whether names of teen-agers under 18 charged with a major felony should be published, will be discussed at 9 a.m. Thursday on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board."

Panelists will include L. Charles Smith, youth co-ordinator of the Marin County Youth Commission; Laurie Packard, commission member; Alfred Howenstein, juvenile officer of the San Anselmo Police Department; Charles E. Newman, juvenile officer of the Corte Madera Police Department; and detective Michael M. Manick, juvenile specialist of the Novato Police Department.

Questions may be called in during the live broadcast Thursday. The program will be rebroadcast on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

A PARK GROWS IN SAUSALITO

Workmen install flagstone walks and steps in Tiffany Park between North Street and Bridgeway in Sausalito. The quarter-acre park, designed for strolling, sitting and looking at nearby San Francisco Bay, is expected to be completed within a month, according to Norman Wohlschlaeger, city director of public works. Working under a $12,599 contract, the Albert Bidegain Landscaping Co. of San Rafael has raised the ground level three to four feet to give a view of the bay across Bridgeway traffic. Trees and other plants have been put in, and benches, a fountain and litter cans installed.

Housing To Bay Fill Plan Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation adding housing to the authorized uses of bay fill on San Francisco's waterfront has been introduced by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

His measure apparently was in response to the recent rejection of a fill project by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission. The project would have included offices and a hotel.

Hotels presumably would be included in the language of the new bill, which would allow "any building used as a housing accommodation."

Burton's bill would not interfere with the jurisdiction of the BCDC since it merely would amend a 1968 law limiting use of the waterfront to purposes "which are not prohibited by the laws of the State of California."

The bill raises a touchy legal issue, however, of whether underwater lands subject to the state constitution's public trust for navigation and fishing can be used for housing.

Burton, in related measures, introduced bills to limit to 200 feet the height of buildings on the city's harbor property. His bill was introduced yesterday before San Francisco supervisors voted to limit their height to 175 feet.

Burton's third bill would give San Francisco 25 years instead of 10 years to issue at least $50 million in bonds for harbor purposes.

Behr, Bagley Rap Alioto Escort Role

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto was criticized sharply yesterday by Marin's two state legislators, Sen. Peter H. Behr and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, for escorting three union officials to jail in Marin for contempt of court.

Both legislators are attorneys.

Behr said that "any attorney who publicly criticizes the decision of the judge contributes to the weakening of the judicial process, and should know better. It should be ingrained in attorneys that they are officers of the court, and sworn to uphold the judicial system."

Bagley said that "it is obviously inappropriate and inordinate and without any good taste for the mayor to grandstand his way into Marin and in effect lead a demonstration in front of the county jail."

Bagley added a promise "not to go over and picket the (San Francisco) City Hall."

Both legislators also criticized a resolution introduced by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, asking a legislative study of the 13-month strike against the Independent-Journal by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Behr said that such a study would waste valuable time that legislators should spend on other matters, and that it would not disclose any information "that isn't known already." He said that no "sensible legislation" could result from analysis of a single labor dispute.

The three union officials were booked Feb. 3 to begin 15-day jail sentences. Alioto expressed displeasure at a rally outside the Hall of Justice at what he called the "jailing of responsible, important labor leaders."

The three — Leon Olson, president of the typographical union local; Donald Abrams, a vice president of that union, and Jack Goldberger, president of Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921 — were ordered to jail for contempt of an injunction limiting picketing at the I-J and forbidding violence against the I-J, its employees or customers.

Alioto said that the jailing of labor officials "ought to have gone out with high button shoes." He added, "You don't solve labor disputes with jail sentences."

Streamline Claim Plan Is Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to streamline the state's procedure for paying small claims by private contractor was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Under existing law, a contractor who loses an item even as small as a hammer while on a state job must have his claim approved by the State Board of Control and payment from the general fund approved by the Legislature.

Behr's bill would enable department directors to decide the merits of such claims and to pay them from their operating budgets. The cumbersome procedure of going to the Control Board would be used only if a claim were disputed.

The bill was asked by the Department of General Services.

Shareholders Meet

The annual meeting of the shareholders of Bank of Marin will be held at its office at 1108 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael on March 4 at 8 p.m., at which time directors will be elected for the coming year.

Behr Hits Proposed Fair Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, has declared his opposition to the proposed elimination of three fairs in Marin and Sonoma counties.

The Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, the "Little Hoover Commission," proposed that they be consolidated with the Sonoma County Fair at Santa Rosa as an economy measure. Other fairs throughout the state also would be eliminated by merger with larger fairs.

Behr branded the saving as "infinitesimal," saying it would save a maximum of $3 million a year, or less than one thousandth of 1 per cent of the state budget.

The local fairs that would be eliminated would be the Marin County Fair, Sonoma-Marin Fair and Cloverdale Citrus Fair.

The move, Behr said in a statement to the commission, "will work a grievous hardship on local communities, will lessen local support and lose the essential local flavor and distinction of our smaller fairs, may become more expensive to the state in the long run, and will result in a kind of homogenized mediocrity, where it can be truthfully said that "if you've seen one fair, you've seen them all."

He said the fairs were "a refreshing touch of rural America in a rapidly growing and complex urban society."

San Anselmo Is Seeking Tougher Real Estate Law

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to put teeth into a law requiring a real estate buyer to be informed on the authorized use, occupancy and zoning of his purchase was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

A 1969 state law authorized cities to enact ordinances requiring the information be supplied, but the real estate lobby succeeded in amending out all enforcement provisions.

The new bill was asked by the San Anselmo City Council.

It would give a licensed real estate broker one week after concluding a sale to verify to the state real estate commissioner that the provisions of the ordinance have been observed. If the sale were made without a broker, the title company would have to verify compliance with the ordinance.

Brokers failing to comply with the provision of the bill could lose their licenses.

Hub Council Splits Over Housing Plan

The San Anselmo City Council agreed last night with the goals of a proposed housing policy statement of the Marin County Planning Commission, but could not agree on means to reach the goals.

Therefore, the council decided to forward a synopsis of its discussion to the planners prior to a public hearing Monday on the housing policy drawn up by commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Edward Hageman.

Councilmen agreed that Marin communities should encourage social and economic diversity and expand housing for low and moderate-income families.

However, councilmen split on proposed policies and methods.

Mayor James F. Reed argued that "before we can hit anything meaningful, we have to establish density criteria."

For example, he said he could support a high-rise building to save a greenbelt, but could not support residential development in non-residential areas.

The council was at odds on the county proposal from the preamble on. But Reed convinced other members it was important to forward comments at least to the county because "the feds are going to jam the county housing plan down our throats."

The key to the disagreements was the effect that suggested changes would have on the atmosphere of San Anselmo. Councilman Warren R. Perry argued for the status-quo on density and quality of housing to preserve the nature of the city; Mayor Reed feared the city will become a "middle-class ghetto" unless flexibility is built into an existing requirement of 7,500 square foot lots in residential areas.

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Kenneth L. Anderson agreed with Reed that low-cost housing is impossible within the existing standards of San Anselmo.

Anderson said, "I really believe the answer to low-cost housing is subsidy of the people who need help, not monkeying around with zoning."

He added that a section on including less expensive housing in new developments does not apply to San Anselmo, which has little undeveloped land. However, on preserving older housing, he said, "We are getting close to home now. This is San Anselmo's problem."

Anderson and Perry, while objecting to most other provisions of the county proposal, agreed to a policy of maintaining residential zoning in good older neighborhoods.

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, who supported most of the policies espoused in the county offering, attacked the standards being used by the council. "Our standard is this: We all own our own houses. We are using this for our standards," he said.

Perry countered that lowering the standards of San Anselmo will eliminate the trees and open spaces that provide some of the city's charm. "I for one don't think our standards here in San Anselmo are out of touch," he said.

Lightning Hits Car, Driver Survives Ordeal

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—"It was like being in an airplane that went right up to 10,000 feet, bumped into a cloud and came right down and your ears popped."

Thus did Mrs. Lynn Boyce describe how it felt when a lightning bolt struck her car early Monday.

Rubber tires are supposed to insulate a car but the shaken 21-year-old Seattle housewife said, "the whole car turned green and blue, but it's painted red."

"My hair stood on end, but I don't think any of it (electricity from the lightning) got inside the car.

Mrs. Boyce, who was not hurt, said the auto was lifted for a moment from the pavement and at least some of the electrical systems went out of operation.

San Rafael Gets Bicycle Path Plan

A series of bicycle paths to connect San Rafael schools, parks and residential areas has been proposed to the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

Harold Mickens, president of Marin Cyclists, presented his proposal to commissioners at their meeting last Thursday and suggested that county facilities be used to provide uniform signs to indicate the various routes.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of Parks and Recreation, said the proposed main route would begin at the city limits near Corte Madera and enter San Rafael along Highway 101 on Irwin Street and would continue down Jordan Street, Albert Park Lane, First Street, Second Street and down Greenfield toward San Anselmo.

Another loop from this main route would start on Irwin, continue down Lincoln Avenue to Second Street to San Pedro Road and then to the Civic Center. Secondary routes would fan out to Northgate and Lucas Valley.

Snyder said a system of secondary routes would connect parks including Gerstle Park, Boyd Park, Sun Valley, Victor Jones, Albert Park and the new Manuel T. Freitas Park, with tie-ins to as many schools as possible.

He said children's safety on these lanes will be of primary importance.

Snyder said he and Mickens discussed the possibility of members of the Marin Cyclists assisting with the directional signs along the routes.

Commissioner Fred Jensen suggested the proposed plan be sent to the Traffic Safety Committee for study, recommendations and approval.

Park and Recreation Commissioners also:

ELECTION —Reelected unanimously Charles L. Tacchi as chairman of the commission and Norma Wall as vice-chairman.

MEETING — Announced that Snyder will attend the California Pacific Southwest Parks and Recreation Conference in Fresno on February 20-24.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to a dinner-meeting at 7 p.m. March 11 at the West End Villa.

Plea Fails To Move Council On Annexing

The Petaluma City Council held to its moratorium on annexations last night and refused action on annexation of 20 acres on the north edge of the city.

Developer Robert T. Foster represented William Lawrence in his bid to annex his 43-acre dairy ranch on Old Redwood Highway at Highway 101. Foster argued that half of Lawrence's property has been within a sewer district for 10 years and that the entire parcel should be annexed to permit future development.

Foster said he had approached the council in October of 1969 and was told to go the local agency formation commission to annex the land before the entire parcel could be admitted to the sewer district.

Foster blamed Mayor Helen Putnam for the defeat of the annexation request at the commission meeting and asked the council to reconsider his request and to send a more favorable recommendation to the commission.

Mrs. Putnam and the council balked, saying it must adhere to its newly formed policy of limiting annexations to areas already in the sewer district because of the questionable future capacity of the sewage treatment plant. Foster assured the council that Lawrence would not seek a building permit until an enlargment of the plan has been settled.

The council refused action on his request.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER — Established a council-staff committee to study the propriety of the $1,450 bill sent to rancher Leroy Cheda on Old Adobe Road. City Engineer David A. Young said waste from Cheda's dairy herd polluted the city drinking water and caused the city to import water at a higher cost for 25 days.

OVERCROSSING — Agreed to pay half the construction costs for a pedestrian overcrossing from Kentfield Junior High School across Highway 101 to McKenzie Street, noting federal funds or gas tax money would be used to pay the bill estimated at $88,000.

SUBDIVISIONS — Approved Monarch Pacific Subdivision Units 9 and 10, including one irregular 30,091 square foot lot.

CURBS — Received a request from Heritage Homes of Petaluma Inc. to maintain cobblestone curbs and gutters for historic purposes.

French Sailor Still Serious

A French sailor involved in an auto wrech on the Golden Gate Bridge Monday was reported in serious condition today at San Francisco General Hospital.

The right leg of Jacques Camescasse, 28, has been amputated, hospital officials said. He also suffered compound fractures of the left leg, head wounds and abdominal injuries, the hospital reported.

The sailor off a French ship which is docked in San Francisco was driving a car which collided at 1:45 a.m. with one driven by Kenneth J. Mogan, 27, of Terra Linda.

Missile Launch

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A secret satellite employing a Thor-Burner II combination missile was launched Tuesday night from this aerospace center.

Concept Of New College Is Approved

The Marin Junior College District board last night continued counting unhatched chickens — making plans for a north campus while funds are still up in the air.

John A. Grasham, district superintendent-president, told the trustees that he will know more about the financial situation after a meeting of the Board of Governors of California Community Colleges today and tomorrow in Sacramento.

The district board is counting on matching funds from the state, but it has been predicted that budget cuts will severely curtail the funds.

The trustees, meeting with the architect for the proposed new campus in Novato, went ahead last night, however, with plans for the school, approving the concept of three inner colleges.

The college has been scheduled to open September 1974, but architect Joseph F. Thomas and college planner Dale E. Fleming last night said that it might not be until January 1975 because of delay in state funds.

Thomas told the trustees he envisions buildings of natural materials which would blend into the terrain and that he hoped to keep water flowing in streams on the 330-acre property.

Thomas and the trustees agreed that they would plan for a maximum of 5,000 students but explore possibility of expansion to 10,000.

The board meets again in regular session at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Pair Hurt In 2-Car Accident

Two men have been injured in a two-car crash in San Rafael in which the auto of a San Rafael police lieutenant was rammed.

The crash occurred at 7:40 a.m. Friday at Francisco and Bellam boulevards, police said yesterday. Officers said an auto driven by Lt. Lincoln M. Borba, 55, of San Rafael, was struck by one operated by Otis K. Franklin Jr., 49, of San Francisco.

Franklin told police he accelerated to avoid hitting a third auto at the intersection, lost control and struck Borba's auto, which was halted at a stop sign at the intersection.

Franklin was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for a broken nose. Ecko also was reportedly taken to Kaiser for unspecified injuries but the hospital said it had no record of treating him.

Supervisors Uphold Autoyard's Appeal

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday reversed a lower board's decision and said the Bisso Brothers Auto Wrecking Yard in Penngrove could continue operations.

The board of zoning adjustments had ordered the yard at 6040 Old Redwood Highway abated because it had been unused for a long period of time.

Attorney Morris M. Mawson told the supervisors that complaining neighbors were incorrect and that the yard had always been in use. He said the Bisso Brothers intended to clean up the yard and to make improvements.

The board approved the appeal with Supervisors Ignazio A. Vella dissenting and Henry C. Spomer abstaining.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

REPAIRS — Heard a report that repairs to the social service building due to the 1969 earthquake had totaled $455,406 with only $39,640 covered by insurance. County Administrator David L. Nichols said the federal government had paid nearly half the remaining costs and that the costs total was nearly $208,000.

APPOINTMENT — Named Petaluma Vice Mayor John W. Cavanagh Jr. to the Petaluma Zone Advisory board of the Sonoma County water agency. Cavanagh will replace Philip L. Joerger, who was elected to the board of supervisors.

SUIT — Received a $50,000 claim for injuries from Dianne I. Riley, who said she fell on poorly lighted grounds of Bernard Eldredge School, Petaluma.

Woman Toll Collector

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For the first time since World War II, there's a woman toll collector on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Dorothy Ann Lykens, 35, said Tuesday she took the job because she needed money to study scientology, described by its advocates as the art of knowing yourself of being what you are.

Miss Lykens, who did graduate work at the University of California and acted at the Fallon House Theater at Columbia University, won her position in a competitive examination.

Pelt Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Youths pelted British troops with rock-laden snowballs Tuesday night in a Roman Catholic area of Belfast and an explosion and fire wrecked a filling station on the outskirts of the city.

Ethics Talks At Hospital Called Off

Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael has canceled further meetings of its medical ethics discussion group because of letters to newspapers.

Dr. David A. Strange, chairman of the hospital's professional education committee, last weekend sent a letter to physicians, nurses and others at the hospital and its clinic announcing the cancelation. The letter said the first meeting of the discussion group, which took up the subject of abortion, was "stimulating enough to trigger several letters to the editor."

"While we were happy to provide a forum for a free exchange of ideas," wrote Dr. Strange, "we have some reason to fear that the possibility of publicity in the press may discourage discussion by some participants whose positions require a balanced assessment of the facts.

"In light of this, I feel it best to cancel the remaining meetings of the series."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Thieves broke into the offices of the Canyon Crier newspaper here and stole copy intended for the next issue —including an article on how to protect against burglars.

Expansion Cost Set For Public Library

The San Rafael Library Board last night was given an estimate of $750,000 for expanding the public library to meet the city's needs until 1985.

However, James R. Diaz, architect associated with the Consulting Organization, said this included $80,000 for underbuilding parking for 20 cars, which could be elimianted. He said some other options which could reduce the cost might be possible.

Diaz and Donald R. Hegstrom, who heads the Consulting Organization, said it would be impractical to try to preserve the original Carnegie Library portion of the present building. The expansion estimate included its removal and replacement. The addition to the library built in 1961 would be retained.

The proposed expansion would add about 12,000 square feet of library floor space, more than doubling the present area. The expansion would extend the building farther toward Fifth Avenue.

The Consulting Organization was to have presented the final report on its pre-design study of the expansion last night, but Hegstrom said it was not yet ready. He agreed to have it for the March 8 board meeting, after which it will be presented to the city council.

Prior to hearing from the consultants, the board appointed member Ella May Minneman to coordinate efforts to start a San Rafael Friends of the Library organization.

Reagan Sees Tax Hike If Medi-Cal Cut Is Restored

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Democratic bill to rescind administration-ordered Medi-Cal cuts is aimed at leaving the state "no choice" but to increase taxes, Gov. Ronald Reagan has charged.

The bill by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, would restore the program of medicine for the poor to its level before the administration last December ordered a cutback to prevent what Reagan said was a threatened $140 million deficit this fiscal year.

Burton concedes his measure, scheduled for Assembly floor debate Monday, could mean a tax increase.

Reagan at his weekly news conference Tuesday refused to say whether he would sign the bill if it reached him.

"I can only tell you that I think Mr. Burton's intent was to bring us to the end of the funds before the end of the year and faced with no choice but tax increase," the governor said.

Municipal Waste Monitoring Hit

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Discharge of municipal wastes into the Pacific carry "a significantly larger amount of pesticides to the ocean than are conveyed by all the rivers combined," according to a special report.

The review charged that major municipal discharges "have been inadequately monitored in the past."

The study, released Tuesday night, was requested by the Pesticide Advisory Committee of the State Agriculture Department. The study was conducted by state scientists as well as representatives of the Hopkins Marine Station at Stanford and the University of California.

"With only a few exceptions," the report said, "pesticide monitoring in California has been a fragmented and uncoordinated series of special studies of limited duration and scope.

"Continuation of the present system of sampling efforts may result in undetected pesticide buildup in the waters of the state and the biota associated with these waters."

Among the recommendations were:

—Development of a coordinated statewide pesticide monitoring program to determine the source, movement and ultimate fate of pesticides.

—Development of an alerting procedure that will go into action immediately when undesirable levels of pesticides are detected so that remedial action may be taken.

—Immediate expansion of the monitoring of certain specific emissions of pesticides to the environment, particularly municipal waste discharges.

—Continued and intensified monitoring of agricultural waste waters.

—Research on the cycling of pesticides between bottom sediments and overlying waters.

—Expanded monitoring of pesticide concentrations in human tissue in view of the current use of pesticides with broader spectra and higher toxicity in humans.

—Closer study of soils around refuge dumps to determine the fate of buried and applied pesticides.

Boycott Bar Ruling Against Teamsters

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A National Labor Relations Board official yesterday recommended that Teamsters Union Local 85 be placed under a broad order barring secondary boycott activities because of actions in connection with strikes against newspapers.

This was the third such recommendation against Local 85 of San Francisco in recent months.

Maurice Alexandre, the NLRB examiner, recommended that the board require Local 85 to post notices in its offices and hiring halls that it would not "encourage" strikes or work stoppages at the company which prints the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner.

He also urged that the NLRB prohibit the local from any secondary boycott activities.

Alexandre's ruling came on a complaint filed by the printing firm concerning picketing that stopped the printing of the papers last May 14 and 15.

Tim Richardson, the local's secretary, testified that the picketing was unauthorized and conducted mainly by men from Los Angeles who used signs stolen from his office.

The hearing examiner ruled that since Local 85 had made no effort to repudiate or end the picketing, it was, in effect, supporting it.

Alexandre said that his request for a broad injunction against Local 85 was made "on the record." He said Local 85 "has repeatedly been ordered to cease and desist from engaging in similar violations" and recently was held in contempt of court for a secondary boycott against the Independent-Journal.

Sierra Club Suit To Halt Airport Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Sierra Club has gone into federal court seeking to stop construction in Los Angeles County of Palmdale Internatnonal Airport.

Seven wildlife sanctuaries, seven regional parks, 13 county parks and a state park are within 20 miles of the airport's proposed site, the club said Tuesday in announcing its suit in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

As a basis of legal action, the conservationist group contends the Federal Aviation Administration made only a perfunctory attempt to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The act requires federal agencies to carry out detailed studies on the environmental effects of proposed major federal projects.

"In the case of Palmdale airport, the FAA threw together several pieces of paper and called the result an environmental study," said Frederick Fisher, the club's legal committee chairman.

So inadequate is the report that the President's Council on Environmental Quality criticized it, he added.

Suit was filed by the club, a group called Palmdale Homeowners Association and seven area residents.

Named as defendants ere John Volpe, secretary of transportation, and John Shaffer, FAA administrator.

The site for the proposed airport is on the western side of the Antelope Valley-High Mojave Desert area.

Antiwar March Is Peaceful

PALO ALTO (UPI)—An antiwar parade that started with 500 persons and ended with some 2,000 marched from the Stanford University campus Tuesday to Palo Alto.

Most marchers were students but many were faculty members and town people. Among them was Elizabeth Lyman, wife of Stanford's President Richard Lyman.

"We pray that this nation may come to its senses—that its leaders may be brought to their senses to stop this unconscionable program of death and destruction over field and farm in Southeast Asia," Dean B. David Napier of Stanford Memorial Church said in an invocation.

At a rally ending the 1 1-2-mile march, graduate student Earl Martin declared: "We have come to express our solidarity with the people suffering from our bombs and artillery and crying out to stop."

The United Nations moved to its present headquarters along New York's East River in 1951.

Income Hike To Fairfax For Schools

Fairfax School District trustees learned last night that the district will have approximately $24,000 more income next year than this year because of increased assessments in the district.

District secretary Gwyneth McGee said that this year's budget is $1,070,393. She said that Supt. H. Reginald Hammond told trustees last night that an income of $1,094,550 is expected for 1971-72.

She said that trustees were given the figures so they can start setting priorities for the 1971-72 budget. The district will probably lose about 2 per cent of its enrollment next year, it is predicted.

Fairfax trustees last night also agreed to work with the county park and recreation department and the Marin Municipal Water District for development of about one acre of land adjacent to Deer Park School.

The parcel will be used for additional play area for youngsters. The land, owned by the water district, is under a long-term lease to the county.

Mrs. McGee said that it has not been determined yet who will pay for the cost of the development.

Gasoline Container Blaze; $30,000 House Damage

Fire caused by an overturned gasoline container swept a Mill Valley residence last night, routing the family of its new owner and causing between $30,000 and $40,000 damage.

Firemen said the blaze broke out at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Norman E. Germain at 8 Vasco Drive. They said Keith Germain, 14, was siphoning gasoline from a car in the garage when the container overturned, spilling fuel which was ignited by a water heater.

Keith, Mrs. Germain and two other children fled the blaze.

Flames spread quickly through the garage, destroying a leased 1970 Ford, firemen said, and then jumped to the shake roof of the house. Two engines and 14 men responded and had the fire under control in 25 minutes.

Most fire damage was confined to the garage and attic of the one-story structure, but the rest of the house sustained heavy water damage, firemen said. Total loss was estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000.

The Germain family had recently purchased the 5-year-old house and hadmovedinless than a week ago, firemen said.

Fairfax Festival Group Will Elect

The Fairfax Festival Committee will elect officers at its meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Koffee Klatch, 57 Broadway.

The committee on Feb. 4 delayed a decision whether to give the proceeds from its September fair to three groups — the Marin Ecology Center, the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum and the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission — pending this week's election.

Use Of Pesticides Held A 'Necessity'

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Pesticides are "a necessity" in agriculture and "not a matter of whether farmers want to use" them, a U.S. Agriculture Department official said Tuesday.

The comment was made by Warren C. Shaw of the department's plant industry station in Maryland during a "food, people and the environment" symposium sponsored by the University of California's Division of Agricultural Sciences.

Shaw said the use of chemicals was responsible for 60 per cent of all "food and feed."

In measuring the strength of the enemy — weeds, plant diseases and insects — "the benefits and the risks (of chemicals) must be weighed carefully," he said.

Shaw indicated the benefits far outweighed the potential risks. He said the nation's farm output was beginning to parallel population needs and added "a 10 per cent loss (of all crops) could cause chaos."

Pointing out the need for the use of chemicals, Shaw said 460 billion acres of treated wheatlands produced a two-billion bushel increase "and no one yet has shown any impairment" to the ecology.

Shaw admitted there were drawbacks to using chemicals but said that, when all reports are analyzed, "I'm confident we will find that we managed very well."

No Conflict Of Interest, Says Stans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said today he took adequate precautions to prevent a conflict of interest involving his ownership of about $300,000 worth of stock in a subsidiary of the Penn Central Railroad.

Stans said in a statement that he does not know if he still owns the stock or even if he owned it last June when Penn Central was seeking $200 million in federal loan guarantees to stave off bankruptcy.

Stans said he was informed that the stock had been transferred from a partnership in which he had an interest to his personal account on June 11, 1969. But he said the shares were immediately placed in a "blind" trust, which administers his holdings without his knowledge.

The House Banking Committee said in a report Sunday that Stans owned 38,000 shares in Great Southwest Corp., a Dallas-based land development company in which Penn Central had 90 per cent interest.

Stans said he removed himself from negotiations for government aid to Penn Central to avoid any possible conflict of interest. The railroad filed for reorganization under the bankruptcy law on June 21, 1970. Late last year, Congress appropriated $125 million in federal loan guarantees to keep the railroad running.

Action By Board Blocks Plans For Tower

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The board of supervisors Tuesday passed an ordinance blocking construction of the 550-foot U.S. Steel tower, whose critics said would further contribute to the "Manhattanization" of the city's famed skyline.

The board voted 6-4 Tuesday to limit building heights in the northern waterfront area where the building was to be constructed to 175 feet, thus ending a year of study and heated public debate.

The zoning revision must be approved by the supervisors on a second reading, and by Mayor Joseph Alioto, who has previously declared him self neutral on the issue.

Bond Sales Agreed For Building

Novato Unified School District trustees last night agreed to sell $650,000 in available bonds to finance building, mainly at San Marin High School.

Although the resolution didn't earmark the bond funds for San Marin High School, it has been the board's intention to construct additional buildings at the site.

Trustee Carolyn Crabtree balked at specifying in the resolution where the bond funds would be spent after the motion included $50,000 for carpeting classrooms at Hamilton and Pleasant Valley Schools.

Trustees agreed to a five-year-repayment program, which Eugene F. DeBrecht, assistant superintendent, business, estimated would add about 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation to the bond retirement tax rate for five years. The district's bond tax rate is now 51.5 cents.

Supt. James G. Bunker said about $600,000 would cover the cost of planned additions at San Marin High School; a fine arts building to house home making, arts and crafts and music activities, and a student center, which would serve as a multi-purpose building.

Architect Kal Porter of San Jose estimated the cost of the buildings at $400,000 to $450,000, site work including landscaping, sidewalks, grading and drainage about $50,000, and the remainder for furniture, equipment and various fees.

Trustee hired Porter as architect for the two additional buildings at San Marin High at a fee of 8 per cent of construction costs.

The Novato Unified School District Board also:

SCHOOL CALENDAR — Approved a school calendar for 1971-72 with classes starting Sept. 13 and closing June 16, totaling 178 teaching days.

WALKWAY — Approved purchase of a walkway, about 20 feet wide, from Buchanan Street to the Novato High School grounds, which is up for tax sale, at a cost of $1.50 in legal fees.

GIFT — Accepted from the Lynwood School Parent-Teacher Association $197 for purchase of a typewriter for the teachers' room at the school.

FOOD SERVICE — Agreed that no food service, hot dog days or hamburger sales, would be permitted at elementary schools during school hours until a policy on food sales is adopted. The present program under contract to ARA Services of San Francisco will end Friday, but the district will continue to offer milk at five cents a container.

HIRED — Authorized the hiring of Larry Stottlemyer as a sixth grade teacher at West Novato School at a salary of $4,000 for the remainder of the year.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved application for an additional $11,579 in federal funds for programs for culturally deprived pupils, with no matching funds required.

GIOVANNIELLO — Accepted the resignation of Deputy Supt. Ralph D. Giavaniello, who has served 14 years with North Marin schools and is to become Reed School District superintendent. Bunker said a replacement may not be needed as Giovanniello's personnel tasks could be assumed by a new personnel officer and his other duties divided among district staff.

ADULT COURSES — Approved three new courses for the spring semester, March 29-June 4, at the Novato Adult Evening High School; world affairs, general education development test preparation and acrylic, water color and oil painting, and a spring lecture series on "Drugs: Use and Abuse."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. March 1 at the Novato High lecture hall.

Board president William G. Schneeflock was absent because of illness.

No Dismissal For Pope's Attacker

MANILA (UPI)—A Filipino judge today denied a defense motion to dismiss the charge of attempted murder against Bolivian painter Benjamin Mendoza for attacking Pope Paul VI in Manila Nov. 27.

Judge Pedro Bautista of the suburban Pasay City court scheduled the resumption of the trial for Feb. 26 with the defense presenting its witnesses.

Bill To Add To Wilderness Area

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bills to add three California areas to the national wilderness system have been introduced by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

The three areas—all part of the national park system—are in the Lava Beds National Monument, the Mt. Lassen National Park and the Pinnacles National Monument.

Pesticide Makers Appeal DDT Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI—Pesticide makers have filed appeals which could block —for one year or more —enforcement of a government order canceling permits for interstate sale of DDT products.

Final word on whether manufacturers actually will be allowed to keep some DDT products in interstate sale, however, will not come before late March.

The uncertainty is caused by the complexities of the federal pesticide control law which lays down two methods by which government officials can withdraw the "registrations" which clear pesticide products for interstate shipment:

— If the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) decides the dangers posed by a pesticide outweigh its benefits, the agency can "cancel" registration of the pesticide. If a manufacturer appeals that cancellation, however, his product can remain on the market until the appeal is settled.

—Where EPA concludes a pesticide presents an "imminent hazard" to the public, however, a tougher procedure can be followed. The agency can issue a "suspension" order. The suspension can also be appealed, but a suspended product must go off the interstate market immediately and stay off unless the appeal is upheld.

In the case of DDT, EPA administrator William D. Ruckelshaus last month used the first method —issuing "cancellation" notices on all DDT products which had not been knocked out in earlier actions in 1969 and 1970 when the pesticide came under fire from environmentalists.

Citizens Plan Urged For Flood Control

The Mill Valley City Council last night asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a two-month delay in a public hearing called to discuss a flood control project for Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

The council also set up an ad hoc committee to study creek improvements and suggest a flood control package to the corps.

A public hearing by the corps had been set for March 10 but the council agreed to ask the corps to postpone it to May 19.

In the intervening time, councilmen decided, a seven-member committee would study the creek and report to the council late in April.

The council, after a hearing on the committee report, would then suggest a plan to the corps.

Charles P. Murphy, county flood control engineer, attended last night's meeting and told the council the corps of engineers is "starting all over again" and seeking new proposals for flood control.

One plan suggested both by a corps official and Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala would construct a bypass along Miller Avenue to handle overflow water from Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Murphy said this plan is one of many being studied by the corps. Other plans suggested by the ad hoc committee and city residents at the scheduled public hearing also will be considered by the corps before one is chosen, he said.

The council appointed Councilman Jerome C. Hauke and real estate agent William Hamilton to the committee. Other members will include Bala, another representative of city staff, and representatives of the city planning commission and parks and recreation commission, and a second citizen.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

SLIDE — Heard John A. Zigler, of 31 Glen Drive, complain about a slide blocking the street near his home caused by failure of a city-constructed retaining wall. The council promised to discuss the question March 1.

DEPOT — Granted a 10 month lease to Janice Aronoff at $250 a month for the city-owned bus depot in Lytton Square.

DOGS — Passed on second reading an ordinance requiring dogs to be leashed in commercial areas and at schools and parks.

SEWAGE — Asked the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to postpone for 60 days a Feb. 25 hearing on proposed new standards for effluent from the city's sewage treatment plant. The new standards are stricter than the old effluent requirements.

LANE — Instructed City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare an ordinance abandoning a lane between Oakdale and Buena Vista avenues.

YOUTH — Heard on first reading an ordinance establishing one-year terms for members of the city youth commission.

POLICE — Asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to create a county-wide police services district.

UNDERGROUNDING — Ordered a public hearing March 15 on an underground utility district along Camino Alto from East Blithedale Avenue to Sycamore Avenue.

CARS — Heard on first reading an ordinance allowing removal of cars parked on city streets for more than 72 hours. The old ordinance allowed cars to be parked for 120 hours.

APPOINTMENTS — Confirmed the following appointments: Pat Ostler to the art commission, James Stephenson and Robert Jenkins to the parks and recreation commission and John Everts to the youth commission.

OLD LIBRARY — Overruled 4 to 1 the city planning commission which had granted architect William E. Cullen a variance making it unnecessary for him to provide five off-street parking spaces if he converts the old library on Lovell Avenue into three apartments. Michael and Flora Praszker of 110 Summit Avenue and 10 other neighbors had appealed that decision to the city council and successfully argued that traffic problems would be generated and a bad development precedent established on Lovell. Councilman Haucke was the lone supporter of the variance.

ILLEGAL REMODELING — Asked the city attorney and city manager to investigate a complaint by Joseph Boss of 88 Elm Avenue and Dolph F. Jaeger of 1 Manor Place that a legal but nonconforming duplex appeared to be undergoing illegal conversion to four apartments.

Nod To Raise For Cab Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to increase taxicab fares.

If the measure passes a second reading and is signed by Mayor Joseph Alioto, the fare for the first one-eighth mile will be 60 cents. The fare for the first one-fifth mile is now 55 cents.

Each additional mile would cost 60 cents, instead of 50 cents.

Petition: Too Little Police Protection

A petition signed by 111 east Corte Madera residents and businessmen charging "insufficient police protection" was presented the town council last night.

On the recommendation of Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels, the matter was referred to him for further investigation.

The petition maintains that Paradise Drive and Golden Hind Passage "have become a drag strip."

It also alleges a "rash of burglaries and traffic incidents have occurred recently and that there are "gangs of youngsters. . . roaming the streets at night aimlessly."

Forwarded by the Mariner Cove Improvement Association, the petition was circulated by Joan G. Welch of 223 Golden Hind Passage.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

REZONING — Approved 3-1, Councilman Byron D. White against and Harold B. Wagstaff absent, an ordinance rezoning 7.5 acres of land at 200 Tamal Vista Boulevard from light industrial to high density residential.

SHOPPING CENTER — Continued to March 1, adoption of an ordinance rezoning about 18 acres of land at Paradise and Tamalpais drives from a light industrial to a regional shopping center zone. It was continued at the request of property owners who are attempting to consolidate the area into one large parcel.

HOME OCCUPATIONS — Approved home occupation permits for Ina Truitt of 16 Staghound Passage for part-time upholstering and for Pearl E. Marks of 246 Uplands Circle for tie making.

STREET SWEEPING — Referred to the public works committee a petition signed by 20 residents asking for reasonable hours and a reduction of noise in street sweeping activities at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

PROPOSED PARK — Received a report but delayed action on a proposed park at Granada School in east Corte Madera until budget sessions in April. The report, forwarded by the parks and recreation commission, recommends development of tennis courts and roadways on the surplus Reed School District site.

INVESTMENT CONSULTANT — Authorized the town manager to discuss with Sausalito officials the possibility of using Corte Madera's finance director, Frank Bigley, as an investment consultant for city funds.

RECREATION — Approved an agreement with the city of Larkspur whereby the town will bill Larkspur the $2 non-resident recreation fee charged its residents participating in the Corte Madera recreation program.

San Rafael Council Tries Again On Attorney, Advertising Issues

Four charter amendment proposals — including a thrice-defeated move to make the city attorney appointive — will be before San Rafael voters in the April 20 election.

The proposals, approved by the San Rafael City Council last night, also include one to delete a $1,000 limit on the amount the city can spend annually on advertising or promotion. A variation of this proposal was defeated by the voters last June.

The other two amendment issues deal with residency requirements for elective office.

The move to make the city attorney appointive was defeated by the voters in 1963 when it was put on the ballot along with a proposal to make the chief of police appointive.

It was defeated again in 1967 when it was included in a single proposal to make police chief, attorney, city clerk and city treasurer appointive, and a third time in 1969 when moves to make the four positions appointive were listed as separate ballot items.

Last June, voters finally approved making police chief appointive when that proposal alone was on the ballot.

Also in June, voters defeated a proposal to raise the advertising limit to $10,000.

The proposed charter amendment approved by the council last night would delete the section of the charter setting the $1,000 limit, but would not set a new limit.

City Atty. Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said that without a limit in the charter, sections of the state government code would set a ceiling.

Robbins said he wasn't sure which code section would apply, but the limit would be either $37,110 or $40,101 depending on whether it was based on a percentage of the general fund or assessed valuation.

A third amendment approved by the council would change the residency requirement for elective office in San Rafael from three years to one year.

The final proposed amendment would take into account residency in an annexed area of the city prior to annexation in computing residency qualifications for elective office.

The San Rafael City Council also:

PEPPERLAND — Put over until March 1 a public hearing on appeal of use and variance permits granted to the rock music hall Pepperland by the planning commission.

ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of San Pedro School property and Charles Grandi property on the north side of San Rafael Hill.

PRESERVE — Removed Smith Brothers Ranch from agricultural preserve classification.

TAXICABS — Denied permission for Ted's Marin Airport Service to provide limousine service to San Francisco and Oakland airports from San Rafael. Robert C. Jennings, president of San Rafael Taxi Cabs Inc., opposed the application, saying the limousine was a "camouflaged taxi."

BONDS — Named Wainwright and Ramsey of San Francisco bond consultant for the sale of $1,105,000 worth of sewer improvement bonds. The firm will be paid $4,750.

CONGRESSMAN — Was extended "admiration and sympathy" from Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, who attended about an hour of the meeting. The mixed feelings, Mailliard said, were because the council works so close to the problems of the people.

Warrants Out In Drug Case

Bench warrants were issued yesterday for Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address and Charles Buddy Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., when they failed to appear in Marin Municipal Court for preliminary hearings.

Judge David Menary Jr. set bail on the warrants at $1,500.

The two are charged with possessing heroin and marijuana when they were arrested Dec. 8 in their pickup truck in Sausalito.

Rome Defied, Police Shot At By City's Insurgents

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (UPI)—Seven months of sporadic rioting reached a climax Tuesday night in battles between police and rioters protesting the selection of the rival town of Catanzaro as capital of Calabria.

Protesters shot at police, who responded with tear gas.

Police said five persons were arrested and several injured in the outbreak of street fighting that followed a regional council's decision Tuesday to make Catanzaro the capital.

Rubbish fires burned through the night and barricades thrown up by the rioters still blazed today.

In Rome, the cabinet quickly approved the regional council's compromise decision making Catanzaro capital, giving Reggio the regional assembly but saying it also could meet at Catanzaro and Cosenza, and awarding a new university to Cosenza. The cabinet also approved plans to build new industry which would bring another 15,000 jobs to Calabria, two-thirds of them in the Reggio region.

Reggio, Calabria's administrative capital until a 1908 earthquake hit it and many offices were moved to Catanzaro, has one of the lowest per capital incomes in the country and a feeling of being Italy's forgotten city.

"This city is as old as Rome. What business does Rome have suddenly telling us that we are no longer good enough to be the capital?" a restaurant waiter said angrily.

Residents of the city's Sbarre region, which declared itself independent of Italy, overturned cars and piled lumber, furniture and garbage in the streets, cutting the main road to the airport. Police made five unsuccessful attacks on the district.

A round of pistol shots forced one police advance to retreat. Bullets ripped holes in an officer's riot shield and tore a hole in another's uniform.

Rioters hurled firebombs, bottles and rocks at police trying to dismantle barricades. Police responded with teargas and squirts of red-dyed water. Jets of water rose in the air from three broken water mains and some telephone service was disrupted when manhole covers were ripped up and cables set ablaze.

Shoreline Board To Discuss Courses

The Shoreline Unified School District board will discuss course offerings and class scheduling for the 1971-72 school year at 8 p.m. Thursday at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

Supt. Charles A. McCully said the board also will receive the results of the 1969-70 statewide reading tests.

Justice Puts Long Hair 'Right' In Perspective

Justice Hugo L. Black of the United States Supereme Court has finally injected a little common sense into the hubbub over "student rights" in hair length.

Not so many years ago, it was taken for granted that a school could make whatever rules it wished — within reason — as to the wearing apparel and grooming of its students. But in recent years, some lawyers and others have read all sorts of things into the Bill of Rights in the U. S. Constitution, among them being the "right" of boy students to wear their hair whatever length they please.

School districts in Marin County have had their share of the haircut hassle. The right of a Redwood High School coach to require his athletes to have their locks trimmed was challenged in the U. S. District Court — unsuccessfully.

Across the country, lawyers whose interpretation of the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights extends to freedom to "do your thing" without regard to the rules of the school have brought suits challenging school regulations on hair length, wearing apparel, and campus behavior. In most cases, they have lost. But here and there, a judge has gone along with their broad interpretation of adolescents' constitutional rights. This has happened often enough to keep the controversy going, to prevent many schools from taking measures that are necessary to preserve campus discipline and decorum — and to tie up courts which have plenty to do in handling more important matters.

The attorney for a boy named Chesley Karr in El Paso, Tex., finally went too far and drew a rebuke last week from Justice Black which may help to end the nonsense.

Jeffrey's attorney asked that Justice Black issue an injunction against enforcement of Coronado High School's haircut regulation while a challenge could be fought through the court system.

Justice Black not only turned down the application, but made it plain the federal courts are not designed for such trivial purposes.

He scoffed at the idea that "anyone should think the federal Constitution imposes on the United States courts the burden of supervising the length of hair that public school students should wear."

Continued the Justice: "Surely the federal judiciary can perform no greater service to the nation than to leave the states unhampered in the performance of their purely local affairs. Surely few policies can be thought of in which states are more capable of deciding than the length of hair of schoolboys."

The schools, of course, are an arm of the state. And while Justice Black, seasoned lawyer that he is, was careful not to appear to be telling state courts what they should do, the same sound logic would apply to them: They have better things to do than waste time hearing specious arguments about boys' "right" to long tresses. It is up to the school to set its own regulations, if those in charge feel any are needed.

Ross Town Council On Right Course

May I extend congratulations to the Ross Town Council in voting unanimously against any plan to merge the Ross Police Department with any other department in connection with a proposed county-wide police agency. If our country is to recover from its present crisis, economy and services must stem from the grass roots of our system. This is reasonable and prudent procedure for all concerned.

Marin County Lacks Disaster Plan

I read with utter disbelief the article appearing in your newspaper on Feb. 11, concerning the status of Marin County disaster planning.

James Burdick, the disaster coordinator in Marin County, despite his earnest efforts has not only failed to receive support from the county administrator and the board of supervisors in the preparation of a disaster plan, but over the past years has been prevented from preparing such a plan.

Over the last 10 years I personally have attempted to secure a copy of the "so-called" Marin Disaster Plan, from the Marin County Disaster Office, from Region II, State Office of Emergency Service, and from Headquarters Sixth Army, Disaster Planning Office. The consistent and repeated answer from the Marin Disaster Office has been, "It is under revision," the answer from Region II (the State Bay Area County Disaster Office) and Headquarters Sixth Army has been, "It is non-existent."

To my personal knowledge the county of Marin prepared a draft disaster plan some 10 to 12 years ago. Up to a very, very short time ago, that plan has never been amended, revised or improved upon, and has remained in its draft form, never to this date being published or circulated amongst the county agencies.

The truth of the fact is that Marin County does not now have, and has not had a disaster plan for the past 10 to 12 years, despite every best effort of the State Disaster Office to have the county prepare such a plan . . .

As a result of this total apathy on the part of our county officials, the county was some time ago cut off from the State Disaster Program. Because of the total lack of leadership of the county in disaster planning, there is now not one city in Marin County which has an acceptable disaster plan. The State Office of Emergency Service (disaster office) ranks Marin County as the most "unplanned" county in the entire state of California, and as a result, the cities of Marin as well as the county have been denied United States Government surplus disaster equipment (ambulances, fire-fighting equipment, radios, medical supplies, etc.) . . .

Recall Movement Not Divisive

Mr. and Mrs. John McChesney, in a recent "Letter to the Editor," would have your readers believe that the supporters of Gordon Wright's recall are "delaying the attainment of a sound and stable educational program in the district."

I feel it is noteworthy that, by and large, the supporters of the recall movement have been some of the most active members of the community in supporting the schools over many years. Recall workers include many members of board-appointed committees, many Parent-Teacher Club officers and scores of dedicated workers in the Reed schools. They are persons who attend board meetings regularly and spend sleepless Tuesday nights due to real concerns over problems in the district.

They are people who are committed to the very same things that Mr. and Mrs. McChesney state in their letter — the establishment of goals, the determination of objectives, the provision of educational programs to meet those objectives, etc. . .

I view the recall movement, not as driving a deeper wedge into the community, but as a first and essential step in restoring a measure of harmony to the Reed Union School District. The education of our children is our prime concern — let's heal the split in this community and get back to business!

Mrs. MILTON LEVITAN

(The petition to recall Gordon C. Wright from the Reed School District board has qualified for the ballot, and the issue will be settled at the polls April 20. It has been quite thoroughly debated in "What Our Readers Say." Therefore, we will run no further letters pro or con pending the election. — Editor.)

Trading Stamp Choice Impossible

Re: Henry MacArthur's column re trading stamps.

MacArthur's article is somewhat biased. The simple choice he suggests is not as simple as all that in many areas simply because there are no stores of certain kinds which do not give stamps. . .

Beilenson's other points are also valid. Consumer's money are in the custody of the stamp company until redemption. Stamps lost by fire, water damage, etc. are never redeemed, and this risk is foisted upon the consumer; finally where stamps are given with purchases that qualify for deduction on the tax-return as a business expense the extra cost uttributable to the stamps is also deducted while the stamps on their merchandise value is not declared as income, thus defrauding the government and the rest of the taxpayers who pay the resulting higher taxes.

A law requiring the consumer to have a choice of cash or stamps can only be an improvement in getting a free choice. Only a complete fool could classify such a law as a "blow at free choice". But maybe MacArthur hasn't noticed his inconsistency.

Need Thousand Like Alioto

I have been following your editorials in your last couple of days concerning the mayor of San Francisco, Mr. Joseph Alito, and his involvement or I should say concern with the union members that had been sent to the Marin County Jail last week, and feel that if we had a thousand mayors like Joseph Alioto it wouldn't be enough. The people who wrote those unjustifiable remarks about him are blind, and ignorant to the fact that the mayor played an important role with labor disputes and acted as the arbitrator in settling these disputes.

I also stand firm on the belief that these obnoxious statements, to most important, demoralize Mayor Alioto as the chief representative of San Francisco and as a man of the utmost integrity, are false and malicious. (sic)

It's just to bad that more people don't due a little more listening to facts, rather than writing about little or nothing that they know about. . .

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Rises Above Politics In Conduct Of Indochina War

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The South Vietnamese ground and U.S. air thrust into Laos proves that President Nixon is not playing politics with the Vietnamese war.

He is ignoring domestic political consideration in order to continue a policy which he believes will enable him to wind down the war in a way which will leave South Vietnam strong enough to survive.

He is doing this at great political risk to himself because he believes this course will serve the United States far better than a quickie withdrawal, that it will enhance the prospects of peace throughout Indochina, and that it will prove that America is a reliable ally.

There are at least a dozen powerful reasons which caused Mr. Nixon to approve the operation against the North Vietnamese sanctuaries inside Laos and only one powerful reason which might have caused him to set back. The one argument against it was that it would be bad politics, that the Fulbrights, the McGoverns, the Hatfields and the other extreme Senate doves would jump all over him and accuse him of widening the war and of deserting his commitment to withdrawal. And he could reasonably expect new outbreaks of public protest as after Cambodia.

MR. NIXON COULD be an instant political hero by choosing the politically easy course. He isn't doing so. He is rejecting the politically easy course because he is convinced that to take the time and the domestic political risks to leave South Vietnam able to defend itself will serve the United States far better than any get-out-quicker alternative his critics are urging.

Undoubtedly many believe that it is the President who is mistaken. Be that as it may, he is spurning political timidity. He is knowlingly imperiling his re-election to do what he believes is right and necessary this is something which takes courage and class.

This is what a President of the United States is elected to do. The Constitution — assigning to him and to him alone the duty of Commander in Chief — requires him to do what he thinks best for the nation.

He is putting conviction ahead of political expediency and even those who disdain Mr. Nixon ought to be big enough to see it.

WHY IS THE President allowing U.S. air power to help the South Vietnamese ground troops clean out the enemy sanctuaries and arms buildup along the Ho Chi Minh Trail?

He is doing it for the same reason he approved the intervention into Cambodia nine months ago. This operation radically cut the flow of Communist troops and supplies to where they could be brought to bear against South Vietnam. It set back enemy offensives from that direction many months.

The present move to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail is doubly profitable because it is the only important remaining route which Hanoi can use. If this operation is as successful as the Cambodia operation, it could well be nearly a year before the Communists could mount a major offensive.

The extreme Senate doves see this ail as a great mistake. They suggest that Nixon is trying to seize victory from the jaws of withdrawal.

No. He is seeking to leave a secure South Vietnam through the process of withdrawal. The evidence that he will be able to do so is increasingly promising.

U.S. TROOPS are being steadily brought home. Successful interdiction of the Ho Chi Minh Trail by South Vietnamese forces and U.S. air power will enable more American troops to withdraw sooner.

President Nixon is convinced that he is ending the American role in Vietnam in the right way at the right time at the right pace. I believe the verdict of most Americans in the end will be "well done."

Mexico Has Couple Of Ways To Help Ease Doctor Shortage

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — This column has nothing but kind words for state Sen. Al Song's efforts to clear the way for 1,000 American medical students at the University of Guadalajara to become licensed to practice in California.

We need the doctors, as residents of small towns and villages as well as poor neighborhoods can testify, and these students have learned a second language in order to study medicine in Mexico, a decided advantage in many sections of California.

They can make the grade now, but only at the cost of taking two internships. Song's SB 127 would let them take the medical board exams during internship as medical students from Canada and the United States now may.

The senator took his business and professions committee to Guadalajara last fall to look into the situation and found a source of qualified manpower made up of Americans who had found American medical schools too crowded or too expensive.

IT SEEMS a shame that California finds it necessary to draw on foreign schools to supply doctors for its growing population, but song says that such is the case.

The University of Guadalajara is a privately endowed school which gets along largely on the tuition it charges, which runs about $1,000 a year for the Americans and $400 to $500 a year for Mexican students.

To get licensed in Mexico, students must take a year's internship and a year or so of what the Mexicans call social service. Unless things change, they would have to take another year of internship in the states before qualifying for the exams in California.

THE GOVERNMENT-supported National University does things a little differently as far as Mexican national students are concerned, and if we could wave our magic wand, we would have California adopt a similar system.

The Mexican government system is based on social service, and the medical education is essentially free. Our nephew, who recieved his medical education there, floored us when he told us the cost of tuition. Something under $50 a year, as we recall it.

In return for this essentially free education, however, the new doctor owes his country a year or so of obligated duty. This may be as resident physician to some Indian tribe, town doctor in some isolated mountain village which under any other system could not support a doctor, or clinic doctor in some poor barrio.

ANYONE WHO thinks that this sort of thing smacks of socialism or worse, ought to back up a bit.

It is a time-honored tradition at West Point and Annapolis to furnish a good education in lines where this country needed qualified people in return for two years of obligated duty to the country that picked up the tab.

A growing and building country needed civil engineers and the way for a qualified boy of limited means to get that kind of education was to win an appointment to West Point and pay for it with two years' service.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Feb. 17, 1961

With unemployment the highest in a decade, Gov. Edmund G. Brown called a March 13 conference to consider measure to combat the recession.

Marin County Health Department notified owners of about 45 arks on Corte Madera Creek that they were polluting the water and must take steps for sewage treatment.

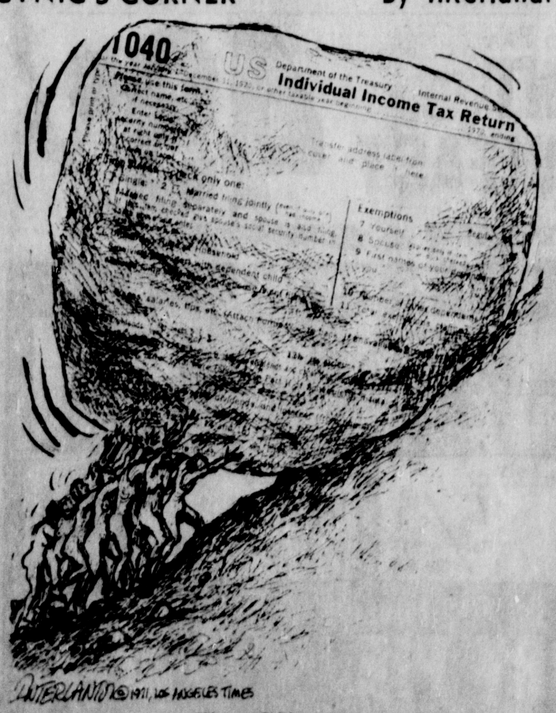
20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 17, 1951

Joseph Corbett Jr. pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to a charge of murder of Air Force Sgt. Allen Reed.

South Korean troops pulled back from the 38th Parallel to form a new defense line.

CYNIC'S CORNER — By Interlandi



We and Sisyphus!

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Presidential Ambitions Blind Demo Aspirants

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — It is increasingly obvious, if not surpirsing, that the Democrats who are making the most political sense during the party's hiatus from executive power are the wise old heads who are not running for office themselves. That means, specifically, Carl Albert and Larry O'Brien.

They know, and proceed stubbornly on their knowledge, that the main issue in the presidential campaign of 1972 is not going to be the Indochina war but the U.S. economy.

This is in contrast to George McGovern, who is desperately taking what one of his prominent southern colleagues calls the "long-pass" gamble for nomination by speaking out as harshly as possible on whichever emotional issue is in the day's headlines — but especially on the war.

It also is in contrast with Edmund Muskie, who has a comfortable lead and instinctively wants to hold to his calm and rational position but who occasionally lets McGovern frighten him into a contest to see who can choose the most alarming adverb to describe what Richard Nixon is doing in Southeast Asia.

MCGOVERN DECLARED that the administration was violating "spirit and letter" of the Cooper-Church Amendment limiting military activity in Cambodia. Later he noted accurately of Muskie: "He tends to approach most controversial issues with somewhat more caution than I do. He tends to wait for a consensus to develop before declaring his own position."

So Muskie followed up when the Laos operation was announced by labeling it an "outrage because the Senate had not been properly consulted in advance. You could almost hear him whispering aside to his staff, "Did that sound tough enough?"

On the same day, the new speaker, Carl Albert, was saying that the South Vietnamese move across the Laotian border was in fact "prudent" if American involvement was limited to the air and if the strike did indeed facilitate U.S. withdrawal.

Then he turned his attention back to the economy, insisting on standby price and wage controls and demanding that Mr. Nixon invoke them now to halt inflation. Of course, Mr. Nixon is not going to, certainly not as if in response to the Democrats' demands, but he is going to be embarrassed by it because they seem to want to control the economy more than he does.

You might assume that McGovern and Muskie would understand that this is the issue that hits every American every day and thus begin gouging the administration about it themselves. But they have not followed Albert's example.

O'BRIEN TOOK the initiative as national chairman and invited the active contenders for the nomination to an evening meeting where he and Albert and Mike Mansfield, the Senate leader, talked with them about the need to keep the party in one piece as another election year approaches.

That does not, however, bind them to shift their concentration from the war to domestic issues. That is a matter for each of them to judge.

There has to be a reason other than monomania for McGovern's narrow conception of how to become President. He is an intelligent man.

He knows as well as the rest of us that the President is determined to have U.S. involvement in Indochina down to a politically negligible minimum before the next election. The only people to whom it will not be negligible are the tunnel-vision antiwar types who will not be satisfied by any retrenchment short of unilateral American disarmament.

McGovern, trailing far back in the public opinion polls, has to excite enthusiasm for his nomination. Whatever he agreed to at Larry O'Brien's harmony session, it remains true that he is running now against Muskie. Mr. Nixon can come later, maybe.

And those loud antiwar legions swing more weight in a Democratic primary or convention than they do in an open election, of course.

That is McGovern's "long pass", a steady three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust makes more sense, but it's hard to restrain your offense when you're desperate.

Flag May Be Symbol Of Unity, But Is Unity Real Or Symbolic?

The display of politeness and good manners was something to behold, when San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen showed up to present a new San Rafael city flag to the San Rafael Board of Education the other evening.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer simply couldn't resist getting in a remark about how wonderful it was to see a city father attending an education board meeting.

Miskimen exacerbated the sore spot a bit, too, by agreeing, "Yes, there are some things we should talk about — such as the school board's cutoff of funds for the city recreation program."

Glossing that one over, a board member wondered whether the new city flag should fly above or beneath the state flag. "I understand you're not supposed to fly three flags on one pole," Miskimen replied. The audience winced, remembering a recent hassel over the green ecology flag...

SPEAKING OF FLAGS and symbols, there's a new bumper sticker that won't cement brotherly love between certain factions in Marin County. It shows the popular trisected-circle peace symbol — and next to it the wording "Track of the American Chicken."

Physicist Eugene V. Benton of Mill Valley and University of San Fraccisco has to be one of the most frustrated participants in the recent successful Apollo 14 lunar landing.

Benton went to the Cape Kennedy spaceport to put a package aboard Apollo 14 and watch the blastoff. His package was a gadget to detect the amount of cosmic radiation bombarding our astronauts on their space journey.

After the flight ended safely, Benton eagerly awaited word that he could retrieve the package and get to work reading its records.

"But I discovered it's in quarantine in Houston," he reported Friday. "It won't be oput until April 4."

And all physicist Sir Isaac Newton had to worry about was getting hit on the head by apples...

EMOTIONS GOT a bit strained at the Northern California district meeting of Lions Club officers in San Rafael during the week end, when it came to discussing the Lions' program of youth exchange visits. Chairman Art Hoover, explaining the annual visits by American youth to Japanese families and vice versa, warned that "the American type family doesn't include hippies or girls wearing mini skirts more than seven inches above the knee.

The stony silence finally was broken by another Lion official who arose and declared, "Hippie's a word I hope we Lions wipe out of our vocabulary."

Tam District Proposal Shows What AFT Wants

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Teachers are entitled to a great deal more than they now receive, in the belief of the American Federation of Teachers, education's AFL-CIO union.

How much is shown by a contract proposed recently to Tamalpais High School District and an "action program" announced by the AFT local in San Francisco.

The Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, AFT local 1985, proposed to the Tam district board a three-year contract which would designate the TFT as sole bargaining agent.

REASON FOR the presentation is a bit obscure. The TFT has relatively few members in the district, rating one out of nine representatives on the certificated employees' council; so its demand carries scant weight. But there is nothing tbscure about what it asked. Here are some of the things the proposed contract would provide:

Salary scale of $8,500 per year minimum to $19,700 maximum. (The district's present scale is $7,860 to $15,950). The scale would go up every year by whatever percentage the cost of living as computed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics increased. (There was no mention of downward revision in case the cost of living should start dropping.)

In addition: $1,000 per year longevity increment every five years after reaching the top of the scale. Full salary credit, year for year, for all experience in other districts, and up to five years credit, year for year, for "work experience directly related to that teacher's teaching field." One week per year vacation pay, up to four weeks, on top of the salary scale. District-paid (i.e., taxpayer-paid) complete health, hospitalization, dental and life insurance coverage. District (i.e., taxpayers) to pay all costs of teacher retirement program.

And besides these: Ten days paid sick leave per year which could be accumulated indefinitely, with the teacher receiving cash for unused accumulated sick leave on resigning. Five days per year paid bereavement leave for any death in the family, including grandparent, uncle, KNT OR COUSIN. Six days per year personal or business leave for which no reason need be given. Two days per year professional leave. Full year's paid leave at full pay every eighth year.

TO RECEIVE these benefits, the teacher would be required to teach no more than four classes per day, and no more than 25 students in any class. He would receive one free preparation period for each subject preparation. He could not be required to give any state or district test.

There is more, concerning teachers' aides, substitutes, and equipment and privileges accorded every teacher.

Frank A. Cassou, director of business, estimated the proposal would increase the cost of running the school district by about one-third.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Federation of Teachers has a bigger share of its district's certificated employees, although not a majority. Its "action program" therefore carries more weight, which may be the reason it is just a trifle more realistic.

For instance, it calls for a salary schedule of $8,500 to $17,000 (to be reopened whenever the cost of living index goes up two points (and for only two longevity increments atop the schedule. And it would permit a maximum of 30 students in most high school classes.

Otherwise, however, it is quite similar. And it includes a few extra benefits, such as retirement on full pay at age 55, and inclusion of psychiatric services in district-paid (i.e., taxpayer-paid) health insurance.

Such demands by the AFT are almost certain to produce similar ones from the more-powerful California Teachers Association, since it does not want to lose membership to the rival union.

Fisher Mansion Up For Sale For $350,000

DETROIT (UPI) —The 55-room mansion built by the late automaker Lawrence P. Fisher for $2 million is up for sale for $350,000.

Gilbert Groehn Jr., 32, who bought the house from the Fisher estate, said he hoped to sell it to a boating club.

"It's too impractical and too ludicrous to use for a private home," he said.

He said the heating bill is $3,000 a year and landscaping the four-acre estate boasts another $8,500. The Spanish-style riverfront mansion, built in 1928, has been vacant since Groehn bought it, except for the four caretakers.

Groehn estimated it would cost $6 million to build the same structure today.

DAR Medals Go To Four Novato Pupils

Four Novato school children will receive bronze medals next Tuesday as winners of a Daughters of the American Revolution contest for essays on the United States Constitution and its signers.

The four essays were selected as best submitted in the contest conducted by El Marinero chapter of the DAR, which covers Marin County. About 50 entries were received, with all but one being from Novato schools and that one from Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo, said Mrs. Helen Noel of Petaluma, contest chairman. All school districts in Marin County were notified of the competition, she said.

Winners are Cynthia A. Cain of 206 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, a fifth grader at Hamilton School; Bert Seeley Morehead of 570 Eldridge Avenue, a sixth grader at Lynwood School; Mary Bayer, a seventh grader at Sinaloa Junior High School, and Gina Borgman of 3 Maestro Road, an eighth grader at Sinaloa.

They will receive the medals at a luncheon at 1 p.m. next Tuesday at Marin Valley Mobile Country Club, 100 Marin Valley Drive, Novato. Their essays will also be submitted for a statewide DAR competition, winners of which in turn will be sent to a national contest.

Mrs. Noel said the chapter plans to give small American flags to all children who entered.

13,765 Riders On Weekend Ferries

The Sausalito-San Francisco ferry, operated by the Golden Gate Bridge District, carried 13,765 passengers during the long holiday weekend which ended Monday night, Dale W. Luehring, bridge district general manager, disclosed.

Luehring said waiting passengers were left at the dock in both Sausalito and San Francisco on several runs Saturday and yesterday because the vessel was full. The traffic brought to more than 33,000 the number of passengers carried by the ferry the first 15 days of this month.

Indian Dig Proposal Due Hearing

The Marin Junior College District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Olney Hall, will consider authorizing an archaeological dig on the College of Marin campus.

The excavation has been recommended for the site of the proposed library. College officials say there is evidence the site is an Indian burial ground.

The board also will consider whether to reactivate the citizens' committee that worked on last November's $16,920,000 college bond measure.

The measure, which did not receive a two-thirds favorable vote, will be resubmitted to the voters April 20.

Plead Innocent

billy Ray Franklin, 19, and Charles Franklin, 21, both of Oakland, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of burglarizing a Sausalito men's clothing store Dec. 14. A jury trial was set for the week of April 26.

Kentfield Men Get 5-Year Probations

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Judge Albert C. Wollenberg of U. S. District Court has given probation to two Kentfield men who pleaded guilty to conspiracy in connection with a $250,000 cocaine sale.

Placed on probation yesterday for five years were Robert Bernard Ford and Mark Robert Shanahan, both 21, who had earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to violate federal narcotics laws.

They were among seven Marinites arrested last May at the San Francisco Airport and in Sausalito as a result of a long investigation.

The only other defendant to be sentenced this far, Sharon Ann Needelman, 26, of San Anselmo has been sought by authorities since she failed to show up Jan. 18 to serve a year in federal prison.

Also missing is Marcia Freet, 27, of Sausalito who failed to appear for trial Feb. 1.

Another woman, Maureen Booth, 24, of San Anselmo, is due to be sentenced April 23 for conspiracy, and two brothers, Mitchell J. Howard, 22, of Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Sausalito are to be sentenced Feb. 25 for sale of cocaine.

All but the Howards were arrested at the airport after federal agents purchased cocaine worth $250,000 from the suspects.

Board To Eye Recreation Pact

The Larkspur School District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the district office, will consider a recreation agreement with the City of Larkspur for use of district tennis courts.

The Larkspur City Council has agreed to repave the courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School provided the district authorizes public use during the summer, after school and on weekends.

The board also will establish dates and times for the 1971 summer school program.

THE BEAUTY, FORM AND GRACE OF FIGURE SKATING

Juli Marie McKinstry, Terra Linda High School freshman displays her beautiful figure skating form during a practice session at Squaw Valley. Only 14, Julie already is competing with the best women skaters in the country in the senior women's division. Although she wasn't among the winners in the U.S. Nationals last month in Buffalo, N.Y., Julie has already added the 1971 Central Pacific Senior Ladies title to her growing collection. Last year she won the U.S. National Junior Ladies title and is the youngest of the girls competing this year in the senior division. Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. McKinstry of 619 Cedarberry Lane, San Rafael.

JIM GILMARTIN

Giants Quicker Than The A's

JIM SHORTS:

Hey, the baseball season hasn't even started yet but the San Francisco Giants have already beaten the Oakland Athletics! And they aren't even in the same league.

Not, not on the field, sillies. I'm referring to the public relations department. Giant ace tub thumper Garry Schumacher already has out to sports departments his usually fine Press, Radio and Television Guide called "The Year of the Fox Fox" in honor of Manager Charley Fox. Nothing yet from the A's.

It's a 42-page slick that promises Giant fans "Fun In Seventy-One," as quoted by Manager Fox. Pretty cute slogan.

Only disappointment to me is that the guide makes no mention of my late uncle, Bill Cunningham, who starred for the Giants in the 1921 World Series.

However, the last time I talked to Horace Stoneham, owner of the club, he told me: "Billy was a very good friend of mine and I will always remember him."

Horace has a lot of class, in spite of what sour grapes Ron Hunt had to say after Stoneham traded him away.

HERE'S A NOTE from Dick Degnon of the University of Santa Clara, a follow up to my column about frosh basketball star Jerry Piro, formerly of Redwood High: "On behalf of our coaching staff and myself, I would like to say thanks for a fine column of yours (aw gee) on Jan. 22 on our Jerry Piro. Although Jerry's scoring has fallen off a wee bit, he is playing even better defense now, and looks like he will definietely help us next year."

Degnon noted that thus far Piro has connected on 46 per cent of his field goal attempts and has averaged 15 points a game.

AND FROM the University of Pacific sports information bureau comes a note that John Dohn and Pete Carroll, starting backs for College of Marin's feetsball squad last year, have signed letters-of-intent to enroll at the Stockton brain builder.

I've already mentioned Carroll's intentions, but haven't heard about Dohn's until just now. John Dohn — good name because it rhymes. He was named "Athlete of the Year" at Terra Linda High; was an Ali-Marin County Athletic League selection twice and won All-State honorable mention at Marin last season.

FRIEND CAME into the office and asked if Standard Oil Co. would be blamed for the Los Angeles earthquake. He said Standard was being blamed for everything else. Told him Standard definitely was not to be blamed because it definitely was San Andreas' fault.

That bum pun ought to win me a Chevron for my Jimmy Jammies.

All-Star Cagers To Vie At San Rafael Academy

Hal Fischer's All-Army, AAU basketball team will play its third game in Marin County in less than a month tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the San Rafael Military Academy gymnasium.

The game, pitting players who attended western colleges against those from the east, will feature former All American Darnell Hillman of San Jose State, most valuable player in the 1970 World Games.

Fisher, for many years one of the top coaches of amateur teams in the country, has stated that this year's army team is possibly the best of more than a dozen he has handled.

The game tomorrow night will be played under international rules, and will help Fisher decide the final selections for this year'? AAU team, which begins its season next month.

It's Now Or Never For Tars

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The situation College of Marin finds itself in now, late in the 1971 basketball season, is enough to boggle the mind of a professional bookie, not to mention a lowly sportswriter.

For, although they are in third place, two games behind league leading De Anza of Cuupertino with just four games to go, the Tars have a chance — coach John Panagakis thinks a good chance — to tie for the Camino Norte Conference championship.

Fate and the schedule maker have placed the Kentfield team's future largely in their own hands. Their final games include home contests against De Anza, 9-1 in league play, West Valley, which shares third place with Marin at 7-3, and Contra Costa, holders of second place at 8-2. The latter, Marin's fiercest rival of late, comes to Kentfield tonight.

One need not be a mathematician to figure that, even if the Tars win all their remaining games, they still will be out of luck unless De Anza cooperates by losing another one somewhere. And Panagakis thinks that's what is going to happen.

"I think they're going to lose to Skyline," he says, citing the fact that the game will be played at Skyline. That team is 5-5 in league action, including two losses to Marin, but a victory over Contra Costa, which is something the Tars can't claim.

In fact, Marin hasn't tasted success against the East Bay team in three years. When they met last month in San Pablo, the Comets rolled to a 91-62 victory. That game marked the Tars' first league loss after four wins, and broke a 13-game winning streak that started in the preseason.

The memory of that black night would be motive enough for Marin to play the best it possibly can tonight. The absolute necessity to win in order to stay alive in the CNC race adds another incentive, and since Contra Costa likewise views the game as a must win affair, the action will be at a premium.

Principal villains in the earlier encounter, and the men the Tars will have to stop, are 6-foot-9 center Floyd Allen and super guard Ollie Ellison. They scored 27 and 20 points respectively, and dominated the rebounding in their first meeting.

Neither of Marin's big stars, guard Joe Smith and center Roosevelt Green, played well that night (they scored only 25 points between them), and both will be out for revenge. Smith has played especially well in the last month, has 50 points in his last two games, and could be the deciding factor.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Seals Lose Another Road Game

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) —A quickie quiz: When was the last time the California Golden Seals won a game on the road?

Answer: Dec. 20 over Detroit by a 7-3 score. Since then, the Seals have lost 14 straight away from home, broken only by a 1-1 tie with Toronto in mid-January.

St. Louis administered the latest loss on the Seals, 5-1, Tuesday night. The Blues scored on their first three shots of the game to finish goalie Gary Smith and run up a 3-0 lead less than five minutes after the opening whistle.

The Seals are hoping for better things tonight when they end their current four-game road trip against the North Stars at Minneapolis.

Then they return home to face the sizzling Boston Bruins at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena Friday night.. That game is a sellout.

Thus far this season, the Seals have compiled an embarrassing 3-27-2 record on the road.

Gary Jarrett netted California's only goal about 2 1-2 minutes into the final period against the Blues to cut the St. Louis lead to 4-1 and ruin Glenn Hall's bid for a shutout.

Smith was removed from goal and Chris Worthy took over after those three quick opening goals by the Blues. Worthy allowed goals by Bill Sutherland in the middle period and Frank Huck in the final period while coming up with 35 saves for his longest stint of the season.

During the four seasons St. Louis and California have been in the National Hockey League, the Seals have won only one game at the St. Louis Arena.

Redwood Gets A Scare

The Redwood High School Giants got a minor scare last night from the last place San Rafael High School Bulldogs, but ultimately prevailed, 54 - 49 in a Marin County Athletic League basketball game at San Rafael.

(Stories of other high school basketball games on page 18.)

Scott Trobbe of Redwood and Jim Thorne of San Rafael tied for scoring honors with 14 points each, but altogether the Giants shot 42 per cent from the floor while the Bulldogs hit only 32 per cent and that was the difference.

Victory No. 38 in the Larkspur team's fantastic MCAL winning streak did not come anywhere near as easily as expected by those who saw the Giants slaughter the Bulldogs in their first encounter this year. In that one, Redwood led in the first quarter, 20 - 4.

This time at the end of the first period, San Rafael had a one point edge, and except for a poor second quarter, might have come away with an incredible upset. The Bulldogs still had a chance in the last period, when they trailed by only three points with four minutes to go.

But championship style was there when Redwood needed it, and in the end the Giants carried home their 11th victory in as many league games this season, while San Rafael contented itself with a sterling try. The Bulldogs' record now reads 3 - 8.

Steve McGee finished behind Trobbe for Redwood with 12 points. Scoring a like amount for San Rafael were Wayne Lechner and Jim Molinari.

THE HAYWOOD CASE

Next Move Is Up To Sonics' Owner

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Next move in the legal battle surrounding pro basketball player Spencer Haywood is up to his boss, Sam Schulman of the Seattle Supersonics.

A panel of three federal judges here dissolved an injunction which Schulman had obtained to prevent other teams in the National Basketball Association from interfering with the 6-foot-9 Haywood while he played for Seattle.

Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, today warned the Seattle SuperSonics that the playing contract of Spencer Haywood is "disapproved" and thay any further use of him "will be considered a willful violation by Seattle of the provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the NBA."

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the ninth Circuit opened the way for the NBA to take action against the Sonics if they continued to use Haywood who jumped from Denver of the rival American Basketball Association to Seattle last month.

Seattle's next game is Wednesday night at home against Portland.

All of the other NBA owners protested that Seattle was violating an NBA rule by signing Haywood to a pro contract before his University of Detroit class graduates in June. Some owners said they favored removing the Seattle franchise unless Schulman conforms to league rules.

The three-judge panel said it was powerless to do anything about the games in which Haywood has already performed for Seattle because the injunction had been in effect.

Nearly every team which has lost to Haywood and the Sonics has lodged a protest.

Attorneys for the NBA have argued that the league has a fine working relationship with the nation's colleges regarding the recruiting of campus athletes and this could be destroyed if Haywood is allowed to continue playing for the Sonics.

The U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, which originally issued the injunction sought by Schuman against the NBA, has scheduled a March 2 hearing in the Haywood case. Aired at that time will be ak request of NBA owners for a restraining order to prohibit Haywood from playing in the league until his class graduates this spring.

A $1.9 million contract Haywood signed with the Denver Rockets of the ABA also may be examined at the court hearing.

Haywood said he left Denver and signed with Seattle because he didn't want to wait until the age of 70 before he received $1.5 million in deferred payments from the ABA club.

Muhammad's Secret Prediction

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Muhammad Ali will have a prediction about the outcome of his March 8 title fight with Joe Frazier, but he's only going to make it in front of the fight's closed-circuit television audience.

Ali, in training here for the fight at Madison Square Garden, said Tuesday he will open a sealed envelope containing his prediction in his dressing room five minutes before the bout.

"The people in the theaters and in the big arenas around the world who will be watching me take back my crown from that amateur Frazier are my people," Ali said. "They can't afford the fancy prices at Madison Square Garden so I'm going to speak to them and them only from my dressing room exactly five minutes before the fight.

The fight will be televised to this country and overseas by satellite to a closed-circuit theater audience.

Stillwagon Spurns Packer Offer; To Play For Toronto Argonauts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—All-American middleguard Jim Stillwagon says he will play in the Canadian Football League because the Toronto Argonauts made him a "fairer" offer than the Green Bay Packers.

"They made me a deal I couldn't afford to turn down," the UPI Lineman of the Year said after disclosing he had signed a two-year contract with the Argonauts.

"Being drafted so low upset me and upset my financial status," he said. "The Argos came up with a fairer offer and that's why I signed. Now I just want to play football."

Despite his many honors, including the Outland Trophy, highest award given a college lineman, Stillwagon was not picked until the fifth round of the January NFL college draft. Many teams believed the 6-foot, 225-pound Mt. Vernon, Ohio, native too small for pro football.

Stillwagon also said the Packers wanted him to play linebacker, "but I did not have much experience at that position."

Argonaut coach Leo Cahill said he plans to play him at defensive tackle.

"Stillwagon is the most heralded lineman to come to Canada," Cahill said. "He reminds me a lot of John Lagron (Edmonton) and Granville Liggins (Calgary) who are not giants but have great speed and pursuit and rush the passer well."

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Wells Fined For Hit And Run

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland Raiders wide receiver Warren Wells is slowly untangling his problems with the law.

Tuesday he was fined $125 on a misdemeanor charge of hit-run driving he received after leaving the scene when his auto hit a parked car last December.

Today he is to appear in Alameda County Superior Court on a charge of violating the probation given him earlier in a sexual assault case.

Also hanging over Wells are two drunk driving charges, Jan. 31 in San Francisco and the following day in Oakland.

San Marin Cagers Triumph

Riding the masterly shooting of four players who hit double figures, the San Marin High School Mustangs shot down the Marin Catholic Wildcats last night, 81-65 in a Marin County Athletic League basketball game at Novato.

A sparse crowd of little more than 100 got more than their money's worth as both teams displayed magnificent shooting accuracy and near professional ball control. The win was worth a share of third place for San Marin, now 5-6 in MCAL competition, while the loss for the Wildcats was their eighth in 11 games, and drops them into last place with San Rafael.

Senior Forward Brad O'Riley was the hero of heros for San Marin as he led all scorers with 20 points, and also turned in a beautiful defensive effort. He was particularly effective as a rebounder in the fourth quarter when San Marin's center, 6-foot-9 Dana LaFerriere, fouled out.

LaFerriere accounted for 19 points before leaving, and was followed in the scoring by Hoza Wright and Jim Thompson with 16 and 13 points respectively. Wright, a sophomore, got most of his points on lofty outside shots, while Thompson drove inside for his.

With all those guys playing some of their best ball of the season, San Marin scored 25 points in the second quarter, and opened up an insurmountable 16 point lead at halftime. Marin made a valiant comeback effort at the beginning of the fourth quarter, cutting the lead to 10, but lost two big men to fouls and dropped the challenge.

The Wildcats, no slouches themselves on offense, got 22 points from senior Bill Donellan, and 12 from Jim Sullivan. Donellan would have had more, but he fouled out early in the fourth quarter, soon after another Marin star, Tim Stone, went that route in the third period.

DeMaestri's Shots Win For Novato

Joe DeMaestri connected on a jump shot and two free throws in the final seconds last night to insure the Novato High School Hornets a 58 - 55 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over Drake High in San Anselmo.

The victory, the Hornets' fourth against seven losses, broke their four-game losing streak and gave them a share of fourth place in the MCAL with the Pirates, who are also 4 - 7. It was the first time they have won without star forward Marty Moroski, who is currently sidelined with a broken hand.

DeMaestri popped home 23 points to lead all scorers, and was, as usual, unstoppable from outside, but, according to Novato coach Jim Caranica, the key to the win was Tom Larman, who collected 15 points, most of them in crucial situations. It was his best performance of the season.

Drake looked good early in the game, taking a 19 - 10 first quarter lead, and holding a four-point edge at halftime. But Novato outscored the San Anselmo team in both the third and fourth quarters. Three players hit double figures for Drake — Jim Forni, 18, Bob Gregg 17, and Jit Singh, 13.

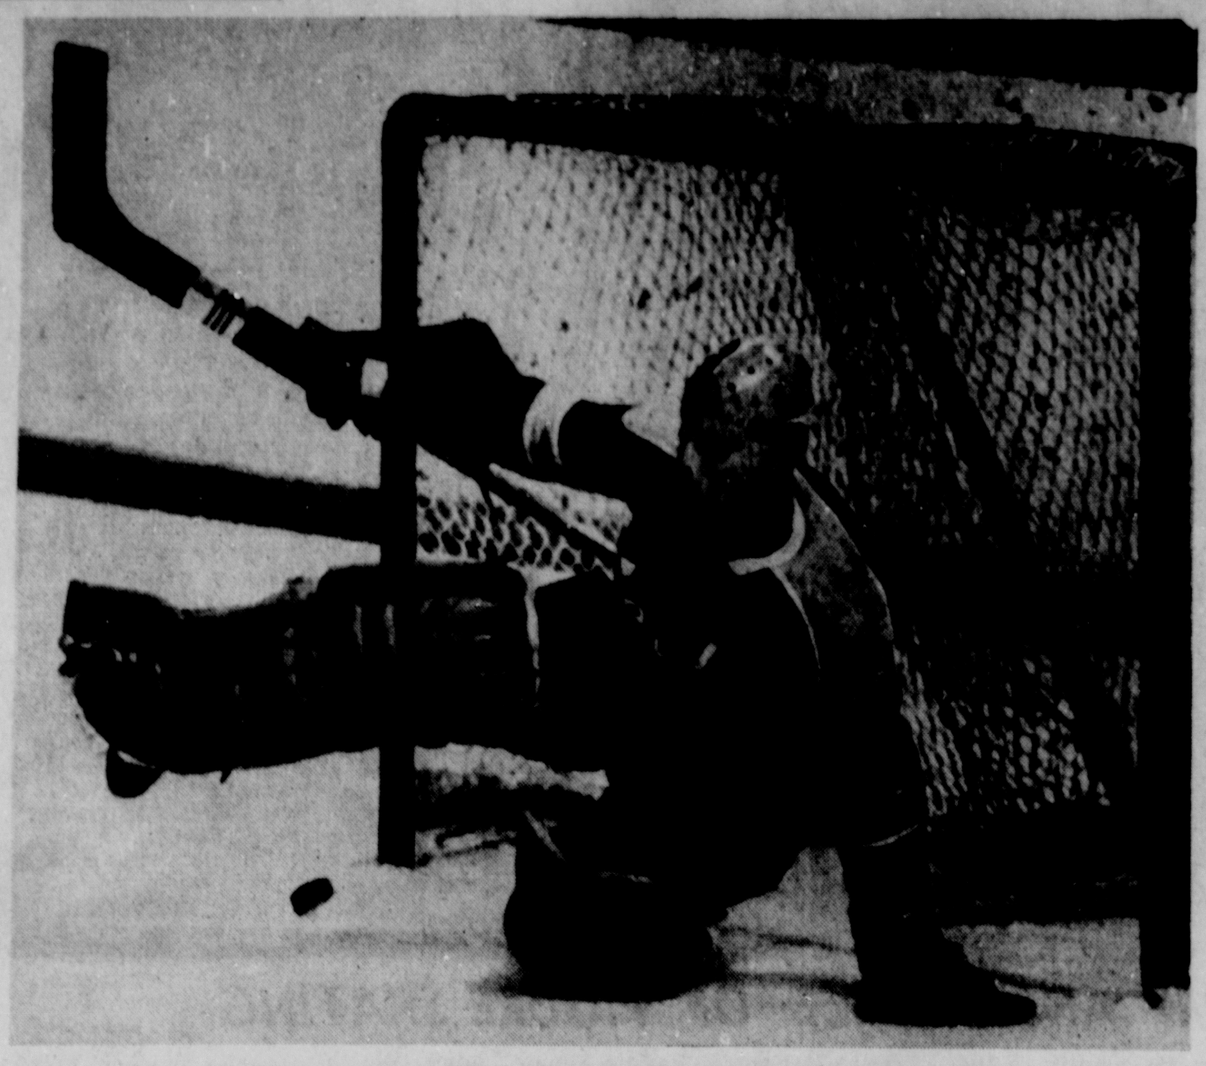
Intimate Stadium

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— Municipal Stadium, home of the Royals, has the smallest seating capacity in the major leagues, 32,561. However, this is being rectified with construction of a new park, part of Kansas City's new sports center.

Numbers Game

DETROIT (UPI) — Hank Greenberg, who slugged for the Detroit Tigers and then the Pittsburgh Pirates in the latter stages of his career, has a total of 331 home runs and had a lifetime batting average of .313.



A COMMON SIGHT THESE DAYS

California Seals' goalie Gary Smith was powerless to stop a shot by Noel Picard of the Blues in the first period of a National Hockey League game last night in St. Louis. In fact, Smith was powerless to stop the first three Blues' shots, and therefore was replaced by Chris Worthy. St. Louis won, 5-1.

Tamalpais Holds Off Terra Linda

Never in trouble and yet never absolutely comfortable, the Tamalpais High School Indians held the lead most of the way yesterday to defeat the Terra Linda High School Trojans, 64-57 at Terra Linda, before perhaps 200 fans.

League leading scorer Will Garner once again assumed the hero's role as he netted 20 points and came up with one of his best defensive efforts of the season to propel the Indians of Mill Valley to their ninth Marin County Athletic League victory in 11 games. For the Trojans, the loss dropped them below .500 at 5-6, and forces them to share third place with San Marin.

At no time did it seem Terra Linda was bound to upset Tam, as happened the first time the teams met this season. They came back after trailing by as many as 13 to close within five in the fourth quarter, but the Indians rattled off 10 straight points to settle the issue.

Garner was the obvious difference, especially in the third period when he scored nine points. Eight of them came in rapid succession, and gave the Indians the lead at 42-29. John Earl Huff followed Garner with 10 points and Pat Locey had nine, six in the final quarter.

Terra Linda's attack was financed by their razzle-dazzle forward, Joe Casteel, who scored 17 points. Andy Mora added 13, six in the last quarter.

11,694 Race Fans At GGF Opening

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI)— Jockey Laffitt Pincay Jr. rode Kfar Tov to three-quarter length triumph in the $20,000 added Golden Bear Stakes Tuesday as Golden Gate Fields opened its 85-day thoroughbred season with a record turnout of 11,694.

It was the biggest weekday opening in the track's 30-year history.

Kfar Tov paid $4.40 as the favorite while covering the six furlongs in a rapid 1.08 2-5. Moonsplash finished second and Fast Fellow was third in the field of seven three-year-olds.

Willie Shoemaker, won the previous race astride Inverness Drive. It was his 6,104th victory. The shoe won his first race at the same track 22 years ago.

New York (UPI)—There'll be two streaks and a lot of money at stake tonight when Dennis Ralston inherits the role of "giant killer" and Rod Laver hopes to overcome a weekend setback with his usual precision playing in the 10th match of the $210,000 Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden.

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI)—As the $50,000 United States Men's Indoor Open Tennis championships entered the third round today, defending champion Ilie Nastase of Rumania found the top of his foreign ranks badly depleted and the U.S. contingent unscathed.

Nastase, the top foreign seed, and Thomas Koch of Brazil, the fourth foreign seed, are the only top foreigners left.

Koch did not play last night. Nastase got by Jim Connors of the U.S., 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)— Dr. Eddie Beeson, who set a world highjump record as a University of California athlete in 1914, died Monday at the age of 81.

Beeson's jump of 6 feet 7 1-4 inches was a world record from 1914 to 1924.

He was a dentist at Healdsburg, Calif., before his retirement. He died at a Santa Rosa rest home of natural causes.

Drake Frosh Quint Alone In 1st Place

Tamalpais High School's freshmen basketballers knocked San Rafael's frosh out of first place in the Marin County Athletic League standings yesterday with a 45-37 victory.

San Rafael's record fell to 9-3, a game off the pace of Drake, (10-2), which is alone in first place after knocking off Redwood 33-28 yesterday.

San Rafael's Steve D'Ambra scored 20 points and Tam's Mike Dinehardt hit 19 in that game. In the other game of the day, Marin Catholic, led by Len Kristensen's 16 points, whipped Terra Linda 43-27.

Petaluma Title Hopes Vanish

The Petaluma High School Trojans saw their last North Bay I League pennant hopes go down the drain yesterday when they dropped a 59-44 decision to the Santa Rosa High School Panthers.

Joe Rodola steadied Petaluma somewhat with 18 points but the rest of the club didn't pull its own weight, and the result dropped the Trojans into third place, behind Napa and Santa Rosa.

Tom and Chris Allen finished with 11 and 10 points apiece to pace the Panthers, who surged ahead in the final quarter, at one time to an 18-point lead.

Rancho Cotate Ends With Loss

Rancho Cotate High School's basketball team ended its North Bay II League season last night on a losing note and in third place. Second place Cardinal Newman defeated the Cougars, 82-63 in Santa Rosa.

There was one consolation in defeat for the Cougars; center Ron Seiler came in with 20 points, to up his career total to 1,013. But his effort went for naught as the Cardinals led all the way, behind Jim Wilkey's 18 points, and Bill Price's 13.

Steve Wlodarczyk backed Seiler with 13. The Cougars finish the season Friday in a non-league battle with Petaluma.

Will Sanders Ever Learn?

HOUSTON (UPI) — Pro golfer Doug Sanders, once hit in the head by one of Vice President Agnew's errant golf balls, today was at home in a wheel chair with injuries suffered in a tennis match with Agnew.

Sanders said he fell during the match at Palm Springs, Calif., and tore some ligaments in his leg. Sanders and Agnew were in Palm Springs last weekend for the Bob Hope Golf Classic, the tournament where Agnew hit Sanders last year.

This year Agnew, playing with Sanders, hit three persons with his first two shots. Agnew also hit Joseph H. Blanchard, the Peace Corps director, in a tennis match in Washington last year when he and Blanchard were doubles partners.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Killebrew Reaches $100,000 Plateau

By United Press International

The Minnesota Twins finally have signed their first $100,000 player and now they'd like to wait a while before they sign their second,

Harmon Killebrew, who hit 41 homers and drove in 113 runs for the Twins, agreed to the $100,000 pact over the phone, club president Calvin Griffith announced Tuesday.

The Twins slugger said he will report to the Orlando, Fla., camp of the Twins a week from Tuesday and said that he doesn't feel he's going to need any rest this season. Killebrew, who'll be 35 in July, said he still can play everyday.

But while Killebrew signed the six-figure contract, the Twins are trying not to give Tony Oliva one. Oliva figures he's worth it after hitting .325 last season and driving in 107 runs.

Griffith, though, argues that Oliva is only 29 and isn't ready to reach the six figure bracket. Oliva, though, figures that performance and not age should determine the salary and there's going to some hard negotiating before he comes to terms.

The Twins also announced the signing of two other players, shortstop Leo Cardenas and minor leaguer Cotton Nash, the former Kentucky basketball star who hit 33 homers for Evansville last season.

Gary Nolan, who started the first game of the World Series for Cincinnati last season, signed his contract with the Reds. He posted an 18-7 record last season with an ERA of 3.26.

Jim Fregosi, the shortstop for the California Angels, signed a contract for a "substantial raise" in salary. The guesses are that the "substantial" means a contract of about $75,000. General Manager Dick Walsh said it was the best contract an Angel has signed since he's been negotiating contracts.

Frank Reberger, who's expected to be a starter for San Francisco, became the 21st Giant to sign his contract this season. He was 7-8 for the year but looked impressive at the end of the campaign when he switched from a reliever to a starter.

Three righthanded pitchers, Chuck Taylor, Reggie Cleveland and Bob Chlupsa, agreed to terms with the St. Louis Cardinals. General Manager Bing Devine said they officially sign their contracts when they arrive in camp at St. Petersburg.

The Baltimore Orioles signed Paul Blair, the leading hitter in the World Series with a .474 mark, to his contract. The champion Orioles now have signed 22 players.

The New York Yankees signed eight players, including Roy White, who received a raise to $50,000 after hitting .296 last season. The other players signing were Curt Blefary, Stan Bahnsen, Gene Michaels, Frank Tepedino, Ron Klimkowski, Gary Waslewski and Tony Solaita.

The Atlanta Braves announced that Sonny Jackson, the shortstop who's been hampered by injuries the past two seasons, will come to camp five days early to work out in centerfield. The Braves now have Marty Perez, acquired from California, to play short.

Oakland increased the number of players on its signed rolls to 33 when Rick Monday came to terms.

The start of spring training never is complete without the Mets wondering about third base. The club hasn't had a regular in its nine years of existence and it looks like there'll be a scramble again this season since Wayne Garrett was inducted into the Army for a four to six month term, which will mean he'll miss much of the season.

Bob Aspromonte, obtained during the off-season because the Mets were worried about Garrett's medical status, and rookies Tim Foli and Teo Martinez will be battling for the job.

Players Share Week's Honors

OAKLAND (UPI) — Center Ansley Truitt of the California Bears is working harder on defense and it's starting to show.

For holding opposing centers from Washington and Washington State to 10 points and 19 rebounds last weekend, Truitt was honored as co-player of the week in the university division by the Northern California basketball writers.

At their luncheon Tuesday, the writers also selected Stanford guard Claude Terry to share the honor with Truitt. Terry scored 52 points against the same two teams. Truitt totalled 39 points and 36 rebounds.

As a result of Truitt's heroics, the Bears won both games and climbed into third place in the Pacific-8 Conference with a 5-3 mark.

Meanwhile, St. Mary's coach Bruce Hale and Santa Clara coach Carroll Williams were still talking about the Broncos 114-111 double-overtime win over the Gaels Monday night.

"We beat them by 52 rebounds, yet we were eight points down with 1:42 to go in regulation play," recalled Williams. "When they were down to three men, they still scored four points off us."

Hale said during his long tenure in basketball his teams never played with three men. Hale coached at Miami of Florida and the defunct Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association before being hired by St. Mary's.

"It was an unusual game for me," said Hale. "I was down to four players once at Miami and used a diamond defense to get by.

"But when we got down to three Monday it definitely created some problems."

In the game's final moments, Hale admitted he was torn between trying to win and yet admiring the work of his son, Alan, who is a guard for Santa Clara. Alan made some key free throws down the stretch to help the Broncos.

"I found myself rooting for my son," said Hale.

Gary Bradford, a guard from San Francisco State, was named player of the week in the college division for the fifth time.

BOATING

Outboards Can Cause Problem

Not too many years ago, when all outboard motor boats were made of wood, there was no trouble in keeping the motor firmly fastened to the transom. The outboard motor clamps made deep bites into the relatively soft wood and held firmly. Even today, a lot of aluminum and smaller fiber glass boats have wooden motor mounting boards on the transoms.

But on many of the larger fiber glass boats, securing the motor is more complicated. Because fiber glass is a hard smooth material it is not wise to depend only on the friction of the motor clamps. It is almost standard practice now to incorporate bolt holes in the mounting brackets of medium and larger outboards so that they may be bolted permaently to the transom.

A motor that must be put on and taken off frequently should nave the best possible transom plate used along with it. These plates come in various styles. Some are solid rubber and wrap over the transom like a saddle blanket, others are metal with rims or flanges. The plates are screwed to the boat and give the motor clamps something to grip.

But the best is none too good, and a close watch should be kept on the motor if it isn't bolted on.

There's a lot of gadgetry being used these days, not only for the outboarder but in what most people consider the traditional field of sailing. Much of it invites questions.

Q. My motor was stolen, it is easily slipped off my fiber glass boat. Would a chain and padlock be worth the trouble?

A. Unquestionably. Naturally, it won't stop the determined thief, but most thieves are looking for easy pickings. The chain and lock add just enough trouble to make them give up the idea. A chain and lock on a trailer is a good idea, too.

Q. I want to put an outboard on my sailboat as an auxiliary. I need a mounting bracket that slides up and allows the motor to tilt as well. Is there one?

A. Don't accept anything but exactly what you want. There are almost a dozen manufacturers of such brackets in every conceivable design. Tell a marine dealer what you need and he'll get one. I've seen one exactly as you describe made by a Michigan firm.

Q. My dealer is trying to sell me the new mechanical steering system. Is it that much better than the old cable and pulleys?

A. Infinitely better. A mechanical steerer is a fully enclosed, permanently lubricated steel cable, operating inside a weather-proof conduit. It transmits both a pulling and pushing force without kinking. Above all mechanical steerers give much more precise and positive feel and control. They are vastly more durable, too.

Q. What do they call the things which control the attitude of a boat?

A. You must mean trim tabs. They are flat plates fastened to the stern at the water line. Some are hydraulically controlled from the driver's seat. Tilted up or down they react on the water passing under the boat to control it's attitude.

Q. I'm told there is an automatic bailer which works when the boat is going. It is not driven by the motor. Is such a thing available?

A. There is a small rubber bailing device which is fastened to the stern. It's really a valve which lets water out at a high speed but won't let any in. It's called the Ph-f-f-t. Ask your dealer.

Q. What would you have done if you had lost your keys overboard. . .?

A. I've got a hidden switch — Hah. But I know a man who keeps a fishing bobber on his ignition key ring. It's big enough to float the keys if they go overboard. He's had to swim for them a couple of times, but that's better than the messy job of shorting the ignition wires, and paying for the repairs after.

Q. Boats make so many waves passing my mooring spot, it strains my deck cleats. . . .is there an answer.

A. There are rubber devices called snubbers made for such situations. They are very effective if the strains are not too great. A snubber is attached to a mooring line so that it leaves a loop of rope, but keeps the rest of the line taut. The snubber takes up the shocks.

Q. Is there a gadget which keeps the boat away from the dockside?

A. There are devices quite popular in Florida called "mooring whips." They are made of fiber glass and are fastened to the dock in such a way as to keep the boat about two feet out from the wall. Waves don't cause any chafing between boat and wall.

What A Stall! Final Score—7-4

ATLANTA (UPI) — Last month, Oglethorpe College played Tennessee A&I in Nashville and got squashed, 82-43. Tuesday night Oglethorpe hosted the fourth-ranked small college Tigers and planned a surprise, but it didn't work.

Tennessee A&I won anyway—7-4.

Oglethorpe went into a stall from the opening jump but much to the dismay of the crowd and the Petrels, A&I didn't react. The Tigers were perfectly willing to stall, too.

At the end of the first half, A&I held a 4-0 lead on field goals by Ron Dorsey and Boyd Neal. As the game dawdled to a close, Oglethorpe became relatively frantic and committed four fouls — the only fouls of the game. The Tigers cashed in on three of them.

Oglethorpe was paced by Terry Schell and Larry Walker with a field goal apiece.

West Snaps Slump, Lakers Top Knicks

By United Press International

Jerry West came out of his slump and simply prolonged one for New York.

West, who had been hitting on only 26 per cent of his shots during the last three games, scored 9 of his game-high 31 points in the third quarter Tuesday night to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 130-115 victory over the Knicks. The loss was New York's seventh in the last eight games.

"I haven't had a slump like this in eight years," said West, one of the National Basketball Association all-time star backcourtmen. He had been held to only six points in one game and 21 in another, both well under his season's average.

West, forced to the bench with four fouls late in the first half, stormed back in the third period to pull the Lakers from a 57-54 halftime deficit. The Lakers outscored the Knicks 21-4 in one stretch of the third period to build a lead and Gail Goodrich drilled in nine points ina 2 1-2 minute span in the last quarter to put the game out of reach.

Goodrich finished with 27 points while Willis Reed had 23 and Bill Bradley 20 for the Knicks.

In other NBA action, Cincinnati beat Portland 109-102, Chicago downed Atlanta 118-102, Detroit defeated Baltimore 110-95, Phoenix edged Boston 119-116 and Milwaukee trounced Buffalo 135-103.

Warriors Host Celts Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — Neither the Boston Celtics or San Francisco Warriors will be in a happy frame of mind when they tangle today at the Coliseum-Arena.

Just before they caught a transcontinental flight out of Boston Tuesday, the Celtics dropped a 119-116 decision to the Phoenix Suns. That was one loss the third-place Celtics could ill afford in their stretch battle for a playoff berth with second-place Philadelphia in the NBA's Atlantic division.

And the Warriors have had three days to reflect on the nightmarish 146-101 loss to the Seattle Sonics Sunday night. That was one of worst defeats ever suffered by a pro basketball squad in San Francisco, approaching the team's alltime biggest loss margin of 49 points to Boston and Los Angeles.

In addition, the Warriors go up against the second highest scoring club this season in the NBA. Only Milwaukee has averaged more points than the 118 per game shooting of the Celts.

Walter Alston Among The Best

Baseball has more than its share of loud mouths. The game's quiet man is Walter Alston. His is dean of the Dodger dugout. In fact, Alston is the dean of all major league managers. This year Alston will be entering his 18th campaign as manager of the Dodgers.

Only three men in the history of baseball have piloted the same team longer — Connie Mack, 50 years with the Philadelphia Athletics, 1901-50; John McGraw, 31 years with the New York Giants, 1902-32, and Cap Anson, 19 seasons with the Cubs 1879-97.

IN THE HISTORY of the World Series only three managers have won more often than Alston — Casey Stengel and Joe McCarthy each won seven and Connie Mack five. Alston's Dodgers won the World Series in 1955, 1959, 1963 and 1965.

Under Alston the Dodgers also won the National League pennant in 1956 and 1966. His six pennants puts him in a sixth place tie with Miller Huggins. Stengel and McGraw won 10. Mack and McCarthy each won nine.

This season Alston ties the previous longevity mark of a Dodger manager — Wilbert Robinson who also managed the team for 18 seasons, 1914 through 1931.

IN 1954 ALSTON moved up from Montreal to manage the Dodgers. Montreal then was the top team in the Dodger farm system where Alston began his managing career in 1940 at Portsmouth. There were stops at Springfield, Trenton, Nashua, Puebloand St. Paul before he got the top AAA promotion to Montreal and ultimately the big job with the Dodgers.

So this will be Alston's 31st year of managing Dodger ball clubs. Obviously, Dodger brass thinks he is something special.

"Alston," said Peter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, "not only is the greatest Dodger manager ever but the greatest living manager."

WHEN ALSTON became manager of the Dodgers in 1954 his contemporaries in National League dugouts included Charlie Grimm (Braves), Stan Hack (Cubs), Birdie Tebbetss (Reds), Terry Moore (Phillies), Fred Haney (Pirates), Eddie Stanky (Cardinals and Leo Durocher (Giants). Only Durocher remains in the ranks of major league managers from that 1954 alignment and Durocher was not a member of the managerial brigade from 1956 through 1965.

In the American League when Alston put on a Brooklyn Dodger uniform were Jimmie Dykes, Lou Boudreau, Paul Richards, Al Lopez, Freddie Hutchinson, Casey Stengel, Eddie Joost and Bucky Harris, none of whom is still active as a major league pilot.

"ALSTON, WHO He?" a New York tabloid headlined in 1954 when Alston was appointed manager of the Dodgers. That was the first and last facetious inquiry into Alston's credentials.

Big Lew Dominates Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor continues to dominate the National Basketball Association scorers with a 31.7 average in the latest statistics released by the league.

Alcindor, who has led the scorers since the first week of the season, had 39 points against Phoenix last week and 38 points against Detroit to stay in frontmf San Diego's Elvin Hayes and Boston's John Havlicek, currently tied for second at 28.9.

Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, while down in the scoring statistics this season, is setting the pace in rebounds with 1,139 and an 18.7 average.

The leading scorers:

Aerospace Firms' Outlook Improves

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your analysis of the aerospace industry and these stocks in terms of recovery for the short and long-term. — R. V.

A. The climate for this industry has begun to show improvement for the first time in several years. This is not to say that an immediate and spectacular recovery will be witnessed. Rather, with fundamentals becoming more auspicious, gradual recovery appears probable.

Nixon's budget proposals for defense and space spending are an important factor in this improving outlook. Of the twenty major Department of Defense funded programs, fifteen would be increased a total of $1.8 billion in fiscal 1971-72.

In addition NASA is expected to choose a contractor this summer for its space shuttle rocket, which is allocated $50-$60 million under the proposed budget. Another $100 million has been allotted to build the airframe for the shuttle. This program alone is expected to pump $7 to $9 billion into the industry by 1979.

A second NASA project, the Viking/Mars, is slated to increase by $145 million, if the President's budget is approved by Congress. However, two other NASA programs, Nerva and Apollo, have been cut back and stretched out.

Commercial orders have dropped off, reflecting the economic slowdown. Airlines in particular have cut back their spending for new aircraft. However, on a long-term basis the outlook for commercial business is encouraging.

Diversification is one method which several aerospace companies have chosen in order to offset the cyclical swings of this industry. Northrop, Raytheon, and Rohr Corp. have successfully reduced their dependence on military business so that this area contributes no more than 50 per cent to sales. Both Rohr Corp. and United Aircraft have heavy commitments in mass transportation systems. Several aerospace concerns, most notably Grumman and Rohr, have made tentative investments in low-cost housing. Grumman, Rohr and United Aircraft appear to have above-average recovery potential over the longer term.

Stocks Slip In Rash Of Selling

NEW YORK (UPI) —Profit taking turned the stock market lower Wednesday, but analysts expressed neither surprise nor alarm at the setback. Trading was heavy.

"Some people have concluded the market is tired and needs a correction," one analyst declared. He noted that part of the profit taking reflects the market's failure to respond appreciably Tuesday to the lowering of interest rates and the settlement of the oil-price dispute between Persian Gulf oil states and international oil firms.

Shortly before noon, declines led advances 880 to 357 on 1,577 issues crossing the tape. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was of 0.52 at 98.14.

Prices were weak in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Of the 1,056 issues on the tape, declines topped advances, 555 to 231.

Among the most active Amex issues were South Royalty Co. up more than a point on around 350,000 shares, Beverly Enterprises fractionally lower on 65,000 shares, and Hartfield Zodys also slightly lower on 55,000 shares.

On the Big Board, heavily traded stocks included Howard Johnson down 1-8, Occidental Petroleum off 3-8, and McDonnell Douglas off 1 1-2.

With International Flavor —

WRAPPED chicken is a Chinese favorite, and will be one of nearly 100 foreign dishes to be offered at the annual International Dinner of the Petaluma Chapter, American Field Service. Here, left, Cristina Bubba, a visiting exchange student to Petaluma from Sucre, Bolivia, watches Mrs. Elwood Chan of Petaluma prepare the chicken. Each piece is carefully wrapped in paper or foil and fried briefly in deep oil. (I-J photos by Jim Kean)

A wide collection of hot entrees representing a number of foreign countries will be the feature of the American Field Service International Dinner tomorrow at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

To benefit its foreign student program community organizations are contributing special hot dishes and salads. They include the Danish Sisterhood, Herman Sisters, Companions of the Forest, B'nai Israel Sisterhood, Sons of Norway, Linnea Swedish Lodge, Royal Neighbors, Corona Club, Italian Catholic Federation, Sons of Italy, Latin-American Group, Japanese-American Citizens League, and Local Chinese families. In addition many church and Parent-Teacher Association members are donating food items. Some of the foreign recipes are shared here:

PAPER WRAPPED CHICKEN
(Mrs. Elwood Chan)

1 pkg. chicken breasts or boneless chicken, (approx. 1½ lbs.)
2 tsp. Hoisin sauce 2 tsp. soy sauce
2 tsp. Worchestershire sauce
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
1 small piece of fresh ginger, crushed
1 T. sherry
3 stems of green onions, diced.
Waxed paper or aluminum foil cut in 6" squares
1½ T. cornstarch mixed with water (just to make paste — this gives the chicken its smoothness)

Cut up chicken into chunks of ¾" squares, flatten meat a bit so that the marinated sauce gets into the meat.

Marinate for an hour the mixture of Hoisin, soy, worchestershire, salt, sugar, ginger, sherry and onions. After an hour, add cornstarch mixed with water and stir with chopsticks or wooden spoon. Then wrap each piece of chicken into foil, folding it like an envelope and tucking the remaining corner into the fold. Fry in deep oil for five minutes. Serves 4 as part of Chinese dinner.

KOTTBULLAR
Swedish Meatballs
(Mrs. Roy E. Johnson)

¼ C. finely chopped onion
1 T. shortening
¼ C. fine, dry bread crumbs
½ C. water
½ C. cream
¾ lb. ground round steak
¼ lb. ground, lean pork
2 t. salt
¼ t. pepper
dash of cloves
⅓ C. butter or margarine
¼ C. boiling bouillon

Saute onion in shortening until golden brown. Soak crumbs in water and cream mixture. Combine onion, crumb mixture, meats and seasonings. Mix thoroughly until smooth. Shape into small balls (wet hands before handling so it won't stick) using a teaspoon dipped in cold water. Fry in butter until evenly browned, shaking pan continuously to make balls round; add boiling bouillon, cover and simmer 5-10 minutes or until tender. Makes 70 small meatballs.

HOT GERMAN POTATO SALAD
(Mrs. John McGovern)

6 medium potatoes
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
4 slices bacon or ham, diced
¼ C. minced onion
1 egg, beaten
4 T. Vinegar
1¾ t. salt

Cook potatoes with skins on, drain, peel and slice while hot and add chopped eggs. Fry ham or bacon and onion until a delicate brown. Strain, reserving ham or bacon fat. Add onion and ham or bacon to the potato mixture. Add fat slowly to beaten egg, beating well. Add vinegar and salt and pour over potatoes. Mix well and heat in double boiler. Serve hot, garnished with lettuce or watercress. Sliced celery root is a good addition. Serves 6.

DANSK RODKAL
(Danish Red Cabbage)
(Mrs. Jack Cameron)

3 solid, medium size red cabbages
¾ C. white or wine vinegar
1 C sugar
½ C. butter or shortening
salt and pepper to taste
1 C. currant jelly

Slice cabbage very thin. Put in deep saucepan and add above ingredients (with exception of jelly). Boil slowly for several hours (longer it cooks, more flavor it has.) Lastly, about half hour before serving, add currant jelly.

LUNCHEON FOR 200

What's In A Gourmet Picnic Box?

Two hundred wrapped gourmet box lunches will await guests at a champagne luncheon and fashion show benefit in Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's School in Tiburon on Friday.

But because of the school's small kitchen, food chairman Mrs. Howard Richcreek of Belvedere arranged to have her gourmet recipes prepared in advance at eight Tiburon homes. These are among them:

BENGAL CHICKEN SALAD

Simmer chicken in water, one bouillon cube to each cup of water, until tender. Save broth for soup. Cool chicken and debone.

½ can sliced hearts of palm
4 cups chopped chicken
1 cup cooled rice
2 cups pineapple chunks
3 cups chopped celery
1 medium sized chopped cucumber
½ cup finely chopped nuts (peanuts, cashews, pine or pecan)
1 teaspoon each: sweet basil and tarragon (fresh, if possible)
⅓ cup shredded coconut

(If dry coconut is used, soak in milk for 2 hours, then drain.) Toss all ingredients gently. Garnish with another half can of hearts of palm. Chill. Serves 8.

DRESSING FOR SALAD

½ cup sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
juice of one lime
2 tablespoons of California sherry
1 teaspoon honey
¼ teaspoon dill weed
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons curry powder (imported)

Mix together and allow to sit for one hour. Then mix with above salad. Serves 8.

TANGY CREAM CHEESE SANDWICHES

8 oz. cream cheese
½ cup walnuts
3 tablespoons chutney
2 tablespoons good California sherry
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
2 tablespoons crushed pineapple

Mix and spread on fresh white bread. This may be made in advance and frozen. Makes about eight finger sandwiches or 18 canapes.

PREPARING SALAD and small sandwiches for gourmet box lunches are Mrs. Howard Richcreek, left, food chairman for a champagne luncheon and fashion show benefit on Friday at St. Hilary's School in Tiburon, and Mrs. Kimball Palm, president of St. Hilary's School Parent-Teacher Group. "We'll tie bows on the boxes," says Mrs. Mary Richcreek. "Inside will be a doily, finger sandwiches, salad, a bottle of sherry and pastry dessert." (I-J photo)

Saucy Beef Patties

Plentiful applesauce and ground beef can be combined for a flavorsome entree. Simply season, shape and form ground beef patties as usual. Then after browning on both sides over moderate heat, pour off drippings and pour applesauce, spiced to taste with cinnamon or oregano, over the patties. Stir in a bit of instant onion, catsup, Worcestershire sauce and/or lemon juice for more zip if desired.

Tape Poison

If you keep a bottle with poisonous ingredients in your bath cabinet, fasten the top down with a piece of adhesive tape. This will keep you from mistaking it for something else.

Shrove Tuesday Tradition — German Fastnachtskuchen

Lent begins at the stroke of midnight on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 23, so this day is one of merrymaking, feasting, parades and carnivals before Ash Wednesday ushers in the penitential season.

Shrove Tuesday food traditions go back to bygone days when meats and dairy products were prohibited during Lent by civil as well as church law. Thrifty housewives who didn't want to waste good food cooked up a storm of luscious dishes rich with all the foods that would be unavailable during the coming weeks.

Many countries have traditional Shrove Tuesday foods. English and Scottish cooks make pancakes; in the Scandinavian lands they make Shrovetide Buns of sweet yeast dough filled with almonds and whipped cream. In Germany the favorites are Fast Night Cakes or Fastnachtskuchen, which are hole-less doughnuts sprinkled with sugar.

Fastnachts are traditionally cut in diamond shapes and slit across the top with a knife.

FASTNACHTSKUCHEN

3¾ to 4¼ cups unsifted flour
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup (½ stick) softened margarine
1 cup very hot tap water
1 egg (at room temperature)
Peanut oil
Confectioners' sugar

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1¼ cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast. Add softened margarine.

Gradually add very hot tap water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg and 1/2 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Turn dough out onto a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Roll out into a 8 x 16-inch rectangle. Cut into 2-inch squares. Cut a slit about ¼-inch deep in the top of each square. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Fry in deep hot (375°F.) oil until golden brown on both sides. Drain on paper towels. Sprinkle doughnuts with confectioners' sugar. Makes 32 doughnuts.

"When our lamb dinner's ready, I never have to call my family twice...

That's what I like about LAMB."

They're always eager for lamb. It's the change-of-pace meal we enjoy often at our house. Here's one of our favorite dishes – easy, oven-baked rib chops with bread dressing. Why don't you try it soon?

BAKED LAMB RIB CHOPS WITH DRESSING (makes 6 servings)

6 to 12 lamb rib chops, at least ¾-inch thick
8 cups bread cubes
Salt and pepper
1 small bunch parsley, diced
3 or 4 large stalks celery, diced
½ small onion, chopped
Poultry seasoning or lamb herbs to taste (equal portions of rosemary, thyme and dehydrated orange peel)
1 egg
¼ cup milk
¼ cup water
(Note: If bread is dry or toasted, slightly more liquid may be required.)

Place bread cubes in large mixing bowl. Add salt, pepper, parsley, celery, onions and poultry seasoning or lamb herbs. Add egg, milk and water to moisten. Mix well. Place dressing in large flat baking dish. Brown lamb chops lightly in skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Arrange lamb chops on top of dressing. Cover with foil. Bake at 350°F about 30 minutes or until dressing is nicely browned and chops are tender.

THE HOMESTEAD SCENE

Today's woman making the homestead scene in suburban Marin or on the rural commune can do it in no-iron care free fabrics. Left is a 1971 version of the granny dress in triacetate. It comes in brown and white or gray and pink print and is manufactured by Craig Craely. Center is a knit of polyester and cotton by Willie Smith for Digits. It is red, gray and yellow. The modestly covered model, right, wears a mauve pink jumpsuit with bias-cut culotte wide enough for waltzing. It is a triacetate jersey by Leo Narducci.

Marin Women

Symphony Units Lead Tours

Friday will be the kick-off for a project that is one of the largest to be undertaken by members of the Marin Symphony Guild and Symphony Auxiliary.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Schnurer of Larkspur, the auxiliary, working with the San Francisco Convention Bureau and the Marin Chamber of Commerce Visitors Bureau, will undertake a guided tour program in Marin for the groups of women who visit the bay area during the course of each year.

Mrs. Schnurer explained, "a trial run of a tour, using the bus service to be employed, will be conducted Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for the auxiliary's tour committee and executive committee, Symphony Guild president Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley and representatives of the Marin Visitors Bureau."

A TYPICAL tour will begin with pickup of visitors at their hotels in San Francisco and continue to well-known points of interest in the county. A special feature of each tour, not available on commercial tours, will be a visit to one or more private homes in a different area for each tour.

"After a sherry hour and luncheon at the Marin Art and Garden Center guests will see the famed Marin Civic Center before returning to San Francisco.

"Throughout the tours trained docents will be in charge. A flat fee including the luncheon will be charged each person on the tour, with proceeds going to support the Marin Symphony Guild's programs.

"Guides at first will be members of the guild and auxiliary," Mrs. Schnurer said, "But we shall welcome anyone, including men, who may be interested.

"We are calling the guides docents," she emphasized, "because they will go through a complete training program. On Feb. 24 the first session will be held at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Lucia Towne, with writer Louise Teather of Tiburon speaking on the Belvedere-Tiburon area. Anyone interested in becoming a docent is invited, Mrs. Schnurer said.

"On March 3 the second session will be held at the Fairhills home in San Rafael of Mrs. Kenneth Davis, with Mrs. Thomas Kent of Kent Woodlands speaking on the Ross Valley area. This will be a luncheon for which reservations must be made with me or Mrs. Charles De Fren of Belvedere."

MRS. SANDY GREENBLAT

MRS. SCHNURER said that tentative plans are being made for the first public tour on March 10, and another one for 500 women is a posibility in August.

The new fund-raising project grew out of a suggestion by former auxiliary president Mrs. Ralph Dewey of Belvedere, who had seen it successfully done in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Cleveland Symphony and in Washington, D.C., where she now lives. It has also been endorsed by current auxiliary president Mrs. Edward Zeller of Kent Woodlands, who has observed a similar successful program in Phoenix, Ariz.

Members of the tour project committee working with Mrs. Schnurer are Mmes. Davis, De Fren and Towne, Mozart Kaufman of Kentfield, Maurice Salomon of Sausalito, Leonard Rubin of Larkspur, Newton Longfellow of San Anselmo and Miss Betty Klink of Kentfield.

She Started Magazine With $17 And 'Guts'

By CAROL[illegible] BOWERS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take a magazine about music, an almost exclusively male readership and a lady publisher and you've got "Jazz & Pop." The lady at the helm, Pauline Rivelli, started the magazine nine years ago with a $17 investment, 3,000 subscribers to a folded magazine and "a lot of guts."

It meant abandoning her job as administrative assistant with a research institute, a job she had worked her way up to from secretary after graduating from high school.

"I was tired of that 9-to-5 thing and buildings that swallow you up," she said in an interview. So in July of 1962 she made her career leap.

Although she had no journalism experience (her definition of a galley was the bottom of a ship), Miss Rivelli singlehandedly put out the magazine, working from a Post Office box number and a desk a friend let her use in his office.

When her first edition appeared in October, she had done everything except the writing.

"I DID everything through trial and error," she said. "I had an art director, but I wasn't satisfied with the results. I tried it myself and loved it."

Many of her friends in jazz circles, such as Ralph Gleason and Nat Hentoff, were glad to contribute material without charge because they "dug" what she was doing.

"I was no authority on jazz," the attractive brunette said. "I just liked what I heard. I was lucky to have the authorities around."

At Jazz & Pop's inception, there was only one successful magazine, Downbeat, covering jazz. "I told my friends in the jazz world about my plans, Miss Rivelli said, "and when they saw it was a serious project, they jumped in and got involved. It was a vehicle for them to express themselves."

Although the magazine covered jazz exclusively at the beginning, it was expanded in 1967 to include pop. "After it became Jazz & Pop I knew it was a success," Miss Rivelli said at her office cluttered with books, papers, magazines and small artifacts of the publishing and musical worlds.

"The audience for just jazz wasn't out there," she said. "The masses are turned off to jazz. They think it's a dirty four-letter word.

"I called it 'pop' because I saw what was happening in music and knew the term 'rock' would become passe. 'Pop' encompasses all of today's new music."

THE MAGAZINE, 50,000 international circulation, now covers music festivals, record reviews, columns, and interviews with old and new music greats, equally divided between the jazz and pop spheres.

Miss Rivelli, who prefers her age to be "as you see me" but looks 30-ish, does not see her success as a feather in the cap of women's liberation.

"I'm very anti-women's liberation," she said. "It's just an excuse. I don't feel discriminated against. Man, woman or animal, if you have the ability and qualifications, you can do anything.

"I think being a woman in this business has been to my advantage. Of course, there are those guys who feel they should be at the helm instead of a chick, but it's very rare."

Synoptics Is Mirror Trick

Now it is possible to stand in front of a mirror in a darkened room and see yourself in the latest fashions without trying them on. The trick with mirrors is known as synoptics. In the process, the customer goes into a private viewing room, is seated before a mirror with a black velveteen bib about her shoulders, and watches as costumes are projected on the mirror over her reflection. This is done through colored photographic slides of each costume on a model shown by means of a slide projector.

Jean Thompson Wed To Preston Joel Lea III

Marin Lutheran Church in Corte Madera was the setting for the wedding of Jean Ann Thompson to Preston Joel Lea III of Kentfield on Sunday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelso Carthell Thompson of Corte Madera. Her sister, Janet Kay Thompson, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Judith Henderson of San Rafael and the bridegroom's sisters Lori and Lila Lea of Kentfield.

Jeffrey Ashley of Greenbrae served as best man and the ushers were Austin Lea III and Mitchell Lea, brothers of the bridegroom, and Everett Estrada of Orange.

After the reception at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Kauai, Hawaii. They will live in Fairfax when they return.

The bride is a graduate of Redwood High School and is employed in the Village Bake Shop in Larkspur. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. David K. Jones of San Rafael.

Dr. and Mrs. Austin Lea of Kentfield are Preston's parents and Mrs. James Rice is his sister. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gromm of San Francisco. He also is a Redwood graduate and attended North Texas State College. He is employed with Gateway Shipwrights in San Francisco.

Mini Wins Votes

A solid vote of confidence for the mini and a swing to pants highlight the new uniforms for female rental agents at many companies. On the hemline issue, one company, Avis put it to a vote among all the comany's female rental agents, pledging to respect the girl's wishes in the designing of the uniform. The results: 2,192 for the mini and 68 for the midi. The new uniform, designed by Stan Herman of Mr. Mort, includes a skirt and jacket, two blouses, a tunic and pants.

Mannequin League's New Leader

New president of the Mannequin League of Marin is Mrs. Sandy Greenblat of San Rafael. She has also served as vice president and secretary during 10 years of membership in the league.

Members are former models living in Marin who want to keep active in the fashion world. They model and coordinate fashion shows for all charities and service organizations. A charge is made when they participate in non-charitable fashion shows, and that money plus funds raised at the annual Mannequin League Ball, held in October, and other events benefit the league's charity, the Marin Community Workshop.

Marilyn Greenblat and her husband, owner of Marin Motorsports in San Rafael, are the parents of Martin Scott, 5. She is a native of San Francisco, was graduated from George Washington High School and attended the University of California extension. A 12-year-resident of Marin, Mrs. Greenblat is also a member of the Marin County Motorcycle Assn., Loch Lomond Yacht Club and the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association. She is editor of the yacht club paper.

The new president's sports interests include the U.S. Power Squadron, boating and fishing, and she is a 49er football faithful. Her other hobbies are reading, mosaic work and all aspects of makeup and fashion.

Other Mannequin League officers are Mmes. Barney Norwitt, first vice president; Kenneth Fuller, second vice president; Ralph Cicurel, secretary; Vern Gill, treasurer; Roger Bohne, model chairman; and Fred Paolini, ball chairman.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Be The 'Perfect Older Woman' To Compete With Younger Ones

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please ask your male readers if they all prefer younger women? My father ran off with a girl of 23 when I was in my early teens. My mother never got over it.

Now my husband is nearing 40 and I worry. I feel so old. I'm almost 36. How could any man be true with so many young things around?

Don't tell me to see a counselor. I did and now I'm all the more frantic. I hear he's having an affair with his young secretary. — W.X.

DEAR W.:

Stop brooding over the past or you may bring on a replay.

The 30s can be the best years of your life if you keep your sense of worth, your sense of humor — and your figure. Concentrate on being the "perfect older woman" and you'll have no trouble with the young things — at least no trouble you aren't able to handle. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This young couple comes to church dressed in "his and her" pants suits. They aren't quite hippie-ish, but really, Helen, is church the place for women in pants? — LONG-TIME MEMBER

DEAR MEMBER:

Church is the place for anyone who wants to worship. Not to be disrespectful, but did Jesus ever win an award for "best dressed man?" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In our Civil Service, we are rated by our examination grades, and advance accordingly. Veterans — almost always men — are given five points preference, which often puts them higher on the list than women who may be as well or better qualified for the job.

Here's one for Women's Lib, Helen. How about giving wives and mothers five points preference, too? We've been through just as much of a battle. — DISCRIMINATEE

DEAR D.:

Vietnam veterans may disagree, but — Women's Lib: Have at it anyway. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you for suggesting that your readers write to General Mills asking that the company resume its offer to redeem Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving hospital equipment.

We understand the decision may be changed, if enough requests pour in — enough to counteract the scattered charges that General Mills was "profiteering from misfortune and playing on public sympathy."

It seems a terrible shame that many hospitals and clinics will not get needed equipment (kidney machines, heart monitoring devices, etc. which could save human life) because a few people complained. The May 31st cut-off date doesn't give time enough for collections. It takes 600,000 coupons for one kidney machine.

How typical, not only of big organizations, but everyone: One slam can cancel out a hundred compliments. Do hope everyone writes. — COUPON COLLECTOR

DEAR C.C.:

So do I. To make it easier, here is the address:

General Mills, Inc., Club Plan, Box 1300,
Minneapolis, Minnesota, 55460.
— H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Double Investment

Top fashion for mother and daughter — the crochet vest.

Quick, easy — mother and daughter vests. Use knitting worsteds for double crochet and picot design. Pat. 549: directions, sizes 10-16 mother, 2-12 child included.

Fifty cents for each pattern — add 25 cents for each pattern for Air Mail and Special Handling. Send to Laura Wheeler, the Independent-Journal.

SORRENTO SALAD

Cut western iceberg lettuce into crosswise slices. Top each slice with cooked green beans, pimiento strips and onion rings. Serve with Thousand Island dressing.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

TOGETHER OR SEPARATE

This tunic pant suit was introduced by Country Sophisticates in Portland, Ore., as part of its spring collection. Contrasting in shades, this flax and brown tunic and pant combination is designed to be worn separately or together. The polyester, rayon and linen outfit is machine washable and ready for casual wear. (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON — Attention, all party throwers and product promotion managers. Have you considered the advantages of holding your next get-together at the plush Rayburn Building in Washington, D.C.?

If travel expense is no problem and you have a willing Congressman, you could have a bash to end all bashes, including the following benefits:

— Free use of a suitable reception room in the $100 million marble edifice named for the late House Speaker, Sam Rayburn.

— Free parking after 6 p.m. in the spacious underground garage.

— Free consultation and assistance of the catering management permanently assigned to the building.

— Prestigious atmosphere conveniently located on the beautiful grounds of the United States Capitol and only a short taxi ride from envious downtown hotels and restaurants.

— Distinguished and influential guests, including members of Congress, their staffs and visiting firemen from the general area.

THESE ARE some of the benefits enjoyed recently by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company when it chose the Rayburn Building for the official debut of its new beer, "Encore."

All that company officials did was to make a request to their local Congressman, Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wis.) and agree to pay a reasonable fee for incidental food served by building caterers. His office made arrangements with the building management.

An extra dividend for the Schlitz people was a big story and picture in a local newspaper here. It brought an unwanted dividend for Congressman Zablocki —the embarrassment of being singled out for doing what many other legislators have done for important constituents and friends.

The Schlitz bash was only one of seven that evening, a fairly typical day for the busy staff of the House Office Building. Not all such affairs are to promote new products. In fact, very few are. Zablocki recently had arranged a party for the Boy Scouts.

Almost any type of function is possible. Receptions have been held for legislators, visiting dignitaries, you name it. Some brides have found it ideal for wedding receptions.

THE DECISION to use or not use the facilities is up to the Congressman. He can either pass it along or refuse to do so. If he does, he will get the bill and must collect from the host.

The bill includes the cost of bartenders, waiters, porters and a supervisor if their services are required after 4 p.m. The bill also includes the cost of food and drinks if furnished by the catering service.

Virtually the same services are available on the Senate side of Capitol Hill. The facilities of the Senate Office Buildings are available at the request of a Senator.

But there is a limit on capacity. The Senate Caucus Room can seat a maximum of 500 comfortably at a banquet. The capacity of the Rayburn reception room is 350. But it can be partitioned for smaller parties. For smaller, stand-up affairs, other rooms can be made available.

If you plan to hold your next party in these lovely surroundings, may I suggest that you drink a toast to residents of the District of Columbia. They have to pay the full cost of parties, for they have no friendly Congressmen or Senators, and their taxes will help pay for yours.

When using aluminum foil to keep the oven clean, be careful. The American Gas Association warns against use of foil in any areas in the oven where it may block the opening provided for air circulation.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Johnny got a $79 bicycle for his birthday and a $60 Sullivan Reading Program.

Which one will take him farther?

Every boy wants a bike for his birthday, but a reading program?

Well, if your child is having difficulty in school, maybe it's because his reading skills just aren't what they should be. It's no fun to fall behind.

If he's like many youngsters in the Sullivan Reading Program, he'll probably prefer an hour at one of our Reading Centers to five hours on his bicycle. Because, when he completes our program, he'll not only be able to read well, he'll have confidence in his ability to succeed.

Success is all part of the Sullivan Reading Center Concept. Our reading programs have been improving children's reading skills for years. In fact, more than five million school children are using the nationally acclaimed Sullivan Reading materials in learning how to read.

All Sullivan Reading Centers combine our proven instructional materials and the talents of highly trained reading specialists to provide supplemental reading instruction for school children at all levels.

Classes at the Center are small and each student receives individualized instruction. Each child's program is planned by the Director of the Center and is based on daily evaluation and testing. He'll work at his own pace and compete only with himself. He can come to the Center any day of the week and on Saturday morning. If he needs additional instruction during the four-week course to make sufficient progress, he's given the extra time at no additional cost. Initial testing and all materials used by the students are also included in the $60 fee for the course.

Ice Skating Leather Designer

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Pitts is six feet three and wears a rabbit costume at work, which naturally makes him the tallest rabbit in the world. When he is not working he puts on an easy fitting jump suit and designs and crafts leather clothing.

Pitts, 32, says he got into the leather business because of a fight with a computer after someone "sandwiched my car" on a thruway when he was in Los Angeles. During the five-week wait for the computer to decide which car parts he needed he walked around Hollywood window shopping.

The things that caught his eye were leather garments in the windows and when he went in to price them he was horrified to discover they cost a lot more than he throught they would. So he talked a dealer into selling him some splits wholesale and went to work himself, a split being a trade term for half a hide.

PITTS' FIRST customer was his daughter Marizza, 3, who had remained behind in Hollywood when his wife Anita went east to await the birth of another daughter, now 3 months and named Melanie. He made Marizza a miniskirt, a vest and a handbag, all fringed and decorated with Indian beads.

He was hooked at that point and fashioned himself a patriotic-looking cowboy costume which he calls a Captain America Easy Riders outfit, in red, white and blue. There is a blue vest with long white leather fringe, red and white beads and a couple of stars on the chest, sheriff style.

Pitts is a skater in the Ice Capades with a chimpanzee whose real name is Marvin but which goes by the stage name of Spanky. Pitts dons the White Rabbit costume for an Alice in Wonderland number and leads Spanky through such escapades as dizzying spins, leaping through a flaming hoop and skating nonchalantly along on one foot with the other leg raised in classical Olympic form.

HIS APPEARANCES on the ice are fairly brief and that leaves him a lot of spare time for designing leather wear. At 32 he considers himself getting a bit old for the rigors of ice skating and hopes when he retires to open a leatherwear shop in New York's Greenwich Village, the home of his wife who is a dancer in the show.

A lot of his production is frankly Unisex but then that is life in Greenwich Village. So far it includes fringed and beaded vests and such decorations as necklaces and bracelets, big leather belts decorated with such items as cinch rings from a saddle shop.

"We'd be in a funny farm if we didn't have something to do sitting around the hotel between performances," he said, "so we do a lot of doodling with the beads and things. The kids in the show freak out over such things as these chokers."

He held up a choker which was a combination of Indian beads intertwined with a leather thong and then showed up a six-inch wide belt made with concentric circles of metal rings which must have weighed 10 pounds.

Pitts takes his factory with him—a special razor knife which costs about 30 cents, some heavy duty thread and his imagination. There also is a heavy rubber matting for cutting and stacks of splits, some as soft as chamois.

This Snippy Woman Clips Men's Locks

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Get too close to Mary Phelan "doing her thing" at the University of Tulsa and she may use scissors on you. Or the razor.

Miss Phelan is the first woman barber on the TU campus, though she is not the only woman who has invaded the sanctuary of the once all-male barber shops in Tulsa.

She looks as if she belongs with the university's coeds rather than prompting quips from customers who find the men in the school's barber shop busy, only to be motioned to a seat by Miss Phelan.

"YOU'RE A barber, too?" an enthusiastic young man asked. "Hey, how about that."

Miss Phelan admits her chosen career amuses many but says she seldom has problems with a customer who doesn't want to put his locks at her mercy.

"I had one boy who hadn't had a haircut in two years," she said, "and all he wanted wasa trim."

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 17, the 48th day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Aquarius. On this day in history:

In 1801 the House of Representatives named Thomas Jefferson the third president of the United States. Aaron Burr, who tied Jefferson in the electoral college, became vice-president.

In 1817 Baltimore became the first American city to have street lights that were illuminated with gas.

In 1906 Alice Roosevelt, oldest daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt was married in the White House to Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.

In 1966 the crash of a Soviet T - V - 114 plane killed 48.

A thought for today: Philosopher William James said, "Man lives by habit, indeed, but what he lives for is thrills and excitement."

A chemical called 2.3 DPG builds up in the hemoglobin of red blood cells under conditions which lower the amount of oxygen in the tissues.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Two More Valuable Rules To Add To Already Long List

Most bridge players spend hours learning "rules" that do them very little good. Rules are helpful to beginners, and if you enjoy memorizing stuff like "second hand low, third hand high" or cover an honor with an honor," I will not deprive you of your innocent tricks" and "never ask your partner to do what you can do for yourself." Both apply in toay's hand.

A LOW HEART

West led the king of hearts, and East signaled encouragement by playing the nine. West obediently continued with the queen of hearts, winning the second trick also.

West thought for quite awhile after winning the second trick, but all the thought in the world wouldn't have helped him. He finally switched to a club hoping that his partner had two tricks in that suit.

South took the ace of clubs and forced out the ace of trumps. East could do nothing to defeat the contract since South was sure to draw trumps and then take a successful finesse in diamonds.

DOUBLE FAILURE

East could have defeated the contract, but he failed to apply the two rules mentioned earlier. He needed four tricks to defeat four spades, and could expect to get two hearts and the ace of trumps. Where was the fourth trick?

A diamond ruff was the obvious answer, and East should have gone right after this trick rather than expect his partner to do all the work. East should overtake the king of hearts with the ace in order to return the singleton diamond.

ACE NECESSARY

When declarer leads a trump, East must step up at once with the ace of spades in order to lead a low heart. West is sure to win this trick since the opening lead indicates that he started with the king-queen of hearts. West then leads a diamond and East ruffs with his low trump to take the fourth defensive trick.

♦ - K 8 6 3 2
♣ - 7 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two no-trump. This invitation to game promises about eight or nine points, with no singleton or void suit. Partner should accept the invitation if he has more than 16 points, but he may pass at two no-trump if he has the bare minimum holding of 16 points for his opening bid.

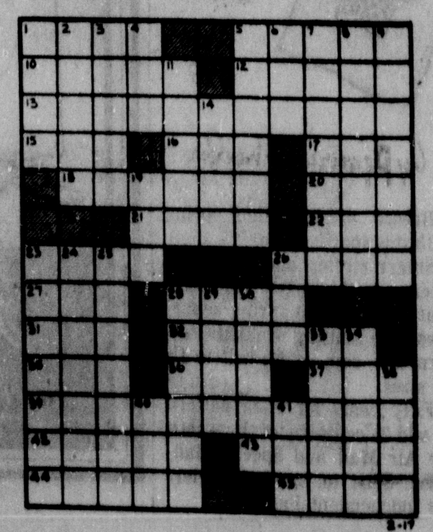
Yesterday's Answer



Expert To Study Police Services

A criminal justice coordinator will be hired for one year to make a study of consolidating police services in Marin County, the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

The move stemmed from renewed interest by several Marin cities in devising means to balance taxation for police protection in Marin.

They said it would apply for federal funds to help pay the coordinator.

John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator, estimated the total cost would be $25,000 for one year, with federal grants picking up $15,000 of the tab. Of the remaining $10,000, $5,000 will be in-kind contribution by the county in the form of services and supplies, leaving a net cost to the county of $5,000.

Supervisor John F. McInnis wanted to know why Marin officials couldn't do the study. Besides, said McInnis, unless the 11 cities and Marin County agree, police consolidation would be impossible.

"I'd far rather draw the cities together preliminarily and establish rapport," McInnis said. "Unless we have this rapport, it's better off not to spend one dollar."

Hiring of the coordinator was approved subject to allocation of federal funding and approval by the Council of Mayors and City Councilmen.

Barrows assured the supervisors that if the coordinator is hired, his job would end in one year, and no secretary would be hired. Both Louis H. Baar and McInnis said they feared hiring of the coordinator might start another bureaucratic empire.

The Marin Supervisors Also:

DRYDOCKS — Said drydocks moored off Sausalito eventually may have to be burned, but decided to wait another three months to see if the Army Corps of Engineers will remove them as a navigational hazard.

BUSES — Meeting as the Marin Transit District board, gave approval to the state Division of Highways to study granting commuter buses exclusive highway right-of-way.

CULVERT — Authorized the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone to proceed with construction of a box culvert to relieve flooding near Edna McGuire School in the Alto Bowl. Mrs. Benjamin Wheeler of 84 Lomita Drive objected, charging the culvert would damage her property and cause more flooding.

COURTROOM — Authorized another $1,826 in engineering fees needed to prepare plans and specifications for repair of the Hall of Justice courtroom demolished in the Oct. 8 bombing. This is in addition to $14,200 which the architect will charge. Estimated cost of repair is $142,000.

COMMUNICATIONS — Approved rental of new space at 95 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael, for a maintenance facility for the County Communications Department. New rental is $336 per month, compared to $300 now paid for lease of space at 85 Mitchell Boulevard.

TERRA LINDA — Appointed Harold Reese and reappointed Robert Bennett to the Terra Linda Recreation-Park District board.

DATA PROCESSING — Authorized replacement of 11 International Business Machine keypunch machines with eight machines from Sperry Rand Corp. Total annual rental of the new machines will be $11,617, compared to $11,792 for the present equipment.

CLAIM — Rejected a $10 million claim filed by Dorothy Thiele of 1304 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, against the counties of Marin, San Mateo, San Diego, State of California, City of Corte Madera and others. She alleges that Marin and other public agencies illegally deprived her of custody of her son at various times.

POLICE RAID — Rejected a $35,000 claim by Toni Jossen, who said officers of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau broke into her home at 86 Wreden Avenue on Feb. 4, causing physical damage and extreme mental stress, all without a search warrant.

REEDRIDGE — Decided to extend for two years the validity of a tentative subdivision map for the 39-unit Reedridge Unit 1 subdivision above Bel Aire unless the Bel Aire Flood Control Zone can come up with assessment figures for Reedridge by March 30. The flood control zone wanted Reedridge to agree to an undetermined future assessment in exchange for extension of the tentative map.

RELIEF — Decided that for the remainder of the fiscal year, persons returning from Mendocino State Hospital who qualify will be eligible automatically for general relief for 30 days. Further extension would have to be approved by the supervisors.

PARKING — Decided tentatively to raise the fine on unauthorized parking in reserved spaces at the Civic Center from $1 to $2.

INSURANCE — Referred to McInnis a notice from U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co., that it will cancel insurance on McNears Beach buildings as of March 17. McInnis, an insurance agent, was directed to try to place the structures on the county's main fire insurance policy.

SAVING TREES BY GATHERING NEWSPRINT

David Stebins and Dennis Baldwin, two Survival members, unload newsprint. Preserve Area Legality Questioned

A new low-density zoning district in Marin which would allow only one residence per 20 acres is probably illegal, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the board of supervisors yesterday. (Other supervisor stories, page 1.)

The legal shocker brought to a sudden halt the supervisors' intent to cut the county's agricultural preserve area to the 78,200 acres that are already under agricultural preserve contract. Under such a contract, rural landowners receive a tax break in return for keeping the land open for 10 years.

An additional 91,800 acres are within the agricultural preserve area but not under contract. The Marin County Planning Commission had recommended that this acreage be placed in a new zone designed designated as A-20, restricting the use to one residence per 20 acres.

"Our office has serious doubts about the legality of the A-20 zone on property outside of the agricultural preserve," said Maloney. He said he had not mentioned this to the planning commission earlier because the commissioners were proceeding on the assumption that the 91,800 acres would remain in the agricultural preserve, with the A-20 zone applied to that area.

But the moment the 91,800 acres is deleted from the agricultural preserve category, the A-20 zone application would be ilegal, said Maloney. "If you impose A-20 on Bolinas or West Marin, it would be totally incompatible with existing master plans," the county counsel explained.

"I'm not prepared to shrink the preserve area today without a concomitant rezoning on the area that is to be deleted from the preserve," said Supervisor Michael Wornum. "I won't vote for shrinkage without some legal control over the area to be deleted."

On his suggestion, the supervisors continued the hearing on agricultural preserves until 3 p.m. April 27 and asked the planning commission to draw up some alternative to the A-20 zoning so that some density control could be retained over the area that will lose agricultural preserve status.

The postponement means that owners of the 91,800 acres that are not under preserve contract are still eligible to apply for a contract.

Ignacio Industrial Park Plan Approved

A master plan for the 250-acre Ignacio Industrial Park was approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday after a compromise was reached over public access to a 50-acre lagoon planned at the site.

It appeared at first that approval would be delayed when the supervisors, bowing to objections by Arnold M. Baptiste, supervisor from the district, voted 4-1 to send the plan back to the county planning commission for reconsideration.

Baptiste had criticized lack of public access to the lagoon, planned as a flood control ponding area. Baptiste noted that the lagoon would be under the jurisdiction of the Novato Flood Control Zone, a public agency, and therefore public access should be guaranteed.

Supervisor John F. McInnis, lone dissenter in the vote, feared that the county would be liable for damages if someone drowned in the lagoon.

After the vote, Carlos E. Gonzales, engineer for Marvin Soiland and Associates, developers of the industrial park, blurted that the action would doom the project.

But during a 15-minute recess, the developers agreed to a compromise, and Baptiste called for reconsideration of the earlier vote.

This agreement, which Soiland accepted, was approved by the board.

Public access would be granted to the ponding area with liability responsibility to be picked up by the county or some other public agency. Also, a creek and a grove of trees on a 10-acre parcel near the Marin Humane Society Building will be kept in its natural state until the first 100 acres of the industrial park is developed. During that time, the Humane Society or anyone else may purchase the 10-acre park for recreation or open space at the owner's cost ($25,000 plus taxes.)

The developers also agreed to meet Novato City Council requests that office use be limited to 18 acres closest to Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, instead of the 37 acres which the county planning commission had approved.

The industrial park is located north of Hamilton Air Force Base runway, to the south and east of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard.

Gonzalez said the industrial park would have minimum lots of 20,000 square feet and be patterned after Northgate Industrial Park.

Approval Granted To Triplex Plan

The Petaluma Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved the site design for a triplex at 47 Sixth Street.

Wilmer Klebe said he intended to convert the present Anderson Medical Building into apartments.

Hub Trustees Again Defer On Seeking Tax Rate Vote

The San Anselmo School District board last night again deferred action on whether to ask district taxpayers to vote an 80-cent increase in the district's operating tax rate.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the board did indicate, however, it would make a decision at its March 16 meeting.

In January, Lowry told the board the district is running at a $100,000 per year deficit spending rate and that unless new revenues are raised, the district will deplete its reserve next year.

"We can not continue to operate at the rate we are spending for very much longer," he said today. He added that the district has a choice of increasing revenues or cutting back on education programs.

The district's maximum operating tax rate now is $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. This year it levied a $2.06 operating tax, included in a total district tax rate of $3.25.

A decision on the proposed tax increase election was postponed last month so the board could get a better accounting of where the district's money has gone.

Lowry said last night's delay was because the board is continuing to investigate the possibility of increased state funds for fiscal 1971-72.

He ruled out the possibility of the election being consolidated with the April 20 election since about 90 days will be needed to prepare for the election should the board approve it.

Recreation Pact Finally Approved

A long-sought recreation agreement between the City of San Anselmo and the San Anselmo School District was approved last night by the district board.

The agreement, approved earlier this month by the city council, is for consolidation of recreation activities and joint use of the district's community service tax revenues.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said today the district board will maintain control of the funds through veto power of joint recreation programs.

The district has over several years accumulated about $14,500 in uncommitted community service tax revenues, Lowry said.

It receives about $20,000 per year from this tax, he said, adding that it needs about half that to operate existing district programs, leaving the balance available for the new joint program.

He said the two bodies, in signing the agreement, have also agreed to share facilities.

He said proposals for joint use of the funds include construction of tennis courts at Red Hill school. The courts could be used during school hours as a playground, and after school, weekends and during the summer for community recreation.

The city and district have been discussing the agreement since last summer in an effort to avoid duplication of recreation programs offered San Anselmo residents.

The board also authorized about $1,500 for improvement of the Brookside School playground, including installation of lunch tables and a sand area for kindergarten children.

Split Vote Nod On Mobile Homes

The Rohnert Park City Council last night gave split vote approval to development of a 250-unit mobile home park and then placed a six-month moratorium on further construction of this type.

Codding Enterprises had requested rezoning of land west of Highway 101 for the mobile home park. Developer Richard Codding told the council a swimming pool, recreation center and landscaping would be provided.

He told the council that 30 per cent of the units would be open to families with children, but said he didn't feel that many would move in.

The council questioned effect of the development on local schools, but Maurice Fredericks, a member of the Cotati School District Board, said district facilities easily could absorb additional students.

Mayor Vernon P. Smith and Councilman Warren K. Hopkins dissented in the vote.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the moratorium subsequently approved by the council would enable a study of mobile home park tax revenue.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

REZONING — Approved the request of Vernon Avila and Patrick Taylor to rezone land behind the Rohnert Park Shopping Center for apartments.

PARKING — Rejected a proposed ordinance that would require covered parking facilities at apartments.

EXPANSION — Approved the request of George Anderson to expand the manager's office and laundry building at apartments at 333 College View Avenue.

UNDERGROUND — Set a public hearing for March 15 at 7 p.m. on a proposed underground utility district at Adrian Drive and Southwest Boulevard.

SEWER — Took no action on the request of John Prior to extend sewer lines to serve property at Keiser Lane and Petaluma Hill Road on which he plans to build housing for Sonoma State College students. The council said it would study the possibility of lines to serve a larger area.

MEETINGS — Set a special meeting with Hillcrest Hospital directors for noon Monday at the hospital to discuss health care for Rohnert Park and scheduled an adjourned council meeting for Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Medical Clinic For Teens Is Suggested

A medical clinic for teenagers in Tamalpais Valley was suggested last night at a meeting of the Marin County Youth Commission.

Richard Pace, who directs the Resh Drop-In House at Shoreline Shopping Center, said he is willing to offer the drop-in facilities for use as a medical clinic to treat venereal disease and other health problems.

L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, said the youth commission will discuss the clinic idea again at the next regular meeting, at 8 p.m. March 2 at Marin General Hospital. Speakers at that meeting will be Philippa Denning-Kepm, County public health official, who will discuss "VD in Marin", and Thomas Knight, director of planned parenthood in Marin County.

Smith said the youths want a teen clinic for treatment, not only of venereal disease, but also other medical problems such as pregnancy, which some teen-agers find embarrassing to take to their parents or family physicians.

Head Sets Stolen From High School

Five educator head sets with voice microphones, valued at $200, were stolen from the language laboratory of San Rafael High School during the long holiday weekend, San Rafael police reported.

Police said the wire-enforced window of the laboratory in the Liberal Arts Wing had been cut.

Man Eats Butt, Charged Anyway

Michael Andrew Nail, 29, of 504 Pixie Trail, Mill Valley, was booked into Marin County Jail for $56 in San Francisco traffic warrants and for investigation of possessing marijuana and destroying evidence.

About noon yesterday Nail came to the California Highway Patrol's Corte Madera office to clear up a vehicle inspection violation and a check of his car revealed the outstanding warrants.

As he was being booked on the warrants, a routine search revealed a matchbox containing suspected loose marijuana and a partially-smoked cigarette.

Officers said Nail grabbed the cigarette and ate it, but the box contained enough residue for a charge to be made against him. He was freed on $750 bail to appear Friday in Marin Municipal Court.

Youths Booked; Burglary Probe

Three Marin youths were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall last night on suspicion of burglary after they were found behind the Sun Valley Market on Fifth Street, San Rafael, with allegedly stolen empty soda bottles.

San Rafael police said the shed behind the market where the bottles had been stored was pried open. Police found the youths at 11:30 p.m. with 58 bottles valued at $7.50 in their car.

Arrested were Frank J. Posey, 17, of 20 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael; Kenneth C. German, 16, of 51 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael; and Mildred N. Piver, 14, of 99A Wesson Lane, Fairfax.

Keith Kelly To Housing Deputy Post

Keith Kelly, executive director of the City of Vallejo's recreation district, has been named deputy director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, chosen from a field of 285 applicants.

The 44-year-old Kelly was selected for the $16,750-a-year post last night by the redevelopment agency board, according to Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd. The housing authority board voted to hire him last week, Shepherd said.

In the eight years he has been Vallejo's recreation director, Kelly has been involved in many redevelopment projects, according to Shepherd. He was active in executing Vallejo's Marina Development Project and recently completed a 97-acre park and large neighborhood center in the Solano County city.

"He is quite familiar with federal and state funding and has the kind of expertise which will enhance our redevelopment efforts greatly," Shepherd said. "In addition, Mr. Kelly has had experience working in multi-ethnic communities like Vallejo; he can deal with all kinds of people."

Before going to Vallejo, Kelly served seven years as director of parks and recreation in El Segundo, Los Angeles County and prior to that held a similar post in Visalia, Tulare County.

He holds a Bahcelor's degree in general and secondary education and an administrative credential, both from Fresno State College and a public administration credential from the University of Southern California.

In his new job Kelly will work closely with Shepherd in all aspects of housing and redevelopment.

He and his wife and four children live in Pinole, Contra Costa County, but plan to move to Marin in the near future.

Additions To Center Due Study

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a request to permit additional buildings at the Novato Fair Shopping Center, including a Walgreen Drug Store, at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

Architect Robert B. Liles, representing the center owners, Fifty Associates, is to present preliminary plans for two buildings, one to house the drug store and the other to provide space for four shops, both on the east side of the center along Highway 101.

The commission also is to hear an appeal from Samuel A. Harkleroad to permit relocation of his revolving round house, a Novato landmark visible from Highway 101, without being required to process a subdivision map.

Harkleroad contends that meeting subdivision requirements including a 40-foot road, curbs, gutters and sidewalks would be too costly and not suitable in the area.

A group of his neighbors is expected to protest the planning staff request that Harkleroad be required to furnish a subdivision map since he would be moving the round house to an area of his property already containing six other homes.

Hearing Today On Pot Charge

An 18-year-old Burlingame girl was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana after she was arrested by Sausalito police in Princess Park.

Officers said they saw a man and woman passing a hand-rolled cigarette between them about 5 p.m. and reported the woman, Vicki Louise Odell, threw the cigarette into the bay when she saw the officers.

She was freed on $625 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Burglary Case Goes To Juvenile Court

Burglary charges against Clifford E. Watkins and Albert Terribilini, 18, both of Petaluma, were transferred yesterday from Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to juvenile court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon noted that both youths still attended high school and that the juvenile court had agreed to take the cases. The youths were arrested on suspicion of the Jan. 8 burglary of Forsyth Tire Co., Petaluma.

Survey On High Blood Pressure Shows Drug Treatment Works

A random community study in Minnesota revealed that half the people with high blood pressure readings were unaware of it. In addition, half of those who knew they had hypertension had stopped taking their medicine. This is unfortunate but understandable.

It is unfortunate because we have drugs that lower the blood pressure. Furthermore, those receiving treatment have fewer complications and live longer than untreated sufferers. In a group of 73 drug treated hypertensives, only two developed complications. Seventy identical hypertensives were given an inert placebo and 27 had complications during the test period. In fact, the good results of treatment were so evident that the study was stopped to protect those in the untreated group.

IF TREATMENT is lifesaving, why do so many people with known hypertension refuse to cooperate with their physician? When the blood pressure goes up and remains high, it does not affect the feeling of well-being. The victim may not think it necessary to take his medication daily and to tolerate any side effects these pills may cause.

After weeks of treatment, he may not feel better or worse and in time loses interest in caring for his disease. It is difficult for him to appreciate the need for treating something that might happen to him in the future.

WHAT ARE THE complications of a sustained high blood pressure? There are several. First, the heart enlarges because it is forced to work harder. Secondly, the arteries thicken and become arteriosclerotic at an earlier age because of the wear and tear of years of hypertension. When the arteries are narrowed and hardened, circulation to the brain, heart, kidneys and other organs is curtailed. This leads to strokes, heart attacks, kidney and eye trouble. All of these can be prevented or delayed by cooperating with the physician.

LAST RESORT SURGERY

B. N. writes: Are brain operations still done on mental patients to relieve anxiety and depression?

REPLY

Yes, but only as a last resort. Drugs, shock treatment and institutional care are tried first. If these measures fail, surgery may be recommended. The operation does not cure but makes the individual easier to manage.

SCALP PSORIASIS

R. writes: Are applications of special ointments beneficial in psoriasis or the scalp?

REPLY

Yes, especially if the product contains a corticosteroid or coal tar. Most victims of psoriasis object to odoriferous or messy preparations for the scalp. A prescription tailor-made by your physician is best.

AFTER THE FACT

A. P. writes: Does a flu shot do any good after a person has the bug?

REPLY

No. It is like locking the barn door after the horse has escaped. Usually these injections are not advisable when a cold exists because reactions are more likely to occur at this time.

NO STARCH, NO ACIDS

R. A. writes: Would a diet free of acids and starches cure arthritis?

REPLY

No. Starch stiffens a shirt but eating the product does not have the same effect upon arthritic joints. Eat a normal diet, unless your arthritis is of the gouty type.

Approval To Sewer Bid In Inverness

Directors of the North Marin County Water District last night approved proceeding toward formation of an improvement district to provide sewage facilities to 20 parcels of land in northwest Inverness.

Dist. Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill said the properties are owned by Inverness Properties Inc. and Larry Marks, who have requested formation of a district. No election will be needed, Churchill said.

The next step, Churchill said, will be for the board to pass a resolution of intention to form the district, and public hearings will be held.

Directors also approved a $2,000 study to determine the cost of providing the service, with director George A. Amaroli dissenting. Amaroli wanted property owners to pay the cost of the study at the outset, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

AGREEMENT — Agreed to construct a water distribution system for Rancho Village Unit 10, a 34-lot subdivision, at Adams and Hayes streets, with the developer, Crown Development Co. to pay the $19,850 cost.

SOUTH AMERICA — Authorized Churchill to visit Guiana in South America as a consultant for the World Health Organization for two weeks starting March 29.

NEXT MEETING — Scheduled their next meeting for 8 p.m. March 3 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, instead of the regularly scheduled date of March 2.

GREENING VII

New Revolution On The Horizon

By CHARLES REICH
(Seventh and last in a series)

There is a revolution coming. It will not be like revolutions of the past. It will originate with the individual and with culture, and it will change the political structure only as its final act. It will not require violence to succeed, and it cannot be successfully resisted by violence. It is now spreading with amazing rapidity, and already our laws, institutions and social structure are changing in consequence. It promises a higher reason, a more human community, and a new and liberated individual. Its ultimate creation will be a new and enduring wholeness and beauty — a renewed relationship of man to himself, to other men, to society, to nature, and to the land.

This is the revolution of the new generation. Their protest and rebellion, their culture, clothes, music, drugs, ways of thought, and liberated life-style are not a passing fad or a form of dissent and refusal, nor are they in any sense irrational. The whole emerging pattern, from ideals to campus demonstrations to beads and bell bottoms to the Woodstock Festival, makes sense and is part of a consistent philosophy. It is both necessary and inevitable, and in time it will include not only youth, but all people in America.

Any discussion of the means of change must start with a recognition that our present course, including nearly a century of liberal and radical struggles by orthodox means, has brought us to the brink of an authoritarian or police state.

One of the most clearly marked trends for over 20 years has been the decline in civil liberties. The condition of the Bill of Rights cannot accurately be measured by Supreme Court decisions; the real situation depends upon surveillance and arrest procedures, attitudes of public and private employers, the scope of free discussion on television and in the press, and other factors embedded deeply in the day-to-day working of society.

It is only by change in individual lives that we can seize power from the state.

We have shown that the corporate state runs by means of a willing producer, who desires status, and a willing consumer, who desires what the state makes him want. Now all we have to do is close our eyes and imagine that everyone has become a Consciousness III: the corporate state vanishes. It can no longer sell people things to satisfy any but real needs, which means that the consumer has regained power over what is produced.

The revolution must be cultural. For culture controls the economic and political machine, not vice versa. Consider production. Now the machinery turns out what it pleases and forces people to buy. But if the culture changes, the machine has no choice but to comply.

Culture is the substantive part of society. Thus social change, instead of beginning at the palace, comes up from below. The law and the government are not the first things to be changed, they are the last. Should Consciousness III sweep the country, the federal government could simply be ignored until it became completely isolated from the people of the nation, and had no choice but to change. At that point, the President would have to don bell bottoms and a dirty T-shirt and go looking for his constituents.

We think that both the liberal and the SDS theories of how to bring about change in America are wrong. The liberals (the true liberals, that is, not the Establishment liberals) see change coming only after a massive effort at organizing: an effort directed at politics and law. We think that such an effort, even if it elected a President and a Congress, and appointed a majority of the Supreme Court, would end as the New Deal ended, with reforms that proved illusory. SDS and other believers in class struggle would engage in a hopeless head-on fight against a machine that could work for them instead, and against people who could be their allies instead of their seeming enemies.

Where the students were able to influence a way of life directly, they had great success, even though they failed to have any effect at all on structure. This is true in the case of marijuana. Efforts to get criminal penalties repealed have made little headway and, in contrast, the actual use of marijuana has spread irresistibly. It is almost everywhere in some colleges, it has spread to many high schools, it is popular with many city dwellers, rich and poor, it is reportedly nearly universal among G.I.'s in the army, and it is frequently used by the sons and daughters of men prominently and publicly opposed to its use. All of this without a single line of advertising, and over the opposition not only of the law but also of the mass media.

In areas of culture not regulated by law, such as music, haircuts, clothes, and, to some extent, life-styles, the students have swept all before them. Long hair, for example, has crossed all barriers.

What we have been observing is the development of a new freedom — not freedom of speech, but freedom of consciousness.

Control of the corporate state lies at the level of consciousness.

If we think of all that is now challenged — the nature of education, the very validity of institutionalism and the legal system, the nature and purposes of work, the course of man's dealing with environment, the relationship of self to technology and society — we can see that the present transformation goes beyond anything in modern history. Beside it, a mere revolution, such as the French or the Russian, seems inconsequential — a shift in the base of power.

Consciousness III must create a culture that knows how and when to use technology, a culture that is not plastic or artificial but guides and uses technology in pursuit of values that are derived from human sources.

Of all the many ways of life known to history, Consciousness III seems the closest to valuing life for its own sake. Almost always, men have lived subject to rigid custom, to religion, to an economic theory of political ideology. Consciousness III seeks freedom from all of these. It declares that life is prior to all of them. It does not try to reduce or simplify man's complexity, or the complexity of nature. It values the present, not the past, the future, or some abstract doctrine of mythical heaven. It says that what is meaningful, what endures, is no more nor less than the total experience of life.

We have all known the loneliness, the emptiness, the plastic isolation of contemporary America. Our forebears came thousands of miles for the promise of a better life. Now there is a new promise. Shall we not seize it? Shall we not be pioneers once more, since luck and fortune have given us a vision of hope?

Financial Outlook Is Held Gloomy

Novato Unified School District trustees last night faced a gloomy financial outlook for the 1971-72 school year and the possibility of cutting the high school teaching staff.

Eugene F. DeBrecht, assistant superintendent for business, presented the first tentative draft of a 1971-72 budget totaling $9,943,702.

Supt. James G. Bunker said the draft including normal salary increments for the present staff was "obviously inoperative" because it would reduce the undistributed reserve to $8,-075.

With salaries comprising 84 per cent of the budget, the only way "significant cuts can be made is in personnel," Bunker said.

If the elementary teaching staff is cut resulting in larger class sizes the district suffers financial penalties, and that leaves only the high school staff for cutting, he explained.

Ironically, the elementary enrollment is expected to drop, while the high school enrollment is expected to increase.

If teachers are to be dropped, they have to be notified by March 15, Bunker said.

Overall, Bunker expected that elementary teachers would be needed in the next school year, but four more high school teachers.

The district's current tax rate is $5.355 per $100 assessed valuation, and Bunker said he couldn't predict what it might be in 1971-72.

Grant For Low Cost Housing

A $1,039,955 grant to provide 56 units of low cost housing for the elderly in Tiburon has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Sen. Alan Cranston's office announced today.

Construction of the units will begin immediately, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

The studio and one-bedroom apartments will be built on Tiburon Boulevard near the Tiburon Wye, he said. Mill Valley contractor Charles Miltner will construct the development which is part of the "turnkey" housing program.

Shepherd said the federal money, which will provide both principal and interest, will go to reimburse Miltner once the project is completed. Under the turnkey program, the contractor buys the land and builds the development with his own money, then turns it over to the housing authority which pays him at that time.

Shepherd said the units will rent for varying rates, but not to exceed 25 per cent of the residents's income.

Panel Ends Lucky Road Sewer Fuss

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night, in six resolutions, formally created a special assessment district for installation of a sewer system along Lucky Road.

The action ends years of fighting among residents and the sanitary district over installation of the system.

Formation of the assessment district came with board acceptance of a $38,447 bid from Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for installation of the system.

Six bids were received for the project with a high of $77,777 submitted by McGuire and Hester of Oakland. The district engineer had estimated the project at about $47,000.

Property owners will pay about $2,400 per lot for the system.

Consideration of the project began in August when the board approved annexation of the area following years of disagreement with property owners.

A Suspended Professor Holds A Class

STANFORD (UPI) — H. Bruce Franklin, a suspended professor, held a class anyway Tuesday at Stanford University.

Franklin, 33, is an avowed revolutionary Maoist who was suspended with pay last Friday because of his campus activities.

University actions initiated against him allege he led students who booed U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge from a university stage and also made an inflammatory speech to an anti-war demonstration on the campus.

While teaching his "American Literature of the 1930s" course after the suspension, Franklin extolled Edgar Snow's "Red Star Over China" as "one of the greatest works of the period."

He also described the Chinese revolution as "the greatest event in human history."

Round One On Police Merger Set

A joint Tiburon-Belvedere committee to study the implications of merging police operations in the two cities will hold its first meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Belvedere City Hall.

John D. Morgan, police chief in Campbell, Santa Clara County, will report to the committee on efforts to merge police departments in Campbell and Los Gatos.

The committee will seek to determine if consolidation is desirable and, if so, under what conditions.

Cochairmen of the committee are Belvedere Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel and Belvedere resident Donald W. Davis. Other Belvedere members are Councilman Thomas S. Price and residents Willard Anderson, Sanford O. Anixter and Thomas Fleming Jr.

Tiburon members are Mayor Denis T. Rice, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood and residents Jack P. Kampmeyer, Ned North, Michael Cavanagh and Blenda Shelby.

The committee meeting is open to the public.

Override Tax Is Asked For Projects

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission has proposed that the city establish an override tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance a five-year capital improvement program.

Director Edward W. Adams said commissioners voted Monday night to request the override tax and ask the staff to report on proposed projects, costs and timetable.

Commissioners also recommended, as part of the program that the city buy the San Marin Club, which is now out of operation, for use as a community center.

The club was offered to the city for $295,000 in early 1969, but turned down by the city council.

Adams estimated the proposed override tax would bring about $1 million in revenue over a five year period.

Projects under consideration for the five-year program are minimum development of Pioneer Memorial Park, estimated at $100,000; Novato Creek Park, $112,000; Oliva property, $20,000; San Marin Park, $87,500; Seventh Street tank site, $35,000, and Marin Highlands, $2,500.

Development of playgrounds at Olive School, $56,000; Lynwood School, $50,000; Pleasant Valley School, $47,000, and Marion School, $50,000.

Commissioners also approved operating school playgrounds on Saturdays for the remainder of the school year at a cost of $2,500, Adams said.

Priests Can Talk On War; Not In Pulpit

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)— Priests have a right to speak against the war in Indochina, but not from their pulpits, according to a Roman Catholic bishop.

"This is a serious moral issue. The silence of church leaders on Vietnam is really scandalous," said Most Rev. Bernard M. Kelly, auxiliary bishop of the Providence diocese.

Kelly's statements came after about 65 parishioners walked out in protest at Our Lady of Mercy Church in East Greenwich when a guest priest called on the congregation in a sermon to resist the draft. The appeal was made by Rev. Raymond L. Tetreault, diocesan director of the Latin American Apostolate.

Trial Is Set In Pot Case

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for June 24 for Antoinette Bruno, 22, of Sebastapol, charged with possession of marijuana and petty theft.

The marijuana charge was reduced to a misdemeanor yesterday by Judge David Menary Jr. at the request of the district attorney's office.

She was arrested Jan. 28 after an alleged shoplifting attempt at the Emporium at Northgate.

Lon Nol Makes Steady Progress

HONOLULU (UPI) —Cambodian Prime Minister Lon Nol has made steady progress in his recuperation from a stroke, according to his doctors at a U.S. military hospital.

The 58-year-old ruler has been receiving two daily sessions of therapy at Tripler General Hospital, where he was admitted last weekend.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

"She's home. I hear canned laughter."

Kennedy Portraits In Official Spots

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The portraits of President John F. Kennedy and his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, have been officially placed in the White House.

The full-length canvas of the former first lady was hung on the left side of the diplomatic reception room on the ground floor where a portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt used to hang. The portrait of the late President was placed on a wall in the green room, replacing a Claude Monet work, "Morning on the Seine," which was a gift of the Kennedy family.

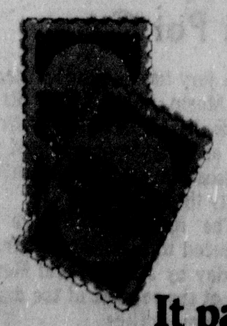
Happy Mother's Day!

If you're a mom and you'd like to make your day a little richer this year, tell the kids about some of the mother's things they can get with Blue Chip Stamps.

Pretty sheets and towels. And hair dryers. And electric kitchen things that make the work a little easier, all come a lot easier with Blue Chips instead of money.

And if you're not quite a mom, but you're working on it, make sure you do your grocery shopping where you get stamps. Because if you start saving early, you'll have a crib waiting when it comes time to fill it.



It pays to shop where you get them.
